NO. 1

REPORT OF ELEANOR D. UPHAM, DIRECTOR OF SCHOOL LUNCHES, ON ATTENDANCE AT CONFERENCE OF FOOD SERVICE DIRECTORS AT HARTFORD, NOVEMBER 8 TO 10, 1945, INCLUSIVE.

The following is the report to the School Committee of attendance at Conference of Food Service Directors held at Hartford, Connecticut, November 8 to 10, 1945, by Eleanor D. Upham, Director of School Lunches:

On November 8 and 9, 1945, the Conference of Food Service Directors was held in Hartford, Connecticut, and I was privileged to attend the meetings.

This conference marked the tenth anniversary of the founding of this organization in Hartford, the members of which are school lunch directors and managers, industrial and institutional food supervisors.

The various lunchrooms which our group visited had modern equipped kitchens and lunchrooms, and the foods served were of a high quality.

The feature of the Jones Junior High School, where we observed the serving of lunch, was seven staggered lunch periods. The school has an enrollment of 850, and pupils are released from classes during the fourth period, in ten-minute intervals, in groups which may be easily accommodated in the cafeteria, which seats approximately 250.

The pupils obtained lunch at the counter in a very orderly manner, so that there was never a rush at any one time, and the service was continuous. The students have twenty minutes for lunch, and return to the classroom to continue the subject for that period. The principal of the school stated that neither the teachers nor pupils objected in any way to interruption of the class for lunch. The entire student body has lunch, and returns to class between the hours of 11.35 and 12.55, and the plan works very satisfactorily.

The selling price of foods served in all Hartford schools is considerably higher than charges for similar items in Boston school cafeterias. There are no Government subsidized lunches in Hartford schools, which fact necessitates the higher selling prices.

There was much general discussion in round-table gatherings of the continuation of the Government School Lunch Program, now under the Department of Agriculture. This program was providing lunches for six million pupils throughout the United States in January, 1945, and it is believed that approximately eight million will benefit by it in January, 1946.

The Flanagan Bill, which will come up for action in Congress about February, 1946, would make the Department of Agriculture School Lunch Program a permanent one. Several speakers urged that members of the conference, as well as educators, and sponsoring agencies, write their Senators and Congressmen, to aid in passage of this bill. One speaker stated that there are now twenty-four states with Government subsidized school lunch programs.

The educational opportunities offered in school lunch programs were discussed at one session, and were stressed as a much needed part of a pupil's education.

ELEANOR D. UPHAM,
Director of School Lunches.

‘O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons’ and thy daughters’ unselfish devotion!’

BOSTON, December 27, 1945.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I respectfully request the permission of your Honor to dispense with the necessity of advertising for bids and to engage the Hancock Construction Company to perform work of making repairs to broken water pipes, laying new service pipes, etc., in order to assist the regular force of the Water Division, which is engaged in this work.

At the present time the amount of such work to be done is very large, and no advantage would be gained by advertising for bids because of the lateness of the season.

The cost of this work will be in excess of $1,000, but not in excess of $2,000, and I feel, for the reasons stated, that it is to the city's advantage to have this work done in this manner.

This company is qualified to do the work and is in a position to carry it on without delay.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, December 27, 1945.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—On December 31, 1945, the contract with the Coleman Disposal Company for the disposal of garbage and refuse collected from certain sections of the city will expire.

Under this contract the city pays the contractor the sum of $360,000 per year plus certain increases in wages which have been ordered by the War Labor Board. The authority of the War Labor Board over increases in wages will expire at the end of the year, so that in the contract to be made for the disposal of garbage and refuse during the coming year there will be no provision relating to increases which may be ordered by the War Labor Board.

For some time past I have been conferring with officials of the Coleman Disposal Company, with the idea in mind of negotiating for a new contract for this work for the year 1946, since no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for bids, and, furthermore, since the matter of incineration is now under consideration by the Public Works Department. For these reasons I feel that it is to the best advantage of the city to make a new contract with this firm.

In the various conferences that we have had, the Coleman Disposal Company insists that it will be required to raise its price for the coming year because of certain factors which enter into this work. Among these factors are the following:

1. "Pier to pier transportation"; that is, the transportation time for the employees who work on Spectacle Island and who are obliged to go there and back daily. This means an increase of approximately $7,500 over the present cost. Although the War Labor Board ordered this to be done, and even though their authority has ceased, the contractor will still be obliged to pay his men for this time.

2. An anticipated 10 per cent increase in the wages of the employees working for the company. This amounts to approximately $10,000.

3. An increase in the cost of maintenance of scows and other equipment, such as the crane on the dock which unloads the material from the scows, the railroad cars, the track on which the cars run to the point of disposal on Spectacle Island, and the bulldozers which are used on the company's dumps. This increase is estimated to amount to $13,000 above the maintenance costs for the current year.

4. An increase in the cost of towing charges over the cost of such work for the current year, amounting to $1,500. The Coleman Company is obliged to use hired towboats, as it owns no towboats.

5. The cost of repairing the wharf at Spectacle Island. The estimated cost of repairing the wharf on Spectacle Island will be approximately $15,000. This wharf is the property of the City of Boston and under the terms of previous disposal contracts all maintenance and repairs were taken care of by the city. Early this year the city repaired a portion of the wharf, and in the negotiations which I have had with the Coleman Disposal Company in connection with the contract for the coming year, we have come to an agreement that the Coleman Disposal Company would make such further repairs as were necessary to this wharf. This work is estimated to cost $15,000. The present condition of the structure warrants this expenditure.

6. Repairs to the scows which are used for transporting the collections down the harbor to Spectacle Island will cost at least $15,000. These scows are about thirty years old, and the maintenance costs, because of their age, become greater each year. The Coleman Disposal Company has been unable, because of wartime conditions which existed, to purchase new scows, although they inform me that they have been endeavoring for some time to buy some new scows.

The increased cost under the contract for the coming year, which we have been negotiating, based upon the above-mentioned factors, is $62,000. This amount, however, seemed to me to be too large, and in a final conference which I had with the officials of that company today this figure has been reduced to $54,000, which, I feel, is fair, taking into consideration all of the factors involved.

The city has no alternative in this matter except to award a contract to this company, since the matter of incineration is still only in the preliminary stages of study and the preparation of plans. It will be some time yet before the disposal of garbage and rubbish by incineration will be a reality and until that time comes the present method must be continued.

Taking all these matters into consideration, I feel that it is for the best interests of the city to award a contract, without publicly inviting bids, for the disposal of garbage and refuse for the year ending December 31, 1946, and I, therefore, respectfully request the authority of your Honor to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to the Coleman Disposal Company, 245 State street, Boston, for doing this work during the coming year, at an estimated cost of $414,000. While this appears to be an increase of $54,000 over the present contract price, actually it is an increase of only $48,300, because of a reimbursement of $7,500 which the city made to the contractor on account of an order of the War Labor Board.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, December 28, 1945.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The annual contracts for the collection and disposal of garbage and refuse in the various districts of the city expire on December 31, 1945.

The work done by the contractors to whom this work was awarded for the current year has been entirely satisfactory in every way, and, in my opinion, the best interests of the city would be served if these contractors were engaged to do the work in their respective districts during the coming year.

I have had several conferences with these contractors in the matter of negotiating for contracts for the year 1946, and all have indicated to me that there will be an increase in the wages of their employees which, necessarily, would have to be considered in determining a price for which the work would be done. This increase amounts to about 10 per cent of their present pay roll, and I feel that this should be taken into consideration in making my recommendation to your Honor. The pay rolls of the contractors have been checked as to the amounts actually paid during the term of the present contracts, and this 10 per cent increase has been added to the contract price for the current year.

I firmly believe if the city had advertised for bids, that prices much higher than those we are paying would have been received. In view of the facts, therefore, I respectfully request the authority of your Honor to dispense with advertising for proposals and to award contracts to the following-named firms for the collection and disposal of garbage and refuse during the year starting January 1 and ending on December 31, 1946, for the amounts stated:

Ward General Contracting Company, District No. 1, South Boston, $8,411 per month.

Edward J. McHugh & Son, District No. 2, East Boston, $7,769 per month.

Edward J. McHugh & Son, District No. 3, Charlestown, $3,311 per month.

John J. Moore Company, District No. 5A, West Roxbury, $7,842 per month.

John J. Moore Company, District No. 5B, Jamaica Plain, $7,300 per month.

Coleman Brothers Corporation, District No. 6, Dorchester, and District No. 7-A, Elm Hill, $39,857 per month.

Marinucci Brothers & Co., District No. 7B, Dudley, $5,600 per month.

Marinucci Brothers & Co., District No. 7C, Mission Hill, $5,050 per month.

Dooley Brothers, Inc., District No. 9A, Back Bay, $4,171 per month.

Capitol Contracting Company, District No. 9B, Stuart, $4,821 per month.

Mary C. Bryan, District No. 11, Hyde Park, $3,488 per month.

I have omitted the Brighton district from this recommendation because of the peculiar conditions which apply at this time to the situation as regards disposal of the refuse from that section. This is covered by a separate recommendation which I am making to your Honor today.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, December 28, 1945.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—On December 29, 1944, a contract was made with the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America for the lighting of streets by means of gas lamps, at the rate of $23 per lamp per year.

This contract expires on December 31, and I feel that it is to the city's advantage to continue the work to be done for a period of at least three months. This will enable the city to determine what can be done in the matter of substituting electric lamps for gas lamps in certain sections, and also to decide what is best to do about installing a new type of gas lamp.

So that there may be no interruption in the matter of lighting streets by gas lamps, I respectfully request the approval of your Honor to extend for a period of three months, that is, from January 1, 1946, to March 31, 1946, inclusive, the contract with the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America for performing this service; the terms, conditions and price to be paid to be identical with those in the original contract.

No advantage would be gained by advertising for bids for doing this work since this is the only firm which is in a position to furnish and maintain gas lamps.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
• Commissioner of Public Works.

General Order No. 545.

Under ordinary circumstances, police listing at the beginning of each year calls for the careful and accurate attention of all police officers detailed to this work.

Due to the great number of persons absent from their homes as members of some branch of the United States military service, it is doubly important that all officers detailed to listing work exercise the greatest care to the end that absolute accuracy be obtained in the listing of all residents twenty years of age and over.

It is imperative that all listing officers visit each and every building to secure the names and required information of occupants. Under no circumstances shall the printed list of the previous year be referred to as a basis of residence, nor shall it be assumed that a resident according to the 1944 printed list is now an occupant of the same dwelling.

White cards are being sent to the various divisions, which are to be given to the officers engaged in listing of residents. These cards will act as a reminder that the officers should ask in every home whether the names given to the officer include men and women who are engaged in the armed forces of the United States who are temporarily away.

Men and women who upon inquiry are found to be absent from the city and women are enrolled in the United States military forces shall be listed from their last legal Boston residence.

The particular branch in which men and women are enrolled in the United States military service shall be indicated in the space on the card that is set aside for "occupation."

The branch of the military service may be designated by initials such as: U.S.A. for United States Army; U.S.N. for United States Navy; W.A.C. for Women's Army Corps, etc.

The attention of the department is again called to Superintendent's Order of December 28, 1945, in reference to police listing, which begins on Wednesday, January 2, 1946.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 546.

Whereas, It appears that Captain Thomas G. Duggan of Division 10 has performed faithful service in the Police Department for twenty-six and one-twelfth years and that the Medical Board, provided for by chapter 521 of the Acts of 1922, has certified that the said Captain Duggan is physically incapacitated,—it is the judgment of the Police Commissioner that the said Captain Duggan is permanently physically incapacitated for useful service in the Police Department on account of injuries received in the actual performance of duty as a police officer; therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That, with the approval of his Honor the Mayor, the said Captain Duggan be retired from active service in the Police Department under the provisions of chapter 353, Acts, 1892, as amended by chapter 51, Acts, 1893; chapter 6, Acts, 1920; chapter 387, Acts, 1930; and chapter 446, Acts, 1945, and that his name be placed upon the department pension roll with pay at the rate of twenty-eight hundred (2,800) dollars per annum (to be paid monthly), said sum being two thirds of the amount of compensation received by him in the office from which he is retired; to take effect Monday, December 31, 1945, at 5.45 o'clock p. m.

Captain Duggan was appointed a patrolman November 26, 1919; promoted to sergeant July 27, 1928; lieutenant, May 5, 1933; and captain, April 11, 1936.

Captain Duggan, after long years of service in the department, retires on account of disability caused by a bullet wound inflicted by an assailant who had shot and killed a brother officer.

For his part in the incident, the captain, then a patrolman at Division 7, was, for courage and devotion to duty, awarded on March 4, 1927, the Walter Scott Medal for Valor.

Throughout his career in the department, in the successive grades held by him, the captain has shown marked interest in his duty, thus bringing to himself the respect and good will of his superiors in office, and honor to himself.

Both the Commissioner and the Superintendent wish for the captain happiness in retirement, which sentiment, unquestionably, is shared in by all.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Police Commissioner.

SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

TRANSPORTATION STATISTICS.

A recent analysis of surface transportation by John A. Beeler, transit engineer and consultant, reveals noteworthy performance by trolley coaches in comparison to other public transportation vehicles. Comparison of results of operation of trolley coaches with those of street cars on four different lines in as many different cities, shows, according to Beeler, that trolley coaches are eight times as good.

The analysis shows that in 1942, 25,449 street cars carried 5,171,000,000 revenue passengers; 3,363 trolley coaches carried 765,000,000; and 42,458 motor coaches carried 5,427,000,000 revenue passengers; the average fare being 6.66 cents, 6.89 cents and 6.72 cents, respectively; and the revenues being $344,600,000, $52,700,000 and $365,000,000, respectively. Average revenue passengers per street car was 203,191; per trolley coach 227,475; and per motor coach 127,820.

AIDS PAID TO PUBLIC ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS FROM INCOME OF MASSACHUSETTS SCHOOL FUND.

State participation in the financing of education began with the establishment of the Massachusetts School Fund in 1834, the income from which was to be used "for the aid and encouragement of common schools," (chapter 169, Acts of 1834). The principal of this fund is now $5,000,000. The income of the fund has been distributed in many different ways. In 1835, population and the amount raised by local taxation for school support were the determining factors. Many changes followed until the present complex provisions were enacted, mostly in 1919, with some modification in later years.

ALMOST 3,000,000 IN NAVAL SERVICES.

By the end of 1943 it was estimated that the following totals of personnel were on active duty in the U. S. Navy, U. S. Marine Corps and the U. S. Coast Guard:

	U.S.Navy	U.S.M.C.	U.S.C.G.	Total
Officers	201,000	29,700	10,500	241,200
Enlisted	2,093,000	370,000	161,000	2,624,000
Total	2,294,000	399,700	171,500	2,865,200

AIDS PAID TO ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS FROM INCOME TAX REVENUES.

Only since 1919 has the state participated widely in the financing of elementary and secondary schools. Before that time state aid to municipalities was less than 2 per cent of the total cost of education, and was granted only to a limited group of towns. In 1919, however, provision was made for payments from the proceeds of the newly enacted personal income tax to every city and town which met certain teacher salary and qualification standards. Except for slight modifications the program is still the same as that established in 1919 (chapter 363, Acts of 1919). Every city and town is paid a fixed amount for every teacher employed (primary reimbursements), and some municipalities with low valuation per pupil receive additional grants (supplementary reimbursements).

STATE FISCAL AIDS TO CITIES AND TOWNS FOR PUBLIC ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

State aid to municipalities for public elementary and secondary education amounts annually in Massachusetts to six million dollars. This aid constitutes almost one tenth of the total annual expenditures for public education, and thus it is of considerable importance to municipal finance. The funds come from three sources: Over four fifths from income tax proceeds, the remainder from the General Fund and from the income of the Massachusetts School Fund. This aid for elementary and secondary education is in seven forms, which can be classified under three headings: General aid to every city and town, aid to equalize the financial burden of education among the cities and towns, and special aid to small towns. In all cases the aid is in the form of reimbursement, i. e., partly based on expenditures by the municipality.

ELEVATED ROAD INCOME.

Reporting that in 1944 the income of the Boston Elevated Railway decreased by $193,541.05 and the cost of service increased by $1,826,963.49, the Public Trustees of the railway, in their annual report filed with the Legislature on January 31, 1945, announced that although the cost of the service exceeded receipts by $393,020.27 in 1944, there would be no deficit assessed upon the cities and towns served because this amount had been taken from the $1,000,000 reserve fund, leaving a balance of $606,979.73 in this fund as of January 1, 1945.

The railway had an excess of $1,605,601.46 of income over cost of service in 1943.

STATE-COLLECTED TAXES SHARED BY CITIES AND TOWNS.

Approximately $5,000,000 are distributed each year among all cities and towns as reimbursement of a portion of the amounts expended locally for salaries of teachers in the public schools. This one distribution constitutes about 80 per cent of all fiscal aid paid by the Commonwealth to cities and towns to assist in financing public schools. As the amount paid to each city and town depends upon the number and educational preparation of teachers employed, it favors well-to-do towns which can afford to hire more and better qualified teachers, and penalizes towns which by reason of less favorable circumstances operate their schools with fewer teachers. The original objective of this distribution was to raise standards of teacher preparation and to encourage local governments to pay certain established minimum salaries. As a means toward these objectives this distribution has outlived its usefulness.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

AIRCRAFT MATERIAL PRODUCTION 41 PER CENT OF TOTAL AUTOMOTIVE WAR JOB.

Behind current attempts to knock Germany out of the war by means of airpower, stands the teamwork of the automotive industry, which has done much to get bombers in the air over Hitler's domain.

The motor industry, starting as a scrub team in the aircraft field a year before Pearl Harbor has since attained major league stature.

In the two years since December 7, 1941, the industry's output of bombers and fighters has constantly soared. Measured in dollar volume, it rose from $400,000,000 annual rate of production on the day of the Jap's assault to $4,300,000,000 on the second anniversary of that "day of infamy."

The same upward spiral took place in deliveries of all forms of war materials by automotive plants. When Pearl Harbor news struck, they had reached an annual production rate of $1,777,000,000 for all forms of military requirements: aircraft, military vehicles, tanks, guns, ammunition, marine engines and other equipment. Today the annual production rate tops the $10,000,000,000 mark.

SEA-GOING DRY DOCKS.

Bigger than a battleship! That's the rough proportion of some of the new Navy floating dry docks which can be towed or self-propelled at speeds sufficient to follow our fleet into action. Indeed, the dry docks are large enough to handle even a mighty battleship when it needs repairs or overhauling.

Never before have floating dry docks been built so large, taken so far. Never before have docks of this character been so mobile. The Navy has spent upward of $300,000,000 on their floating dry dock program and it has been a shrewd investment. Now, instead of damaged warships traveling the thousands of miles from the theaters of action to an American coastal dry dock for repairs, it can be placed in a floating dry dock on the spot in a matter of hours, thus saving precious time.

NEW SOURCES OF MUNICIPAL REVENUE.

Philadelphia recently adopted three new city taxes: auctioneers are required to register and pay a tax of $500 a year, bowling alleys $20 for each alley, and coin-operated slot machines and other amusement devices $20 a year each. Portsmouth, Ohio, has levied a license fee of $25 a year on juke boxes, pin ball machines, and other coin-operated amusement devices. Santa Barbara, California, on February 23 adopted a local retail sales tax of one per cent on the recommendation of a citizens' tax committee. Sacramento, California, has adopted a new business license ordinance which will provide approximately $110,000 a year revenue. In New York City Mayor La Guardia has proposed an additional one per cent sales tax to finance a three-year program of subway rehabilitation; the present one per cent sales tax raises about $32,000,000 a year.

HONORABLE JAMES M. CURLEY PLEDGES CITIZENS OF BOSTON A NEW AND BETTER DAY FOR NEXT FOUR YEARS AS HE STARTS ON FOURTH TERM AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE—TAKES OFFICE AT BRILLIANT AND THRILLING EXERCISES WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS OF HIS FELLOW CITIZENS AT SYMPHONY HALL—MONSTROUS CHEERING CROWD ALSO GREETES HIM AS HE ENTERS CITY HALL—PLEDGES A CIVIC PROGRAM AIMED TO ENHANCE NAME AND PRESTIGE OF CITY AND BRING RELIEF FROM TAX, TRAFFIC AND FINANCIAL BURDENS UNDER WHICH CITIZENS HAVE STRUGGLED IN RECENT YEARS—MANY IMPROVEMENTS LISTED FOR ACCOMPLISHMENT.

The following is the Inaugural Address of Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, delivered during exercises held at Symphony Hall, Monday, January 7, 1946:

Gentlemen of the City Council.

I am deeply conscious of the great honor that has been conferred upon me. At the conclusion of my term, God willing, I shall have been Chief Executive for sixteen years—longer than any Mayor in the history of our municipality. Could any Bostonian ask for greater honor?

It is a signal distinction to be elevated to this position—Chief Executive of Boston, the Athens of America, a city of culture, a city of noble traditions.

The golden age of American literature was made luminous by men and women who were born or resided within the shadow of Beacon Hill. From this hill and its slopes and valley went forth to an appreciative world the words of wisdom of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the greatest mind Boston ever produced; the poetry of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, John Boyle O'Reilly and Louise Imogen Guiney; the history of Parkman, Prescott and Bancroft; the works of Ticknor, Motley and a host of others. The architecture of Charles Bulfinch and Charles D. Maginnis; the orations and legalisms of Daniel Webster, James Otis, Rufus Choate and Harrison Gray Otis, four of America's greatest lawyers; the erudite legal opinions of Judges Lemuel Shaw, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis D. Brandeis. The courageous pronouncements of Wendell Phillips, Joseph Warren, John Adams, Anne Hutchison, Bishop Cheverus, Ellery Channing, Phillips Brooks, his Excellency Archbishop John J. Williams and his Eminence William Cardinal

O'Connell. The arts and crafts of Paul Revere; the paintings and sculpture of Washington Allston, Copley, Gilbert Stuart and Martin Milmore; the book on navigation by Nathaniel Bowditch, the greatest work of its kind the world has ever known; the treatise of Dr. Zabdiel Boylston, who introduced inoculation for smallpox and saved thousands of lives; the skill of Dr. W. T. Morton, who first applied ether in a surgical operation and the work of Doctor Mallory in bacteriology and pathological research; the sacrifices of Patrick Carr, Crispus Attucks and their compatriots in the Boston Massacre. The business foresight of our great merchants, John Cogan, E. A. Filene, Eben Jordan, John Cifrino and Thomas B. Fitz; the wise counsel of the noble Jesuits, John Bapst, Robert Fulton and Thomas Gasson; and, in our own day and generation, the spiritual guidance of his Excellency Archbishop Cushing and Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill; the charitable gifts of George Robert White, George F. Parkman, Andrew Carney, Thomas Forsyth, A. Shuman, and numerous others who loved Boston. Of the fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence five were students in our famous Boston Latin School—John Hancock, Samuel Adams, Robert Treat Paine of Massachusetts, Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania and William Hooper of North Carolina. Our great Mayors, among whom were John Phillips, Josiah Quincy, Hugh O'Brien and General Patrick Collins.

Need I say that to follow in the footsteps of these illustrious Bostonians and Americans is sufficient inspiration for me to give every ounce of my strength and experience to the people of the city of my birth to the end that the confidence that they have expressed in me will be forever justified.

Relief From Taxes.

As a means of providing relief for the city and protection from a system resembling a continuous raid upon the city's resources, it is desirable and essential that a moratorium be established upon all applications to the Appellate Tax Board for tax abatements in a period of five years or the abolition of the Appellate Tax Board.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

TO THE BOARD OF ZONING ADJUSTMENT, 43 City Hall, relative to changes in the boundary lines of zoning districts of the City of Boston as established by chapter 488 of the Acts of 1924, and amendments thereto.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY ADDRESS AT INAUGURAL EXERCISES, HELD IN SYMPHONY HALL—MANY CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS LISTED FOR ACCOMPLISHMENT.

The figures covering the past eight years are appalling; abatements requested on properties in excess of $100,000,000 of assessed valuations are now pending for 1945 also.

Either this terrific leak must be plugged or protection for the people in the form of a reduced tax rate appears impossible. The immediate necessity for a reduction of the tax rate represents the most vital problem confronting the city.

It is common knowledge that a tax rate in excess of $35 per thousand of valuation represents a burden upon the people beyond their power to bear. The present tax rate of $42.50 per thousand of valuation serves as a constant deterrent to new industries that seek a location here and makes it extremely difficult to induce industries now located here to continue doing business in the city.

This problem of reducing the tax rate to a reasonable and just figure affects the welfare and the happiness of every family in our city, since industry and commerce are the two principal avenues for the employment of large numbers of people, and, unless these avenues are made inviting, people suffer.

That the immediate reduction of the tax rate is vital is apparent to every thoughtful person; and when the measure making provision for the borrowing of $10,000,000 is considered by the Legislature, so that an immediate reduction may be made possible, it is to be hoped that everyone will favor the passage of the required legislation.

From assurances already received, there is every indication that programs for construction, including housing, in excess of $150,000,000 will be undertaken within the next few months, but it must be understood that there will be no immediate revenue from the increased valuations represented by this construction program until January of 1947.

The prosecution of this program will depend in large measure upon the harmony that prevails between the persons interested in the construction program and the men who are to do the work. In 1922 it was possible to arrive at an agreement that there be no strikes for a period of four years and that all questions in dispute which might result in a strike and the suspension of construction activities should be referred to the Mayor for adjudication. I am hopeful that a similar agreement can be made this year, so that Boston may go ahead and complete its program of construction and make unnecessary an excessive tax rate in the future.

HOUSING AND VETERANS.

The law enacted in 1945 permitting insurance companies to engage in housing programs furnishes an excellent outlet for increased revenue for the idle money of the insurance companies. It has been most gratifying to find a real spirit of cooperation among the leaders of the insurance field.

The John Hancock Life Insurance Company officials conferred with me some four weeks ago as to the possibilities of the development of a model village of one-family and duplex houses which they propose to erect at an estimated cost of between fifteen and twenty-five million dollars, and also the construction of an addition to their present building at Copley square which will cost some fifteen million dollars additional.

I have contacted a number of other insurance companies and have found them most receptive.

Likewise, I have made an investigation as to the land in control of the city which has either been taken for a definite purpose and never utilized or which has been taken for nonpayment of taxes. These lands which should be earning revenue for the reduction of the tax rate should be utilized for revenue-producing purposes, and it is my intention to have surveys made at once and submit them to the various insurance companies with a view to selling them at a price so attractive that they will determine upon them as sites for the development of greatly needed housing facilities in the Boston area.

I have, in addition, drafted a law permitting the banks to engage in housing construction which, if adopted by the Legislature, will permit of the investment of their excess funds in revenue-producing properties in the same manner as is now being followed by the insurance companies.

I find, in addition, that a large number of houses have been taken over by the city for nonpayment of taxes, and, in order that these properties may be once more revenue-producing, I have drafted legislation which would permit of the city giving title of these properties, without charge, to deserving veterans on condition that they be made livable at once.

Many war veterans have become extremely proficient at mechanical trades and would undoubtedly welcome the opportunity to improve these properties and add in the vicinity of $10,000,000 in taxable value to city property upon which there is no income at the present time.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION.

The necessity for additional arteries for the relief of traffic congestion has been a subject of study by State Planning Boards, City Planning Boards and other agencies for a considerable period of time. I believe the time has arrived for immediate action, and it is my purpose to call a conference in the near future of the various agencies for the purpose of definitely determining, without further delay, on an equitable solution.

I shall file a bill to extend Dartmouth street with a bridge across the Charles river to Kendall square and making provision for the widening of Dartmouth street and Dedham street to Albany street, connecting with the proposed Fort Point Channel Underground Highway, thereby providing a direct new route over a broad highway for traffic from the South Shore to Boston, connecting with the East-West proposed sunken highway, thereby providing traffic relief both north and south.

The construction of the sunken highway between Dorchester avenue and Massachusetts avenue will make possible an end of the constant opening and delay in traffic upon the Dover Street, Broadway and Dorchester Avenue Bridges, which today serve but one tenant and yet represent a considerable annual upkeep, including salaries for attendants.

I favor as a further relief for traffic congestion an early conference with the officials of the Boston & Albany Railroad for the purpose of building over, as has been done in New York, the trackage of this company between Boylston street and Huntington avenue.

The cooperative spirit displayed by the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad in substituting Diesel engines for coal-burning engines upon their line between Boston and Providence has reached the point where the chief engineer has informed me, after several conferences, that he is hopeful that the entire line between Boston and Providence will be dieselized at an early date.

I am hopeful that a similar cooperative attitude will be displayed by the officials of the Boston & Albany Railroad and the Boston & Maine Railroad to the end that within the coming year we will have complete electrification and dieselization of all railroads within the Boston area.

The abandonment of coal-burning locomotive engines should add many millions to the value of properties adjoining these railroads in the areas where these railroads operate, since it would mean an end to cinders, smoke, dust, dirt and noise.

The success achieved in New York in the razing of the Sixth Avenue elevated structure with the benefits which have resulted to properties on Sixth avenue justifies the belief that a similar condition will obtain in the event of the removal of the elevated structure from Sullivan square to Forest Hills and the substitution thereof of a tunnel or bus line.

Believing that it would be of immeasurable benefit to the city, the people, and property, in general, I have drafted a bill to permit of the removal of the elevated structure.

With a view to providing relief for the unbearable traffic conditions in the downtown section, and for the preservation of the high-valued retail business district of Boston, I have drafted a bill for a garage under Boston Common, and look forward to its adoption.

The principal objection to the taking of any portion of Boston Common has been based largely upon historical and sentimental grounds. The fact remains, however, since the introduction of the subway system, a portion of Boston Common underground as well as above ground has been utilized. Any further extension of usable area under Boston Common for the relief of traffic, similar to that which today is in operation in San Francisco, would provide not only immediate relief for traffic congestion but would return a reasonable revenue to the city annually. Unquestionably, the revenue will be sufficient to amortize the entire cost within twenty years.

With a view to relieving the burden on owners of real estate, I propose the submission of a bill making provision for an allocation from the Highway Fund of the state, annually, of $1,000,000 to provide for such additional traffic regulations and officers as are made necessary by the increase in the volume of motor vehicles on our highways.

Legislation of this character is necessary due to the increased cost of motor vehicle supervision which, in turn, is due to the increase in the number of motor vehicles on our highways which, in the year 1945, represented an increased cost to the city in excess of $600,000.

PORT DEVELOPMENT.

The creation by the state of the Board of Port Authority, vesting as it does all port development in the state-created Board, leaves to the city little other than recommendations.

In my judgment, the City of Boston should control and operate the Army Base. In the past it has been the custom to lease out this property, which represents an investment by the Federal Government of thirty millions of dollars, to private interests who have not always operated the business for the best interests of the state or city.

Believing that the time has arrived for this essential development to serve as it was originally intended it should serve, namely, the city and its people, I have drafted legislation turning the use and operation of this property over to the City of Boston. The combination of rail and steamship facilities which obtain at the Army Base should prove attractive to shippers and travelers in every port of the world and would do much to give to Boston the place it once occupied in the forefront of commercial cities.

The revenue resulting from municipal operation, with a sane and sound policy of economy and efficiency, should do much to relieve real estate from the burden now imposed.

SCHOOLS.

The School Department presents a real problem, the proper solution of which means much to every individual in the city, and more particularly to the persons employed in the School Department.

It is difficult to understand why the cost of conducting the School Department increases as the number of pupils reduces; likewise the number of teachers has been reduced.

In 1933, the schools of Boston had about 137,000 pupils, while today they have but 96,000, or about 41,000 less than in 1933, and with some 540 less teachers in attendance. Yet the cost of conducting the School Department in 1945 was $18,057,769.50, as against $15,230,145.64 in 1933.

It is my purpose to arrange a conference at an early date between the School Committee and the teaching staffs with a view to the development of a program for reducing the cost of operating the schools that would more nearly conform with the reduction in the number of pupils.

The excessive cost of conducting school activities over which the Mayor of the City has no control, would, in my judgment, render it advisable to introduce legislation providing that the Mayor shall have an absolute veto power over the appropriations of the School Committee, and it is my purpose to further legislation to that end.

The accepted practice in a majority of the states, the purpose of which is to assist in relieving cities and towns, in part, of the cost of education, provides that from 25 to 35 per cent shall be reimbursed to the cities and towns by the state.

Relief of this character is not only desirable but vitally essential if the educational institutions of our cities and towns are to serve the purpose intended; and, accordingly, I have drafted legislation to be submitted to the General Court making provision for this essential relief, since at the present time Boston receives but about 8 per cent from the state, and other cities and towns about the same proportion.

HOSPITALS AND HEALTH.

The recent disclosures with reference to the operation of what at one time was considered the finest municipal hospital in America, and, in addition, the current information with reference to the operation of Long Island Hospital, is food for serious thought for every individual.

At the present time at Boston City Hospital there are some 140 chronic cases that should be treated at Long Island Hospital but cannot be treated there because of conditions that obtain at the institution.

Little, if any, repairs have been made during the past eight years, with general deterioration and decay, and the nursing situation is one that should not be tolerated. In prior years, at Long Island Hospital for the aged, a nursing school was maintained but abolished some years ago, with the result that today aged and sick patients are acting as nurses to other patients due to the impossibility of securing the necessary nurses due to the abandonment of the nurses' school.

What is true in the case of nurses is also true in the case of medical and surgical services. The conditions at Long Island emphasize the need of the transfer of its inmates to the mainland, and it is my purpose to confer with the City Hospital Trustees and other authorities at an early date to take the steps at once, as conditions demand be taken, for the preservation of the lives of the inmates.

With the advances that have been made in the care and cure of children's diseases, it is possible that the entire South Department at the City Hospital may be turned over at once for the care and treatment of aged people now at the Long Island Infirmary, and, in the event that it proves impossible, a site should be selected at once upon the mainland for this purpose, since our first obligation is to the sick and the aged wards of our city.

The beneficial effects that have resulted at the L Street Bath from the establishment of a solarium for men afflicted with arthritis or rheumatism justify the belief that steps should be taken at once for the establishment of a similar solarium for women and children at the women's section of the L Street Bath, and it is my purpose to recommend to the White Fund Trustees at their first meeting that the required money be made available.

The results achieved through inoculation and through the installation of glass cubicles in the case of communicable diseases common to the young are almost unbelievable.

As against an average of thirty-nine deaths from scarlet fever in 1932, there were no deaths in 1944. In the case of diphtheria, as against thirty-three deaths in 1932, there was but one death in 1942, but one in 1943 and but two in 1944.

A survey disclosed the astounding fact that the total deaths from cancer, scarlet fever, diphtheria and tuberculosis for the year 1944 were but 1,838, while the number of deaths from heart disease was 3,575, or nearly twice as many deaths from heart disease as from diphtheria, tuberculosis, scarlet fever and cancer combined.

It would appear absolutely and imperatively essential that a clinic for heart disease is one of our great pressing needs and should be established at the earliest opportunity.

The establishment of a clinic building centrally located in the city for the treatment of persons afflicted with high mortality diseases, such as heart disease, cancer, arthritis, diabetes, and persons who are deaf and dumb, will be recommended to the trustees of the White Fund.

SUFFOLK COUNTY EXPENSES.

I favor the adoption of a bill establishing the Suffolk County Council and providing for equitable apportionment of expenses of Suffolk County.

The bill will provide for the establishment of a Suffolk County government composed of the members of the Committee on County Accounts of the City Council of the City of Boston, ex officio, the President of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Chelsea, ex officio, the President of the City Council of the City of Revere, ex officio, and the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Winthrop, ex officio. This group, to be known as the Suffolk County Council, will pass upon Suffolk County expenditures, which will be equitably apportioned among the cities of Boston, Chelsea, Revere and the town of Winthrop.

WELFARE.

In the majority of states at the present time, the municipalities are reimbursed on an average of 80 per cent of expenditures for all forms of welfare relief.

At the present time the amount of reimbursement by the State of Massachusetts averages about 45 per cent as contrasted with 80 per cent reimbursement by New York State to the City of New York. An increase in the revenue from the operations of horse and dog tracks would provide a measure of relief that is sorely needed by all of the cities and many of the towns of the Commonwealth.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The necessity for a complete investigation and overhauling of this department is apparent to the most casual observer. In fact, the subject of undermanning of apparatus is today a general topic of discussion both by the public and the press.

Upon the question of apparatus, the National Board of Fire Underwriters directed attention to the failure of the city to undertake an adequate program for the replacing of old apparatus.

The equipment, in many cases, has outlived its usefulness, and a complete replacement schedule, based on a fifteen-year life expectancy for active service, is required at once for the protection of the public. During the past fifteen years but ten pumps were purchased and four are on order. In other words, only fourteen of the fifty pumpers in the City Fire Department are not over-age.

In the same period of time five ladder trucks and two tractors were acquired, leaving but five of the thirty-one in the Boston Fire Department that are not over-age. In other words, they have not been in use for a shorter period than fifteen years.

The necessity for a relocation of housing, a better manning of apparatus and the installment of modern, up-to-date fire-fighting equipment is imperative.

It is my purpose to consult the War and Navy Departments with a view to the purchasing by the City of Boston of up-to-date apparatus now located at air fields or training stations that have been abandoned or shall shortly be abandoned by the Federal Government, which should represent a considerable saving to the city provided the apparatus can be secured.

More rigid inspections and strict enforcement of the building laws should prevent not only major disasters but mild ones as well.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

What is true of the equipment in the Fire Department is equally true of the equipment in use by the Public Works and Hospital Departments, most of which is unfit for use at the present time and yet which might be replaced through Federal agencies at a minimum of cost.

PLANNING BOARD.

The City of Boston Planning Board was organized for the purpose of long-range planning with a view to the elimination of waste and the promotion of economy and efficiency in the administration of municipal departments.

The purpose served by the Planning Board prior to the past eight years was most commendable, and such recommendations as were adopted were extremely beneficial to the city.

It is my purpose to aid in every way the work of the Planning Board which has proven so beneficial to nation, states, and such cities as have accepted major recommendations made by Planning Boards established therein.

In conjunction with the activities of the Planning Board, it would, in my judgment, be advisable to arrange monthly meetings to which might be invited, for participation in the matter of long-range planning for all municipal departments, leaders representing labor and capital.

The necessity for a program of this character has been proven in the case of the development of recreation facilities, hospitalization, and the placing upon a sound financial basis of our public school system by requiring that land and buildings for educational purposes be acquired and built out of tax money.

The present City Hospital, one of the most modern in the entire nation, was constructed with a view to meeting the demands of the next half century; the development of our recreational facilities, including the Strandway and beaches along the waterfront, was created with the same objective.

In 1915, the School Department was put on a pay-as-you-go basis rather than establishing bonded indebtedness on land and structures built thereon for educational purposes, with the result that today the city has ownership, without debt, of upwards of some $70,000,000 of school property which, had we adhered to the old system, today would be subject to a bonded indebtedness of some $50,000,000.

BUDGET.

The necessity for the re-establishment of the segregated budget put in operation in 1916 and abandoned in recent years made possible the exercise of complete control over all municipal expenditures.

The recent disclosures of wholesale appointments, depletion of department funds, increase of salaries largely based not upon merit but upon favoritism, and making necessary at the closing of the administration wholesale transfers from one department to another, prove that the segregated budget is essential if efficiency is to replace waste in the conduct of municipal activities.

The general public are of the opinion today that employees of the city, in the main, are not furnishing an adequate return for the wages paid to them and the security afforded them by protection from sickness and the assurance of a pension for disability or old age.

I have no means of determining, other than by personal observation of the condition of streets, alleys and highways generally, as to the truth or falsity of the impression that is accepted. However, I shall shortly learn — and shall guarantee that any employee of the city who does an honest day's work need have no fear of reprisal. In the event, however, he fails to meet requirements, he must be prepared to accept of the consequences.

There is a universal complaint, in addition, of lack of courtesy by the officials with whom the public come in contact in City Hall and elsewhere in the conduct of public works which will not be tolerated in the future.

After all, we are all servants of the public, and the taxes paid by them provide our salaries. Consequently, it is a matter of duty as well as proper Americanism to extend every courtesy to those with whom we come in contact in our official positions.

With a view to meeting the increased cost of living, the municipal authorities provided for an emergency compensation of $200 per annum for each employee of the city. This payment has now been in force for a period of three years and, while there has been a slight reduction in the cost of living, it has not been sufficient to offset the increased cost. Consequently, it is my purpose to continue these payments.

HOME RULE FOR MASSACHUSETTS CITIES.

Cincinnati and Cleveland are cited as examples of near perfection in city government, but all who extol the merits of the Cincinnati and Cleveland governments fail to tell us that under the Constitution of the State of Ohio the voters in the cities of that state have the right to amend their respective charters themselves. In other words, Cincinnati, Cleveland and other Ohio cities have a Home Rule right that does not obtain in Massachusetts.

Until such time as Boston and other Massachusetts cities have the right to amend their own charters as they do in Ohio, the people will continue to feel they have no Home Rule authority, but must go along in the groove that the General Court designs, all of which makes for a defeatist complex among our citizenry and kills off the adoption of progressive programs in the respective cities of Massachusetts. After all, no one knows the need of a municipality better than the voters who live therein.

That such a condition should exist in a Commonwealth whose governmental keystone since the early days was "Home Rule" is beyond comprehension. But the sum total of it all today is that citizens in the towns of Massachusetts have "town meeting" and "Home Rule" rights that city dwellers are denied.

In short, if you live in a Massachusetts city, you are denied many fundamental rights that your neighbor in an adjoining town possesses. In effect, the voter is penalized in a great measure if he lives in a city in Massachusetts.

Nowhere in the Massachusetts Constitution is it set forth that the authority that rests with the General Court to grant city charters and create municipalities also permits the General Court to deny liberties to the city dweller that the man who lives in a town enjoys. It is a legislative paradox — but it has come down to us over the years because no one does anything about it.

When the town fathers of Boston asked for a city charter around 1820, which was granted later by the General Court, the one thing that disturbed the Bostonians was the fear that they might lose some of the rights that they cherished as "townsmen" in making the change to city government. (Ernst, Constitutional History of Boston.)

It is needless to say that if prominent members of the committee that requested a change from town to city government, including John Phillips, Josiah Quincy, Jacob Rhodes, Redford Webster and George Blake, were to view the absence of Home Rule in Boston today, they would be found in the forefront of the battle for a greater measure of Home Rule for Massachusetts cities which would do much to wipe out many of the evils that obtain at present in Massachusetts municipalities.

Fortunately, we have a progressive General Court at present, and I, for one, feel that from now on we can expect a greater measure of Home Rule in the cities of our Commonwealth. The present General Court is fully alive to the fact that a prosperous Boston means better conditions for the entire Commonwealth. Yes, even for all New England. This is evidenced by recent legislation and reports of legislative recess committees — they want to help, and it is a good omen for the future.

There is nothing more stimulating to local pride than for the citizens of a local body politic to be left to work out their own destiny. Individual initiative is the American trait that will bring results in any local body politic.

Now we are on the threshold of an era where all want to get things done — the mistakes of the past are behind us — let Beacon Hill work hand in hand for the betterment of Boston and other cities, and then we can go ahead — for the prosperity of Boston is the prosperity of all Massachusetts.

CONCLUSION.

I have endeavored to portray the city and its condition as I view it and, frankly, the picture is most drab. The task confronting us is one that calls for experience, courage, vision and unity of action by all agencies interested in restoring Boston to the position which it should rightfully hold.

The past of our city is both inspiring and glorious; the present should prove a test of our right to the heritage which is ours as citizens of Boston; the future placed in our keeping is what we, by unity of action, sincerity of purpose and intelligent direction, see fit to make it. No individual can face the solution of a task as great as that which confronts us in the present hour without the united and wholehearted support of all agencies.

In the work confronting us it is essential and imperative that the City Council have a full appreciation of the responsibility that is theirs in aiding me in the work of establishing our city once more upon a sound, efficient and economical basis for the benefit of all the people.

The problems of adversity are seldom greater than the problems of prosperity. Yet they can only be overcome by concerted action and complete cooperation — and this, I trust, we shall receive from the public at large.

There are many persons who favor a change from Home Rule and government of the people, by the people and for the people to government by commissions in which the people will have little voice,

MAYOR CURLEY ISSUES ORDERS DOING AWAY WITH THREE BUREAUS AS NON-ESSENTIAL AND OVERLAPPING WORK MORE PROPERLY ALLOCATED TO ALREADY FUNCTIONING DEPARTMENTS—SAVING OF MORE THAN $400,000 ANNUALLY AFFECTED.

On January 8 Mayor Curley issued the following statement:

I have this day directed the City Auditor and Acting Budget Commissioner to limit appropriations to be included in the 1946 budget for the Board of Recreation, the Bureau of Americanization and the Veterans' Information and Reception Center to such amounts as will provide for the maintenance and activities of these various agencies through the close of business on January 15, 1946.

This action has been taken, not only for reasons of economy, but also because from information available, I am of the opinion that the work of these agencies is unnecessary and represents in large part a duplication of work performed by Federal and State departments, Soldiers' Relief Department, the Park Department and private agencies.

The discontinuance of these three agencies will constitute an estimated saving in excess of $400,000 for the current fiscal year and represents positive action in the matter of affording relief to the taxpayers of the city.

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

The orders dissolving the bureaus read as follows:

BOSTON, January 8, 1946.

Mr. CHARLES J. FOX,
Acting Budget Commissioner.

DEAR SIR,—The work now performed by the Veterans' Information and Reception Center constitutes, in a large part, a duplication of work carried on by Federal and State departments, the Soldiers' Relief Department and private agencies.

The estimated budget requirements for this Bureau for the current year are approximately thirty-five thousand dollars which, in my opinion, constitutes a needless expense on the taxpayers. In the interest of economy and to prevent further waste, you are hereby directed not to make any appropriation for the further maintenance of this Center beyond January 15, 1946, at which time it is my intention to turn the work of the Center over to the Soldiers' Relief Department.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

BOSTON, January 8, 1946.

Mr. CHARLES J. FOX,
Acting Budget Commissioner.

DEAR SIR,—The work now performed by the Bureau of Americanization constitutes, in a large part, a duplication of work carried on by Federal agencies and our own School Department. The budget estimates submitted by this Bureau for the year 1946 call for expenditures in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars. Feeling there is no imperative need for such an activity to be conducted by the city and for reasons of economy, I hereby direct you not to make any appropriation for the further maintenance of this Bureau beyond January 15, 1946.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

BOSTON, January 9, 1946.

THOMAS E. TURLEY, Chairman,
Board of Recreation.

DEAR SIR,—For reasons of economy I have felt it necessary to terminate, for the time being, all activities of the Board of Recreation as of the close of business on January 15, 1946. I have directed the Acting Budget Commissioner to limit the appropriation to be provided in this year's budget to the estimated requirements of the Board through next Tuesday. I request that you make arrangements to advise all personnel affected by this decision and make whatever arrangements may be necessary to turn over whatever supplies, equipment, etc., that may be in the possession of the Board to the Park Commissioner.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

This trend of thought is based largely upon the assumption that popular government and Home Rule have failed of their purpose in that they have not been conducted in an efficient and economical manner.

It represents a challenge to the believers in Home Rule and popular government and can only be met through efficient, economical and honest discharge of our duties and obligations.

I am in no sense fearful of the result, provided there is proper cooperation by all of the services of the city and honest judgment by the public at large, that we shall meet the most exacting requirements and in conformity with the inscription which appears on the City Seal which sets forth, "As God was with our Fathers, so may He be with us."

That Divine Providence may guide us in our deliberations in the solution of the problems which must be solved, the final solution of which will bring comfort to those heavily laden and greater honor and glory to our beloved city, should be the sincere prayer of every citizen.

TRAFFIC COMMISSION RULINGS.

Voted, That as urgently required by considerations of public safety and convenience, during the period of underground construction by the Boston Edison Company, vehicles are excluded from the following street on Sunday, January 6, 1946, from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.:

Kilby Street, Boston Proper.

From Water street to Doane street.

MAYOR REMOVES AND REPLACES HEAD OF TRANSIT DEPARTMENT.

On January 8 Mayor Curley addressed the following letter to the City Clerk:

JOHN B. HYNES,
City Clerk.

DEAR SIR,—I hereby remove Clarence B. Hyde, Transit Commissioner of the City of Boston, from said position, effective today, for the following reasons:

In my opinion, he is neither an expert or specially fitted by education, training or experience to perform the duties of the office, nor am I satisfied with the manner in which the work of the department has been conducted during the past few years.

For these reasons, and to obtain a more efficient conduct of the city's business, this removal is made.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

DEPARTMENT CHANGES.

The following changes in the number, rating and compensation of the city employees have been made:

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 24, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the trustees of the George Robert White Fund relative to your order of December 10, 1945, regarding the construction of a bath house and solarium on the Charles River Esplanade in Ward 3.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
George Robert White Fund,
December 14, 1945.

Mr. Samuel Brown,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the order presented in City Council and passed by the Council December 10, 1945, as follows:

"Ordered, That the trustees of the George Robert White Fund be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to immediately advertise for bids for the construction of the proposed bath house and solarium on the Charles River Esplanade in Ward 3."

For your information, at a meeting of the trustees of the George Robert White Fund held on Tuesday, October 23, 1945, quoting from the records:

"An order passed in the City Council under date of October 1, 1945, by Councilor Russo, to immediately proceed with the erection of a new bath house and recreation center on the Charles-bank in the West End was considered, but in view of the lateness of the season it was decided it was not feasible to proceed with the immediate construction of the project."

REROUTING OF HYDE PARK-ROSLINDALE BUS LINE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 27, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a communication from the Boston Elevated Railway relative to your order of December 3, 1945, regarding the rerouting of the new Hyde Park-Roslindale bus line, in order to eliminate the use of Denton terrace, by extending the transportation to Roslindale square.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

Boston Elevated Railway,
December 19, 1945.

Mr. Samuel Brown,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—The trustees have directed me to reply to your communication of December 7 with which you forwarded City Council order requesting the rerouting of the new Hyde Park-Roslindale bus line, in order to eliminate the use of Denton terrace, by extending the transportation to Roslindale square.

As soon as the Office of Defense Transportation situation was released attempt was made to work out what these people had been deprived of during the war years—service between Washington street and Hyde Park avenue, and at the present moment some 700 people are securing the benefit of that connection.

The trustees feel that under existing conditions they cannot extend this line at the further end, thus paralleling street car lines.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD DANA,
President and General Manager.

Placed on file.

APPROPRIATION FOR MUNICIPAL BUILDING, COLUMBIA ROAD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 27, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—On December 2 a serious fire occurred in the Columbia Road Municipal Building, as a result of which the interior of the building was badly gutted and made unsuitable for occupancy or use. Since the building is one of the most widely used structures of its kind in the city, it is imperative in the interests of the residents of the community adjacent to the structure that immediate steps be taken to repair the damage caused by the fire. I am advised in the attached communication by the Acting Superintendent of Public Buildings that, in his opinion, an appropriation of eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000) will be required for this purpose. I submit herewith an appropriation order providing for this amount and respectfully recommend its adoption by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
December 7, 1945.

Hon. John E. Kerrigan,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—A serious fire occurred in the Municipal Building at the corner of Columbia road and Bird street, Dorchester, on the early morning of Sunday, December 2. So much damage was done to the building, which is one of the most widely used facilities under the jurisdiction of the Public Buildings Department, that the branch library located there has been closed and all gymnasium activities, including the use of the showers, had to be suspended. Because of the importance of this Municipal Building to the people of the Uphams Corner section of Dorchester, it is absolutely necessary that steps be taken immediately to restore this structure, and, from estimates which I have had made, the work of reconstruction will cost approximately $18,000.

Sufficient funds to do this work, which is of an emergency nature, are not available in this department, so for that reason I respectfully request that you ask the City Council to make a special appropriation of $18,000 to enable me to proceed at once with the work of restoring the damage done by this fire.

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Acting Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That the sum of eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000) be, and hereby is, appropriated from excess Corporation Tax receipts, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for Municipal Building, Columbia Road, Reconstruction and Repair of.

Referred to Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR REPAIR OF CHARLESTOWN BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 27, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Commissioner of Public Works setting forth the emergency created by the accident which occurred on December 17 when a steamship which was being backed out of the Hoosac Tunnel docks in Charlestown with the assistance of tugs got out of control and crashed into the Charlestown Bridge. As a result of this accident a section of the bridge, approximately eighty feet in length and fifty feet in width, must be reconstructed and rebuilt. Since funds are not available within the appropriations of the Public Works Department for this emergency work, I submit herewith an order appropriating seventy thousand dollars ($70,000) from excess Corporation Tax receipts, and respectfully recommend adoption of this order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
December 26, 1945.

Hon. John E. Kerrigan,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—Last Monday, December 17, while the steamship "John Hathorn" was being backed out of the Hoosac Tunnel docks in Charlestown with the assistance of tugs, the boat got out of control and crashed into the Charlestown Bridge.

The supporting ironwork and the deck of the bridge—for a distance of approximately 80 feet in length and 50 feet in width—was knocked out of place and dropped into the water below. The crash also disturbed the overhead structure of the Boston Elevated Railway, upon which the trains run to and from Charlestown and Everett, and because the elevated structure was so badly damaged all service had to be suspended for several days.

In the interests of public safety immediately after the crash this department proceeded to fence off the damaged section of the bridge, and provision was made for one-way vehicular traffic to Charlestown on the upstream side of the bridge which had not been injured by this crash.

Arrangements were then made in the emergency which existed to have a contractor start at once on the repair work which had become necessary, consisting of salvaging the parts of the bridge which had fallen into the water, fabricating and putting into place new steel members, reconstructing the roadway, and rebuilding the sidewalks, etc.

The estimated cost of the work which must be done as a result of this accident is $70,000, and as sufficient funds are not on hand, I respectfully request that you ask the City Council to appropriate from available sources the sum of $70,000 as a supplementary appropriation in the item known as "Bridges, Repairs, etc."

While the appropriation of the above-mentioned sum is absolutely necessary at this time, we expect that the city will be reimbursed by the parties responsible for the damage done. The matter of seeing that the city's interests are fully protected is now in the hands of the Law Department.

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the sum of seventy thousand dollars ($70,000) be, and hereby is, appropriated from excess Corporation Tax receipts, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for Bridges, Repairs, etc.
Referred to Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR SNOW REMOVAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 27, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Commissioner of Public Works in which he points out that a supplementary appropriation of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) is required to meet expenses that have been incurred by his department resulting from recent storms. I submit herewith an appropriation order providing that the necessary amount be secured from excess Corporation Taxes recently distributed by the state. I respectfully recommend adoption of the order as submitted.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
December 26, 1945.

Hon. John E. Kerrigan,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—At the present time the appropriation for Snow Removal is exhausted and provision must be made for paying the expenses of two recent storms.

I estimate that the sum of $150,000 will be necessary to pay the expenses that have been incurred by this department in connection with snow removal, for overtime for city employees, for the emergency men who were hired to supplement the regular force of the department, for contract plowing, and for the rental of trucks, snow loaders, and bulldozers.

I, therefore, respectfully request that the sum of $150,000 be appropriated from available sources to be expended under the special appropriation for Snow Removal.

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) be, and hereby is, appropriated from excess Corporation Taxes, to be expended, under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for Snow Removal.

DIGGING OF CLAMS.

The following was received:

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Department of Conservation,
Boston, December 19, 1945.
To the Honorable City Council, City of Boston.
Gentlemen,—An emergency has arisen in respect to the production of clams from moderately contaminated areas which necessitates my again asking for your cooperation.

The only shellfish treatment plant in the state owned and operated by the city of Newburyport has been closed. A copy of letter from the Honorable John M. Kelleher, Mayor of Newburyport, notifying me, under date of December 13, 1945, of this closing is inclosed.

This action was taken presumably due to the inability of the Newburyport clam diggers to find satisfactory areas in which they could operate. The Newburyport flats were closed to the taking of shellfish for food purposes in July of this year, by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, for public health reasons. This action necessarily denied to the local residents the opportunity to earn a living by working in their own areas and they are precluded from operating in Boston and certain other communities by reason of the existence of city ordinances or town regulations. All cities or towns having in effect such ordinances or regulations agreed in response to my request of last July to help out by permitting Newburyport diggers to operate in their areas. Boston was the only exception.

I am now informed by the Mayor of Newburyport that if your Honorable Body will arrange to permit not over twenty men from that city to operate in the shellfish areas of Boston he will reopen this plant.

The present situation is this. The closing of this plant has stopped all production of clams from Boston and from contaminated areas throughout the state, throwing out of employment 499 men, including those in Boston, holding permits for this type of operation.

I, therefore, in your interests and those of the shellfish industry of the state respectfully request your prompt favorable action in issuing licenses to not over twenty Newburyport men to operate in the Boston shellfish areas. Your cooperation will be helpful to your own clam producers and those throughout the state.

Thank you in anticipation of your favorable action and reply.

Respectfully yours,
RALPH H. OSBORN, Director.

Referred to Committee on Licenses.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President.
Acting President DWYER—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. COFFEY—I ask unanimous consent to talk on this order that just came before us.

Acting President DWYER—Well, the matter is already referred.

Coun. COFFEY—I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

Acting President DWYER—Councilor Coffey asks unanimous consent to make a statement. The Chair hears no objection. Councilor Coffey.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, we are back again on the clam diggers. I just want to state that the first I knew about Boston clam diggers being banned or being refused a permit to dig clams in Newburyport or Quincy and the other places where shellfish are taken,—the first I knew about it, it was called to my attention by this same Mr. Osborn of the State Fish and Game Commission. He wrote a letter here some time last January, telling the members of the Boston City Council—the letter was given to me as chairman of the Committee on Licenses—that if we wanted to, we could set up a city ordinance whereby Boston men would be given permits to dig clams in Boston flats and outsiders who did not have a residence or who were not voters of Boston would not be allowed to dig any clams or shellfish from the Boston flats. Now, it was Mr. Osborn himself that first put that thought in my mind. One of the clam diggers, a master clam digger from my town, came to me and asked me to introduce an order asking that an ordinance be set up by the Boston City Council. This thing has been gone into very thoroughly by the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances, and I think it was three months before they reached an agreement and brought back an ordinance that a commission could be set up and permits given out for licenses to dig clams, to clam diggers. Since then we have given out permits only to residents of Boston. The clerk who is in charge of looking up a person to find whether he is a resident of Boston or not has not, to my knowledge, given one permit to anybody without first looking that permit up on the Police List—not the Voting List, the Police List—because sometimes the fellow is police listed and not registered as a voter. So we didn't take into consideration whether a person was a voter or not, as long as he was police listed and had a residence in Boston. Since then Mr. Osborn, for some reason or other, has taken the attitude that he wants Newburyport clam diggers to come into Boston. Why, I don't know. We have something like fifty-two or fifty-three clam diggers from Boston with permits to dig in the Boston flats. Now, we know as a matter of fact that Boston men have gone to Newburyport, gone to Salisbury and gone to Quincy, and have been arrested and fined as much as $20 for not having a permit in those local towns to dig clams. One of the other councilors in the South Boston district can bear me out, because he knows of several people who were arrested, people that came from Boston, down in Quincy and were caught digging clams, and they received a fine of $20. Now, Mr. Osborn has called me on the telephone two or three times asking me to allow the Newburyport clam diggers to come into Boston and dig. I told him we had a city ordinance, that we had to live up to it, and nobody outside of Boston was to dig clams, unless he was a Boston resident. Mayor Kelleher of Newburyport has been down to see me twice, asking that we allow his clam diggers to come into Boston to dig. I told him the answer was no. He went further. He threatened to close up the Newburyport plant where they chlorinate these clams it twenty men from Newburyport were not allowed to dig in Boston. I told him to go ahead and close it up; I was not interested. It doesn't mean a darned thing to me. But he has to take into consideration that the State of Massachusetts built that plant, and it was meant for all Massachusetts clam diggers, not exclusively for the town of Newburyport. The town of Newburyport only keeps the plant up. Mayor Kelleher has condemned me and the Committee on Licenses time and time again on the floor of the Council in Newburyport. I have read some of the Newburyport papers and have thrown them away and didn't even see fit to answer Mayor Kelleher and any of the Council from Newburyport, because I didn't think it worthy of even an answer. Only two weeks ago Mayor Kelleher and Mr. Osborn of the State Fish and Game industry called on me and, in the presence of Mayor Kelleher, I said to Mr. Osborn, "You are responsible for the ordinance, Mr. Osborn. I would not have known anything about it but for the fact that you wrote me a letter telling me we could set up a city ordinance to dig clams in the Boston flats." I told that to Mayor Kelleher in his presence, and I asked Mr. Osborn what his interest was,—why was he so interested in Newburyport clam diggers? Why wasn't he just as much interested in Boston clam diggers? Well, he said, "I don't think it is fair that you set up an ordinance." I said, "You are the man that told me to set up an ordinance. I wouldn't have known anything, until I had a letter from you stating that other towns had taken advantage, and we could take advantage." It is nothing but a headache. It is a system we get no money for. We don't charge anything for the permits. We have to have a file out there. If I am not handy, they can't hand out a permit until I am called in to sign it. And then we have to look up on the Police List to see if the man is there. It is nothing but a headache for us. There is a way out. We have set up an ordinance. Now, if we are to rescind the ordinance and open the flats wide, they will be dug out in two or three weeks, and there will be no more clam digging for six or seven months, and then the clam diggers will come in and clean them out again, and after cleaning them out again they will go to their home town and dig at their leisure because Boston men cannot get a permit. Quincy has a permit with a rider. You have to be a resident and a voter in Quincy three years before you get a permit to dig clams in Quincy. I say there is a way out, and that is to ask an act of legislation, have them put through an act next year allowing all the flats to be opened to all residents of Massachusetts. That is fair and even. But the way the set-up is now it isn't fair and even. As I said, I hope that some action of that nature takes place, because it is a headache to me. It is something that could be corrected, if they open all flats in Massachusetts to all clam diggers throughout the entire state, and then everything would be fine throughout the Commonwealth. And if Boston men wanted to go to Quincy, they could dig in Quincy, and if Newburyport men wanted to come down to Boston to dig, they could. But I say this thing here should not even be considered. There is a way out, and that is through legislation. I told Mayor Kelleher I would have nothing to do with it, and told him in Mr. Osborn's presence that Mr. Osborn was responsible for calling my attention to the fact we could set up an ordinance in Boston if we wanted to. And I still ask that question: Why is Mr. Osborn so interested in Newburyport clam diggers and not in Boston clam diggers?

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President.

Acting President DWYER—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. CAREY—I ask unanimous consent to make a statement. Mr. President, I didn't hear all of the remarks of my good friend from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey). I don't like to disagree with him on the stand he has taken on this matter, but I do find myself compelled to disagree with him. In the beginning, I was inclined to feel that he had taken the right attitude in this particular matter, but that was some time ago. We find every day of the week, in large numbers, people coming into Boston to work, of course, and to do all kinds of business, not with the City of Boston necessarily, but in the City of Boston. That has meant a great deal to the City of Boston. There is a great effort being made at the present time to bring the headquarters of the United Nations Organization here. Why? To make Boston bigger and better. The State Legislature has appropriated some $15,000,000, which is not enough, in order to make the airport here the airport of the entire universe, and all this is being done for a purpose, and that full purpose is to make a bigger city and try to get it out of the rut some people say it now is in. But I don't agree with all of those people. I may say that it is my personal feeling there is altogether too much unfair publicity given to the City of Boston. Boston is not broke. Boston is far from broke. If those of us here in the city don't stand up for it and try to have an argument like that done away with, Boston might be broke some day. But in this particular matter, this particular affair, there was a very unfortunate circumstance brought about. As I understand, there were some very high tides in Newburyport, in that Newburyport area, with the result that the clam flats there were washed out. It will be some time before those flats will again be made available. Now, I know from personal information that for years the clam diggers from all over the state, including Boston, went to the flats of Newburyport and dug to their heart's content. I don't think that the Mayor of the City of New-buryport has meant to be unfair in closing up the chlorinating plant there. He did that only because the pressure was brought upon him by people there who had been forced to give up their source of livelihood in Newburyport because the clam flats were not available in the City of Boston. I don't care what Quincy does, when all is said and done. They might do things there that we might never think of doing here in the City of Boston. But this happens, as I sincerely believe, to be only a matter of a temporary emergency. The day will come when the flats in Newburyport will again be available for digging there, and I am sure at that time they will be wide open for anyone who wants to come there to earn their livelihood. After all, Newburyport is a small place. A man who is forced to give up his means of livelihood—and as I understand it, most of these men are mature men of sixty or seventy years of age, who are still trying to keep going, earning a livelihood themselves, and they find themselves all of a sudden in the unfortunate circumstance of not being able to go out and earn their living at the toil they had earned it at for years. I feel, after all, it is a matter of cooperation. We don't feel that way about the typists and stenographers and salesmen, and this and that, that come in here, not only from Newburyport, but from every other town in the Commonwealth, every day. And, as I look at this particular matter, we are picking upon a few poor unfortunates,—unfortunates who are at that stage in life where they cannot begin over again. It is the only work they know how to do. If the circumstances were such that these men could go elsewhere and earn a livelihood, I would feel differently about it, but I don't think we can build a wall around the City of Boston while at the same time we are doing everything we can in other ways to attract business to the city. From the information given to me, there are more clams along the South Boston flats, Carson Beach flats, than will ever be dug, and with the reproduction of the seed there, I am told, there is nothing to worry about. These few men that come in from Newburyport are not going to rob the flats completely. This matter may have far-reaching consequences. I think that my friend from East Boston (Coun. Coffey) has been very fair in his attitude and has given and taken, as I say, in this particular matter—but I think the time has come when the case deserves the attention that this request asks it be given, and I hope, therefore, that before the City Council here refuses to listen to this request, the matter will be taken up and given proper consideration, in the hope that these unfortunates who cannot earn their living at any other trade, due to the fact that their entire life has been spent at this particular occupation, will be given an opportunity to come in here and at least keep their body and soul together.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President.

Acting President DWYER—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. RUSSO—I wish unanimous consent to make a statement.

Acting President DWYER—The Chair will inform the gentleman that we have hardly got started in the meeting, but the Chair does not want to object to anyone making statements. The Chair will recognize the gentleman if there is no objection.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, of course I hate to disagree with my good friend, the councilor from Ward 10 (Coun. Carey). However, I, for one, as a member of this City Council don't want to be placed in the position of having the blame put on me or on to the Council in so far as the act of the Council is concerned. I remember very vividly what transpired at the time this ordinance went into effect and all these discussions came about, and I feel that the councilor from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey) has acted very wisely, intelligently and very sincerely. Consequently, I feel that the Council as a whole did likewise. This reminds me of the moral of the story: "Don't spit up to heaven because it comes back to your own face." It was not the City Council of the City of Boston that brought this about. It was due to the fact that these various cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth had their own ordinances set up, and their ordinances stated that no one was allowed to go in and dig on these flats if they were not a resident of those certain cities and towns. We were the last ones to pass upon this question, after realizing the merits of the complaints made by the clam diggers of the City of Boston. And I think that we, as councilors, acted wisely in the interests of the people of the City of Boston. We don't intend to deprive anyone of coming into the City of Boston in order to provide for themselves and their families, but, likewise, we do not intend to stand idly by if other cities and towns intend to deprive any one of our citizens from earning their own living outside of the City of Boston. It is maybe a fact that certain unforeseen circumstances have arisen in so far as Newburyport is concerned, on tides and storms, but we didn't bring all this matter about. And I feel that unless, as the councilor has stated, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts enacts legislation throwing open all these flats throughout the Commonwealth and allows everyone who is a resident of the Commonwealth to go in and dig these flats, we ought not to change our ordinance at this time. I feel that "what is good for the goose is good for the gander." Therefore, I feel that I have in my humble way served the people of Boston, and I have nothing to be ashamed of by my actions.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President.

Acting President DWYER—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. CAREY—With the indulgence of my colleagues, I would like unanimous consent to make a brief statement.

Acting President DWYER—The Chair will inform the councilor that he has already referred the matter to the Committee on Licenses; that that committee, I hope, will have a hearing on it, and we will bring the matter back on the floor. The Chair is going to object to any more statements.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMISSION RE PAVING WORK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Finance Commission, December 19, 1945.
The Honorable the Mayor and City Council.
Gentlemen,—For the past several years the Finance Commission has paid close attention to the paving work of the City of Boston. This report is therefore one of a series devoted to discussion of policies and practices followed in the administration of this expensive and important municipal activity.

In the reports which have already been placed on the public record in regard to paving, the commission first found serious flaws in the written specifications. After many conferences with officials of the Public Works Department, consultations with experts, and examination of methods followed elsewhere, a form of specification was developed which is accepted as ideal for the procurement of reliable pavement—roadway and sidewalk. Strict observance of these specifications will give good paving.

Nevertheless, despite the perfected specification, there continued to be strong basis for dissatisfaction with paving results. Too often streets were in need of replacement long before the first period expired, for which their use in good condition had been anticipated.

The commission sought to determine why an ideal specification failed to produce acceptable pavement. The first answer was that the contractors were not adhering to the requirements in construction. Inspection by the city was lax, or absolutely neglected. Precise requirements of preparation, thickness of material, and workmanship were ignored and there was no one to prevent it. The inspectors allowed the contractor to dominate the job and, in the end, the city received poor performance instead of the good quality and workmanship which the precise terms of the contract required. Inspectors gave various specious reasons for this inability to control the situation.

In recent years some effort has been made to improve this condition. For one thing, inspectors have been threatened with one penalty or another for failure to insist upon required performance. Another device was to withhold payment to the contractor until the work was done over. Next, the city tried threatening with civil action the contractor and the surety company which bonded him for faithful performance. All these devices have had some effect. Yet the city often pays for a good job, but receives a poor one. Several reports of the Finance Commission since 1941 have revealed these lapses.

There are other reasons for the unsatisfactory results. In this report the commission, therefore, desires to place on the record for the consideration of the administrators who are to come in the future some of the other reasons for the continued failure to obtain satisfaction in the city's paving.

The principal weakness is right at the inception of the work. The city never begins a paving program in a businesslike way. A well-developed plan of spending a given sum for paving has never been formulated. What streets to pave, and what type of pavement to use, are not determined by the Public Works Department on its own judgment of the actual need, but by others who are sometimes of the official family and yet, more often, are those who have only a political connection.

It is merely a commonplace to say that a city should know what it is going to build before it starts to raise money for it. A businesslike method would unquestionably be to determine, first, what streets need to be paved, or repaved; thereafter to determine what kind of pavement is proper to install in each case; to have field engineers determine the engineering conditions to be encountered in each street; and to measure the actual area in need of treatment and furnish a reliable estimate of the cost. With such information in hand seasonably, the city administrators have a basis for the making of a program. The fiscal agents can then decide how much the city may spend and fix the amount of appropriation accordingly. By fitting a number of streets, with probable costs already determined, to the amount of the appropriation, there can emerge a definite program of construction.

But this is not the manner in which the paving activity takes shape. In contrast with that common-sense method, what the city does—in the words of an old adage—is to "put the cart before the horse." A decision is made, without any basis of need or cost, to appropriate a given sum of money. There is no list in existence at that time of the streets which should be paved. There are consequently no areas determined, no costs estimated, no types of pavement decided upon.

Upon each occasion when an appropriation for paving has been sought, the City Council, which must make the appropriation, has tried to obtain a list of the streets marked for construction; but the Council has never been successful in obtaining a definite decision. Half-promises that these streets or those streets will be taken care of, none of which promises go into the public record, finally swing into line for a loan appropriation enough to provide the necessary two-thirds vote in the City Council.

An illustration of this method was furnished only two years ago when an appropriation of $1,500,000 was sought for reconstruction of streets. City Councilors demanded a list of the streets. None was obtainable, because there was none at that time. Therefore there were no detailed estimates of costs. The appropriation recommendation was merely an arbitrary decision to spend a particular sum of money.

When some councilors sought assurance that particular streets in which they were interested would be taken care of and received the impression that all wanted could not be provided out of the $1,500,000 recommended, the Council—not the Mayor—took it upon itself to increase the appropriation to $3,000,000. There were still no program, no specific areas, and no detailed estimated costs. The Public Works officials protested vainly that it would be impossible to spend that amount of money. Nevertheless, the appropriation order was passed and approved and the credit thus established. Still without any definite program, the city has been paying contractors out of that appropriation for two years.

The selection of the streets to be paved has been a long continuing matter of "thrashing it out" with many applicants. The Public Works Department eventually develops a contract for a small number. Pressure upon the Mayor develops another number. When the pressure for a particular street is great enough and the Public Works Department is willing to yield, or is ordered to yield, a contract for a group of streets is made. The program never develops beyond the few at a time then arranged for. The next group is determined by a repetition of this routine; and the next and the next as long as the appropriation lasts.

Often the Public Works Department is forced, by political pressure, to do a particular street, or to use a type of pavement, which it believes is not needed. As a result often a street which might give proper service for several years is torn up and done over, while streets badly in need of repair remain undone. In other cases, streets with little traffic are done while heavily traveled streets needing repair remain undone. The Public Works Department attempts to divide the work equitably among the wards as a policy of appeasement.

These are but two of the unfortunate results of substituting a policy of compromise with pressure for a businesslike program of paving construction.

To fully comprehend the extent of the far-reaching results which stem from a lack of program of street construction and from lateness in embarking on the work, it is important to examine the following stream of effects which flows in uninterrupted sequence from this initial omission of program. It then becomes clear how acts of omission at the top level of government can be just as significant in terms of inefficiency and injury to the city as acts of commission.

The sequence runs as follows:

(1) Failure to program and decide on the streets to be done at an early date of the year makes it impossible to thoroughly survey the streets finally selected to be done. Consequently, determination of the proper type of pavement to be used and the quantity of work necessary on each street becomes impossible.

(2) One result is that intelligent bidding on contracts is rendered impossible. Contracts which are advertised and awarded for the work must be based upon quantitative items, such as square feet of artificial stone sidewalk, linear feet of edgestone, and square feet of pavement laid. Inasmuch as proposals are based on prices submitted for each item, an accurate estimate of such items must be made if the entire requirements of the work are to be met and the work completed under the contract.

Emphasis is here laid on the word "entire," since there is a provision in the contract that changes in the estimated quantities shall not exceed 25 per cent of the total of the original proposal.

(3) Some of the estimates of quantities incorporated in the contract are so inaccurate that, with the limitation of an allowed maximum of 25 per cent in changes operating, complete reconstruction of the street becomes impossible under the contract.

The recent construction of a traffic circle in Oak square, Brighton, is a case in point. Here the additional quantities found necessary to complete the job were actually double the amount of the original estimate in the contract, in most items. This wide misjudgment was due to the failure to secure necessary data upon which an accurate estimate could be based. Instead of an actual field survey of the area, the planning engineers relied wholly on a perspective plan not containing grades and dimensions.

(4) The failure to view the premises, to examine the soil conditions, and to take actual measurement of requirements often results in a situation where under the terms of the contract a good job is impossible. The new construction rests on a poor subsoil because no attempt was made to discover the kind of soil before the contract was let, and no provision was made in the contract for its removal, if found unsatisfactory. The effect of neglecting such a fundamental in street construction is too well known to need elaboration at this point. Suffice it to say that failure to remedy such a condition merely lays the groundwork for defective pavement.

In the case of a repaving job on Walk Hill street, Jamaica Plain, where the old pavement crumbled because laid on a poor subsoil, it required the intervention of a Finance Commission inspector to prevent a new pavement being laid on the same old poor soil.

(5) Again, the absence of a real program of street construction for the year precludes the opportunity for proper preparation of specifications, advertising and award of contracts at an early date in the year, a time which would provide favorable weather for the work and insure good results. Instead, construction begins late in the year and there soon begins a race against the onset of cold weather.

Such a procedure is fraught with all the hazards of poor construction results which the Finance Commission in various reports has repeatedly revealed. A recent illustration was the award of a contract on November 20 for paving a group of streets. This is not an uncommon event. The contract required the work to be completed not later than December 31. Obviously good paving conditions are not found in this period of the year.

(6) The lateness of the decision to pave is productive of such a late date in awarding the contract that the work cannot be performed within the time limit set forth in the contract; viz., by the end of the year. The contractor thus faces a situation which defies efficient programming and layout of his work, namely, little or no work available during the first part of the season coupled with the necessity of crowding the work toward the end of the season. In order to keep his organization together under these circumstances, the contractor is impelled to assume a heavier work load than he can successfully carry out during the year, with the hope that he can carry over the excess with which to start the next season. As a general rule and despite the fact that as revealed earlier some streets may be found listed in separate contracts of two years, contracts which remain uncompleted at the end of the year are extended to enable completion in the following year.

April.....	0	4
May.....	6	12
June.....	2	2
July.....	9	4
August.....	11	5
September.....	17	9
October.....	14	10
November.....	1	6

In 1944, the first contract was awarded on May 4; in 1945, April 25 was the date of the first contract award.

Furthermore, at the end of 1944, work on fifty-one streets for which contracts had been awarded during the year had not been started and work on eleven other streets, though started, had not been completed. In some cases where paving work has reached only the preparatory stage great inconvenience is suffered by the public, as the public can well, and very often does, testify.

Another aspect of this matter is the interesting contradiction found in the following situation:

With several jobs outstanding, the Public Works Department gave a general order to contractors to cease work on or about November 1. Notwithstanding this order, at a later date an award was made requiring work on ten streets and this contract required completion before December 31 of the same year.

(7) Another curious development takes place in the not infrequent cases in which the work on a street is not started during the year of the contract, but is then included in a new contract in the following year. On occasions this has resulted in the city's paying a higher unit price when, in the interval between the first and second awards, prices have been increased. It has often happened that, because of inadequate preliminary study preceding the initial contract, the type and extent of the work required is radically different in the second contract.

A case in point was in connection with a contract for paving Flavia street, Dorchester, awarded in 1944, requiring the scarifying of the roadway and, after finegrading and rolling, furnishing and installing a bituminous concrete surface; also artificial stone sidewalks and resetting edgestone. The estimated cost was to be $3,387. This street was not paved in 1944. Therefore, in 1945 Flavia street was grouped with four other streets in a new contract. The extent of work to be done radically changed. In the meantime the actual requirements had been discovered. The estimated cost then became $8,925.

(8) Another result which can be clearly seen emanating from a lack of programming is the impossibility of efficient assignment of engineers. The difficulty of efficiently assigning engineering and inspectional personnel parallels the difficulty faced by the contractor in laying out his work as previously described in a situation of extremes: lack of work in the early part of the season, and a mad rush at the end. When, in the fall of each year, the peak load is reached there are not enough inspectors to cover all the work in progress adequately.

(9) Another difficulty arises in the extent of use of "work orders." Whereas sidewalk work included in the contract provides a five-year guaranty of the work, work performed under the terms of "work orders" is not attended by any such guaranty. In 1944, about 25 per cent of the sidewalk work performed fell in this category. Yet most of the work performed under "work orders" might well have been performed under contract, thus providing the city with the protection of a five-year guaranty.

(10) Still another difficulty results from the faulty internal procedure. Where the work volume included in the contract is found to be insufficient or excessive for the purpose of the project, so-called orders are issued but not committed to writing. Failure to transmit a written change to the office of record results in a failure to note the change in the contract. The net result is an inaccurate record in the department of exactly what work has been performed. Thus the official record of the limits of the work under guaranty is unreliable, in cases where this applies.

The 1944 contract for the resurfacing of Angell street, Dorchester, is a case in point. This contract required the resurfacing of Angell street from Blue Hill avenue to American Legion Highway; however, one section of the work indicated in the contract was not done. No question of propriety of payments arises here, since payment is made only for the quantity of work actually performed, but it would appear from the contract that the entire area described in the contract had been done and was therefore protected by the five-year guaranty. Such of course was not the case.

Summary.

This report demonstrates that there is more to successful paving work than following specifications; the framework of management within which such work is done must be sound. The conspicuous management defect which forms the point of departure in this report is the absence of a program.

From the starting point of this one omission runs a sequence of effects and ramifications which is startling: (1) a decision to appropriate money without any basis of need; (2) no opportunity for an adequate survey to determine type of pavement and quantity of work required on a given project; (3) resultant inaccurate estimates preclude intelligent bidding; (4) completion of work rendered impossible by such estimates, under operation of limited permitted per cent of change; (5) jeopardizing of quality of work by late starting; (6) price changes in renewed contracts; (7) inefficient personnel assignment; (8) minimizing of amount of work protected by guaranty; and (9) misleading record of limit of work actually under guaranty.

Conclusion.

Because the construction of streets and sidewalks is a continuously expensive and important municipal activity in a large metropolitan city like Boston, this subject has merited and received the close attention of the Finance Commission from its inception.

Every phase of paving work has been explored and reported upon; unit prices, grouping of streets, use of equipment, price fixing by contractors, contract specifications, inspection, record-keeping, etc.

This report now calls attention to another fundamental of paving work—its proper programming.

The Finance Commission has, therefore, developed a body of literature which holds the promise of an ideal paving program for the City of Boston which should be of particular interest to future administrators. The synthesis of this material might be regarded as a guide for the future administration of paving work.

Mr. Wollaston entered the armed services of the United States on February 1, 1943, and was granted a leave of absence by your Honorable Body for the duration of such service.

I wish to notify you gentlemen that on December 26, 1945, Mr. Wollaston received his honorable discharge from the United States Navy and has requested reinstatement to his former position.

I, therefore, have reinstated Mr. Wollaston as stenographer-clerk, effective December 26, 1945.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT E. GREEN,
Clerk of Committees.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS.

Coun. SCANNELL, for the Committee on Claims, submitted the following:

Report on petition of Edward J. McManus (referred December 10) to be reimbursed for amount of execution issued against him on account of his acts as operator of motor vehicle belonging to Weights and Measures Department—recommending passage of the accompanying order, viz.:

Ordered, That the sum of ten dollars ($10) be allowed and paid to Edward J. McManus in reimbursement for amount of execution issued against him on account of his acts as operator of a motor vehicle belonging to the Weights and Measures Department, said sum to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

Report accepted; said order passed.

RECALL OF PETITION OF GREYHOUND RACING ASSOCIATION FROM EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I move that the Greyhound Racing petition which was referred to the Executive Committee, be discharged into the main Body.

Acting Chairman HANNON—The councilor moves that the petition of the Greyhound Racing Association be withdrawn from Executive Committee and be brought before the Body.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, talking on the motion. If this motion prevails, I intend to make a further motion to lay this matter on the table until the next administration takes office. And I wish to say, as councilor from the district of Ward 18, which is most affected by this petition, that I feel that a motion such as this might serve the best interests of the people of my ward, namely, to put this order over until it can be properly considered, intelligently and at great length, by the Body which will succeed this one. I was somewhat reluctant to come to the Council meeting today, because I have been laid up with a severe case of gripe for the last four days, but because of this petition, which was called to my attention only this morning, I made it my business to get here, and to give expression to the opposition of the people that I represent to this racing petition. I want you to know, Mr. President, that I resent the last minute maneuvering of this group, whoever they are, to wait until the final hours of this Council to come in here with a petition to foist upon the people of my district something which they have already designated that they oppose, which they opposed in a prior petition which came before this Body in 1939. At that time, Mr. President, the people of Ward 18, in three precincts, voted in a plebiscite, and they, in no uncertain terms, showed their opposition, and that petition was defeated. And, mind you, that plebiscite took place in a time when the people were under great stress, during the time when there were few jobs, and at a time when there was great depression, and at a time when the racing association, who had the petition at that time, was spending great sums of money and was offering all kinds of considerations to the people out there in the way of jobs and other benefits, the people out in Readville, if they would vote for the track in the Readville district. I can say to you that the people of my district are against a track in Readville. And, coming in here, as it does, at this late hour, in this high-handed manner, it smells. We are against it, and we are going to fight it. Out of fairness to the people who have already shown their opposition on a previous occasion, I think, sir, it is only fair that this Body discharges this petition and then lays the matter over until such time as it can be properly considered, and until such time, if the Council that succeeds this one, wills it, we can have a plebiscite,—not just on three hand-picked precincts, but throughout the entire district as well,—in Mattapan, Hyde Park, Roslindale, Readville, Mount Hope, and all the districts which are vitally affected by a race track in the Readville district. I again say to you, Mr. President and members of your Council, the people out there are against it. Since I heard from one source today of this tricky maneuvering, I have got repeated calls, up until the time I came here, and then I met a number of residents out in the corridor, and it is just a question of time when the entire district will be aroused. We feel that this matter should be put over and the people should be given a chance to be heard,—not in a hearing a week from now, but next year, when it can be given a great deal of consideration, so that the business men of the district and the clergy and the people in general can make their opposition known. I hope, sir, that the opposition will carry.

Chairman HANNON—The question is on the motion, and for the benefit of the gentleman from Hyde Park (Coun. Feeney) the Chair is going to announce there is no provision in our rules for withdrawing a matter once it has been presented to the committee. The only rule we have to guide us is Rule 14, which states that any matter referred to a committee may be recalled by majority vote of all the members of the Council, if such matter is not reported upon within one month of the date of reference. That merely takes care of a matter which has lain in committee room for over a month. However, the rules may be suspended, and in that way it could be withdrawn from the committee. In order to suspend the rules we need a two-thirds vote, which is fifteen members voting.

Coun. FEENEY—I move that the rule be suspended.

A vote was taken, and the Chair being in doubt, the roll was called, with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Coffey, Feeney, Keenan, Kelly, McCormack, Taylor—9.
Nays—Coun. Hurley, Kinsella, Russo, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan—5.

Chairman HANNON—The motion is not carried, and the matter remains in the Executive Committee.

LEASING OF OLD THORNTON STREET SCHOOL.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN, for Coun. HANLEY, offered the following:

Ordered, That the School Committee be, and hereby is, authorized to lease the Old Thornton Street School, Thornton street, Roxbury, to the James F. Cassidy Post, No. 177, American Legion, upon such terms and conditions as said Committee may deem advisable.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS.

The Council voted at 2.55 p. m., on motion of Coun. McCORMACK, to take a recess, subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled and were called to order by Chairman HANNON at 3.40 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. FISH, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) for appropriation from excess Corporation Taxes of $150,000 for snow removal— that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. COFFEY—On snow removal, I am going to vote against it. I would like to have them voted on separately.

Chairman HANNON—The Chair will call the various matters separately.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I suppose there is no sense in going into any long discussion on this. We had plenty of money in the budget for snow removal. The way the city's affairs were handled this year, that money rapidly, I might say, disappeared. We have had all sorts of tricky maneuvers, scheming, of transfers, and so forth, within the past six months, and we have reached the stage, a very pitiful stage, I might say, where even the patients at the City Hospital have been affected, and it looked as if they were not going to get any food or any milk or the necessities of life, through mismanagement of the city's affairs during the past six months. On this particular item of snow removal, as I have stated here, we have had enough money appropriated at the beginning of the year to have taken care of all snow removal, but because of poor handling of the city's affairs, and transfers, this money has disappeared, and now we have the commissioner coming before us and telling us because of snow storms, and so forth, he has to have money. I vote against this because of mismanagement of the city affairs, in the first place. And, secondly, the money is wanted to pay for this last big snow-storm. $90,000 was asked for. Only $7,000 or $8,000 of that was paid for labor, and the rest was for trucks and contractors, and we know where there are trucks and contractors there is graft. So I am voting against it.

The question came on the passage of the order, and the order was passed, yeas 16, nays 2:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Shannon, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—16.

Nays—Coun. Coffey, Scannell—2.

2. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) appropriating $18,000 from excess Corporation Tax receipts to be expended under direction of Superintendent of Public Buildings for Municipal Building, Columbia Road, Reconstruction and Repair of—that same ought to pass.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, Shannon, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—17.

3. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) appropriating $70,000 from excess Corporation Tax receipts to be expended under direction of Commissioner of Public Works for Bridges, Repairs, etc.—that same ought to pass.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—19.

Nays—0.

4. Report on message of Mayor and orders (referred today) for transfers of appropriations—that same ought to pass.

Mr. Samuel Brown,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of December 14, with order of the City Council requesting the erection of a shelter for the convenience of passengers waiting outside the Poor Clares' Convent on Centre street, Jamaica Plain, as previously explained, the matter of providing shelters at stopping places and transfer points on the system has been given careful consideration by the trustees, but in view of the expense involved and frequency of service operated they do not feel that shelters can be justified.

Very truly yours,

BEQUEST OF PERSIS P. DRAKE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The Old Colony Trust Company, executor under the will of Persis P. Drake, late of Boston, has tendered the City of Boston the sum of $2,569.17, representing the $2,500 bequest given to the City of Boston under Article Ninth of Miss Drake's will, together with $69.17 interest accrued thereon.

Article Ninth of Miss Drake's will reads as follows:

Ninth. I give and bequeath to the City of Boston, Massachusetts, the sum of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars ($2500), in trust, nevertheless, to hold, manage, control, invest and reinvest the same, and the net income derived therefrom to be paid annually to the Head Master at the time of such payments of the Roxbury Memorial High School (Girls), now located on Townsend Street in the Roxbury District of said Boston, the income to be used and administered under the direction of the then Head Master of said School as a part of the Girls' "Scholarship Fund" of said High School, to assist worthy graduates of said School in securing a college education.

Persis P. Drake was a teacher in the Boston public schools from 1887 until her retirement in 1927. When she retired she was teaching at the Memorial High School for Girls. She died on April 20, 1944. Her loyalty and devotion to the Boston public school system is evidenced by Article Ninth of her will.

In the name of the City of Boston I am very happy to present this legacy to your Honorable Body for acceptance and respectfully request the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

Whereas, Persis P. Drake, late of Boston, by Article Ninth of her will provided as follows: "I give and bequeath to the City of Boston, Massachusetts, the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500), in trust, nevertheless, to hold, manage, control, invest and reinvest the same, and the net income derived therefrom to be paid annually to the Head Master at the time of such payments of the Roxbury Memorial High School (Girls), now located on Townsend street in the Roxbury District of said Boston, the income to be used and administered under the direction of the then Head Master of said School as a part of the Girls' Scholarship Fund of said High School, to assist worthy graduates of said School in securing a college education"; now, therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That the bequest contained in Article Ninth of the will of Persis P. Drake, late of Boston, be, and the same hereby is, accepted by the City of Boston and shall be known as the "Persis P. Drake Fund," and the City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed, on behalf of the City of Boston, to receive and receipt for the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, together with any interest which may have accrued thereon to date, and the City Treasurer is hereby further authorized and directed, on behalf of the City of Boston, to hold, manage, control, invest and reinvest the said sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, and annually to pay to the Head Master at the time of such payments of the Roxbury Memorial High School for Girls the net income therefrom to be used and administered under the direction of the then Head Master of said School as a part of the Girls' "Scholarship Fund" of said High School, to assist worthy graduates of said School in securing a college education, and the City Treasurer is hereby further directed to notify the School Committee of the City of Boston of the receipt of the aforesaid bequest and the creation of the "Persis P. Drake Fund."

APPROPRIATION FOR RUGS, MAYOR'S OFFICE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I submit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, in which he requests an appropriation to pay for certain rugs now in use in this office. I concur in the recommendations of the Superintendent of Public Buildings as to the return to the vendor of three rugs which have not been in use.

Because of the fact that the rugs to be retained and purchased have been in use since early summer of this year, and because they are satisfactory in every way, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order which will provide the appropriation for the payment of the three rugs in the Mayor's Office.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
December 31, 1945.

Hon. John E. Kerrigan,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—During the tenure of a previous Superintendent of Public Buildings six rugs were purchased for use in the Mayor's Office and in the Park Department. Unfortunately, the purchase did not conform to the ordinances. To date none of these rugs have been paid for.

I recommend to your Honor the Mayor that the three rugs now in use in the Mayor's Office, viz., one Khorassen at $3,600, two Tabriz at $475 each, a total of $4,550, be purchased by the City of Boston and I respectfully request your Honor's permission that I purchase these rugs without further advertising.

I recommend that the other three rugs, valued at $1,600, be returned to the vendor and, with your approval, I shall return these rugs at the earliest opportunity.

In view of the fact that the three rugs to be purchased are now in use in the office of the Mayor and have been since May of this year; and in view of the fact that from all appearances the rugs represent the values set upon them by the vendor; and in view of the fact that money is now available for the purchase of these rugs, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to take the action herein proposed.

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Acting Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That the sum of four thousand five hundred and fifty dollars ($4,550) be, and hereby is, appropriated from excess Corporation Tax receipts to be expended, under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for C, Equip-

Referred to Executive Committee.

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS OF $71,000.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Acting Budget Commissioner. In accordance with the recommendations contained therein I submit the attached appropriation order and recommend its adoption by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Budget Department, December 31, 1945.

Hon. John E. Kerrigan,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—Following conferences with department officials and after checking probable available departmental balances, I am of the opinion that to assure the payment of all obligations incurred and properly chargeable against 1945, that supplementary appropriations totalling $71,000 should be submitted to the City Council for approval. It is possible for the Council to adopt these appropriations at this time since the city has in possession Income and Corporation Taxes recently received from the state which, because of the fact they are in excess of the amounts of such revenue utilized by the assessors as credits in the determination of the 1945 tax rate, constitute surplus revenue which may be made the subject of appropriations.

The supplementary appropriations which I suggest be submitted to the City Council are as follows:

Unsafe Buildings, Securing, Removing, etc., $5,000.

Despite the fact the appropriation for this purpose has been exhausted, the Building Commissioner has in the past three weeks proceeded under the provisions of Section 16 of the City Charter and has ordered the razing of a number of unsafe structures in various parts of the city.

Fire Department, $12,400.

In order to discharge all pay roll obligations, to meet bills incurred for electric current necessary for the lighting of station houses and the operation of the fire alarm system, as well as to cover purchases of fuel to heat station houses, it would appear necessary to provide the supplementary amounts indicated.

Hospital Department, $34,000.

To cover the final pay rolls of this department an additional $4,000 will be required. I am advised that repairs to necessary hospital equipment which already have been contracted for will require an additional $5,000 and that in all probability an additional $25,000 will be required to meet 1945 food bills when the same are all in hand.

Public Buildings Department, $6,500.

From estimates received, it is evident that $6,500 additional will be required to meet electric current bills incurred during 1945 for the lighting of public buildings and the operation of elevators in City Hall.

Public Works Department, $8,100.

To meet bills incurred for the hiring of trucks for cleaning various sections of the city and to cover necessary repairs to and the purchase of parts for city-owned motor vehicles which, because of the war, it has been impossible to replace, this additional sum is required.

Emergency Compensation Allotment, $5,000.

To meet all payments of this character on the final pay rolls of city departments, I estimate this additional amount should be provided.

I have prepared the attached appropriation order and respectfully recommend its submission to the City Council.

Respectfully,
CHARLES J. FOX,
Acting Budget Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of seventy-one thousand (71,000) dollars be, and hereby is, appropriated from excess Corporation Tax receipts to be expended for the several departments and for the objects and purposes hereinafter stated.

SEVENTY-HOUR PER WEEK TOUR OF DUTY FOR FIREMEN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1945.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of a communication from the Fire Commissioner in which he recommends that the 70-hour per week tour of duty of firemen be placed in effect as of February 1, 1946.

This recommendation necessitates a change in the ordinance which puts into effect the 70-hour provision six months after the end of the participation of the United States in existing wars.

Because of the fact that the official termination of the war may be many months away, it is the opinion of the Fire Commissioner that the 70-hour provision should be put in effect on a definite date. With this opinion I concur and I therefore transmit for the consideration of your Honorable Body a change in the ordinance so that the 70 hour a week for firemen may be effective as of February 1, 1946.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. KERRIGAN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, December 27, 1945.
Hon. John E. Kerrigan,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—Chapter 6 of the Ordinances of 1942, concerning hours of duty of firemen reads as follows:

"Section 1. Chapter fifteen of the Revised Ordinances of 1925 is hereby amended by striking out section two thereof, and section three thereof as amended by chapter two of the Ordinances of 1926, and inserting in place thereof the following new section:

"Section 2. The hours of duty of officers and members of the fire department shall not exceed a total of seventy hours for any consecutive seven days, except as otherwise provided in section three of this ordinance. The commissioner shall arrange the officers and members of the fire department into such bodies or platoons as will enable the work of the department to be carried on most efficiently consistently with the provisions concerning hours of duty provided in this ordinance."

Section 2. Said chapter fifteen is hereby further amended by changing consecutively the numbering of sections four to eleven inclusive so that the said sections will be respectively sections three to ten inclusive.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect six months after the end of the participation of the United States in the existing wars.

[Approved December 1, 1942.]

Inasmuch as there seems to be no prospect in the near future of the Federal Government setting an official date for the ending of the war, and also inasmuch as I am of the opinion that it was the intention to have this ordinance placed in effect six months after the actual fighting ceased, I respectfully recommend that your Honor submit an order to the City Council to amend Section 3 of the above ordinance to read:

"Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect on February 1, 1946."

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN I. FITZGERALD,
Fire Commissioner.

Be it ordained, etc.

That section 3 of chapter 6 of the Ordinances of 1942 be, and hereby is, repealed, and that the following new section be inserted in place thereof: "Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect February 1, 1946."

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I move reconsideration.

Chairman HANNON—Councillor Kinsella moves reconsideration.

Coun. KINSELLA—Speaking on the motion, Mr. President. I don't know that there are any degrees of morality between claims. I don't know why it is we can't give Connors $4,800 as readily as we give this rug dealer $4,550. The conditions are not exactly alike, but they are parallel enough, in my opinion, to cause us to adopt the same attitude towards Connors as we adopt toward this unknown rug dealer. It is entirely beside the point that Connors waited thirty-five years before filing the claim. I think that dereliction on his part can be matched very well by the dereliction on the part of our own Mayor, who proceeded without any regard for the orderly conduct of the affairs of his office in putting the city in the position of being indebted in the sum of $4,600 for rugs that probably were not needed. Connors did work that became a component part of the Court House, work without which the Court House could not probably function properly, in that the work he did was on the judges' lobby, and judges certainly are a most necessary part of the operation of a court house. Now, I am not trying to work myself into a spirit of generosity because in this last session of the fiscal year this act is attempted to be executed, I am thinking of it in terms of justice to the gentleman. He came in and frankly told us two or three times that he allowed it to escape because he was a man of means and it didn't represent too much to him at the time. That is as good an excuse as we will ever hear here. He didn't come in with a poor mouth and say that in his declining years he needed this money. He still admits it is a moral obligation only, and so recognized by the Massachusetts Legislature. We, in turn, have been notified by the City Clerk that in the matter of the rugs it is a moral obligation. In fact, he has definitely stated to us within the hearing of all the members present now that it was not a legal obligation in that it did not go through the original legal procedure. In four years' service here, I know just how little effect my words will have on anyone who voted against the Connors appropriation. I know that, but I would like to go on record as asking the question of the members of the Boston City Council, "How is it that they can in good conscience, without any consistency, vote $4,550 for material that was used in the Mayor's Office, and which had no right in the first place to be bought, since the technique employed was not legal, and then deny to an old gentleman, who did not come in weeping and sobbing, but who did admit his remissness in waiting thirty-four years, his claim?" I hope that reconsideration prevails, and that at least one or two of those who voted against this $4,800 item will have a change of heart and go along and be as generous toward old man Connors as they proved themselves willing to be towards this rug dealer, a rug dealer whose business principles themselves must be so undeveloped that he does not know you cannot deal with a politic division or sub-division without the necessary purchasing order. Yet he took it on himself to deliver $6,600 worth of rugs here, hoping perhaps against hope that he would be paid for them. Well, we have voted to pay for them, and without debate on the floor here. Why not let us be as generous to old man Connors, the individual, and give him $4,800 and wipe off the stigma from the City of Boston of having "welched" on an honest debt, even though it is thirty-four years old? I do hope that reconsideration prevails and that enough will change their votes to allow us to accept that act before we adjourn today.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I would just like to say, as far as I can recall, the Statute of Limitations does not apply to the Ten Commandments.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President, this is much more fundamental than merely being generous to Mr. Connors. It seems to me that fundamentally we in the Council must be fair with the City of Boston and with the people who comprise the City of Boston, and we cannot, in any sense of the word, show to the people of Boston that its officials have a double sense of moral values,—that what is fair in the Adalian case is unfair in the Connors case. If the City of Boston owes money to Adalian—and I feel that it does, even though there may be legal technicalities that can keep us from paying that bill—it was right and moral for us to pay it, and we did so, and we did so properly. The same situation prevails here in the Connors case. Technically we can get out of paying the Connors Company the money that we morally owe them. But I have never yet heard that the City of Boston was guilty of double dealing, or was guilty of using a double set of morals, and it seems to me we should not take advantage of the legal technicalities of the Connors case any more than we take advantage of them in the Adalian case. We owe it not merely to Connors, but we owe it to the people of Boston, and we owe it to the people of Massachusetts to show that the City of Boston is willing to recognize its just and moral obligations; and we owe it to all concerned to show that we, as gentlemen, know what morality means. And I sincerely hope that the motion for reconsideration prevails.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President, I don't like to hear the use of the word "double dealing" made. I have done no double dealing, and resorted to nothing of the kind. I have voted strictly here on what I do feel to be a moral obligation. As I understand it, the work that was done by Mr. Connors was work that was not as directly contracted for by the city as was the bargain made in regard to the rugs. Now, I don't question that the work was done, but as I see it, Mr. Connors for years floundered around wondering who was going to pay him for the work, and all of a sudden, because of machinations of politics, and the maneuvering that is and has been possible to be done on Beacon Hill, always at the expense of the City of Boston, Mr. Connors goes to Beacon Hill, and was successful there in having an act passed that would throw the burden for assuming this responsibility, of course, on the taxpayers of the City of Boston. I can see no similarity at all in the responsibility of the two cases here. I want to be fair with Mr. Connors. In the first place, it is my opinion that if Mr. Connors felt that the City of Boston owed him this money he would not have waited and permitted a Statute of Limitations to outlaw the collection of his bill. Not only did he wait for six years, but for six times six years, before he came to the City of Boston expecting it to assume responsibility for the obligation contracted for by somebody else. There is, as I said before, no similarity at all in the two contracts. I would be only too happy to vote to give Connors his money, but I don't see why the city should be expected to play the part of Santa Claus in this particular case. Not only that, but by voting to give Mr. Connors his money we are inviting a repetition of similar petitions and similar claims against the city, which I think is a most dangerous thing for this Body to do.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, I believe that there is a very just claim here by Mr. Connors. That is, I would like to remind the Council that the previous Council passed this appropriation, but that later they discovered it had to be passed by the Massachusetts Legislature first. This year it was passed by the Massachusetts Legislature with hardly any dissent, after thorough investigation of the merits of this claim. The contract provided for a loss of $100 a day which is extremely stiff, and which is not the usual clause on a contract. And so I believe that this is a very just claim, Mr. President. On the previous order which we passed, in regard to the rugs, I hold no brief whatever for the method used by the city and by its chief executive in the purchase of the rugs. I believe that he purchased them illegally, but the rug dealer went into the contract in good faith and sold the rugs, as he thought legally, to the City of Boston through its Mayor. He should not be penalized. According to his ideas the rugs were sold fairly and he should be reimbursed for the purchase. I believe that the money should be paid by us even though the fault of the illegal purchase was not due to us. The fair name of Boston is concerned in this matter, and we must uphold the prestige of Boston in this matter. I hope reconsideration will prevail in regard to the Connors matter.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I hope that reconsideration does not prevail, because I don't believe that this man is entitled to all of the $4,800. Even in his testimony when he appeared before us, in the Executive Committee, and I asked him what a fair figure was that he should have been penalized, he said anywhere from $10 to $25. After he and his attorney were excused from the hearing at that time, and I was called into the City Messenger's office for a telephone call, Mr. Connors came in to me and he told me that he was willing to put down a check for $1,200. Now, according to information we received there is no way he can give that money back to the city. There, on his own admission, he admitted all the way through he was negligent, and it only proved that he was negligent at the time that he was doing the work, because this work was contracted before some of the members here were even born. And I don't see why, and I cannot understand how, any of the councilors can vote to give this man $4,800, and especially the councilor from the Back Bay (Coun. Bayley). He apparently had a change of heart when a new attorney entered the picture. Prior to that, when this thing first came in, with no attorney, he was very much opposed to it. Then, when an attorney appeared on the scene, oh, he was very much in favor of it, and he doesn't know any more now than when this order first came in here. And that is something that he will have to remember in the next two years, when he gets on the floor of the Council, here, talking about the taxpayers' money, because this here $4,800, at least a goodly portion of it, is a waste of the taxpayers' money. And I hope that reconsideration does not prevail.

The question came on reconsideration, and a vote was taken. The Chair being in doubt, the roll was called, and reconsideration prevailed, yeas 8, nays 7:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Feeney, Hurley, Kinsella, Muchnick, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—8.

Nays—Coun. Carey, Dwyer, Keenan, Kelly, McCormack, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan—7.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I move that the order ought to pass.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I move that the order be laid on the table.

Chairman HANNON—The motion to lay on the table takes precedence over the preceding motion.

A vote was taken on the motion to lay the matter on the table and, the Chair being in doubt, the roll was called.

The motion to lay on the table was defeated, yeas 7, nays 8:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Dwyer, Keenan, Kelly, McCormack, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan—7.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Feeney, Hurley, Kinsella, Muchnick, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—8.

The question came on the passage of the order and the order was passed, yeas 8, nays 7:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Feeney, Hurley, Kinsella, Muchnick, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—8.

Nays—Coun. Carey, Dwyer, Keenan, Kelly, McCormack, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan—7.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I move reconsideration of the vote taken on the passage of the order pertaining to the $4,800 on the Connors bill.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

Chairman HANNON—Reconsideration having prevailed once on the matter, it cannot again be reconsidered.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, a point of information.

Chairman HANNON—State your point of information.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—When reconsideration was asked for, it was not on passage of the order. The order was already passed this time, and I am asking reconsideration on that vote.

Chairman HANNON—It pertains to the same matter. Reconsideration having once been acted upon relative to a matter, it cannot be acted upon again. The Chair stands to be enlightened by the City Clerk. Reconsideration was on the vote to pass the order. The vote was 8 to 8, and reconsideration was on that vote.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I am asking reconsideration on the vote that was taken. Reconsideration was taken on a tie vote.

Chairman HANNON—Now reconsideration is asked on the same question.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I am asking reconsideration of the vote, not of the motion; of the vote, I am asking reconsideration.

Chairman HANNON—But the vote is taken on the motion.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I am asking reconsideration on the vote. The vote was 8 to 8.

Chairman HANNON—The vote was on the passage of the order. That was the motion, and that was a tie vote. Reconsideration was taken of the vote. Now you are asking reconsideration of a vote on the same matter.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Of the matter of the vote that passed the order.

Chairman HANNON—That is right, it is the same question. The Chair will take a recess and go into consultation with the City Clerk.

(A short recess was taken.)

Chairman HANNON—The Council will be in order. The Chair will rule that the gentleman is out of order. Reconsideration having once prevailed on the question, it cannot be entertained again on the same question.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—May I appeal the decision of the Chair?

Chairman HANNON—Certainly.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I move that we adjourn.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—A motion is in order now to adjourn until tomorrow morning?

Chairman HANNON—Yes, a motion is in order to adjourn at any time.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I move to amend the motion of Councilor Muchnick, and move that when we adjourn we adjourn until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I withdraw the motion to adjourn.

Chairman HANNON—Is there any objection?

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I object.

Chairman HANNON—The question on adjournment until tomorrow is likewise out of order. We have already passed a motion that when we adjourn today we adjourn to meet next Saturday at ten o'clock.

8. Report on message of Mayor and ordinance (referred December 17) concerning procedure for preparation, approval, audit and payment of pay rolls—that same ought to pass.

On motion of Coun. BAYLEY, the Council took up assignment No. 4 on the calendar, viz.:

4. Order for sale of land, Commercial street.

On December 17, 1945, the said order was read once and passed, yeas 15, nays 0.

The question came on the second reading and passage of the order. The clerk called the roll with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Feeney, Kinsella, Muchnick, Taylor—7.

Nays—Coun. Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, McCormack, Shannon—5.

Chairman HANNON—And the order is not given its second reading and passage.

Coun. BAYLEY—I move reconsideration for the purpose of tabling it and putting it on the calendar at the next meeting.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President.

Chairman HANNON—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. MUCHNICK—A point of information.

Chairman HANNON—State your point of information.

Coun. MUCHNICK—It has to be done this fiscal year, doesn't it?

Chairman HANNON—It does.

Coun. MUCHNICK—So tabling it would not do any good?

Chairman HANNON—Well, it will be placed back on the calendar.

Coun. KINSELLA—If that goes back on the calendar, then the first reading will be the first one given next year?

Chairman HANNON—Next year.

Coun. KINSELLA—Can more than fifteen days elapse between readings?

Chairman HANNON—Yes.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Feeney, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, M. H. Sullivan—12.

Nays—Coun. Taylor—1.

Coun. BAYLEY—I move that it be laid on the table and placed on the calendar.

A vote was taken and No. 4 was placed on the calendar.

Ordered, That the Police Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to enforce the City Ordinances with reference to the removal of snow from sidewalks by property owners.

Coun. KEENAN—Mr. President, I know that the hour is getting very late, and I will be very brief. During the last few snowstorms I have had called to my attention in my district—and I know the same thing prevails throughout the city—that the sidewalks of private individuals and the land in front of their homes are not cleared of snow due to the recent snowstorms. I think the Police Department of this city should be prevailed upon to see that this order is carried out, for the best interests of the citizens of this city.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

FORECAST OF EXPENDITURES IN 1945.

A total of $308,840,000 is forecast as the expenditures of the transit industry in 1945 for new equipment and maintenance of existing property and equipment. This sum is $25,000,000 more than the forecast for 1944 made at this time last year, and is $40,000,000 more than the expenditure ultimately made in 1944.

Total expenditures in 1945 for new equipment are expected to reach $101,100,000 which compares with $65,592,000 in 1944. New rolling stock will absorb most of the additional money with $61,000,000 being allocated to new buses, $12,000,000 to new cars and $5,000,000 to new trolley coaches. However, it is estimated that $20,000,000 will be spent on ways and structures, which is nearly $5,000,000 more than was spent in 1944. In the power and line departments capital expenditures are forecast at $3,100,000, which is slightly less than was spent in 1944, but is more than double the amount that was forecast for 1944 at this time last year.

Only moderate increases in maintenance expenditures are forecast for 1945. For maintenance materials the total for 1945 is put at $78,340,000, which compares with $76,561,000 spent in 1944. Maintenance labor costs are placed at $129,400,000 for 1945 compared with $126,343,000 in 1944.

—Massachusetts Transportation.

NEW SOURCES OF MUNICIPAL REVENUE.

Philadelphia recently adopted three new city taxes: auctioneers are required to register and pay a tax of $500 a year, bowling alleys $20 for each alley, and coin-operated slot machines and other amusement devices $20 a year each. Portsmouth, Ohio, has levied a license fee of $25 a year on juke boxes, pin ball machines, and other coin-operated amusement devices. Santa Barbara, California, on February 23 adopted a local retail sales tax of one per cent on the recommendation of a citizens' tax committee. Sacramento, California, has adopted a new business license ordinance which will provide approximately $110,000 a year revenue. In New York City Mayor La Guardia has proposed an additional one per cent sales tax to finance a three-year program of subway rehabilitation; the present one per cent sales tax raises about $32,000,000 a year.

—Public Management.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

FINANCE COMMISSION PROTESTS TO MAYOR CURLEY ON NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES WHO ARE WAR VETERANS TAKING ADVANTAGE OF NEW LAW AFFECTING RETIREMENTS, CHARGING UNDERMINING OF CONTRIBUTORY RETIREMENT SYSTEM BY QUESTIONABLE INTERPRETATIONS OF NEW LAW IN RECENT MONTHS — ASSERTS SUCH INTERPRETATIONS ARE ADDING NEW COSTS TO CITY NOT ANTICIPATED WHEN ACT WAS MADE EFFECTIVE — SUGGESTS RESTUDY OF PROBLEM AND SEEKING OF AMENDMENTS TO PREVENT POSSIBLE ABUSES.

The Finance Commission, on January 9, addressed the following communication to Mayor James M. Curley:

JANUARY 9, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of the City of Boston.

HONORABLE SIR,— The Finance Commission desires to direct your attention to an alarming situation which has developed in recent months in respect to the retirement of special classes of war veterans in the employ of the City. The contributory retirement system which was introduced in Boston in February, 1923, has been undermined by a new law passed in 1945 and by questionable interpretations of that law in recent months.

An annual new pension cost of between $75,000 and $100,000 a year has already been imposed upon the City of Boston by the operation of the new law; and, if interpretations of that law made by the last administration are to be the criterion for the future, the new annual cost is likely to be increased manifold.

The Commission addresses you on this matter at this time because, in the opinion of the Commission, the law should be changed or amended, and the time for filing bills in this year's Legislature is fast drawing to a close.

The retirement system in operation since 1923 embraced all entering the city or county service after February 1, 1923, veterans included. Each employee was required to contribute four per cent of salary; it was placed at interest of four per cent; the City contributed a similar amount; retirement was optional at 60 years of age, compulsory at 70 (except for department heads); there was provision for disability due to service. Veterans on the pay roll before the operation of the system were allowed to choose between retaining the benefit of the one-half pay service pensions then allowed or the new system.

Certain Benefits Offered.

The law now referred to is chapter 678 of the Acts of 1945. Under this new Act, veterans who are members of any contributory retirement system are given the right to avail themselves of certain benefits which they never had before. Up to the time of this Act the veterans and non-veterans in the Boston Retirement System had the same rights. Now the veteran of the Spanish War or World War who was employed in the service of the City before June 30, 1939, may be retired at half pay after thirty years' service, or after ten years' service, if incapacitated; and, in either case, may withdraw his accumulated retirement deductions.

Two inherent weaknesses in this new legislation, however, have developed: The method of determining incapacity, and the interpretation of "ten years of service." For the purpose of this discussion, two groups may be considered: (1) those who retired before January 1, 1946, and (2) those whose retirement is to become effective on or after January 1, 1946.

Fifty-two were retired before January 1 under the provisions of sections 56-60 and this will cost the City $90,000 annually for approximately the next fifteen years, the number of years relating to the normal expectancy of life in these cases. The law left the determination of disability to the retiring authority, the Mayor. This led to the abuse of the original and sincere purpose of such legislation. The additional fact that the term "service" was not accurately defined permitted elective service to be included in the calculation of the necessary ten years.

Looseness in Operation.

The basis of such challenge might be the looseness of both the determination of "incapacity" and "service." The reading of several sections of Chapter 32 (the new Act becomes a part of the same Chapter 32) would seem to indicate that the "service" contemplated refers to "employment" in the commonly accepted sense of the term.

For instance, section 53 of Chapter 32, G. L., refers to a "veteran . . . who is employed jointly by the municipalities" and section 56 of Chapter 32 refers to "the grade" held by the employee, and to "the director of personnel and standardization if the veteran is in the employment of the commonwealth." The connotation in these instances appears to be an "employee" in the ordinary sense of the term, not an elected official. Yet several of those recently retired under the new Act included elected councilor service in accounting for the ten years of service needed.

Also, to leave the determination of disability to the Mayor was obviously a loose device and left to him the adoption of his own record of determining disability, with the result that reasonable doubt of the disability of some recently retired employees for the employment last engaged in is entertained by many observers.

MAYOR CURLEY TO PRESENT SELECTIVE SERVICE MEDALS TO CITIZENS FOR WORK DONE DURING DRAFT PERIOD.

Mayor James M. Curley will make his first public appearance since his inauguration in Faneuil Hall on Monday night, January 21, when he will present selective service medals and certificates of merit to 199 Boston citizens who have served the selective service system without compensation, on their local and appeal boards, for two years prior to September 1, 1945.

The Commonwealth, Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard will be represented at this public reception. The presentation of the medals and certificates of honor was authorized, in recognition of faithful and loyal service, by Act of the Congress of the United States.

Colonel David J. Brickley, Commissioner of Soldiers' Relief, will preside, and greetings will be brought by Captain Charles L. Stephenson of the First Army Service Command, Captain Charles S. Alden of the First Naval District, Lieutenant Colonel V. M. Davis of the United States Marine Corps Reserve, and Lieutenant Commander Donald W. Gardner of the United States District Coast Guard. The First Motor Squadron, First Corps Cadets, Massachusetts State Guard, will provide the ushers, and a program of entertainment will be given.

FINANCE COMMISSION PROTESTS TO MAYOR CURLEY ON NEW RETIREMENT LAW.

The second group in this discussion may be considered to be those who will seek retirement from this point forward, that is, those whose retirement will become effective after January 1, 1946. In this connection, section 57A specifies that section 6 (subdivision 3), section 8, and section 16 (subdivision 4) shall apply. But subdivision 3 of section 6 refers to a medical panel of three physicians selected as follows: "One designated by the state surgeon, one designated by the board, and a third designated by such member", the applicant. However, section 59 provides that the retiring authority in a city shall be the Mayor and 57A provides that "the retiring authority shall act in place of the retirement board in the case of any such veteran so retired."

Apparently, then, 57A means that after January 1, 1946, an applicant seeking retirement under this new Act, Chapter 678 of 1945, will be examined by a medical panel consisting of a physician designated by the state surgeon, one designated by the Mayor and one designated by himself. However, that interpretation is not certain and inquiry reveals that there is not complete agreement on its meaning.

MORE RETIREMENTS EXPECTED.

While the chief grievance comes on the fifty-two cases already retired, there are many others eligible or expected soon to be. In 1942, there were 2,634 veterans in the Boston Retirement System. Allowing for such factors as approaching regular retirement and the desire to stay at work as long as possible, probably 1,000 of these may be expected to seek retirement under the new plan in the coming years.

Although the veterans of World War II are not provided for in this legislation, doubtless new legislation will soon be introduced to extend the coverage to this group. With the possibilities of a great volume of retirement applications thus facing the City, the situation needs clarification with respect to definition of "service" and determination of "disability." Moreover, there is little time left to introduce new legislation for this purpose. Meanwhile, it is up to the City to challenge this new additional annual $90,000 burden imposed upon it by the retirements allowed already, particularly since some cases are questionable on the grounds already indicated. Briefly, it remains to be seen whether a medical board would declare all such cases to be physically incapacitated for their employment, and it further remains to be seen whether a court would interpret service as an elected councilor to be regarded as "employment."

While certain veterans have stood to gain by such legislation, the great bulk of veterans are critical of the unfairness of its operation, of its possible reaction, militating against their best interests, and of the financial effect in the future on those sources on which they must depend for their financial benefit.

The Finance Commission, therefore, suggests that the problem be re-examined and amendments to the new law sought which will

(1) eliminate the possibility of abuses such as those described in this report;

(2) provide for a review by a medical board of the retirements already granted by the Mayor alone.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD F. MULLEN, Chairman,

LEO J. DUNN,

DEPARTMENT CHANGES.

The Mayor has approved the following leaves of absence:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

William A. Moriarty, 146 Cedar street, Roxbury, inspector of permits, $2,100 a year plus $200 E. C. A.

TRANSIT DEPARTMENT.

Clarence E. Hyde, 62 Boylston street, Boston, commissioner, $5,000 minus $1,250 pension from Police Department, or $3,750 plus $200 E. C. A.

OVERTIME ALLOWED.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

Authority is given to continue the practice of allowing certain overtime for following purposes on regular pay rolls, without individual approval:

Fire Drills.

A group of employees, who, in addition to regular duties, attend fire drills to provide additional fire protection to the Long Island Hospital. The plan involves an annual expenditure of approximately $1,430, as follows:

Four officers at $1.25 per drill, at $5 per week; $260 per year.

Thirty men at $0.75 per drill, at $22.50 per week; $1,170 per year. Total, $1,430.

At present we have no officers and only about fifteen men receiving the extra allowance.

Funds for the purpose are included under Budget Item A-3, Unassigned, and payments are made weekly on supplementary pay rolls.

Nurses, Attendants and Institution Employees.

Due to personnel shortage, this department has been allowing time and a half for overtime to the above-named class of employees since June 7, 1944. This overtime is paid on a monthly roll, amounted to approximately $3,500 in 1945, and was charged to A-3. The amounts are small and, rather than request individual approval each week or month, which would perhaps occasion some delay and dissatisfaction, general authority was granted June 7, 1944.

Employees of Steamer "O'Meara."

During the past few years it has been exceedingly difficult to secure services of substitute men in case of illness, etc. Lacking a necessary member of the crew such as an oiler, engineer, etc., it would be impossible to maintain transportation to and from Long Island. To meet these emergencies we have been compelled to have members of the crew work extra shifts, for which they have been paid overtime at time and a half on regular or supplementary pay rolls.

This overtime amounted to approximately $500 in 1945 and was charged to A-3.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

Permission to award contracts for work, materials and supplies, in accordance with recommendations of department heads, has been approved by the Mayor.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

Upon January 14 the Mayor approved a contract with the Astor Exterminating Company for the extermination of all vermin, including rats and mice, at Main and South Departments, and East Boston Relief Station, Boston City Hospital, for the year 1946. Bids were opened on Thursday, December 13, as follows:

G. B. DeLue Company, $275 per month; Thomas A. Sheehan Company, $250 per month; Astor Exterminating Company, $237 per month.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Upon varying dates as indicated the following contracts with firms, commercial houses and contractors for furnishing the following labor, supplies, etc., were approved. Communications from the heads of the several departments interested were as follows:

BOARD OF REAL ESTATE COMMISSIONERS.

BOSTON, September 28, 1945.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Your permission is respectfully requested to award a management contract, without advertising, to Mitchell & Driscoll, Inc., 17 Water street, Boston, for the management of 161-175 Devonshire street, Boston, at commission of 5 per cent of rentals, which is within the allowed rate of the Boston Real Estate Board. This contract will run for one year, beginning the first day of October, 1945.

My advisory committee and myself have given this matter considerable thought and feel that it would be to the best advantage of the city to grant this contract without advertising.

This real estate concern are recognized building managers and are fully competent to handle this building.

Very truly yours,

EUGENE F. LALLY, Chairman.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 11, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—For a number of years one of the outstanding features of the Public Garden has been the swan boats. This is an unusual feature, one that does not exist in any other city, and it has brought interested comment from all sections of the world. The privilege of operating the swan boats and also the rowboats on the Public Garden pond has always been held by the Paget family of Brighton. The present lease, held by John J. Paget, expires on January 1 of this year. The lease was made for a five-year period.

Mr. Paget writes that there is considerable overhauling to be done on the boats this year and, as there is a particular shortage of materials, he desires to get started on these repairs at once and, accordingly, requests a renewal of his contract.

I believe that nothing would be gained by advertising for bids. In fact, Mr. Paget has the exclusive patent on these boats, and the department would be unable to engage anyone else who had the equipment to operate this concession.

I am therefore writing to request your approval of a contract to be awarded Mr. John J. Paget, 15 Mapleton street, Brighton, for the privilege of operating the swan boat and rowboat concession on the Public Garden pond, for a five-year period, beginning January 1, 1946, and ending December 31, 1950, at a rental of $600 a year.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 29, 1945.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—A serious fire occurred in the municipal building at the corner of Columbia road and Bird street, Dorchester, on the morning of Sunday, December 2.

This building is one of the most widely used buildings under the jurisdiction of the Public Buildings Department, inasmuch as it houses a branch library and has gymnasium facilities. Because of the importance of this building to the people of the Uphams Corner section of Dorchester, it is absolutely necessary that steps be taken immediately to restore this structure.

Because of the unusual conditions of damage caused by fire in structures, that is, damage to hidden electric wiring, unexposed steel construction, and hidden wooden construction, it is quite impossible to specify the items to be renewed. I feel that the safest way of taking care of this damage would be to designate a contractor to go in and restore the building to its original condition, under the supervision of this department.

I, therefore, request permission to dispense with advertising and to award a contract, not to exceed the sum of $18,000, to M. S. Kelliher Company, of 38 Chauncy street, Boston, on a basis of cost plus.

This work is of an emergency nature, and I request your permission to ask M. S. Kelliher Company to enter the premises at once and proceed with the restoration.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Acting Superintendent.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 28, 1945.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Your approval is respectfully requested to the award of a contract, without public advertising for bids, for collecting and removing garbage and refuse in the Brighton district, to Anthony J. Ryan, Inc., 942 Washington street, Dorchester, for a three-month period, from January 1, 1946, to March 31, 1946, at the rate of ten thousand ($10,000) dollars a month.

The firm of Anthony J. Ryan, Inc., has done the collection work in this district for the past several years in a very satisfactory manner.

After several conferences with the firm of Anthony J. Ryan, Inc., with report to the negotiation of a contract for the year 1946, we were unable to agree upon a contract for the full-year term, due to the uncertainty of the contractor being enabled to use his present dumping facilities beyond the period for which this authority to award is sought.

The Anthony J. Ryan, Inc., firm is now engaged on this work on a contract expiring December 31, 1945, at a price of $8,030 a month. I feel that the increased price of ten thousand (10,000) dollars per month for the period from January 1, 1946, to March 31, 1946, is justified for the reason that the contractor will be compelled to increase wages of the men engaged in the work on January 1, 1946.

approximately 10 per cent and further is under a handicap in agreeing to take a contract for the period of three months, especially as the three-month term involved in the contract is the severest period of the year during which the contractor is engaged in this work.

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, January 2, 1946.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—A very serious condition has been brought about on the Northern Avenue Bridge by a breakdown of a 100-horsepower motor.

It is absolutely necessary that such repairs as are required be made without delay, and, because of the emergency which arose, several firms were invited to submit proposals for repairing this motor. Proposals were received in this office today, and only one bid was received. This was from the firm of Stearns, Perry, and Smith, which agreed to do the work of rewiring the armature, including all rigging, etc., for the sum of $1,265, with the understanding that if any work was found to be necessary on field coils this would be done on a cost plus basis.

Because of the emergency which has arisen, no advantage would have been gained by advertising for bids, so, for that reason, I respectfully request the authority of your Honor to issue an order to the firm of Stearns, Perry, and Smith for repairing this motor. While the cost of this work will be in excess of $1,000, the total cost will be under $2,000, and upon the receipt of your Honor's permission an order to go ahead with the work will be issued to this firm.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, January 4, 1946.

HON. JOHN E. KERRIGAN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—It is absolutely necessary that repairs be made, without delay, to the decking and roadway, and possibly to some of the piles, on Warren Bridge. This bridge normally carries very heavy traffic, and since the accident occurred to the Charlestown Bridge, a few weeks ago, Warren Bridge has been bearing an additional burden.

The roadway and decking are in a very dangerous condition and, as an emergency has arisen because of which immediate action must be taken, I respectfully request the authority of your Honor to dispense with advertising and award a contract to Marinucci Brothers & Co. for this work. The estimated cost of the work which must be done immediately is $6,000. Time will not permit of publicly advertising for proposals for doing this work, and, in my opinion, it is to the city's advantage to handle this emergency construction work in this manner.

It was assumed that the care, control and maintenance of Warren Bridge over the Charles River would be taken over by the Department of Public Works of the Commonwealth under the provisions of chapter 690 of the Acts of 1945, but, in a communication which I have received from Commissioner Herman A. MacDonald of that department, this bridge is not one of the City of Boston structures

SUPPLY DESARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 9, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to the International Business Machines Corporation, 573 Boylston street, Boston, for furnishing to the central pay roll division of the Auditing Department tabulating machines as set forth below:

Three alphabetical duplicating key punches, type O51, at $25 a month—$75; one alphabetic interpreter, type 652, $75; one horizontal sorter, type 060, $40; one reproducing summary punch, type 513, $100; two alphabetic accounting machines, type 405, at $355—$710; one collator, type 077, $80.

Total monthly rental, $1,080, approximately yearly amount of contract, $12,960.

These machines cannot be purchased outright; they are the property of the International Business Machines Corporation and the city uses them under a monthly rental arrangement at the prices set forth above. This office has been advised by the City Auditor that the machines and service furnished by this company have been satisfactory in every respect and, as the machines in question cannot be obtained elsewhere, you are respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising in this award.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM I. ROSE,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, January 8, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for bids to the Trimount Bituminous Products Company, 1840 Parkway, Everett, for furnishing to the Paving Division of the Public Works Department approximately 500 tons bituminous patching material at $5.37 per ton.

Bids on this material are scheduled to be publicly opened and read under date of January 18, 1946, but this office has been advised by the Public Works Department that a state of emergency exists, in that essential streets and roads throughout the city are in such a condition that they require immediate repair.

The Trimount Company is in a position to supply this patching material immediately, and investigation reveals that it is quoting a price per ton extremely favorable under the circumstances.

This company has satisfactorily filled the city's requirements in this line in the past and, in view of the emergency nature of the matter, your permission is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertisement at this time.

The approximate amount of the contract will be $2,685.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM I. ROSE,
Superintendent of Supplies.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR.—In accordance with Chapter 156 of the Acts of 1939, I write to ask if you will grant me the written authority to dispense with advertising in the City Record proposals for bids for the transportation of prisoners to and from the South Boston Municipal Court for the year 1946.

The proposed charges for transportation are as follows: one prisoner to or from boat or jail, $2; two prisoners to or from boat or jail, $3.50; three prisoners to or from boat or jail, $3.50; four prisoners to or from boat or jail, $4; five prisoners to or from boat or jail, $4.50.

One trip can accommodate five prisoners.

I enclose a signed statement which may be published in the City Record giving in detail the reasons for not inviting bids by advertisement.

Yours respectfully,

LEO H. LEARY, Justice.

BOSTON, January 7, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR.—In accordance with Chapter 156 of the Acts of 1939, I herewith furnish you with signed statement giving in detail the reasons for not inviting bids by advertisement for the transportation of prisoners to and from the South Boston Municipal Court for the year 1946:

1. The physical condition of some prisoners, both men and women, demand responsibility of operator as well as immediate transportation.

2. This work has been done satisfactorily for several years by present operator, who is available for the year 1946.

3. Prices charged and to be charged are reasonable.

4. Although impossible to estimate exactly, average cost per year is about $1,300. I have at hand cost for year 1945, which amounts to $1,081.40.

Respectfully submitted,

LEO H. LEARY, Justice.

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,— Under date of October 19, 1945, we sent you a letter requesting approval of the award of a contract for laying shingle roofs and repairs to frame animal houses at Franklin Park Zoo, in which the low bidder was listed as P. J. Sullivan, 60 Cohasset street, Roslindale, and the amount of the contract was $3,680. This letter was approved by you under date of October 23, 1945.

The original bid in the Auditor's office was signed "Patrick J. Sullivan," but in the letter requesting your approval the name was written as "P. J. Sullivan." In order to have this contract legally correct, the name of the bidder should have been written Patrick J. Sullivan in the letter to you.

We therefore request your approval to change the name of the low bidder in the contract for the above-mentioned work from P. J. Sullivan to Patrick J. Sullivan, of 60 Cohasset street, Roslindale. The amount of the contract is $3,680, to be charged to the B-39 item in the Park Department budget.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Charles Capone has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for bituminous concrete pavement in Davitt, Dawes, Midland streets, etc., under contract dated August 22, 1945, from December 31, 1945, to June 30, 1946.

This extension is requested for the reason that on account of unfavorable weather conditions, the contractor was obliged to suspend work during the winter months.

The contractor will be required to resume work in the spring of next year, when notified to do so by the Commissioner of Public Works.

CONTRACTS AMENDED.

Henry S. Wolkins Company has been allowed to amend the contract for furnishing and delivering miscellaneous furniture to various schools by striking out the word and figures "December 15, 1945," on page 7, Article 8, in connection with progress and completion, and substituting therefor the word and figures "March 1, 1946," so that said Article 8 on page 7 shall read:

"Time for Commencement and Completion of the Work.—The Contractor shall commence work forthwith upon the approval of this contract by his Honor the Mayor and shall bring the work to entire completion before March 1, 1946."

"Entire completion" as herein used shall be construed to mean the completion of all the work as called for by this contract. The date when such completion takes place shall be determined by the Superintendent of Construction. The time for completion may be extended from time to time in the discretion of the Superintendent of Construction.

J. W. Praught Company has been allowed to amend the contract for furnishing and installing steam pumps, etc., at the Boston Trade High School by striking out the word and figures "December 15, 1945," on page 7, Article II, in connection with progress and completion, and substituting therefor the word and figures "February 28, 1946," so that said Article II on page 7 shall read:

"Time for Commencement and Completion of the Work.—The Contractor shall commence work forthwith upon the approval of this contract by his Honor the Mayor and shall bring the work to entire completion before February 28, 1946."

"Entire completion" as herein used shall be construed to mean the completion of all the work as called for by this contract. The date when such completion takes place shall be determined by the Superintendent of Construction. The time for completion may be extended from time to time in the discretion of the Superintendent of Construction.

M. Spinelli and Sons Company, Inc., has been allowed to amend the contract for razing superstructure and making alterations to basement of women's dormitory at the Long Island Hospital, Boston Harbor, as follows:

By striking out Article II, page 10, thereof, the date of completion appearing therein "100 calendar days after the Mayor's approval" and substituting in place thereof the date "February 15, 1946."

Anderson Coffey Company, Inc., has been allowed to amend the contract for additions and alterations of underground duct line system at the Long Island Hospital, Boston Harbor, as follows:

By striking out in Article II, page 10, thereof, the date of completion appearing therein "120 days" and substituting in place thereof the date "March 24, 1946."

J. A. Singarella Company has been allowed to amend the contract for repairing and lining reservoir at the Long Island Hospital, Boston Harbor, as follows:

Allowance on account of substitution of ungalvanized mesh for galvanized mesh as called for by the specifications: Cost of galvanized mesh, $3.89 per hundred square feet; cost of ungalvanized mesh, $3.42 per hundred square feet; difference, $0.47 per hundred square feet. Approximately 19,600 feet of mesh necessary at $0.47 per hundred square feet, $92.

The contractor shall furnish all labor and materials necessary for doing the work set forth in said items, and the city shall allow in full payment thereof the sum set forth therein. Original contract, $26,650; less deduction, $92. Total amount of contract, $26,558.

Baker & Co. has been allowed to amend the contract for sheet asphalt pavement of Prince street, Ward 3, from Garden Court street to Causeway street; Salem street, Ward 3, from Endicott street to Charter street.

The original estimates of the amount of materials and work required were underestimated, inasmuch as additional work is now found to be necessary. This additional work could not have been foreseen until the work under the contract had begun. It now develops that further repairs on Salem street, from Endicott street to Charles street, are necessary at an estimated cost of $1,691.85.

STREET REPAIRS.

Upon December 20 Mayor Kerrigan approved the following vote of the Board of Street Commissioners:

Voted, That this Board, having passed the order of notice, relating to the public improvement, hereinafter described, and having caused a copy of said order to be published September 21, 22, 24 and 25, 1945, in the Boston Globe and Boston Post, two daily newspapers published in the City of Boston, and having given the public hearing, notice of which was given in said order, and being of the opinion that public convenience and necessity require, does hereby order that specific repairs be made in the following streets:

Albany Street.—By reducing the width of the sidewalk on the southeasterly side, six and one-half feet, from a point opposite the northerly line of Curve street for a distance of approximately seventy feet northeasterly;

Utica Street.—By reducing the width of the sidewalk on the northwesterly side, two and one-half feet, from Beach street to Kneeland street; as shown on plans marked "Albany Street, October 3, 1945, Board of Street Commissioners, Thomas F. McGovern, Chief Engineer," and "City of Boston, Utica St., Boston Proper, Oct. 3, 1945, Thomas F. McGovern, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

Corbett, an employee of said department, the money which was deducted from her pay because of absence due to illness at various times between May 1, 1944, and February 20, 1945,"

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMISSION RE LAND TAKINGS, SOUTH END AND NORTH END.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Finance Commission,
January 2, 1946.

Hon. John E. Kerrigan,
Mayor of Boston.

Honorable Sir,—The Finance Commission has requested the Chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners and the City Auditor to withhold approval for the payment of any money for damages caused by the proposed taking by eminent domain of various parcels in the South End and in the North End for park or playground purposes. The Commission herewith submits to you its reasons.

The Commission is well aware that, with your administration coming to an end within the next few days, you are now under great pressure to grant requests which cannot be considered on their merits because of lack of time. The Commission is also aware that at a time like this it is possible under Boston's system of government, for others—not necessarily with your knowledge—to rush through executive acts in which the motive is not in the best interests of the city.

In the incidents related herewith the Chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners and the City Auditor are only the fiscal agents and the Commission's request, above mentioned, was addressed to them because of that fact alone.

South End Takings.

In the case of the proposed land takings in the South End, the ostensible purpose was the widening of Malden street and the construction of a park area abutting the proposed widened Malden street and Washington street. The Commission holds no opinion at the present time on the merits of either the street widening or the proposed park area. It does, however, question the awards for damages proposed to be made by the Street Commission which, under the statutes, has made the takings on request of the Park Commission.

The two projects have been combined. The Street Commissioners, without specific vote of the City Council—which is a customary but not a legal requirement—have proposed the widening of Malden street and made six takings therefor. The awards proposed by the Street Commissioners for this part of the job total $24,973.55. This cost is proposed to be charged to a general account labelled "Construction of Public Ways" which is usually confined to the laying out and construction of streets.

The other part of the takings is for a park area which will front on Washington street and will include the entire area bounded by Washington street, the widened Malden street, Mystic street and East Dedham street.

An appropriation of $50,000 has been made for land takings and construction of the park area. While the custom in the past has been to reserve at least one-third of the appropriation for construction, in this instance the Street Commissioners propose to award $40,701.45 of the $50,000 appropriation for the land takings alone, leaving a balance in the appropriation of too small an amount to permit adequate construction.

The total of the proposed awards for the park area plus the total of the proposed awards for the widening of Malden street amounts to $71,675. The widening of Malden street was a secondary consideration to the making of a park area. The excess above the $50,000 appropriation for the playground may be charged, through a technicality, to the street loan. As the matter stands today, therefore, what was intended as a $50,000 job for a park may become a $71,000 cost for land alone, for both a park and a street widening. The work of constructing a park and constructing the widened Malden street would cause substantial additional cost.

It happens that appraisal was made by the Boston Housing Authority of all the parcels involved when it was proposed to include this area in a housing development adjoining. Another appraisal was made by the real estate advisor regularly retained by the Street Commissioners.

The following data supplies comparison of these appraisals with the assessed value and the awards proposed by the Street Commissioners:

PROPERTY.	1945 Assessed Value.	Street Commissioners Appraisal.	Housing Authority Appraisal.	Proposed Award.
1450 Washington street.....	$15,000	$16,000	$13,000	$18,750
1436 Washington street.....	9,000	8,600	8,400	12,250
3 Malden street.....	3,500	4,500	5,800	4,375
5 Malden street.....	3,200	4,000	5,000	4,000
7 Malden street.....	2,600	4,200	3,600	3,250
9 Malden street.....	3,600	4,000	4,200	4,500
(1452 Washington street, 4 East Dedham street).....	6,800	8,800	9,200	8,500
* 6 East Dedham street.....	2,300	1,600	1,400	2,300
8 East Dedham street.....	3,100	1,800	1,800	3,875
10 East Dedham street.....	3,400	2,800	3,500	4,250
12-16 East Dedham street.....	4,500	5,400	4,000	5,625

* Owned by City of Boston.

As is indicated in the above comparison, and as the Chairman of the Street Commissioners informed the Finance Commission, proposed awards are in every instance, except one in which the city is the owner, 25 per cent in excess of the assessed valuations. No adequate justification for this largess on the part of the Street Commissioners is found in the Boston Housing Authority appraisals, except in the instance of 1452 Washington street which is owned by a bank.

The procedure followed by the Street Commissioners in determining these awards is open to question, even though it is legal and has now become the practice in the department. The Street Commissioners at the time of the taking of the property made only a nominal award of one dollar, which opened the door to private negotiations between the Street Commissioners and the property owners to arrive at a figure which the city would pay. The old method, followed for a great many years, of making public intended adequate award at the time of the land taking offers less opportunity for criticism. In any event, to award 25 per cent in excess of the supposedly expert value fixed by the assessors in all instances without regard to actual merit does not commend itself.

North End Playground Takings.

In the case of the North End Playground takings, award has been withheld for the time being, but the circumstances attending the promotion of this project are worth considering. The site chosen is within a block or two of other park areas. The argument most strongly pressed for it pointed out that a church abuts. On the other side of the street on which the church fronts is the Prado built at great expense out of the White Fund income; and within a few blocks is another park or playground area recently developed because it faced an historical dwelling.

In this instance most of the parcels contained within the area to be taken have been acquired by one individual. The award proposed is 25 per cent in excess of assessed valuation. It had actually been voted by the Street Commissioners to take the property without appropriation having been made therefor, and for that reason is now deferred.

The Finance Commission believes that before anything further is done in this matter the playground situation in the North End should be studied and it should be determined, first of all, whether or not another playground is needed; and, if so, where it should be located. The refusal of the Park Commission to approve this particular location is significant.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD F. MULLEN, Chairman,
ALEXANDER WHEELER,
LEO J. DUNN,
FREDERICK DEANE,
The Finance Commission.

ROBERT E. CUNNIFF,
Secretary.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENT.

Chairman HANNON called up, under unfinished business, No. 1 on the calendar, viz.:

1. Appointment of William Fyler, 58 Cross street, Somerville, as Weigher of Goods, for term ending April 30, 1946.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Shannon and Coffey. Whole number of ballots 13, yeas 13, and the appointment was confirmed.

SALE OF LAND ON COMMERCIAL STREET.

Chairman HANNON called up, under unfinished business, No. 2 on the calendar, viz.:

2. Message of Mayor and order for sale of land on Commercial street.

On December 17, 1945, the order was read once and passed, yeas 15, nays 0.

The question came on giving the order a second reading and passage.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President.

Acting President DWYER—For what purpose does the gentleman wish to address the Chair?

Coun. MUCHNICK—For a point of information.

Acting President DWYER—State your point of information, Councilor.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Does that second reading have to come within the calendar year or within the municipal year, to take any effect?

Acting President DWYER—The Chair understands it has to come within the municipal year to take any effect.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President.

Acting President DWYER—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. RUSSO—A point of information.

Acting President DWYER—State your point of information.

Coun. RUSSO—Is this the order we voted on a couple of weeks ago?

Acting President DWYER—It is, Councilor.

Coun. RUSSO—Is it my understanding that it was placed on the table last time?

Acting President DWYER—That is correct.

Coun. RUSSO—Should not a motion be made to take it off the table?

Acting President DWYER—It was assigned to come up at this meeting, as the Chair remembers it, Councilor.

Coun. RUSSO—Well, Mr. President, if I may speak on this?

Acting President DWYER—All right. Speaking on the order, Councilor Russo.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, two weeks ago I was the one that brought this up, to try to have it passed. Of course, at that time, as I stated, I was not sure whether or not this land should be sold, and I am not sure at this present time whether this land should be sold. I have investigated, and I have found out that there may be something to be considered in so far as this overhead ramp is concerned that is supposed to take place in the City of Boston. It may mean that the taking of this particular land—although I am not sure at the present time. However, the state and city are working on it, and until they have definite plans I don't know what we should do with this particular land. I also have in mind that a year ago when I opposed this there was a proposition that Salutation street ought to be widened, and there was a proposed taking of a few buildings in order to widen Salutation street. Until I am certain of what they intend to do I don't feel that at the present time the Council ought to go on record on selling this land. Therefore, I move that this issue be laid on the table indefinitely.

Coun. HANNON in the chair.

A vote was taken on the motion, and the motion did not prevail. Councilor Russo doubted the vote and asked for a roll call. The roll was called, with the result that the motion did not prevail.

Yeas—Coun. Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Russo, D. F. Sullivan—7.
Nays—Coun. Bayley, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Hurley, Shannon, Taylor—7.

The question came on the adoption of the order. The roll was called, with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Taylor—3.
Nays—Coun. Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan—14.

There being less than the necessary 15 votes, the order was declared rejected.

THANKS TO COUNCILOR WILLIAM F. DWYER.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the members of the City Council be extended to Councilor William F. Dwyer, who, since the middle of January, has presided over the meetings of the City Council, as Acting President with courtesy, dignity and impartiality.

The resolution was adopted by a unanimous rising vote.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, today is the last official meeting of the City Council of 1944 and 1945. These meetings always carry with them a certain note of sadness, because it is only natural in the course of years, sitting side by side with other men and working on the same problems, that certain friendships are engendered, and certain associations are made, which oftentimes we are reluctant and sad to sever. Those of us who are fortunate enough to return here Monday will undoubtedly miss the splendid voice of the gentleman from Ward 11 (Coun. Hanley). I will miss my cantankerous neighbor here from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor). We will miss the affable gentleman from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney). We will miss the smooth, neat gentleman from Ward 20 (Coun. Shannon), and the loud boy from Ward 22 (Coun. M. H. Sullivan)—not to mention the white-haired gentleman from Ward 21 (Coun. Dwyer). Some of these gentlemen are fortunate, we dare say, in getting out of here. But, regardless of the reason, regardless of their purpose in leaving us, each and every one of us undoubtedly feels sorry that next year we are not going to enjoy the happy association of these members. I can say for myself, for my own feelings, that each and every one of those men has performed a job, and performed it well. But one gentleman, our presiding officer (Coun. Dwyer) had a tough job thrust upon him. It is a tough job to preside over any body or any organization. It is a tough job when you are clothed with full authority, but it is an even tougher job when you are up there, not by virtue of election and full authority, but merely by virtue of the rules under which we operate. With such a background, I think the gentleman from Ward 21 (Coun. Dwyer) performed a task that no other one of us could perform in like manner. He was on the job. We differed, true, but one thing you have to have is courage, and at least he had his courage up there, whether we agreed or differed with him. And now, as we part, I know I feel, and I honestly hope, that any disagreements that might have been engendered during the course of the last year or two by any of us towards any other will be forgotten. Let us remember the happy days and happy memories, when we all agreed, if ever we did, on any particular subject. Politicians are politicians because they choose that particular work. If you are honest in politics, you must differ with your fellow men sooner or later. Now, sooner or later we are all coming to the end of the road, when each and every one of us is going to take his turn in leaving this chamber. As we do leave, let us leave with the finest and kindest of feelings towards each other, with the thought in mind we have worked together, we have enjoyed being associates, with those working with us. And if any opportunity presents itself of being of service one to the other, I know each and every member of this Body will take advantage of that and respond to it. On behalf of the members here, Bill, it is my special privilege to present to you this gavel, which will remind you that you did preside over us for a year, and which will call your attention to the fact that each and every one of the members here respects you for your honesty, your judgment and your sense of fair play. Good luck. (Loud applause.)

Coun. DWYER—Thank you, Mr. President.

Chairman FISH—Councilor Dwyer.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, I wish to thank the members of the Council for their kind gift and their expression of confidence. And, Mr. President, I wish to say that it has been very enjoyable up there. I have made my mistakes, know I have not always been right, but the mistakes were honest mistakes, and all I can say is that I have enjoyed being in the Council, and I will always cherish this gavel. I thank you and the members of the Council. (Loud applause.)

Chairman FISH—The Chair awaits the pleasure of the Council.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. Chairman, I move that we now adjourn sine die.

The motion was carried, and the Council of 1945 stood adjourned, without day, at 11.31 a. m.

INAUGURAL EXERCISES.

Symphony Hall, Boston, Mass.,

Monday, January 7, 1946.

The ceremonies attending the inauguration of Mayor-elect James M. Curley, the City Councilors-elect and two School Committee members-elect of the City of Boston were held in Symphony Hall at ten o'clock a. m., when the Mayor, the Councilors-elect and School Committee-elect Patrick J. Foley and Michael J. Ward entered the hall in a procession headed by City Clerk John B. Hynes and City Messenger William J. O'Donnell, to the strains of an inaugural march, "Marche Militaire," by Gounod. They took seats on the platform, and the meeting was called to order by City Clerk Hynes, who said:

Ladies and gentlemen, as City Clerk of the City of Boston, I now officially open these inaugural ceremonies. The principal purpose of these exercises is the taking of the oath of office by the Mayor-elect, the twenty-two members of the City Council and the two members-elect of the School Committee. Incidentally, may I state that the taking of the oath of office by Mayor-elect Curley will mark the fourth occasion he has taken such oath. Upon completion of the present term of office Mayor-elect Curley will have completed sixteen years as Mayor of Boston, the longest service of any Mayor in the 124 years of the corporate existence of this city. (Applause.)

In keeping with the patriotic innovation introduced four years ago by former City Clerk Wilfred J. Doyle, I now request everybody in the audience to please stand and recite, with me, the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

(The City Clerk then recited the pledge of allegiance to the Flag, in which he was joined by those present.)

I now have the pleasure of introducing Marion Mulhall, who will sing "God Bless America." (Loud applause.)

("God Bless America" was then sung by Marion Mulhall.)

Chairman HYNES—I now most respectfully present his Excellency the Right Reverend Chor-Bishop Stephen El-Douahy, representative in the U. S. A. of the Maronite Patriarch, who will give the invocation.

Right Reverend Chor-Bishop Stephen El-Douahy, in his invocation, prayed for the spiritual and material welfare of all present, and that the incoming Mayor, Council and School Committee might have Divine guidance in all their work for the welfare and happiness of the community.

City Clerk HYNES read the certificate of election of the Mayor, after which the oath of office was administered to his Honor Mayor James M. Curley, by the Honorable Frederick T. Field, Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts.

City Clerk HYNES then read the certificate of election of members-elect of the City Council from the Election Board.

City Clerk HYNES then called the roll of the members-elect of the City Council, and as each arose and announced his presence he was greeted with applause. It appearing that all were present, the oath of office was administered by his Honor Mayor James M. Curley to said members, as follows:

James S. Coffey, Ward 1.
Michael Leo Kinsella, Ward 2.
Joseph Russo, Ward 3.
Perlie Dyar Chase, Ward 4.
James C. Bayley, Jr., Ward 5.
Joseph M. Scannell, Ward 6.
Thomas E. Linehan, Ward 7.
William F. Hurley, Ward 8.
Daniel F. Sullivan, Ward 9.
William A. Carey, Ward 10.
William A. Moriarty, Ward 11.
Milton Cook, Ward 12.
Thomas J. Hannon, Ward 13.
Isadore H. Y. Muchnick, Ward 14.
John B. Kelly, Ward 15.
Philip Austin Fish, Ward 16.
William Joseph Keenan, Ward 17.
Michael H. Cantwell, Ward 18.
Thomas L. McCormack, Ward 19.
Walter D. Bryan, Ward 20.
Edmund V. Lane, Ward 21.
Edward C. Madden, Ward 22.

Chairman HYNES next read the certificate-of election of Patrick J. Foley and Michael J. Ward to the School Committee, and the oath of office was administered to them by his Honor Mayor Curley.

Chairman HYNES—It is my pleasure to introduce Ilonka Pototsky, who will sing, "My Hero," ("My Hero," by Strauss, was sung by Ilonka Pototsky.)

Chairman HYNES—The inaugural address will now be delivered by the Honorable James Michael Curley, Mayor of the City of Boston. (Prolonged applause.)

Inaugural Address of Mayor Curley.

Mayor CURLEY—Gentlemen of the City Council, Governor Tobin, Mayor Kerrigan, Senator David I. Walsh, Democratic Floor Leader in Congress and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John J. McCormack, my beloved doctor, Martin English, Mrs. Curley and my family,—both families,—if I may be corrected,—ladies and gentlemen:

I am deeply conscious of the great honor that has been conferred upon me. At the conclusion of my term, God willing, I shall have been Chief Executive for sixteen years—longer than any Mayor in the history of our municipality. Could any Bostonian ask for greater honor? (Applause.)

It is a signal distinction to be elevated to this position—Chief Executive of Boston, the Athens of America, a city of culture, a city of noble traditions.

The golden age of American literature was made luminous by men and women who were born or who resided within the shadow of Beacon Hill. From this hill and its slopes and valleys went forth to an appreciative world the words of wisdom of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the greatest mind Boston ever produced; the poetry of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, John Boyle O'Reilly and Louise Imogen Guiney; the histories of Parkman, Prescott and Bancroft; the works of Ticknor, Motley and a host of others. The architecture of Charles Bulfinch and Charles D. Maginnis; the orations and legalisms of Daniel Webster, James Otis, Rufus Choate and Harrison Gray Otis, four of America's greatest lawyers; the erudite legal opinions of Judges Lemuel Shaw, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis D. Brandeis. The courageous pronouncements of Wendell Phillips, Joseph Warren, John Adams, Anne Hutchinson, Bishop Cheverus, Ellery Channing, Phillips Brooks, his Excellency Archbishop John J. Williams and his Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell. The arts and crafts of Paul Revere; the paintings and sculpture of Washington Allston, Copley, Gilbert Stuart and Martin Milmore; the book on navigation by Nathaniel Bowditch, the greatest work of its kind the world has ever known; the treatise of Dr. Zabdiel Boylston, who introduced inoculation for smallpox and saved thousands of lives; the skill of Dr. W. T. Morton, who first applied ether in a surgical operation and the work of Doctor Mallory, that quiet, modest, little man, in bacteriology and pathological research; the sacrifices of Patrick Carr, Crispus Attucks and their compatriots in the Boston Massacre. The business foresight of our great merchants, John Coggan, E. A. Filene, Eben Jordan, John Ciffrino and Thomas B. Fitz; the wise counsel of the noble Jesuits, John Baptist, Robert Fulton and Thomas Gasson; and, in our own day and generation, the spiritual guidance of his Excellency Archbishop Cushing and Bishop

Henry Knox Sherrill; the charitable gifts of George Robert White, George F. Parkman, Andrew Carney, Thomas Forsyth, A. Shuman, and numerous others who loved Boston. Of the fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence five were students in our famous Boston Latin School—John Hancock, Samuel Adams, Robert Treat Paine of Massachusetts, Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania and William Hooper of North Carolina. Our great Mayors, among whom were John Phillips, Josiah Quincy, Hugh O'Brien and General Patrick A. Collins.

Need I say that to follow in the footsteps of these illustrious Bostonians and Americans is sufficient inspiration for me to give every ounce of my strength and experience to the people of the city of my birth to the end that the confidence that they have expressed in me will be forever justified. (Applause.)

Taxes.

As a means of providing relief for the city and protection for a system resembling a continuous raid upon the city's resources it is desirable and essential that a moratorium be established upon all applications to the Appellate Tax Board for tax abatements for a period of five years or the abolition of the Appellate Tax Board. (Applause.)

The figures covering the past eight years are appalling,—and that is putting it mildly—representing abatements requested on properties in excess of $100,000,000 of assessed valuation, and are now pending for 1945, also.

Either this terrific leak must be plugged or protection for the people in the form of a reduced tax rate appears impossible. The immediate necessity for a reduction of the tax rate represents the most vital problem confronting the city. (Applause.)

It is common knowledge that a tax rate in excess of $35 per thousand of valuation represents a burden upon the people beyond the power of the people to bear. The present tax rate of $42.50 per thousand of valuation serves as a constant deterrent to new industries that seek a location here and makes it extremely difficult to induce industries now located here to continue doing business in the city.

This problem of reducing the tax rate to a reasonable and just figure affects the welfare and the happiness of every family in our city, since industry and commerce are the two principal avenues for the employment of large numbers of people, and, unless these avenues are kept open and made inviting, people suffer.

That the immediate reduction of the tax rate is vital is therefore apparent to every thoughtful person; and when the measure making provision for the borrowing of $10,000,000 is considered by the Legislature, so that an immediate reduction may be made possible, it is to be hoped that everyone will favor the passage of the required legislation.

From assurances already received, there is every indication that programs for construction, including housing, in excess of $150,000,000 will be undertaken within the next few months (applause), but it must be understood that there will be no immediate revenue from the increased valuations represented by this construction program until after January of 1947.

The prosecution of this program will depend in large measure upon the harmony that prevails between the persons interested in the construction program and the men who are to do the work. In 1922, serving as Mayor, it was possible to arrive at an agreement that there be no strikes for a period of four years and that all questions in dispute which might result in a strike and the suspension of construction activities should be referred to the Mayor for adjudication. I am hopeful that a similar agreement can be made this year, so that Boston may go ahead and complete its program of construction and make unnecessary an excessive tax rate in the future. (Applause.)

Housing and Veterans.

The law enacted in 1945 permitting insurance companies to engage in housing programs furnishes an excellent outlet for increased revenue for the idle money of the insurance companies. It has been most gratifying to find a real spirit of cooperation among the leaders in the insurance field.

The John Hancock Life Insurance Company officials conferred with me in my home some four weeks ago as to the possibilities of the development of a model village of one-family and duplex houses which they propose to erect at an estimated cost of between fifteen and twenty-five million dollars, and also the construction of an addition to their present building at Copley square which will cost some fifteen million dollars additional.

I have contacted since that conference a number of other insurance companies and have found them most receptive.

Likewise, I have made an investigation as to the land in control of the city which has either been taken for a definite purpose and never utilized or which has been taken for nonpayment of taxes. These lands which should be earning revenue for the reduction of the tax rate should be utilized for revenue-producing purposes, and it is my intention to have surveys made at once and submit them to the various insurance companies with a view to selling them at a price so attractive that they will determine upon them as sites for the development of greatly needed housing facilities in the Boston area. (Applause.)

I have, in addition, drafted a law permitting the banks to engage in housing construction which, if adopted by the Legislature, will permit of the investment of their excess funds in revenue-producing properties in the same manner as is now being followed by the insurance companies.

I find, in addition, that a large number of houses have been taken over by the city for nonpayment of taxes, and, in order that these properties may be once more revenue-producing, I have drafted legislation which would permit of the city giving title of these properties, without charge, to deserving veterans on condition that they be made livable at once. (Applause.)

Many war veterans have become extremely proficient at mechanical trades during the war, and would undoubtedly welcome the opportunity to improve these properties and add in the vicinity of $10,000,000 in taxable value to city property and upon which there is no income at the present time, nor has there been any for the past eight years.

Traffic.

The necessity for additional arteries for the relief of traffic congestion has been a subject of study by State Planning Boards, City Planning Boards and other agencies for a considerable period of time. I believe the time has arrived for immediate action, and it is my purpose to call a conference in the near future of the various agencies for the purpose of definitely determining, without further delay, on an equitable solution.

I shall file a bill to extend Dartmouth street with a bridge across the Charles river to Kendall square and making provision for the widening of Dartmouth street and Dedham street to Albany street, connecting with the proposed Fort Point Channel Underground Highway, thereby providing a direct new route over a broad highway for traffic from the South Shore to Boston, connecting with the East-West proposed sunken highway, thereby providing traffic relief both north and south. (Applause.)

The construction of the sunken highway between Dorchester avenue and Massachusetts avenue will make possible an end of the constant opening and delay in traffic over the Dover Street, Broadway and Dorchester Avenue Bridges, which today serve but one tenant and yet represent a considerable annual upkeep, including salaries for attendants.

I favor as a further relief for traffic congestion and early conference with the officials of the Boston & Albany Railroad for the purpose of building over, as has been done in New York, the trackage of the lines between Boylston street and Huntington avenue.

The cooperative spirit displayed by the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad in substituting Diesel engines for coal-burning engines upon their line between Boston and Providence has reached the point where the chief engineer has informed me, after several conferences extending over many months, that he is hopeful that the entire line between Boston and Providence will be dieselized by January 15th.

I am hopeful that a similar cooperative attitude will be displayed by the officials of the Boston & Albany Railroad and the Boston & Maine Railroad to the end that within the coming year we will have complete electrification and dieselization of all railroads within the Boston area.

The abandonment of coal-burning locomotive engines should add many millions to the value of properties adjoining these railroads in the areas where these railroads operate, since it would mean an end to cinders, smoke, dust, dirt and noise. (Applause.)

The success achieved in New York in the razing of the Sixth Avenue elevated structure with the benefits which have resulted to properties on Sixth avenue justifies the belief that a similar condition will obtain in the event of the removal of the elevated structure from Sullivan square to Forest Hills and the substitution thereof of a tunnel or bus line. (Loud applause.)

Believing that it would be of immeasurable benefit to the city, the people, and property, in general, I have drafted a bill to permit of the removal of the elevated structure.

With a view to providing relief for the unbearable traffic conditions in the downtown section, and for the preservation of the high-valued retail business district of Boston, I have drafted a bill for a garage under Boston Common, and look forward to its adoption. (Loud applause.)

The principal objection to the taking of any portion of Boston Common has been based largely upon historical and sentimental grounds. The fact remains, however, since the introduction of rapid transit, the subway system, a portion of Boston Common underground as well as above ground has been utilized. Any further extension of usable area under Boston Common for the relief of traffic, similar to that which today is in operation in San Francisco, would provide not only immediate relief for traffic congestion but would return a reasonable revenue to the city annually. Unquestionably, the revenue will be sufficient to amortize the entire cost within twenty years. It should be done. (Applause.)

With a view to relieving the burden on owners of real estate, I propose the submission of a bill making provision for an allocation from the Highway Fund of the state, annually, of $1,000,000 to provide for such additional traffic regulations and officers as are made necessary by the increase in the volume of motor vehicles on our highways.

Legislation of this character is necessary due to the increased cost of motor vehicle supervision which, in turn, is due to the increase in the number of motor vehicles on our highways which, in the year 1945, represented an increased cost to the city in excess of $600,000.

Port Development.

The creation by the state of the Board of Port Authority, vesting as it does all port development in the state-created Board, leaves to the city little other than recommendations.

In my judgment, the City of Boston should control and operate the Army Base. In the past it has been the custom to lease out this property, which represents an investment by the Federal Government of thirty millions of dollars, to private interests who have not always operated the business for the best interests of the state or city.

Believing that the time has arrived for this essential development to serve as it was originally intended it should serve, namely, the city and its people, I have drafted legislation turning the use and operation of this property over to the City of Boston. The combination of rail and steamship facilities which obtain at the Army Base should prove attractive to shippers and travelers in every part of the world and would do much to give to Boston the place it once occupied in the forefront of commercial cities.

The revenue resulting from municipal operation, with a sane and sound policy of economy and efficiency, should do much to relieve real estate from the burden now imposed.

Schools.

The School Department presents a real problem, the proper solution of which means much to every individual in the city, and more particularly to the persons employed in the School Department.

It is difficult to understand why the cost of conducting the School Department increases as the number of pupils decreases; likewise the number of teachers has been decreased.

In 1933, the schools of Boston had about 137,000 pupils, while today they have but 96,000 or about 41,000 less than in 1933, and with some 540 less teachers in attendance. Yet the cost of conducting the School Department in 1945 was $18,057,769.50, as against $15,230,000 in 1933.

I would like to know why it is, with less populace and no increase in salaries, and with some 540 less teachers, there should be this increase.

It is my purpose to arrange a conference at an early date between the School Committee and the teaching staffs with a view to the development of a program for reducing the cost of operating the schools that would more nearly conform with the reduction in the number of pupils.

The excessive cost of conducting school activities over which the Mayor of the city has no control, would, in my judgment, render it advisable to introduce legislation providing that the Mayor shall have an absolute veto power over the appropriations of the School Committee, and it is my purpose to further legislation to that end.

The accepted practice in a majority of the states, the purpose of which is to assist in relieving cities and towns, in part, of the cost of education, provides that from 25 to 35 per cent shall be reimbursed to the cities and towns by the state.

Relief of this character is not only desirable but vitally essential if the educational institutions of our cities and towns are to serve the purpose intended; and, accordingly, I have drafted legislation to be submitted to the General Court making provision for this essential relief, since at the present time Boston receives but about 8 per cent from the state, and other cities and towns about the same proportion.

Hospitals and Health.

The recent disclosures with reference to the operation of what at one time was considered the finest municipal hospital in America, and, in addition, the current information with reference to the operation of Long Island Hospital, is food for serious thought for every individual.

There are none of us that know when we may go to either of those two institutions. There is a certainty, if one remains in politics long enough, he will go to the latter eventually. So I would like to see them kept properly, with that in mind. (Laughter.)

At the present time at Boston City Hospital there are some 140 chronic cases that should be treated at Long Island Hospital but cannot be treated there because of conditions that obtain at that institution.

Little, if any, repairs have been made during the past eight years, until prior to the recent election, with general deterioration and decay, and the nursing situation is one that should not be tolerated. In prior years, at Long Island Hospital for the aged, a nursing school was maintained but abolished some years ago, with the result that today aged and sick patients are acting as nurses to other patients due to the impossibility of securing the necessary nurses due to the abandonment of the nurses' school.

What is true in the case of nurses is also true in the case of medical and surgical services. The conditions at Long Island emphasize the need of the transfer of its inmates to the mainland, and it is my purpose to confer with the City Hospital Trustees and other authorities at an early date to take the steps at once which conditions demand be taken, for the preservation of the lives of the inmates.

With the advances that have been made in the care and cure of children's diseases, it is possible that the entire South Department at the City Hospital may be turned over at once for the care and treatment of aged people now at the Long Island Infirmary, and, in the event that it proves impossible, a site should be selected upon the mainland for this purpose, since our first obligation is to the sick and the aged wards of our city. (Applause.)

The beneficial effects that have resulted at the L Street Bath from the establishment of a solarium for men afflicted with arthritis or rheumatism justify the belief that steps should be taken at once for the establishment of a similar solarium for women and children at the women's section of the L Street Bath, and it is my purpose to recommend to the White Fund Trustees at their first meeting that the required money be made available. (Applause.)

The results achieved through inoculation and through the installation of glass cubicles in the case of communicable diseases common to the young are almost unbelievable.

As against an average of thirty-nine deaths from scarlet fever in 1932, there were no deaths in 1944. In the case of diphtheria, as against thirty-three deaths in 1932, there was but one death in 1942, but one in 1943 and but two in 1944.

A survey disclosed the astounding fact that the total deaths from cancer, scarlet fever, diphtheria and tuberculosis for the year 1944 were but 1,838, while the number of deaths from heart disease was 3,575, or nearly twice as many deaths from heart disease as from diphtheria, tuberculosis, scarlet fever and cancer combined.

It would appear absolutely and imperatively essential that a clinic for heart disease is one of our great pressing needs and should be established at the earliest opportunity.

The establishment of a clinic building centrally located in the city for the treatment of persons afflicted with high mortality diseases, such as heart disease, cancer, arthritis, diabetes, and persons who are deaf and dumb, will be recommended to the trustees of the White Fund, and I trust they will take favorable action.

Suffolk County Expenses.

I favor the adoption of a bill establishing the Suffolk County Council and providing for equitable apportionment of expenses of Suffolk County.

The bill will provide for the establishment of a Suffolk County government composed of the members of the Committee on County Accounts of the City Council of the City of Boston, ex officio, the President of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Chelsea, ex officio, the President of the City Council of the City of Revere, ex officio, and the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Winthrop, ex officio. This group, to be known as the Suffolk County Council, will pass upon Suffolk County expenditures, to be equitably apportioned among the cities of Boston, Chelsea, Revere and the town of Winthrop, instead of being borne entirely by the City of Boston.

Welfare.

In the majority of states at the present time, the municipalities are reimbursed on an average of 80 per cent of expenditures for all forms of welfare relief.

At the present time the amount of reimbursement by the State of Massachusetts averages about 45 per cent as contrasted with 80 per cent reimbursement by New York State to the City of New York. An increase in the revenue from the operations of horse and dog tracks would provide a measure of relief that is sorely needed by all of the cities and many of the towns of the Commonwealth.

Fire Department.

The necessity for a complete investigation and overhauling of this department is apparent to the most casual observer. In fact, the subject of undermanning of apparatus is today a general topic of discussion both by the public and the press.

Upon the question of apparatus, the National Board of Fire Underwriters directed attention recently to the failure of the city to undertake an adequate program for the replacing of old apparatus.

The equipment, in many cases, has outlived its usefulness, and a complete replacement schedule, based on a fifteen-year life expectancy for active service, is required at once for the protection of the public. During the past fifteen years but ten pumps were purchased and four are on order. In other words, only fourteen of the fifty pumpers in the City Fire Department are not over-age.

In the same period of time five ladder trucks and two tractors were acquired, leaving but five of the thirty-one in the Boston Fire Department that are not over-age. In other words, they have not been in use for a shorter period of time than fifteen years, about five years more than the life of the average automobile—some less with municipal ones.

The necessity for a relocation of housing, a better manning of apparatus and the installment of modern, up-to-date fire-fighting equipment is imperative.

It is my purpose to consult the War and Navy Departments with a view to the purchasing by the City of Boston of up-to-date apparatus now located at air fields or training stations that have been abandoned or shall shortly be abandoned by the Federal Government, which should represent a considerable saving to the city provided the apparatus can be secured.

More rigid inspections and strict enforcement of the building laws should prevent not only major disasters but mild ones as well. (Applause.)

Public Works Department.

What is true of the equipment in the Fire Department is equally true of the equipment in use by the Public Works and Hospital Departments, most of which is unfit for use at the present time and yet which might be replaced through Federal agencies at a minimum of cost.

Planning Board.

The City of Boston Planning Board was organized for the purpose of long-time planning with a view to the elimination of waste and the promotion of economy and efficiency in the administration of municipal departments.

The purpose served by the Planning Board prior to the past eight years was most commendable, and such recommendations as were adopted were extremely beneficial to the city.

It is my purpose to aid in every way the work of the Planning Board which has proven so beneficial to nation, states, and such cities as have accepted major recommendations made by Planning Boards established therein.

In conjunction with the activities of the Planning Board, it would, in my judgment, be advisable to arrange monthly meetings to which might be invited, for participation in the matter of long-range planning for all municipal departments, leaders representing labor and capital.

The necessity for a program of this character has been proven in the case of the development of recreation facilities, hospitalization, and the placing upon a sound financial basis of our public school system by requiring that land and buildings for educational purposes be acquired and built out of tax money. We adopted that in 1915. We have a bonded indebtedness on the schools—at that time I think about $200,000 in excess of the actual value of the schools. Today the schools are free of debt, representing a value around $70,000,000, because they put it on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The present City Hospital, one of the most modern in the entire nation, was constructed with a view to meeting the demands of the next half century; the development of our recreational facilities, including the Strandway and beaches along the waterfront, was created with the same objective. The School Department likewise; and we can profit by similar development.

In 1915, the School Department was put on a pay-as-you-go basis rather than establishing bonded indebtedness on land and structures built thereon for educational purposes, with the result that today the city has ownership, without debt, of upwards of some $70,000,000 of school property which, had we adhered to the old system, today would be subject to a bonded indebtedness of some $50,000,000.

Budget.

The necessity for the re-establishment of the segregated budget put in operation in 1916 and abandoned in recent years made possible the exercise of complete control over all municipal expenditures.

The recent disclosures of wholesale appointments, depletion of department funds, increase of salaries largely based not upon merit but upon favoritism, and making necessary at the closing of the administration wholesale transfers from one department to another, prove that the segregated budget is essential if efficiency is to replace waste in the conduct of municipal activities.

The general public are of the opinion today that employees of the city, in the main, are not furnishing an adequate return for the wages paid to them and the security afforded them by protection from sickness and the assurance of a pension for disability or old age.

I have no means of determining, other than by personal observation of the condition of streets, alleys and highways generally, as to the truth or falsity of the impression that is accepted. However I shall shortly learn. I think the public knows that the contractors have recently been granted a 10 per cent increase, and I shall give them three days to clean up the filth in this city. (Loud applause and cheers.) And if they fail to do it in three days, I shall instruct the Law Department to take the necessary steps to break the contracts at once. I shall guarantee that any employee of the city who does an honest day's work need have no fear of reprisal. In the event, however, he fails to meet requirements, he must be prepared to accept of the consequences. The holiday is over.

There is a universal complaint, in addition, of lack of courtesy by the officials with whom the public come in contact in City Hall and elsewhere in the conduct of public works which will not be tolerated in the future.

After all, we are all servants of the public, although we have short memories at times, and the taxes paid by them provide our salaries. Consequently, it is a matter of duty as well as proper Americanism to extend every courtesy to those with whom we come in contact in our official positions.

With a view to meeting the increased cost of living, the municipal authorities provided for an emergency compensation of $200 per annum for each employee of the city. This payment has now

Home Rule for Massachusetts Cities.

Cincinnati and Cleveland are cited as examples of near perfection in city government, but all who extol the merits of the Cincinnati and Cleveland governments fail to tell us that under the Constitution of the State of Ohio the voters in the cities of that state have the right to amend their respective charters themselves. In other words, Cincinnati, Cleveland and other Ohio cities have a Home Rule right that does not obtain in Massachusetts.

Until such time as Boston and other Massachusetts cities have the right to amend their own charters as they do in Ohio, the people will continue to feel they have no Home Rule authority, but must go along in the groove that the General Court designs, all of which makes for a defeatist complex among our citizenry and kills off the adoption of a progressive program in the respective cities of Massachusetts. After all, no one knows the need of a municipality better than the voters who live therein.

That such a condition should exist in a Commonwealth whose governmental keystone since the early days was "Home Rule" is beyond comprehension. But the sum total of it all today is that citizens in the towns of Massachusetts have "town meeting" and "Home Rule" rights that city dwellers are denied.

In short, if you live in a Massachusetts city, you are denied many fundamental rights that your neighbor in an adjoining town possesses. In effect, the voter is penalized in a great measure if he lives in a city in Massachusetts.

Yet, nowhere in the Massachusetts Constitution is it set forth that the authority that rests with the General Court to grant city charters and create municipalities also permits the General Court to deny liberties to the city dweller that the man who lives in a town enjoys. It is a legislative paradox—but it has come down to us over the years because no one does anything about it.

When the town fathers of Boston asked for a city charter around 1820, which was granted later by the General Court, the one thing that disturbed the Bostonians was the fear that they might lose some of the rights that they cherished as "townsmen" in making the change to city government. (Ernst, Constitutional History of Boston.)

It is needless to say that if prominent members of the committee that requested a change from town to city government, including John Phillips, Josiah Quincy, Jacob Rhodes, Redford Webster and George Blake, were to view the absence of Home Rule in Boston today, they would be found in the forefront of the battle for a greater measure of Home Rule for Massachusetts cities, which would do much to wipe out many of the evils that obtain at present in Massachusetts municipalities.

Fortunately, we have a progressive General Court at present, and I, for one, feel that from now on we can expect a greater measure of Home Rule in the cities of our Commonwealth. The present General Court is fully alive to the fact that a prosperous Boston means better conditions for the entire Commonwealth. Yes, even for all New England! This is evidenced by recent legislation and reports of legislative recess committees—they want to help, and it is a good omen for the future.

There is nothing more stimulating to local pride than for the citizen of a local body politic to be left to work out his own destiny. Individual initiative is the American trait that will bring results in any local body politic.

Now we are on the threshold of an era where all want to get things done—the mistakes of the past are behind us—let Beacon Hill work hand in hand for the betterment of Boston and other cities, and then we can go ahead—for the prosperity of Boston means prosperity for all Massachusetts. (Applause.)

Conclusion.

I have endeavored to portray the city and its condition as I view it and, frankly, the picture is most drab. The task confronting us is one that calls for experience, courage, vision and unity of action by all agencies interested in restoring Boston to the position which it should rightfully hold.

The past of our city is both inspiring and glorious; the present should prove a test of our right to the heritage which is ours as citizens of Boston; the future placed in our keeping is what we, by unity of action, sincerity of purpose and intelligent direction, see fit to make it. No individual can face the solution of a task as great as that which confronts us in the present hour without the united and wholehearted support of all agencies.

In the work confronting us it is essential and imperative that the City Council have a full appreciation of the responsibility that is theirs in aiding me in the work of establishing our city once more upon a sound, efficient and economical basis for the benefit of all the people.

The problems of adversity are seldom greater than the problems of prosperity. Yet they can only be overcome by concerted action and complete cooperation—and this, I trust, I shall receive from the public at large.

There are many persons who favor a change from Home Rule and government of the people, by the people and for the people to government by commissions in which the people will have little voice. This trend of thought is based largely upon the assumption that popular government and Home Rule have failed of their purpose in that they have not been conducted in an efficient and economical manner.

It represents a challenge to the believers in Home Rule and popular government and can only be met through efficient, economical and honest discharge of our duties and our obligations. (Applause.)

I am in no sense fearful of the result, provided there is proper cooperation by all of the services of the city and honest judgment by the public at large, that we shall meet the most exacting requirements and in conformity with the inscription which appears on the City Seal which sets forth, "As God was with our Fathers, so may He be with us."

That Divine Providence may guide us in our deliberations in the solution of the problems which must be solved, the final solution of which will bring comfort to those heavily laden and greater honor and glory to our beloved city, should be the sincere prayer of every citizen. (Prolonged applause, the audience standing.)

Chairman HYNES—It is now my pleasure to introduce Matthew Reilly, who will sing "Ave Maria."

("Ave Maria" was then sung by Matthew Reilly.)

Benediction by Monsignor James F. Kelly.

Monsignor JAMES F. KELLY—May the blessing of Almighty God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, descend upon you and remain with you always. Amen.

Chairman HYNES—As a fitting climax to these exercises, Madam Rose Zulalian will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

("The Star-Spangled Banner" was then sung by Madam Rose Zulalian.)

Chairman HYNES—The audience will please be seated for a moment. Mayor Curley will perform his first act as Mayor of the City of Boston.

Mayor CURLEY—Ladies and gentlemen, a very pleasant task has been conferred upon me, and yet a very sad one. We rejoice, of course, that the war is over. In our own small household on Christmas Day, for the first time in three years, the four boys in the service broke bread with us. And what was true in our own case undoubtedly was true in the case of many other homes. But there were homes where there was a vacant chair. There were homes where some one was missing, so it took all the happiness, in large measure, out of Christmas. And in the hospitals throughout the land, in the hospitals throughout the world, could be found fine American boys who suffered the loss of an arm or a leg, or vision, or mind gone. Those with their minds gone continued fighting. The war did not end recently for them. Only death can end the war for them. There is little that we can do for them; there is much that we should do for them. A group of those boys from neighboring hospitals around Massachusetts, who have suffered the loss of an arm or a leg or great bodily injuries have come here today, at great inconvenience, as our guests. They will have dinner together and go to the theatre together. (Mayor Curley's closing remark was accompanied by the singing of "My Buddy" by Marion Mulhall.)

Mayor CURLEY—I want to thank everyone present for their presence here, and wish for them, every one, God's blessing, and the same for our city. (Applause.)

This closed the inaugural ceremonies, and the Mayor and suite and the audience filed out to the strains of "The Coronation March Recessional," at 12.15 p. m.

Last year the maximum amount of temporary borrowing authorized by the Council was $40,000,000. I respectfully recommend that an order in this amount be submitted to the City Council for consideration and adoption.

The said City Treasurer is hereby further authorized to renew or refund any such notes issued for a shorter period than one year, under the provisions of section 17 of chapter 44 of the General Laws.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I would like to have it explained to me fully just what this $40,000,000 is for.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey), this is a matter the subject of which we do each year, in order to supply money in anticipation of taxes to carry on regular salaries and operating expenses of this city, pending the adoption of the budget.

Coun. COFFEY—I withdraw my motion and ask unanimous consent to be recorded as voting yes.

Chairman LANE—Councilor Coffey has withdrawn his motion. Will the clerk please record Councilor Coffey in the affirmative?

The order was thereupon declared passed, 22 to 0.

The order was passed.

BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT.

On motion of Coun. HURLEY, duly seconded, the Council voted to ballot for the election of a President of the Council for the year 1946.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, well, I suppose I might as well start the New Year off right; I usually do. Today we are going to ballot for the President of this Body. I have had the pleasure—I might not call it a pleasure, I probably could say I made the mistake in the past—of voting for some who were elected to the presidency of this Council. Today, in Symphony Hall, I kind of got a little bit sick to my stomach. I was standing in the corridor, and I walked into his Honor, the new Mayor, James M. Curley. While I was talking to him, Frank Kelly came over and butted into the conversation, and said to the Mayor, "Why don't you ask Jim Coffey while he is here to vote for my brother John?" I asked the Mayor, "Are you with John Kelly?" He hesitated, and I said, "Are you with him?" He hesitated a second time. The third time I asked him if he was with John Kelly, he hesitated, and Frank Kelly stepped into the picture and said, "He will be with him, Jim, for me." I said, "You don't mean anything to me." Now, I might have voted for anybody that Jim Curley asked me to vote for, but I am damned sure I am not going to ask anyone to vote for some one who voted against Jim Curley. I think I was the only one that took the public platform in this last mayoralty contest and came out openly for Jim Curley, and my ward shows it. He got the biggest vote in Ward 1 of any vote in the entire city, right in East Boston, even though Johnnie Kerrigan opened up the East Boston Relief Station. I told the people they owed nothing to Johnnie Kerrigan for opening that hospital, that he was made Mayor of Boston because of my twelfth vote. When he had eleven votes and couldn't get that twelfth vote, and on the third ballot he was going to be dumped out, and had that fourth ballot been taken there wouldn't be anyone voting for Johnnie Kerrigan. I gave him that twelfth vote. And the only thing I asked Johnnie Kerrigan when I gave him my vote was that he would open that Relief Station. He agreed to, and didn't keep his word, and opened the hospital only before the last election. So he got only a measley vote in East Boston. Now, I can't see Curley playing dead soft for somebody who wasn't with him. I fought Tobin up here five years, and if I have to fight Curley for one year, that is all right, but I don't want him or anybody else sticking their nose into this Body. I said it time and time again, that we are a powerful group, and we don't know it. Jim Curley can't draw his pay unless we say so. He can't draw one nickel. He can't spend five cents of the taxpayers' money this year—if eleven of us say he can't spend it, he just can't spend it. And as far as his own salary is concerned, I say he can't even draw that if eleven of us refuse to pass the budget in which his salary will be. I might have been with anybody that Curley picked, but I can't see Curley picking a man who was out night after night, not only in halls, but on street corners, speaking against Curley for Mayor, and speaking for one of his opponents. His brother doesn't enter into the picture as far as I am concerned at all. His brother was with Curley, John Kelly was with Tobin and Kerrigan. So I say, Mayor Curley doesn't owe anything to John Kelly. And I hold nothing against John Kelly. And I have never stopped speaking to anybody in this Body, as long as I have been in here. I have had my fights in here, but they are forgotten as soon as I step out the door. But I think that Curley started the new fourth term wrong. If it is claimed that he is sincerely with the councilor from Ward 15 (Coun. Kelly)—I doubt it very much. I don't know what part the councilors took, if they took any part, in the last mayoralty fight, but I didn't only take the stump for Jim Curley, I spoke on the platform. I spoke at four rallies. Jim Curley sat there and listened to me speak, and I eulogized him. And now, lo and behold, we are not up here ten minutes when it is whispered around that Curley wants Kelly. I don't believe it. He might have been put on the spot in the presence of Frank Kelly, and he might have asked one or two councilors to go along, but the great majority of the councilors that I talked to said that they were not approached. Now, I was with him. Why wasn't I approached? I was not. I have not seen Curley from November 6 until this morning. So I don't think that Curley started the year off right by picking somebody, if he is picking him, and asking the members of the Council, if he is asking them, to go along and support a man who was not with him. I make a motion at this time that we adjourn.

A vote was taken, and the motion was not passed. Coun. COFFEY doubted the vote, and asked for a roll call.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President.

Chairman LANE—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. RUSSO—A point of information.

Chairman LANE—State your point of information.

Coun. RUSSO—Do I understand correctly that the motion is to adjourn until two o'clock?

Chairman LANE—As I understand, the motion is to adjourn until two o'clock.

The roll was called, with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Keenan, Kinsella, Linehan, Moriarty, Russo, Sullivan—8.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Bryan, Cantwell, Chase, Cook, Hurley, Kelly, Lane, Madden, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell—12.

The motion to adjourn until two o'clock was not carried.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President.

Chairman LANE—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. SCANNELL—To make a statement.

Chairman LANE—Is there any objection to Councilor Scannell making a statement? No objection being voiced, you may make a statement.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. Chairman, I move that when we adjourn we adjourn for one week.

Chairman LANE—That motion is unnecessary because the next regular meeting will be on next Monday.

Coun. SCANNELL—I now move we adjourn until next Monday.

Chairman LANE—The motion is out of order. We have just had a roll call, and a motion with a similar purpose, which was denied. The question now before the Body is to proceed to the election of a President for this Body for 1946.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President.

Chairman LANE—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. COFFEY—To make a motion that we recess until 2.30.

Chairman LANE—The motion is out of order. The clerk will call the roll on the election of President of this Body for 1946. Each councilor, as his name is called, will respond in a clear tone.

The roll was called, with the following result:

For John B. Kelly—Coun. Cantwell, Cook, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, McCormack, Russo—7.

For Perlie Dyar Chase—Coun. Bayley, Bryan, Scannell—3.

For Michael Leo Kinsella—Coun. Chase, Linehan—2.

For William A. Carey—Coun. Hannon, Moriarty—2.

For James S. Coffey—Coun. Sullivan—1.

For Philip Austin Fish—Coun. Keenan—1.

For William F. Hurley—Coun. Muchnick—1.

For Edmund V. Lane—Coun. Madden—1.

For Thomas E. Linehan—Coun. Hurley—1.

For Edward C. Madden—Coun. Coffey—1.

For Thomas L. McCormack—Coun. Fish—1.

For Daniel F. Sullivan—Coun. Carey—1.

And there was no choice.

Chairman LANE—A total of 7 votes for Coun. Kelly; Councilor Chase, 3; Councilor Kinsella, 2; Councilor Sullivan, 1; Councilor Madden, 1; Councilor McCormack, 1; Councilor Carey, 2; Councilor Fish, 1; Councilor Hurley, 1; Councilor Coffey, 1; Councilor Lane, 1; Councilor Linehan, 1; Councilor Madden, 1; Councilor McCormack, 1; Councilor Sullivan, 1. And there is no choice. Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President.

Chairman LANE—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. SCANNELL—A point of information.

Chairman LANE—State your point of information.

Coun. SCANNELL—Is the jury box here so we can draw the jurors?

Chairman LANE—Yes, one venire is already here, and more are coming.

Coun. SCANNELL—I move that we adjourn until four o'clock, or until 3.30.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. SCANNELL a recess was taken at 1.07 p. m. until 3.30. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber at 3.30 p. m., and were called to order by Chairman HURLEY.

Coun. Hurley and Madden were chosen a committee of two to escort the newly elected President to the chair.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Prior to the escorting of the President to the chair, some of us wish this to become as nearly unanimous as possible, and would like to change our votes, if that is in order.

Chairman LANE—The Chair will declare that in order, if there is no objection.

Coun. COFFEY—I object.

President KELLY in the chair.

President KELLY—First of all, gentlemen, I want to thank my colleagues in the Boston City Council who saw fit to vote for me to make me President of this Honorable Body. I want to thank his Honor the Mayor, James M. Curley, for his approval of my candidacy to be your President. I want to thank a young man who gave me my start in public life some sixteen years ago in the same ward which I represent in the City Council, my brother Frank. (Applause.) I want to assure all of my colleagues in the Boston City Council that I will act the way I have acted for the past eight years. I am going to be fair and impartial in all my rulings. I am going to conduct the office of President as I have always wanted it to be conducted, in a fair manner, and I want to ask you members of the Boston City Council to cooperate with me and his Honor the Mayor in order that we may do at least one thing in the next two years, and that is, all work together for a better and bigger Boston, and in that way, while working together, we will surely help to build Boston. Thank you very much. (Applause.)

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That a Committee on Public Housing be established as a committee of the Boston City Council, to hear all pertinent facts relating to the management and development of present and future Public Housing, and that this committee be composed of five members of the Boston City Council.

The order was passed.

OVER-RIDING OF MAYOR'S VETO.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to draw legislation to be presented to the Legislature to amend the city charter of Boston so that the Council by a two-thirds vote of the Council can over-ride the Mayor's veto.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, I have had the honor and privilege of being councilor, a member of this Body, for the past six years. There is no question in my mind, and I don't feel there is any question in any one of the councilors' minds that the City of Boston's charter ought to be changed. This is not a new order, in so far as I am concerned. I presented this order many times before in the past six years, and, I do feel, after listening this morning to the inaugural address given by his Honor the Mayor, in which I do not question his sincerity and his integrity, neither do I question his intentions—however, I do feel it was significant when he stated that the Mayor of Boston ought to have some say in so far as the budget is concerned, and in so far as over-ruling or vetoing, as he put it, action taken by the School Committee of the City of Boston. Any other body of men, either in a municipality or a state or national government, who are elected by the people as their representatives in office, have the right to over-ride the Mayor's veto. I have in mind that in the past six years many orders have been presented in the Boston City Council by each and every one of us, orders that have had every significance, and at that point were for the best interests of the people of the City of Boston. And you and I, Mr. President, have seen that these orders have gone to the waste basket, time and time again. I feel that now is the proper and opportune time, when legislation ought to be presented to the Legislature whereby the Boston City Council ought to have the power which properly belongs to them, and be able to veto, if any veto is to be done, the actions of his Honor the Mayor. I don't, as I stated before, reflect upon the Mayor who has taken office today. However, I had in mind that in a democratic form of government, in a great nation such as ours, if Congress and its Senators did not have the power to veto the actions or over-ride the veto of the actions, of the President of the United States, what form of government would we have in this great nation of ours? And if the State Legislature, with the Senate, did not have the power to over-ride the Governor's veto, what kind of representation or government would we have here in this state of Massachusetts, or in any state throughout this great nation of ours? And I ask you now, Mr. President, what form of government have we now in the City of Boston if we councilors, who have been elected by the people to represent them honestly, sincerely and faithfully, have some of our orders thrown into the waste basket? I ask you, why in God's name do we sit here in the Council? I feel, Mr. President, that for the best interests of the people of the City of Boston, for the best interests that we are interested in—and that is to see that our fair City of Boston will be No. 1 throughout this country—I feel that the intentions of his Honor the Mayor are worthy, and that if he carries out what he has said in the speeches he has made, carries it out to the letter, there is no question in my mind he will give us and give the City of Boston one of the best representations that any Mayor has ever given. However, I feel, Mr. President, that the City Council of the City of Boston is entitled to, and should have, the veto power to over-ride a Mayor's veto by a two-thirds vote, the same as the Legislature has in the State of Massachusetts, and the same as the Congress of the United States enjoys. In that way, we can say that we have a truly democratic form of government in the City of Boston, and in that manner we can be sure that the people are the government, and that the government is by the people, for the people, and we shall always cherish the good name of the City of Boston. (Applause.)

Coun. HANNON—Speaking on the order, Mr. President. This order asks his Honor the Mayor to do something which I did last year. Last year, as you will recall, I filed in the Legislature a bill which would give the Council the power of veto. In doing so, I don't think that is a reflection on the chief executive of the city, but, rather, I feel it is cooperative, and I think my good friend from Ward 3 (Coun. Russo) is showing the proper judgment in asking the chief executive to file this bill. I am certain he will do it. He will be happy to give us the power of veto. The only thing that bothers me is what will the power of veto amount to? In order to veto anything we need two-thirds of the votes here. And certainly, if no more backbone is exercised or would be exercised in carrying out a vote on a veto than has been exercised and exhibited here today, then I think we are merely wasting time and wasting words. Now, I have no fault to find with anybody. Each and every member of this Council is just as much entitled to his opinion and his right to act as anybody else, but it does get your goat, and it does gripe you, when you see year after year in here the same two or three that are vicious in their denunciation of this or that candidate, or this or that aspirant for public office, and wait until the last minute, and then grasp at anything that is offered to change over and become the darling of them all. I hope that we do get the power of veto, and I only hope that we have the power sometimes to use it on each other. I have been here now for four years, and in the years I have been here I have learned to admire certain fellows, fellows who have educated themselves, fellows who have ability, fellows who have character, fellows, above all else, who have courage. There is the gentleman from Ward 7 (Coun. Linehan), coming back here to us, as fine a man as you will meet in politics. There is the gentleman from Ward 10 (Coun. Carey), who is as straight and honest on every issue that comes before us as any man you will ever come in contact with. And yet we here, who ask the power of veto, now listen to these other smart Ales who are with us, with you and with them one minute, and they go outside the door and come in smiling, and hold off their vote, and are the darlings of them all the next minute. I hope this goes through, and I hope if we get the power of veto there will be fifteen of us in here with guts enough to use it.

Coun. COFFEY—Speaking on the motion, Mr. President. Continuing where Tom Hannon left off. I cannot help going along with the councilor from Ward 13 (Coun. Hannon). I cannot help thinking about the statement he made about two councilors whose names he mentioned. They are two clean, upright fellows. I have served in here with Bill Carey for six years, and four years with Bobbie Linehan, and he put one and one half years in the United States Navy. I have also sat next to Bobbie up in the Legislature. The three of us got together in the middle floor here a few years ago—Bill Carey, Bobbie and myself,—and as a result of that small meeting of us three, Bill Carey got eleven votes on two ballots for the presidency, and Bobbie ended up as president of the Council for that year and saw fit to enlist in the United States Navy while he was a member of the Council. No doubt, like a lot of others, he could have used a lot of influence and kept himself out of the service. I got a letter from my boy yesterday. He said he would like to know what Jim Curley is doing as a Congressman. He put an ad in the paper at Curley's banquet, if you remember, on the front page of the Daily Record, at $60 out of his pocket, to support Jim Curley as your next Mayor, to support Jim Curley as your Congressman. "So we can get home and find jobs waiting for us." Not only he is not home, he is still in Burma, waiting for Curley's office in Washington to ask Jim Curley to get him the hell out of there. He is still fighting in Calcutta. I want that boy home. I know what he went through. I went through it in the last war, and ended up with a W. P. A. job, with three kids. I was damned glad to get it. I have never sold out. I have never asked anybody here if they would vote for me for the presidency, and never did I want it. And never have I promised anybody to vote on anything. And I will challenge any sixteen members, the old timers here, to get up and say, "You said yes to me, and then changed your vote." And when I said no on the dog tracks at the first hearing, it was no all the way through. I didn't change because some of these notorious newspapers came out and started to blatt. Coffey didn't change. Mr. President, I will wait until the press gets through and then continue my speech.

(There was a short recess while newspaper men were taking photographs of President Kelly.)

Coun. COFFEY—At Symphony Hall this morning I told Curley what I thought of him. I told the members of the Council what I thought of him at our meeting at 11.30 this morning, and I will continue to tell him. I don't blame these six new members. If you must remember, the six new members never held public office before. This is their first day in public office, with the exception of one man who was a Representative at one time. But he is coming into a really tough body now. And I don't say that in any sense of saying that we are worse than the Legislature, because we are a hell of a lot better than the Legislature. I have served in both bodies, and I know we are the underworld down here, but up there they are the underworld of the upper world. They take what they want with finesse. As I said before this morning, I fought Tobin for five years in here, and I fought Kerrigan for one year so that means that I don't make any bucks. (Laughter from the gallery.) Getting back on Tom Hannon's statement. I had my cake, so I can't have it any more. I can't be a candidate because I was not with William Reilly. But I don't want any candidate of Curley's choosing. I don't want the man downstairs to dictate what we are to do upstairs. But he wasn't kidding anybody. In fact, at ten o'clock this morning I was told he was soliciting votes for the gentleman in the chair. And don't forget, I am not taking any pot shots at John Kelly. We are friends. I hit from the floor, and he hits back. That is his privilege. That is the way it has been in the last ten years I have been in office, and that is the way it is going to be. And, as far as I am concerned, now that they have that foolish, crazy set-up of the law where a man can go out on a pension, I can go out on a pension as a veteran of the First World War today. It is a foolish, crazy law. I can retire, but I don't want to, and I am going down fighting. And I am sore at Curley for only one thing. I supported him openly. I attacked Reilly and Tobin time and time again, and I want to know where John Kelly was or any other office holder in the City of Boston, at Tammany Hall, at the banquet and dance that they ran for him, when I was the only public office holder in the city that had the guts to get up for Curley when he was down and out. He didn't announce his own candidacy for Mayor; it was me who announced it. And then I find Curley supporting a man for the presidency of the Council who supported Kerrigan on every street corner. I have heard him. That is what my objection is—not to Curley, it is to the fact that Curley is paying off to somebody who was not with him. So what in hell are we to get who were with him? That is a fair question. What are we to get, the fellows that were with Curley? On a vote of 19 to 1 and 20 to 1 against me, for six long years, I fought Curley's battles. And so far one of the Boston papers has come out and kept at me constantly because I appeared to be Curley's friend. And where do I find Curley today? He comes over to the Parker House for luncheon and stays five minutes, and he bawls hell out of us. He tells us that we are to play with him or else. He says there are 160 constables on the city pay roll. He is a liar. He knows there are only 93. There were 78 when he left office. He doesn't mention that. He doesn't mention members of his own family on state pay rolls for 30 to 40 years, one in Florida, but he hollers about constables who are not doing an honest day's work. And I would like to ask one question. Who in hell in the city employ does an honest day's work? That is a fair question. Can anybody answer? A fellow that works down in the Election Department, he takes sick and gets two weeks' pay while out for two weeks, with hospital or doctors' bills. But let an executive take sick and he will stay out six or eight months in the year, and his pay goes on. Curley mentioned over there that he is going to make the constables scrub the floors and the halls of City Hall. He has a great sense of humor. He has appointed two brothers-in-law today, and I make a motion that he put his brothers-in-law with the constables scrubbing floors. They are not a damned sight better than the constables. I admit that the constables don't do any work, and I admit that fellows in half of the departments don't do any work. And it is this Body that gets city employees what they have got. Ask any councilor who has served four to six or eight years if they have ever got any credit, and the answer is no. They will say, "The Mayor gave me this or that." We were the ones that interceded for them. We got the firemen a raise, and we got the policemen a raise. I spend $300 on the firemen and policemen in front page ads, attacking Mayor Tobin, asking that he grant that raise. But I have got no thanks. There has never been a copper or a fireman that has ever taken any time off to vote for Coffey. In the last election in my ward, eleven thousand didn't see fit to go to the polls. The employees in the City Hospital whom we fought for time and time again, were out openly against our salary increase. They have been against it, although anything they ever got they got through us. Getting back to Curley, he was Governor. What did he say about home rule for Boston? He hollered about it today in his inaugural address. He had an opportunity to give us home rule. He sent it back in the Legislature and shelved it. At that time he didn't want Mansfield to appoint a Police Commissioner. We haven't one word to say about our Police Commissioner. We had an opportunity to get home rule under Curley, as Governor. We didn't get it. Now he comes back and tells us what he is going to do. How do we know what he is going to do? He is in a little trouble in Washington. I hope to God he gets out of it. Nobody wants to see anybody in trouble. I can't see him holding two jobs,—Congressman and Mayor. He can't do it. He said before election he couldn't do it. Am I right? I thought I spotted Leo Curley there. If I did, I want to say he was present at the rallies. He was present at organizations that I gave to Jim Curley,—and I could have given them to anybody I wanted to, but I didn't do it; I gave them to Jim Curley. And what I am sore about is that I find that Jim Curley is picking up the telephone and calling down members. A year from now Curley won't be able to call those members down and tell them what to do. It will be impossible because after a year's experience they will learn the hard way. I have no objection to the gentleman—I never have had any objections to anybody in that chair. I can only say so much. I say regardless of who is in that chair. I know parliamentary procedure, and I know how to get around it. If you can't get unanimous consent, if anybody objects, then you object the rest of the year on everybody, and they will soon give you unanimous consent when you want it. You are all here for one purpose. You are all Curley's friends, and I think he let you down, the same as he let me down, when he picked the man he did as President of the Council this year.

Coun. CAREY—Speaking on the order of Councilor Russo, I cannot let the opportunity pass without saying a word of thanks to my good friend Councilor Hannon and my good friend Councilor Coffey, for the nice things they had to say about me this afternoon.

President KELLY—Excuse me, councilor. At this time the Chair will call Councilor McCormack up to preside over the meeting.

Coun. McCORMACK in the Chair.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President, I have been a member of the City Council for the last eight years. With the man who was elected president today, Councilor Fish, Councilor Chase and I became members of this Body eight years ago. During that time, as I would at all times, I have acted as I felt the people of my district wanted me to act. It was only too pleasing to me on election night last November, when I made absolutely no campaign for re-election, feeling that after eight years here I should leave it up to the people of my district to say whether or not I had done a good job, that I should be returned. I was only too happy to see when the vote was counted that I had been sent up here by a very substantial majority. The new Mayor today in the Parker House mentioned in particular one matter that I fought violently on the floor of this Council,—the setting up of a Recreation Board. Curley was apparently against it in what he had to say today. I was against it for the same reason, I suppose, that the new Mayor is against it. That is because I didn't think it was good for the City of Boston. I could see nothing but a needless burden on the citizens and taxpayers. I was one of those who was called downstairs today. I have the courage of my convictions. I want to congratulate John Kelly. John has done well here. It is nice to see the members of the Council recognize him being honored with the presidency of this Body, but one of the worst things anyone can do, be he Mayor, Governor or President,—and we have altogether too much of it today—is to take that stick and hold it over the heads of that Body, whatever body it may be. I have voted for eight years as I thought I should, and I will do likewise for the next two years. It is too bad that those methods had to be used today, although we didn't have to elect a president today. Next Monday or a week from Monday would serve just as well. But I am very much afraid we have all started off with the wrong foot today. I have seen in the last eight years, and we are hoping to see it for the next two years, matters come before this Body that are of the most vital importance to the people in the gallery and people on the floor here today. Twenty-three minds are far better than one, and in saying that I recognize the ability of the new Mayor. During the campaign, I thought it would be for the best interests of the citizens of this city that he be elected, but when a man has taken away from him that God-given right to use his own judgment, then you are not getting the best that there is out of that man, and you are not getting the best that there is in government. Boston is sick. It has been sick for years. I can go back to the days when I well remember some six or seven steamship lines plying the coastwise trade between here and the Gulf ports. That business has all gone away, and while it was going away no effort was made to hold it here. I want to see Boston bigger and better, but we can only get that bigger and better Boston if each and every member of this Council, when a matter is brought before it, has the courage to ponder that question and vote as his conscience tells him to vote, and to vote for the best interests of the citizens as a whole. I have seen altogether too many occasions when matters were successfully expedited here in this Body during the last eight years, when there were men who did not want to vote for that particular matter, but they did only because pressure was used upon them. I certainly hope, therefore, that if we are going to be a harmonious Body during the next two years that each and every member of this Council will cease double-dealing, and will vote in the interests of the city, as he said outside he was going to do. There are many able men in this Council. There have been many able men in the four Councils preceding it, of which I have been a member. Let those men be given the right opportunity. There are certain phases that each and every member of this Council must seek and must get not only for his particular constituency and his district, but for the betterment of the city as a whole. This has got to be a give and take proposition. This idea of telling a man how he is going to vote has got to cease or, sad to say, we will have a form of government in this city wherein the taxpayers and the citizens will not have the right to exercise the powers they are privileged to exercise. The most damnable thing in any public office is to hold that stick over the head of a man in any particular body and say, "Yes, I will grant that favor, if." The time is here for a change. Let us hope that change takes place. But it won't take place unless each and every member of this Council makes up his mind today that he is going to vote as the citizens of his district want him to vote. Thank God I am starting my ninth and tenth years in this Body because of the graciousness of the good people of my district, who have recognized the services I have given during the past eight years. No man in my district was ever given over four years before my time, and most of them were limited to two years. The people watch your actions. The people want the best that is in you. And when I say "the best that is in you," I mean that, and not what is in somebody else. I want to be with the new Mayor, and do everything I can to support his program. There are times when we are going to disagree, as I disagreed with the incumbents of the last eight years. But let us hope that in starting this new session, during the next year at least, we are going to have a Council here that will be outstanding in the history of this city, a Council that will think and act as the people of their districts want them to do. (Applause from the gallery.)

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, little did I think when I came here this afternoon that I would have the desire to get up and say a few words. But I would be ungrateful if I at least did not thank the councilor from Dorchester, Ward 13 (Coun. Hannon), and the councilor from East Boston (Coun. Coffey), for the words of commendation they paid me. I might also say for the words they paid to a real gentleman, the gentleman from Ward 10 (Coun. Carey), whom I have had the pleasure of serving with before. At the luncheon—I think it is all right for me to mention this—at today's luncheon I spoke a few words, and I said that I hoped, regardless of who was elected president of this Council, that there would not be any unfriendliness about it at the conclusion of the fight. And I still say so. No matter who is elected, what difference does it make to us as members of this Body? I served up here for four months as president. As a result of the tribute paid to me by members in this present Body, to be honest with you, at times I found it hard to preside up there when I felt like coming down to this present seat and getting up and arguing for measures that I felt were for the benefit of Boston. But as president I thought I probably should keep out of it, and therefore I kept out of it on most occasions. It seems to me that our problems are more than who is elected president of the City Council. We are talking about betterment; we are talking about housing; we are talking about traffic conditions; we are talking about spending millions of dollars. Every member of this Council knows that the present Mayor of Boston cannot send measures down to us requesting us to spend millions of dollars, because the taxpayers of the city can't afford it. The only solution to Boston's problems—and when I say "only" I mean the only big contribution to solving them—is in the Legislature. And, as we all know here, if the members of the Legislature up on Beacon Hill do not cooperate with the suggested legislation which will be filed on behalf of the City of Boston by the representatives of the Law Department, in behalf of the present Mayor, we cannot very well give very much benefit to the taxpayers of the City of Boston. That is fundamental. We count constables—there a few and here a few. It won't amount to more than a few hundred thousand dollars a year. How much is that on the tax rate? It is very small; it isn't even $1, as you all know. Let us at least say this, that while we are members of the City Council, regardless of who is president, regardless of who is mayor, that we have to do in good conscience what we should do, vote for everything that is going to benefit this city, and as a result we will increase jobs for the returning war veterans. Now, as far as housing is concerned, I don't know how much the Mayor of Boston or the City Council can do. The Boston Housing Authority are trying their best to get two projects through, and they are having a hard time as a result of the State Board of Housing and the Federal authorities. So let us not place too much emphasis on who is president, who had him elected. Personally, I think the gentleman is a good fellow. He voted for me for the Council. I don't say he is a good fellow on account of that. Good luck to him. I have no enmity because he is elected. He is certainly going to need the cooperation of every member of this Council, because if you don't have it as president it is a tough, ungrateful job. And, as you all know, it doesn't pay one more nickel for taking that job. And all I say in conclusion is that John Kelly is one member of the Council, and I feel sure that all the other members who have already spoken will be, when it comes down to it, 100 per cent for John Kelly in any measure that is good for Boston, and in every measure that is good for Boston for the Mayor of the city, James M. Curley.

Coun. CHASE—Speaking on the order, Mr. President, the gentleman from Ward 3 (Coun. Russo) unquestionably has acted in good faith in filing this order. But in my opinion it is a hopeless gesture. I can't possibly conceive of the gentleman downstairs, through the Corporation Counsel, investing this Council with power—the Council or any other body—to veto his acts. That is far from Jim Curley's generosity, to vest us with any powers. Certainly, Mr. President, if we were vested with those powers, I doubt very much if we would exercise them. In my opinion, Mr. President, we have on more than one occasion in years gone by indicated that we lacked the judgment expected by the taxpayers in voting on matters strictly on their merits. The taxpayers of Boston have elected us to office, to decide questions on merit, and they don't expect us to enter into any bargaining agreement with the gentleman downstairs. I trust, Mr. President, and I hope for the welfare of the city, that we, the members of the City Council, will on all matters coming before us exercise prudent judgment and honestly endeavor to decide the questions on their merits.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I move that this matter be referred to the Committee on Legislative Affairs when the same is formed.

Coun. RUSSO—Speaking on the motion, Mr. President, I have really no objection so far as referring my order to the Legislative Committee. Never did I realize when I presented this order that I would have listened to so much talk. I am very happy, although it has taken perhaps a load off of everybody's chest, and they have said whatever they wanted to say, but, Mr. President, this is nothing unusual that I am asking the Mayor of the City of Boston to do. This is nothing that has anything to do with any intention of putting the Mayor of the City of Boston in any spot, so called. I feel that in six years I have acted according to the best of my ability and understanding, and have tried to put forth good and God-given judgment. The reason for presenting this order is so that we may be able to sit here in the Council Chamber at our meetings and exercise our good, God-given conscience and mind. There have been too many orders which have passed in this Council, perhaps that should not have passed, and there have been many good orders that have been presented in the Council that have passed and were thrown in the wastebasket by his Honor the Mayor. By giving this veto power to the Council of the City of Boston, it is only giving the proper power that any other municipality, or State or Federal Government enjoy themselves. It gives more responsibility to the Boston City Council, and perhaps to the man on the second floor, by not throwing too many orders into his lap that the Council may wash its hands of. I feel that if the Boston City Council has the power to over-ride the Mayor's veto, it puts the councilors, each and every one, in their respective positions, to exercise their good judgment when a question is before them for decision. And not only that. I feel that it is the proper time, where we have been asking for home rule. His Honor the Mayor today at Symphony Hall concurred with that idea when he said that he would present to the Legislature bills so that he may have a voice in the School Committee doings. Never did I realize, as I stated before, that this question would have taken up so much time. I have acted in good faith, and I dare anyone to say otherwise. In the last six years that I have been a member of the Boston City Council, I have not allowed any pressure groups or any one else to tell me what to do. As long as God gives me my good sense of reasoning, and as long as God guides me, to that extent I shall always exercise it to the best of my ability for the best interests of the people of the City of Boston.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, I wish to commend the distinguished councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick) for his motion to refer this matter to a committee. In the two years I have been a member of the Council I have seen many measures—I would say the great majority of the measures—passed here under suspension of the rule. I believe all matters brought before the Council should be referred to Council committees for full investigation. I think the Council committee chairmen should notify all other councilors of such meetings, so all may have full and thorough knowledge of every matter before voting in the Council on it. There was a matter concerning raising certain officials that came about in December, of which only those members of the committee knew anything. And when I asked the chairman of that committee—the chairman no longer being a member of this Council—as to the opinion of the Budget Commissioner, he told me I could look it up in the record, and while I was looking it up in the record it was passed quickly. I believe all these measures that affect the taxpayers should be referred to committees, and I hope our new President who has been elected to the chair will adopt that as his policy, and refer matters for full investigation, so that we may all know that on which we are voting, and that suspension of the rules will be a matter of the past.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, if I may ask through you—through our City Clerk—when is the last date for filing legislation in the Legislature? Chairman McCORMACK—January 12.

Coun. RUSSO—For that reason, I ask this Body pass this order of mine under suspension of the rule. We haven't the time to present it to the Legislature for proper legislation to govern the City of Boston. If you feel deep down in your hearts, minds and consciences that the Boston City Council should not have the privilege of exercising the right to over-ride the veto, then I ask you to vote against it. But if you feel a Body such as ours should have the same privilege and the same responsibility as the State Legislature enjoys with the Senate, as Congress enjoys with the Senate, then I ask you to pass this so that it may be heard at the Legislature, where proper consideration may be given to it, and it might bring about a change in shouldering the responsibilities placed upon individuals, and placed upon individuals who have been elected to assume those responsibilities.

The motion to refer the matter to the Committee on Legislative Affairs was carried. Coun. RUSSO doubted the vote and asked for a roll call. The roll was called, and the order was referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters, when appointed, yeas 12, nays 8.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Bryan, Cantwell, Cook, Fish, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, Madden, McCormack, Moriarty, Muchnick—12.

Nays—Coun. Carey, Chase, Hurley, Keenan, Linehan, Russo, Scannell, Sullivan—8.

TENANCY IN HOUSING PROJECTS.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the Boston Housing Authority for the purpose of trying to induce Housing Authority tenants who were not residents of Boston on January 1, 1941, to vacate their present quarters so that Boston residents, preferably veterans, may be housed in those developments.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, for the last hour and a half we have been listening to the opinions of the various members of the Body regarding the measure of home rule for Boston, and in one of the most vitally important matters that has come up in recent years we have not exercised, nor have we requested, complete home rule. I refer to the matter of housing returned veterans. Mr. President, when the housing development in Charlestown was first erected we were informed by the Boston newspapers the project was being erected primarily for the clearance of slums, and primarily for city tenants. Immediately upon the acceptance of applications we found out that there was a joker in the law, that anyone living in Boston for twelve months prior to the date of application and who was an American citizen was eligible for an apartment in one of the developments. The annual incomes upon which the applications were determined were at that time so erroneously set and arrived at that it resulted in a general exodus from Charlestown of thousands of people whose property was either sold by the Housing Authority or taken by the exercise of eminent domain. The result was that many worthy people had to leave Charlestown and fend for themselves elsewhere in unfriendly communities. About 1941, on December 7, as a result of the attack on Pearl Harbor, the Federal Government required the Boston Housing Authority to make provision for the housing of servicemen applicants who were moved into this area from other service command areas and naval district areas. Those of them who had families were taken in as fast as apartments became available. The result was that very, very soon the Charlestown development lost its identity as a low-rent housing area, and then, further to complicate matters, the migrant war workers were brought into this section of the country from as far away as New Mexico, Oregon, Washington and California, and the Boston people, upon whom rests the burden of liquidating the housing indebtedness were not even considered. Statements were made in this chamber in your hearing, Mr. President, several times in my tenure here, that come the cessation of hostilities Boston would be faced with the inevitable task of taking care of outsiders who came in here, and who more or less were encouraged to usurp and pirate a splendid development and a splendid idea, over the heads of Boston people. Now, I am not blind to the fact that in the area in Charlestown known as the Housing Project there are a good many hundreds who will have no bona fides as Boston people prior to Pearl Harbor, but if the holiday is over for the constables, if the holiday is over for the Boston City Council, if the honeymoon is over for city employees, the honeymoon should be over for the migrant war worker who is still keeping the Boston veteran serviceman out of a home, and driving him into a packing case. Some time back, Mr. President, I introduced a similar order that met with the fate that so many others referred to by Councilor Russo met with. Unofficially, I was given to understand that the Boston Housing Authority requested permission of Washington to carry out the terms of the orders which then were substantially as they are now. And they were instructed that they could make no such move because those people primarily were United States citizens. Well, let me say, without attempting to flatter anyone in Boston, that even though they might be United States citizens the people in whom I am fundamentally interested first are not only United States citizens, but citizens of Boston and benefactors of the whole nation. I am not shouting here today because the audience numerically is a little larger than usual. But certain hard and fast rules have been hinted at for the benefit of the twenty-two councilors. We are going to be obliged to hew to the line or else. And now, speaking in my capacity as a member of the Boston City Council, I am offering what I choose to call a commendable suggestion. We had better start thinking of the Boston veteran and let the multi-millionaire war worker go back where he came from. How can you pass a boy on the street—how can you sit in your home night after night and tell a serviceman that all of the developments are 100 per cent occupied, and then have him reveal to you that he is living with three children and a mother-in-law, or a sister or a brother, in five rooms, or three rooms, or four rooms? The general public does not have that condition to put up with. Night after night after night, until we are weary of telling them, the same old cut and dried story. Get the war worker out and something can be done. The war workers were here in safety, in peace, in absolute security and in the ultimate of prosperity, while the boys we saw on the platform at Symphony Hall today were acquiring their lifelong disabilities. Is the honeymoon over for them, too? I recall here in 1942, 1943, 1944, and a part of 1945, when you couldn't take to your feet and mention anything beneficial to veterans without the entire audience almost going into a frenzy. But peace now has descended upon us, and there isn't any frenzy to help them out. Many thousands of them were married, going into the service, and have children. Others got married while in the service and have now begun to have children. The only answer we can find for them is that the war workers, despite the diminution of war work, hold the apartments that those young warriors most richly deserve. We can talk here until doomsday and make no progress whatever unless the public back us up, and that is just as true as our relations with any Mayor. He cannot progress one inch without our help. So it is a mutual undertaking. If there is any member of your family that is up against the almost impregnable conditions that I have mentioned, only you, the general public of Boston, can help us to correct the condition. Mr. President, I ask suspension of the rule and passage of the order.

Coun. LINEHAN—As a member of the Boston Housing Authority today—I think my term of office on that body expires as of tonight about twelve o'clock—I suppose I can answer a few of the points raised by the councilor from Charlestown (Coun. Kinsella). As a veteran and a member of that Boston Housing Authority, I have been fully aware of the difficulties of returning service men in securing a place to live. Every member of that board is well aware of that fact. And at the present time I can tell the gentleman from Charlestown (Coun. Kinsella), if he doesn't already know it, that nobody other than a veteran at the present time can become a new tenant in the developments owned by the Boston Housing Authority. May I bring your minds back to some years ago when the so-called housing problem had "tough luck," so to say. Some of the members of the present Council well remember one housing project started in Boston in the '30's how many citizens of Boston were against the so-called housing development. Many of them were from Dorchester, West Roxbury, and all over this city. Of course, they couldn't look into the future and see the things that would exist today. If they could have, we would have had many more housing developments in the city. We would have had a better city to live in. We would have had less dilapidated areas. But due to the fact that many people, many pressure groups, were against housing at that time, as a result of that, we only have the so-called few housing developments where we could have had twice as many. Now, I don't want the impression left with this Body and with the public that at least the Boston Housing Authority is not trying to do its best to try to help the returning service man, because, as I said before, the rule now promulgated by our board, with the approval of the State Board of Housing and the Federal Board of Housing—and, by the way, any regulations we set up have to be approved first by the State Board of Housing and this Federal Board of Housing, so you can imagine the job we are up against. Now, at the present time if there was available housing anywhere within, say, ten miles of Boston, we are in a position to tell people who are not going to live in Boston in the near future and want to get out of the project to leave. But if there is no available housing the Boston Housing Authority has not got the power to move people out, for the sole reason that they come from Oskaloosa, or Kansas. You can well remember when the war first started, or just before, all sorts of inducements were put out for people outside Boston—good machinists, or what have you—that if they came to Boston they would be furnished housing. Some of you councilors remember that the South Boston project, called the Old Colony project, was thrown back to the Federal Government, solely to be used for housing war workers. As a result of our fight here in the Boston City Council, after fighting for months, people living in Boston and working in war industries were permitted to become tenants in the Old Colony project, where here on the board they were not permitted unless they lived so many miles outside of Boston. Now, as I said before, if there was available housing for the people who now live in the project—if the councilor from Charlestown (Coun. Kinsella) can show that there is available housing—I am on the Board until twelve o'clock this evening, and I am only too glad to tell you we will be glad to move them out. But if there is no available housing we can't put them on the street. After we asked them some years ago when things were tough and we needed defense workers to come in, and said, "We will give you housing," we can't do it very well. It doesn't help the situation whatsoever. And you don't want to forget that war workers did perform something meritorious, and they had children who served in the armed forces. We have to be somewhat fair to them. You can't just kick them out in the street without some place to go. Now, if the gentleman from Charlestown (Coun. Kinsella) can tell me, as a member of the Board, where there is available housing, I will guarantee to him that if any of those people he suggests are not going to live in Boston from now on, we will be only too happy to have them moved out. We are just one of the three alphabet boards—in going to the State Board of Housing, and anything we do goes to the Federal authorities. Several months ago we did make a survey of different projects, requesting different tenants for information as to whether or not they intended to stay in the City of Boston as residents, and we found not too many saying that they would not. Now, I don't know what power we have. I don't believe we have any power to say that if you haven't lived in Boston more than two years, three years or five years you must get out of the project. I think the present law is still if you are a citizen of the United States you are permitted to get into a project if you can. At the present time nobody can get in except returning war veterans and their families. No. 1, war veterans and families. That means a veteran with children. No. 2, any totally disabled war veteran, married, without children. No. 3, any war veteran with a family that did not go out of the country. That is the present regulation, and I think the gentleman from Charlestown (Coun. Kinsella) will agree with me that those regulations are fair, considering that is all we can do within the powers allowed to us by the Federal Public Housing Administration. Now, if there is anything he can recommend that the Boston Housing Authority can do to correct this condition that exists, I will be only too glad to call it to their attention, and I think they will be only too happy to receive it, so they can carry out whatever worthwhile recommendations they can carry out within the law. I hope I have given some information to the councilor, and I hope the general public and newspapers don't say that the Housing Authority won't kick anybody out who is going out of the city and don't say they are not taking care of the veterans, because they are trying to. I might cite just one project. The Old Harbor project—just to give you an idea of how few vacancies exist. Right over in Charlestown, the councilor probably has an idea how few places there are, particularly in the wintertime. In Old Harbor Village, for example, in December, there were nine vacancies; in October, there were seven or eight; and since then, of course, naturally, with the cold weather, you have less vacancies. And I dare say during the month of January you are lucky if you have four or five vacancies. I don't know the answer, unless by some miracle we can promote and build more housing projects quickly with government money because, in my opinion, private industry has slowed down in regard to housing. One reason is they cannot get materials, which is one reason we can't move faster. But within a few months, with the cooperation of the State and Federal boards, we will have the projects started.

Coun. KINSELLA—I am, of course, very well aware of the truth of many of the things that Councilor Linehan has just said. I believe I said I am home every night in the week listening to these complaints. Of course, I didn't say anything about my knowledge as to the requirements, about veterans with children. I took it for granted that almost everyone in Boston today knew that. As to the plan to build in the future, that is entirely meritorious and very likely needed to a high degree. I am not thinking of that at all. There are very few times when I recommend anything that may sound inhumane. If I had any enmity to exercise, I don't want to exercise it towards the source from which my bread and butter comes. The councilor very nobly, and very well indeed, spoke of the great work that the war workers did. Of course they did, and were well paid for it, I might add,—not $50 a month. They were not taken from jobs that paid them a pittance and put into one that paid them less, with the attendant responsibility of taking care of a wife and children.—one child and wife got $80 a month; two children, $100 a month—with prices skyrocketing. And while they were earning these tremendous salaries, Councilor Linehan and fifteen million others were keeping them under a maximum of safety. Now, you have one way, and only one. You will either take care of your own because no one else will, or you will sit back with cold indifference, and you will say, "I cannot be that inhumane to a fellow human." The Boston area is depleted of skilled labor because, in keeping with its long tradition, it sprung to arms to the extent of about 75,000 or 80,000 young men, who left behind them the skills that were earning them a week's pay, and took up an alien trade at which they were not very proficient until after they had been trained. I am totally in accord with the suggestion that Bobby makes about trying to find them some place. What is wrong with the places they left? Many, many, many of them are financially independent today in comparison with their plight of 1940 or early 1941. And they can go back to the land from whence they came in far better shape financially than any of the boys coming back with their arms and legs blasted, or their sight gone, and they still not so far gone as to be hospital cases. And we see them every day of the week. I don't like to be accused of being cold or inhumane about it. I don't see what is inhumane about it when by a stroke of the pen we can take homes from people under the guise of eminent domain. We can turn them out because we give them $300 or $1,200 assessment, assessed valuation on the property, or we give them $3,500 for something assessed at $2,700. They don't want to leave. That is not inhumane. It is the worst form. You can't spread $1,500 over your head as a shelter from the elements. As far as I am concerned, they can get out tomorrow, and as fast as they move, the boys who are heart-broken now because nothing can be done for them can move in. If that is inhumanity, I plead guilty. They are mine—I like to feel and think of them as mine—and I feel a sense of personal indebtedness to them. If we can take a hovel from over the heads of an old couple and give them $1,000, we can take a comfortable flat from couples much younger, and begin taking care of our own.

Coun. BAYLEY—Speaking on the order, Mr. President. A short while ago I made a speech to the effect that I thought all matters should be referred to committees for full investigation. I am in favor of the passage of this order, but I believe that all matters should be so referred, and we should start the New Year right. I am well aware, Mr. President, that no committees have been appointed for this year, but I believe it is within your power to appoint a Committee on Legislative Matters which can consider the matter referred to earlier in the session. You can appoint a committee to take care of this matter in the very near future and return it to the Council. I am in favor of the order, as stated before, but I believe we should start the New Year right, referring every order before us. And I believe this should be referred to such committee.

President KELLY—The point is well taken. The order was referred to the Committee on Public Housing, when appointed.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. McCORMACK, at 5.45 p. m., to meet on Monday, January 14, 1946, at 2 p. m.

V. COMMENDATION.

At 2.31 a. m. December 25, 1945, the department responded to an alarm from Box 3484 for a fire in a dwelling house at 63 Rockne avenue, Dorchester.

During the fire a woman was seen at the second-floor window to which she had made her way after unsuccessful attempts were made by civilians to rescue her. Hoseman John J. Hurley of Engine Company 46 went up a ladder to the window, but because of the terrific concentration of heat and smoke was unable to lift her from the floor which was about three feet from the window sill.

Lieut. Thomas J. Clark of Ladder Company 27 then went up the ladder, leaned in through the small window, grasped the woman by the arms and with great difficulty pulled her up from the floor and through the window. During this action he was severely punished by smoke and heat.

Because of his quick action and the great personal risk to which he exposed himself in performing this rescue, Lieutenant Clark undoubtedly saved the woman's life. The Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly and refer his action to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

By order of Fire Commissioner Russell S. Codman, Jr.

NAPEEN BOUTILIER,
Acting Chief of Department.

MERCHANT SHIP PRODUCTION.

Merchant vessels built in the United States in 1943 numbered 1,896 with a total deadweight tonnage of 19,239,626, according to a report by Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission and administrator of the War Shipping Administration. Of these 208, aggregating 2,044,238 deadweight tons, were completed in December. Of the 1943 production, 1,238 vessels were Liberty ships; 70 C-1 cargo ships, 53 C-2 cargo ships; 39 C-3 cargo ships; 5 C-4 cargo ships; 167 tankers; 28 coastal tankers; 57 Liberty tankers; 3 passenger-cargo vessels; 33 coastal cargo ships, including two concrete ships; 16 ore carriers; 27 concrete barges; 46 seagoing tugs; 114 military types, not transports; 53 special types and a considerable number of smaller types, including tugs, barges, etc. Late in 1943, Admiral Land said 2,900 ships were under control of the War Shipping Administration, operated by some 76 general agents of the W. S. A.

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY.

The first chartered colony in New England, charter granted by Charles I on March 4, 1629. About a year before, a patent had been granted to six prominent men of Dorchester, west of England, among whom was Capt. John Endicott. He sailed in June, 1628, with a party of fifty or sixty persons, arriving in September and settling at Naumkeag, afterward named Salem. In the spring of 1629, the Bay Company fitted out three ships conveying about four hundred persons and arriving at Salem in June. Endicott sent a small party to effect a settlement on the Bay in Mishawum, afterward named by the settlers Charlestown, the first town in New England to assume the town policy, Plymouth and Salem being governed by a governor and council. Endicott was appointed in London as the first resident governor on April 30, 1629. The Massachusetts Bay Company was reorganized in London on October 20, 1629, when John Winthrop was chosen as governor. He arrived at Salem on June 12, 1630, soon proceeded to Charlestown with a large following and finding that place unsuitable, finally settled in Boston. Winthrop served thirteen years as governor in four different periods ending in 1649 and Endicott fifteen years at various times ending in 1665. Other governors were Thomas Dudley, Richard Bellingham, John Haynes, Henry Vane, John Leverett and Simon Bradstreet, the latter serving twelve years until 1692 when the Bay Colony and the Plymouth Colony were merged, becoming the Royal Province of Massachusetts Bay, which existed eighty-two years to 1774, the governors being appointed by the King.

The name, Massachusetts, is Indian and signifies "near the big hills."

1943 GREAT LAKES COAL AND GRAIN TRAFFIC.

For the 1943 season of navigation, through December 4, coal forwarded to Great Lakes docks from American ports on Lake Erie totaled 45,518,603 tons, according to a report by Solid Fuel Administrator Ickes. This was 1,858,604 tons less than in 1942, the report said. Lake navigation began a month later than it did in 1942 and strikes in the coal producing areas in May and June and in October and November temporarily reduced the flow of coal toward the Lake Erie ports. Coal received at American docks on Lake Superior, according to the report, totaled 11,111,625 tons in the 1943 season of navigation, 15 per cent above the 9,823,000 tons received there in 1942. The 1943 total, it said, exceeded the season's quota by more than 300,000 tons.

War Food Administration officials expressed the opinion that final figures would show a total of 190,000,000 bushels of grain moved via the Great Lakes to northeast ports for domestic consumption in 1943. This was greatly in excess of the 135,000,000 bushels set as the year's quota. The War Shipping Administration said that the larger quota had been set in view of added facilities to be available in 1944. These included thirteen vessels returned to the Great Lakes from ocean service by the W. S. A. and the completion by November 30, 1943, of sixteen new ore carriers for the Maritime Commission, all of which would be available for Great Lakes transportation in 1944.

SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

TRANSPORTATION STATISTICS.

A recent analysis of surface transportation by John A. Beeler, transit engineer and consultant, reveals noteworthy performance by trolley coaches in comparison to other public transportation vehicles. Comparison of results of operation of trolley coaches with those of street cars on four different lines in as many different cities, shows, according to Beeler, that trolley coaches are eight times as good.

The analysis shows that in 1942, 25,449 street cars carried 5,171,000,000 revenue passengers; 3,363 trolley coaches carried 765,000,000; and 42,458 motor coaches carried 5,427,000,000 revenue passengers; the average fare being 6.66 cents, 6.89 cents and 6.72 cents, respectively; and the revenues being $344,600,000, $52,700,000 and $365,000,000, respectively. Average revenue passengers per street car was 203,191; per trolley coach 227,475; and per motor coach 127,820.

MILK PLANT INSPECTION SERVICES IN BOSTON FOR THE YEAR 1942.

Total number of services, 170,516; dairies inspected, 126; inspections of country creameries, 1,054; bacteriological examinations at country creameries, 8,931; milk cans inspected, 108,371; milk cans condemned, 6,443; milk temperature tests, 47,804; inspections of licensed dealers, 2,563; inspections of establishments for pasteurization of milk, 1,414; inspections of ice cream plants, 98; investigation of high counts, 149; laboratory inspections, 6; abatement notices served on licensed dealers, 719; dairies excluded because of poor quality milk, 945; dairies readmitted after compliance with requirements, 822.

SEA-GOING DRY DOCKS.

Bigger than a battleship! That's the rough proportion of some of the new Navy floating dry docks which can be towed or self-propelled at speeds sufficient to follow our fleet into action. Indeed, the dry docks are large enough to handle even a mighty battleship when it needs repairs or overhauling.

Never before have floating dry docks been built so large, taken so far. Never before have docks of this character been so mobile. The Navy has spent upward of $300,000,000 on their floating dry dock program and it has been a shrewd investment. Now, instead of damaged warships traveling the thousands of miles from the theaters of action to an American coastal dry dock for repairs, it can be placed in a floating dry dock on the spot in a matter of hours, thus saving precious time.

MAYOR CURLEY PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO MEMBERS OF DRAFT BOARDS FOR SERVICES RENDERED DURING WAR YEARS—AT TESTIMONIAL OBSERVANCE COMMEMORATING SELECTIVE SERVICE DAY AT FANEUIL HALL, HE PRESENTS MEDALS AND CERTIFICATES OF MERIT AWARDED BY CONGRESS—PRAISES WORK DONE BY BOARDS AS HIGHLY PATRIOTIC, UNTIRING AND EXTREMELY IMPORTANT TO CITY, STATE AND NATION.

The following is the address of Mayor James M. Curley at the testimonial observance commemorating Selective Service Day and presentation of medal from Congress, as well as Certificate of Merit:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

We have assembled here tonight in historic Faneuil Hall to pay tribute to the members of Boston's local Selective Service Boards and Appeal Boards in recognition of the patriotic, untiring and extremely important service—service without compensation—which they have given to their city, state and nation. They have been a part of the hundreds of thousands of civilians throughout the United States who, at great personal sacrifice, gave unstintingly of their time and efforts in assembling the greatest armed force in the history of the world, a force that brought victory to this country.

By proclamation of the President and by Act of Congress this day was set apart as Selective Service Day in order that a grateful nation might suitably honor these men, many of whom are the most prominent men of the community, men of heavy business responsibilities, including doctors, dentists, lawyers, judges, merchants and teachers.

On them fell the duty of selecting from their community the sons of neighbors and friends, as well as their own sons in many cases, and sending them off to war, possibly never to return. It meant disruption of homes and sometimes the antagonizing of friends of long standing, but such are the necessities of war. They did not dodge the issue; they seized it courageously and performed their duties without fear or favor. They have won the high respect of all loyal Americans by doing a most difficult and thankless job honestly and well. Despite all the conflicts and complexities that went with their task during the war years, they accomplished it "with efficiency and freedom from major scandal, accusation or politics."

Work Unfinished.

The work of these draft boards is not yet done, for with the returning veterans their work has increased tremendously as they seek to aid the men whom they sent into service to get reoriented in their home communities and jobs. The employers of Boston, and in fact throughout Massachusetts, are cooperating magnificently with Selective Service so that the task of reemployment committeemen and the local boards has been less onerous than it might have been. In many cases they are not only taking the veterans back and giving them their old jobs, but they are giving them better jobs and higher pay than they ever had before. Some employers are giving any veteran, even though he is a new employee, all the rights and benefits to which a former employee would be entitled. From all parts of our city come stories of the interest and consideration of the employers who, despite their own terrific problems, are doing their utmost for the veterans.

In honor of the members of the Selective Service Boards throughout the country, Congress has ordered a medal and Certificate of Merit to be awarded to each one who has served two years or more. The medal is of bronze, suspended from a gold and blue ribbon. On its face is the seal of the Selective Service System, surrounded by the words, "Selective Service System World War II." On the obverse side the following words are inscribed: "Awarded in the name of the Congress of the United States for faithful and loyal service." Accompanying the medal are a service ribbon and a small lapel bar. The medal ensemble is contained in a leather box with "Selective Service Medal" stamped in gold on the cover.

92,794 Into Service.

The handsomely engrossed Certificate of Merit in colors bears the words: "In the name of the Congress of the United States there is issued herewith the Selective Service Medal to (and then the name of the individual) in appreciation of your loyal and faithful adherence to duty given voluntarily and without compensation to the impartial administration of the Selective Service System. The Government of these United States expresses its gratitude in this public recognition of your patriotic services." The certificate is signed by Harry S. Truman, President of the United States, and attested by Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

FIRE CHIEF SAMUEL J. POPE IS RETIRED BY MAYOR CURLEY AFTER SERVING DEPARTMENT SINCE 1913 IN VARIOUS GRADES TO RETIRING RANK.

The following is the service record of Chief Samuel J. Pope whose retirement was approved on January 21, 1946, by his Honor the Mayor:

Subject to your Honor's approval I will retire on two-thirds pay, Chief of Department Samuel J. Pope of 1482 Commonwealth avenue, Brighton. His name will be placed on the pension roll of the Fire Department at the rate of $4,666.66 which is two-thirds of the yearly compensation he is now receiving. (Chapter 347 of the Acts of 1892, as amended by Chapter 237 of the Acts of 1939.)

Chief Pope was born September 15, 1889, and was appointed to the Fire Department February 24, 1913. He has been absent from the department because of injuries since January 8, 1946.

He has been examined by Dr. Martin H. Spellman, Medical Examiner of the Fire Department, who has submitted the following statement:

"According to the records of the Fire Department, Chief of Department Samuel J. Pope on November 13, 1939, at a three-alarm fire, Box 1431, 89-105 Bedford street, at 5.47 p. m., fell into a pit in cellar and received severe injuries to his right side of lower back and right leg. He had swelling and tenderness over his right knee and his right knee would lock on him when he went up and down stairs or flexed his knee. The diagnosis was made of severe synovitis of right knee and chronic intermittent dislocation of the internal semi-lunar cartilage.

On December 20, 1939, at a four-alarm fire, Box 7221, 309 E street, he injured his right leg, right arm and right side of back when he fell through a bulkhead door.

On March 6, 1942, at Box 7112, he had severe inhalations of smoke and gas and severe irritation of lungs and again sprained his right knee.

On August 6, 1942, at a still alarm fire on the United States Government transport "Alexandria" at the Army Base, he had inhalations of carbon dioxide gases and examination showed rales on both lungs, spitting of blood and cyanosis.

On September 30, 1943, at fire, Box 7131, four alarms, 24 and 26 Midway street, he inhaled smoke, heat and gases, and this irritation to his lungs continued and he was forced off duty on account of same on October 8, 1943, and returned to duty on October 18, 1943.

On December 10, 1944, at Box 7531, he inhaled carbon dioxide fumes and collapsed from the effects of same and from over-exertion.

On December 23, 1945, at Box 2226, three alarms, while directing operations at fire, he tripped on line of hose in street and fell, injuring his back and right side. He remained on duty until January 8, 1946, when he went off duty on account of his back and persistent coughing.

I believe that this man has a chronic sacro-iliac strain, chronic synovitis of his right knee with intermittent dislocation of his internal semi-lunar cartilage and damage to his lungs on account of the many inhalations of smoke and gases.

I believe that this man should be pensioned.

Attached is affidavit from Dr. Joseph H. Shortell, M. D., 478 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, who was his doctor."

He has also been examined by Doctors John A. Foley, Robert C. Cochrane and Arthur W. Fairbanks of the Medical Division, Boston Retirement System, who have submitted the following statement:

"We, the undersigned members of the Medical Division of the Boston Retirement System have examined Samuel Pope, Boston Fire Department, and find that he is totally and permanently incapacitated for further performance of his duties as a member of the Fire Department. We further find that his disability was incurred in the performance of his duties and without contributory negligence on his part."

Respectfully yours,

RUSSELL S. CODMAN, JR.,
Fire Commissioner.

ACTING MAYOR JOHN B. KELLY LAYS WREATH ON FRANKLIN MONUMENT IN HONOR OF GREAT AMERICAN.

The 240th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin was officially observed on January 17, when Acting Mayor John B. Kelly, in the absence of Mayor Curley, placed a wreath on the statue in front of City Hall, to honor his memory.

The ceremonies, shortly after noon, were attended by the pupils of the Franklin School, South End. The University of Pennsylvania Club of New England was represented by William Sullivan. Other organizations participating in the observance were the Society of the Sons of the Revolution, the Graphic Arts Institute, by Howard S. Patterson, and the Boston Club of Printing House Craftsmen, by Frank Madden, its president.

The Acting Mayor declared that the name of Benjamin Franklin in Boston has become a household pride, especially because of the many human sides to his character.

Continuing, he said in part:

"It is not necessary to recount any story of his life. We all know he was the youngest son of the youngest son for five generations, that he was the last son of the seventeen children in his family.

"One of the outstanding characteristics of the man was his industry and versatility. His occupations varied from candle maker to printer, to extemporaneous speaker, to scientist, to philosopher and to statesman.

"His reputation grew beyond his neighborhood, beyond his city, beyond his state and finally beyond his nation till he became a true citizen of the world.

"Born on Milk street, baptized in the Old South Church, across the street from where he was born, his life was steeped in the excitements of the times that led up to and through the Revolution.

"The philosophy of his life was to contribute to the friendliness and the happiness of life for all. He was always seeking the better way of living.

"As long as America remains a nation the name of Benjamin Franklin will be remembered and revered and each succeeding year the citizens of Boston will gather at this monument to place a wreath in his memory, grateful that he lived and achieved, that his city, his nation, might grow in greatness."

MAYOR CURLEY PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO MEMBERS OF DRAFT BOARDS FOR SERV- ICES RENDERED DURING WAR YEARS.

It now becomes my pleasant duty to present medals and certificates to 198 members of Boston's twenty-seven Local Selective Service Boards and its one board of appeal. Out of a liable registration of 182,287, these Boston boards supplied 92,794 men to the armed forces of the United States. Although only a limited number are receiving medals at this time, awards will be made later on to doctors, dentists, members of medical advisory boards and reemployment committeemen who have served two years, and to others of the local boards and boards of appeal as they complete two years of service. Tonight's testimonial therefore, is not merely for the limited number who are receiving medals, but for all who have served and are serving in the Selective Service System in the City of Boston.

Gentlemen, you have my congratulations and my personal gratitude for the splendid service you have given. And now, if you will please step forward, I shall be very happy to present you with your well-earned and deserved medal and Certificate of Merit. Thank you.

MAYOR SEEKS FRENCH LINE'S BUSINESS FOR BOSTON PORT.

Mayor Curley on January 21 addressed the following letter to President Jean Marie of the French Line:

M. Jean Marie, President,
French Line, 17 State Street,
New York, New York.

DEAR M. MARIE,—I have read of your presence in New York for the purpose of inspecting the French Line's Agencies in the United States and to plan for a resumption of the line's activities.

The people of Boston who became the friends of the French Line a few years ago when it utilized the facilities of the Port of Boston, are exceedingly desirous to have you resume operations here. We are deeply conscious of the close relations which have existed between our two Republics since 1778, and nowhere is this relationship better understood than in Boston.

I shall welcome a communication from you and hope you may soon come to Boston for the purpose of discussing this proposal. I can assure you that we are anxious to place every possible facility at your disposal.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Upon varying dates as indicated the Mayor approved contracts with firms, contractors and commercial institutions for furnishing labor, supplies, etc. Communications from the heads of the several departments interested were as follows:

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

Boston, January 17, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Your approval is respectfully requested for the award of a contract without advertising to the Consolidated Elevator Company, Inc., for furnishing elevator service to elevators in the Main Division of the Boston City Hospital for the year 1946, in the sum of $795 a month, or $9,540 for the entire year.

Two bids were received for this service, as follows:

Otis Elevator Company, $985 a month, or $11,820 a year; Consolidated Elevator Company, Inc., $795 a month, or $9,540 a year.

The Trustees voted to award the contract to the Consolidated Elevator Company, Inc., the low bidder.

Respectfully yours,

MARTIN J. ENGLISH, M. D.,
President, Board of Trustees.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Boston, January 17, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I respectfully request permission to repair the tandem rollers and put them in good operating condition for the ensuing season. Our playgrounds, walks, etc., have to be rolled early in the year.

I have had an estimate from the Clyde Everett Equipment Company, New England agents for the Buffalo-Springfield Road and Street Rollers, which is the only one I know of who can do this work and do it properly. They submit a bid for $1,912.15, which seems to be a fair estimate for the amount of work that has to be done on them. Last year we had very little work — the year previous it cost us $1,800. The material is much higher this year.

Very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 19, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—In connection with the work of snow removal by the Public Works Department, it is necessary for the department to obtain certain equipment, labor and services from outside firms and individuals following each snowstorm.

The equipment we hire consists of trucks for plowing and hauling, loaders, tractors, etc. In some cases the amount of work done may exceed $1,000.

I respectfully request your authority to pay all bills incurred on all snowstorms during the year 1946, without the issuing of service orders, and also the payment of such of these bills that may exceed $1,000.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,

Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 17, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—At different times throughout the year it is necessary to purchase repair parts on an emergency basis for the American LaFrance fire apparatus of the Fire Department. When the maintenance division of that department is anticipating major repairs on several pieces of apparatus, the purchase of such parts exceeds $1,000 and is subject to public advertisement for bids and the subsequent public opening, awarding and drawing up of formal contracts.

Since these parts are of special manufacture and can be obtained only from the American LaFrance Foamite Corporation, and since they are usually purchased on an emergency basis, we have found that the formality of publicly advertising for bids serves no purpose insofar as competitive prices are concerned and results in a delay in obtaining the equipment, with the inevitable slackening of efficiency of the fire apparatus in question.

Your permission is respectfully requested, therefore, to obtain these parts as they are requisitioned by the Fire Department, dispensing with public advertisement and formal contracts for the year ending December 31, 1946.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM I. ROSE,

Superintendent of Supplies.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

BOSTON, January 17, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Since February 24, 1942, with approval of his Honor the Mayor, this department has dispensed with advertising and public opening and reading of bids in the purchase of automobile tires and tubes.

The condition which necessitated this departure from customary departmental procedure is still prevalent in that the limited quantities of tires and tubes available result in hesitancy on the part of automotive concerns to enter into formal contracts for substantial quantities or covering a specified period.

Since dispensing with public opening of bids, awards have been made on the basis of informal quotations obtained at frequent intervals, and this procedure has proved most satisfactory under the circumstances.

In my opinion, the best interests of the city will be served by continuing this method of obtaining bids, and your permission is, therefore, respectfully requested to dispense with advertising in the purchase of automobile tires and tubes for the period from January 1 through June 30, 1946.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM I. ROSE,
Superintendent of Supplies.

APPROPRIATION FOR SAVINGS BONDS ALLOTMENT PLAN EXPENSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 14, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—For the past four years, the City has cooperated with the Federal Government by making pay roll deductions for the purchase of savings bonds issued by the Federal Government in connection with the financing of the war activities. It is estimated that during this period, pay roll deductions on City and County pay rolls totalled in excess of two million, six hundred thousand dollars. It is desirable, in my opinion, to continue this cooperative effort, since the financing of the heavy burden resulting from the war will remain with us for many years to come. I submit herewith an appropriation order providing for the continuance of another year of the unit responsible for the handling of these pay roll deductions, and respectfully recommend adoption of this order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) be, and the same hereby is, appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Mayor as administrative expenses in connection with the United States Savings Bonds Allotment Plan, said sum to be charged to the Contingent Fund when made.

FINANCE COMMISSION REPORT ON VETERANS' RETIREMENTS.

The following was received:

The Finance Commission of the City of Boston,
No. 24 School Street,
Boston 8, Massachusetts,
January 9, 1946.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of the City of Boston.

Honorable Sir,—The Finance Commission desires to direct your attention to an alarming situation which has developed in recent months in respect to the retirement of special classes of war veterans in the employ of the City. The contributory retirement system which was introduced in Boston in February, 1923 has been undermined by a new law passed in 1945 and by questionable interpretations of that law in recent months.

An annual new pension cost of between $75,000 and $100,000 a year has already been imposed upon the City of Boston by the operation of the new law; and, if interpretations of that law made by the last administration are to be the criteria for the future, the new annual cost is likely to be increased manifold.

The Commission addresses you on this matter at this time because, in the opinion of the Commission, the law should be changed or amended, and the time for filing bills in this year's Legislature is fast drawing to a close.

The retirement system in operation since 1923 embraced all entering the city or county service after February 1, 1923, veterans included. Each employee was required to contribute four per cent of salary; it was placed at interest of four per cent; the City contributed a similar amount; retirement was optional at 60 years of age, compulsory at 70 (except for department heads); there was provision for disability due to service. Veterans on the pay roll before the operation of the system were allowed to choose between retaining the benefit of the one-half pay service pensions then allowed or the new system.

The law now referred to is Chapter 678 of the Acts of 1945. Under this new Act, veterans who are members of any contributory retirement system are given the right to avail themselves of certain benefits which they never had before. Up to the time of this Act the veterans and non-veterans in the Boston Retirement System had the same rights. Now the veteran of the Spanish War or World War who was employed in the service of the City before June 30, 1939 may be retired at half pay after thirty years' service, or after ten years' service, if incapacitated; and, in either case, may withdraw his accumulated retirement deductions.

Two inherent weaknesses in this new legislation, however, have developed; the method of determining incapacity, and the interpretation of "ten years of service." For the purpose of this discussion, two groups may be considered: (1) those who retired before January 1, 1946 and (2) those whose retirement is to become effective on or after January 1, 1946.

Fifty-two were retired before January 1 under the provisions of sections 56 to 60 and this will cost the City $90,000 annually for approximately the next fifteen years, the number of years relating to the normal expectancy of life in these cases. The law left the determination of disability to the retiring authority, the Mayor. This led to the abuse of the original and sincere purpose of such legislation. The additional fact that the term "service" was not accurately defined permitted elective service to be included in the calculation of the necessary ten years.

The basis of such challenge might be the looseness of both the determination of "incapacity" and "service." The reading of several sections of Chapter 32 (the new Act becomes a part of the same Chapter 32) would seem to indicate that the "service" contemplated refers to "employment" in the commonly accepted sense of the term.

For instance, section 53 of Chapter 32, G. L. refers to a "veteran . . . who is employed jointly by the municipalities . . ." and section 56 of Chapter 32 refers to "the grade" held by the employee, and to "the director of personnel and standardization if the veteran is in the employment of the commonwealth." The connotation in these instances appears to be an "employee" in the ordinary sense of the term, not an elected official. Yet several of those recently retired under the new Act included elected councilor service in accounting for the ten years of service needed.

Also, to leave the determination of disability to the Mayor was obviously a loose device and left to him the adoption of his own record of determining disability, with the result that reasonable doubt of the disability of some recently retired employees for the employment last engaged in is entertained by many observers.

The second group in this discussion may be considered to be those who will seek retirement from this point forward, that is, those whose retirement will become effective after January 1, 1946. In this connection, section 57A specifies that section 6 (subdivision 3), section 8, and section 16 (subdivision 4) shall apply. But subdivision 3 of section 6 refers to a medical panel of three physicians selected as follows: "one designated by the state surgeon, one designated by the board, and a third designated by such member", the applicant. However, section 59 provides that the retiring authority in a city shall be the Mayor and 57A provides that "the retiring authority shall act in place of the retirement board in the case of any such veteran so retired."

Apparently, then, 57A means that after January 1, 1946, an applicant seeking retirement under this new Act, Chapter 678 of 1945, will be examined by a medical panel consisting of a physician designated by the state surgeon, one designated by the Mayor and one designated by himself. However, that interpretation is not certain and inquiry reveals that there is not complete agreement on its meaning.

While the chief grievance comes on the fifty-two cases already retired, there are many others eligible or expected soon to be. In 1942, there were 2,634 veterans in the Boston Retirement System. Allowing for such factors as approaching regular retirement and the desire to stay at work as long as possible, probably 1,000 of these may be expected to seek retirement under the new plan in the coming years.

Although the veterans of World War II are not provided for in this legislation, doubtless new legislation will soon be introduced to extend the coverage to this group. With the possibilities of a great volume of retirement applications thus facing the City, the situation needs clarification with respect to definition of "service" and determination of "disability." Moreover, there is little time left to introduce new legislation for this purpose. Meanwhile, it is up to the City to challenge this new additional annual $90,000 burden imposed upon it by the retirements allowed already, particularly since some cases are questionable on the grounds already indicated. Briefly, it remains to be seen whether a medical board would declare all such cases to be physically incapacitated for their employment, and it further remains to be seen whether a court would interpret service as an elected councilor to be regarded as "employment."

While certain veterans have stood to gain by such legislation, the great bulk of veterans are critical of the unfairness of its operation, of its possible reaction, militating against their best interests, and of the financial effect in the future on those sources on which they must depend for their financial benefit.

The Finance Commission, therefore, suggests that the problem be re-examined and amendments to the new law sought which will

(1) eliminate the possibility of abuses such as those described in this report;

(2) provide for a review by a medical board of the retirements already granted by the Mayor alone.

Respectfully submitted,

COMMUNICATION FROM THOMAS F. MCCREADY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Registry Department, January 9, 1946.
Mr. John B. Hynes, City Clerk,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir,—In reply to the notice filed with the City Clerk, on January 9, 1946, setting forth the reasons for my removal from the office of City Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages, I wish to protest Mayor Curley's action as not being in accordance with the City Charter as defined in Section 14.

On October 3, 1945, I was appointed City Registrar by Mayor John E. Kerrigan for a term of office to expire May 1, 1948.

Since the time of my appointment, the duties of this office have been industriously and conscientiously carried out by me.

The Mayor charges that I am not "fitted by education, training or experience to perform the duties of the office." The facts disprove these charges. In 1931, I was graduated from Boston College with a degree of Bachelor of Arts and earned my Master of Arts degree in 1933, after which I completed three and one-half years at the Bentley School of Accounting. My experience includes four years in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, during which time I never missed a roll call.

Not only are Mayor Curley's charges found baseless, but these charges fail to fulfill the requirements of the City Charter. According to Section 14 of the City Charter, in order for the Mayor to remove the head of a department he must file "a written statement with the City Clerk setting forth in detail the specific reasons for such removal." I submit that the removal notice of the Mayor does not state specific reasons, but only general charges that are not based on fact.

For these reasons I protest my removal from the office of Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages, and reserve my right to take legal action.

Sincerely yours,
THOMAS F. MCCREADY.

LOAN IN ANTICIPATION OF REVENUE.

President KELLY called up, under unfinished business, No. 1 on the calendar, viz:

1. Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1946, the City Treasurer be, and hereby is, authorized to issue and sell, at such time and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston not exceeding $40,000,000 in the total, in anticipation of the revenue of the financial year; that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the City Treasurer and the Mayor may determine. The said City Treasurer is hereby further authorized to renew or refund any such notes issued for a shorter period than one year, under the provisions of section 17 of chapter 44 of the General Laws.

On January 7, 1946, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas twenty-two.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 17, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. B.yley, Bryan, Cantwell, Chase, Cook, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, Linehan, Madden, McCormack, Moriarty, Russo, Sullivan—17.
Nays—0.

COMPUTATION OF SERVICE MEN'S ANNUAL INCOME.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor, acting in his capacity as Congressman for the Eleventh Massachusetts Congressional District, be requested to sponsor legislation in the Congress for the purpose of eliminating Service Men's disability pension from all considerations as "income" in computing annual income for tenancy in any of the low rental developments under the jurisdiction of the Boston Housing Authority.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, some months ago I offered a similar order, under the incumbency of Mayor Kerrigan, and I don't recall that there was ever a communication returned to the City Council telling us what the answer of the Federal Housing Authority or the Housing Authority in Boston was concerning this. For clarification, I would like to say that I am running up against a situation that only the National Congress can correct, and which it is its duty to correct. They are penalizing disabled veterans by adding to their private income any amounts paid by the Federal Government for disabilities incurred in the line of duty for service in the armed forces of this country during wartime, with the result that many service men are finding themselves ruled ineligible for public housing in low rent developments, because they find their two incomes totalled together are in excess of the ceilings allowed for tenancy in any of the low rent developments. To give the Body a case in point, unless the ceiling has been changed in recent months, under the provisions of low rent a three-room apartment rents for something like $31 to $33 a month on an income established on the annual basis of $1301 to $1750. Let us assume, Mr. President, that a young service man returns to a job that pays him not in excess of $1750 a year from either a private or a public employer, but who, in addition to this $1750 per year receives an amount of money from the Federal Government based on a disability adjudicated by the government agencies. Let us assume he is 50 per cent disabled. His pension per month would be $57.50, and on the basis of twelve months that is, roughly, $700 a year from the Federal Government. That is added to the $1750 or the $1301, whichever figure in between he is earning, and the two together make him ineligible by virtue of excess income. If the Congress will adopt this order or enact into law the proper legislation, we won't see those fellows ruled out of public housing because they get a disability pension the hard way. We cannot keep them out of public housing even though Congress wants them kept out, because somebody in Washington construes disability award as part income. It is not income in the usual sense of the word, although we know it is money coming in. But it is coming in at the expense of something that went out, and it is really a salvage price on the health that they forfeited in order to be given such an award. And I hope now that every member of the Body understands what the purpose of this order is,—not to add to ordinary wages or earnings amounts received from the Federal government as a disability pension, and to be added as income. I hope that the rule is suspended and the order is passed.

The order was referred to the Committee on Public Housing, when appointed.

President KELLY—I might announce at this time that I am going to appoint all committees next Monday.

INSTALLATION OF TRAFFIC LIGHTS, WARD 3.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That the Traffic Commissioner be directed, through his Honor the Mayor, to include in the budget for 1946 an amount sufficient to provide for the installation of additional traffic lights at various intersections in the Ward 3 district of Boston.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, very briefly. Since the declaration of war, naturally so far as traffic lights are concerned in the City of Boston, not many have been installed. However, in my own district I know that there is one at Keany square, another at the intersection of Fleet street and Atlantic avenue, Commercial street, where the Long Island boat comes in, which has been very dangerous ever since the razing of the El structure at the corner of Albany street and Harrison avenue. I feel that we ought to have traffic lights also at the intersection of Broadway and Harrison avenue, and there are very many other orders which I have brought in during this time, that I hope something will be done about now, if possible, so that traffic lights may be installed.

The order was passed, under suspension of the rule.

HEARING FOR BOARD OF RECREATION EMPLOYEES.

Coun. BAYLEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Executive Committee, at today's meeting, give a hearing to a delegation of four employees of the Board of Recreation.

Referred to Executive Committee.

HOURS FOR PLAYING BASEBALL GAMES ON SUNDAY.

Coun. BAYLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation substantially in accordance with House Bill No. 281 in relation to the hours for playing baseball games on the Lord's Day.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, I don't usually believe that the City Council should go on record or express its opinion on legislation before the Massachusetts Legislature, but in this case I believe this is a great concern of ours, inasmuch as it concerns the hours in which baseball games may be played on Sunday, and the principal idea of the whole legislation is to permit the two professional baseball teams to play beyond the hour of 6.30. We have the right to grant a Sunday license in here, and therefore I think we are very strongly interested in the hours in which the games should be played, and therefore I think it is appropriate for us to take action here. There will be a hearing on this matter a week from Tuesday, and I hope it will be referred back here next Monday. I believe that all these orders should be referred to committee, and not passed on suspension of the rule, so I hope this matter will be referred.

Coun. CAREY—We have had this particular matter before the Council several times, and I, some months ago, asked the Mayor, through the Law Department, to prepare a bill to be presented at this session of the Legislature. I would rather see this matter go to Executive, if it is all right with my colleague from Ward 5 (Councilor Bayley), in order that we may find out if any bill has been prepared for presentation to the Massachusetts Legislature. I believe tomorrow is the last day for filing bills. There is a lot of feeling, I understand. I therefore ask that it go to Executive, in order that we may find out if anything has been done and have time to see if we can't do something.

Referred to Executive Committee.

PHOTOSTATIC COPIES OF DISCHARGE PAPERS.

Coun. SULLIVAN offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to transfer the service now being rendered service men in connection with the photostatic copies of discharge papers, to the office of the City Clerk, this work to be handled in conjunction with the current practice of recording the discharge papers of veterans.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ENLARGEMENT OF SCOPE OF CITY RECORD.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That His Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of enlarging the scope of the City Record to the end that its circulation may be enlarged and that it may contain all activities of the city departments, also advertisements, and to consider the advisability of making it a semi-weekly publication.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, nowadays, when we are looking for new sources of revenue, the thought has occurred to me that the City Record, a publication which is practically of a private nature, is only read, it seems, by those of us to whom it is mailed. I think we might well expand the circulation and publication of this paper without encroaching on the rights and privileges of any other publication. That Record costs us only a nickel a copy, but hardly anybody knows where to buy it, hardly anybody knows where they can go to read it, and I think, when we are looking for new income, that this is a field which may be tapped without infringing on anybody, and I offer it for consideration to His Honor the Mayor.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

NOTIFICATION OF LEGISLATIVE HEARINGS.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor direct the Legislative Agent of the City of Boston to notify the city councilors of hearings on all legislation pertaining to the City of Boston.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, following along on the same thought, we are elected here to represent the people of our various districts, and many times we are shocked to find out that some measure has gone through the Legislature about which we knew nothing. Now, each year the Mayor appoints a man at a fairly lucrative salary to represent the City of Boston up before the Legislature on all bills pertaining to the City of Boston. Now, we are part of the city government, and I think it is only fair that we should be notified of the hearings on any bills which pertain to the City of Boston. We have not been notified in the past. We have always been given promises that we are going to be notified. I think the time to make the suggestion is now, when we are just starting in, and let us hope that the new legislative agent, no matter who he is, will notify each and every member of the Council of every bill pertaining to the City of Boston that is coming before the Legislature for hearing.

Coun. CAREY—That order has been introduced here every year since I have been in the City Council, I believe. And I don't believe there is any order introduced that is ignored more than that very same order, an order which is most important. During the course of the year, each year, we find that we are asked to pass on legislation that has been approved on Beacon Hill, subject to the approval of the Mayor and the City Council, and lo and behold, the City Council knows nothing about any of these measures until we are asked to render our approval. In my opinion, that is a "must" request, and I certainly hope it will find its way into the wastebasket this year, as it apparently has in preceding years. The members of the City Council, by all means, should know ahead of time, and the request in the Councilor's order is the best way I know of notifying us through the Legislative Agent so that we will know in time of all legislation on Beacon Hill which affects the city, and particularly those matters that ask for approval by the City Council. I certainly hope that the order will receive the attention it certainly deserves.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REPAIR OF MIDLAND STREET, SAVIN HILL.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That His Honor the Mayor direct the Commissioner of Public Works to make repairs, or direct the contractor to make repairs, to Midland street in the Savin Hill section of Boston, so that all danger to life and limb will be removed.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, we read in the paper a few weeks ago where the Finance Commission of the City of Boston was finding fault with the awarding of contracts, and the way in which these contracts are carried out. Now, I have no particular love for the Finance Commission of the City of Boston and, like most of the other councilors here, I am very happy when I find out that a street or streets in my district is to be resurfaced. But some of us have found out to our sorrow that the resurfacing of these streets, while it might not be termed a racket, has certainly become a disgrace to the City of Boston. I have streets out in my district contracts for the resurfacing of which were awarded last August for work that should have been completed in three or four weeks, and yet even now in the middle of winter, these streets are wide open, and instead of being in better condition they are in far worse condition than before the resurfacing effort was made. Now, I have all the sympathy in the world for contractors. I am not one of that type that believes that every contract is a gift or a graft. I think most contractors are working at a legitimate business and making a legitimate livelihood, but I have no regard for the man who takes a contract and then either cannot carry it through or deliberately fails to do so. One fault lies with the city. We have given too much time to complete these contracts. And a particular contractor who had these streets, a man by the name of Capone, neglected the work for the City of Boston in order that he might bid on and perform more lucrative work for the Town of Brookline or for the Metropolitan District Commission. He has practically thumbed his nose at the authorities of the City of Boston, told them that he would not complete the work because he is getting more money doing work in other sections of the Commonwealth. Now, there is much fault to be found with the city, but there certainly is one way that we can make a contractor live up to his bid, and that way is by holding back his money, by refusing to give him an extension, or by ordering him to go out there and carry out the work. Why, the people of my district are disgusted. They are falling over the street. The sidewalks were in tough shape before he got in there, but at least they were fairly level with the edgestones. He has ripped out the bricks now, and the edgestones are knocked three or four inches above the mud holes that constitute the surface of what was formerly a brick sidewalk. The same way with the roadway. He ripped out the hard pan of the roadway, and then, after much pressure, after being forced to do it, he came in and laid a macadam top that was supposed to be under the surface of an asphalt coating. But after that, he just turned around again and told the officials of the Public Works Department that he would get in there when he could or when he felt good and ready. And yet we in the city, if we follow common practice, merely nod our heads and pay this man. Now, that contract, the time limit on it, was December 31. December 31 is now past. Something should be done. I don't care what is done, but I believe it is about time that the officials of the City of Boston stood up on their heels and told these men, "When we give you a contract, we adhere to our part of it. We pay you, and in return we expect you to adhere to your part of it and do your work in proper and sound fashion." This man went elsewhere and neglected Boston, and you can bet your life that he finished the work for Brookline, and he finished the work for the Metropolitan District Commission, and he will come in here in a week or two, and he will cajole or kid somebody, sit down and make peace, and he will be awarded further time, probably until next June, to complete this work. In the meantime, the taxpayers of Boston, the people who are paying him, have to suffer, walk through mud, break the springs on their automobiles, suffer all sorts of indignities and risks because we here haven't got guts enough or courage enough to stand up on our feet and say, "Listen here, Brother Capone, you didn't do your work. Now, you go out to those people for whom you did the work and let them pay you. We, in the City of Boston, refuse to do it."

Coun. KINSELLA—Speaking on the order. I would like to ask Councilor Hannon a question through the Chair.

President KELLY—Does the councilor care to answer a question?

Coun. HANNON—I would love to.

Coun. KINSELLA—I would like to ask Councilor Hannon whether or not he knows there is a penalty in those contracts for failure to complete the work by the appointed day.

Coun. HANNON—As far as I know, there is no penalty clause attached to the contract, but there is always a certain percentage of the payments due that is held back to guarantee completion of the contract, and guarantee fulfillment of the contract as guaranty on the work.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SALE OF SURPLUS PROPERTY.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor direct the heads of various departments to sell surplus property of the City of Boston and to give veterans the preference in the purchase of same.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, I don't want to take the floor too often here, and I don't want to use up the time of the Council, but this is a matter that has been called to my attention. For many months we have been reading in the papers about what we are going to do for the veterans,—we are going to do this and we are going to do that, we are going to help them find work, we are going to help them buy homes, going to help them in the process of rehabilitation—and many times, when you read the headlines in the paper, you have to sit back and sneer and smile to yourself, because if the veteran is getting any more nowadays in addition, any more than he ever got, it is news to me. For an incident, a week or so ago, two boys in my district who came home after years of service on a foreign battlefield, could not find a job because they were only kids when they went into the service. But, ambitious as they were, they went around and contracted to establish an oil route, a door-to-door route, and they obtained about 200 customers. The next problem was to obtain the necessary facilities for delivering the oil, namely, a truck. And those kids went everywhere, and no oil truck was available. They were finally referred to the Surplus Commodities Division of the Federal Government, but much to their consternation they could not buy any used trucks, despite the fact that dealers and people in high places, with lots of money, could buy them. These trucks, they were told, were for the veterans, but when they went to buy them they found out, to their surprise, that those trucks might be for veterans, but you have to buy them through two or three other dealers. They simply were turned down. But then they felt that good fortune had struck them. An employee of the City of Boston told them of an oil truck that was to be had, a truck that had been purchased four or five years ago, and that was lying idle up in the Albany Street Garage. As a matter of fact, this truck had been up on blocks for three years. It was purchased originally, as I understand it, so that any city truck that ran out of gas might be serviced with the gas out on the street by means of this small truck. But they soon found out the impracticability of this, because if any truck was unfortunate enough to run out of gas the man who was nearest to it would take his own vehicle, whatever type of car he was driving, and he would drive out with five gallons, a five-gallon can of gas, and the result was that this truck was impracticable, and it was placed up on blocks. The tires were taken off of it during the rubber shortage, and I believe, too, although I am not certain, that the wheels have been removed. Now, there is that truck up there, jacked up for three years, and yet we find out that it cannot be sold or made available to these veterans. Instead of turning it over or selling it to them, they are going to let it rest and rust and rot and go to ruin up in the garage. And yet they tell us that they are trying to help the veterans rehabilitate themselves. "We are trying to get them into fields of activity. We are trying to show them we appreciate the sacrifice and sacrifices that they have made for us." That is only one example, but I dare say, Mr. President, that throughout this city, throughout the Hall, throughout the yards of the various departments, there is much surplus material that should and could be made available to these veterans. Let us cut the red tape. These kids will buy that truck. They want to buy it and pay a fair price. Why not put it up for auction? Do anything. We are not asking gifts, we are not looking for graft or gravy. We are not asking to give it to the kids for nothing. These kids are honest, legitimate, high-type veterans, who have given their all for you and me, and now we represent the city. We have got a truck that has been on blocks for three years. Can't we remove the red tape? Can't we help these kids? Don't you think, Mr. President, we ought to be able to sell this to the veterans, and likewise sell a lot of other surplus material that we possess? (Applause from the gallery.)

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RESURFACING OF CERTAIN WARD 12 STREETS.

Coun. COOK offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repair and resurface Humboldt avenue, Warren street and Blue Hill avenue to Grove Hall, Ward 12.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS, HUMBOLDT AVENUE AND SEAVER STREET.

Coun. COOK offered the following:

Ordered, That the Traffic Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to take immediate steps to improve conditions at the junction of Humboldt avenue and Seaver street, Ward 12, by installing automatic traffic signals.

Coun. COOK—Mr. President, both these orders are for my ward of the city, and the sooner we get our streets in shape, perhaps our program for a "better Boston" will be the more quickly achieved. So far as the condition between Humboldt avenue and Seaver street is concerned, the Humboldt avenue cars come up, and it is the main entrance towards Franklin Park. The Humboldt avenue cars make a loop at Seaver street, and it is a dangerous condition. There have been many serious accidents, and I think the cost of installing automatic traffic lights will be far overpaid by the benefits received. I ask suspension of the rule and passage of the order. (Applause.)

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONSCRIPTION FOR UNITED STATES SERVICE.

Coun. MADDEN offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby protests against any further conscription for the United States Service, believing that voluntary enlistment can easily be obtained, sufficient to meet the required needs.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

RETURN OF SERVICE MEN.

Coun. MADDEN offered the following:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council of Boston it is of the utmost importance that the return of our service men should be accomplished without further delay and that the President of the United States and heads of the War and Navy Departments be urged to take whatever steps are required to dispense with regulations which appear to aggravate a situation with which the public is fast losing patience.

Coun. MADDEN—Mr. President, this nation is concerned with a great problem—occupation of conquered enemy nations and compulsory peacetime conscription. This problem should arrest our attention, and must be solved. In speaking on the motion, I am not unmindful that I am still a member of the armed forces, and for that reason, lest I be misconstrued or misquoted—I have given the press a copy of what I am about to say. I have a dual responsibility, first to the Army I love and admire so profoundly, and, secondly, to the thousands of my constituents who, like myself, still have sons in the service, and sons about to be called into the service. I pride myself on being a good soldier and a good soldier's primary duty, be he an officer, is the health, comfort and welfare of his men. These men are the backbone of the army, and anything that affects them affects the morale of the Army. When the chips were down and the whole world tottered on the brink of chaos under the brutal heel of Nazi tyrants, these boys, the flower of our youth, were ripped from their homes and classrooms to retrieve the peace and prosperity that adult minds have muffed twice now in as many generations. If a man has any admirable qualities, they glow when he's under pressure. I don't have to tell you that your boys were magnificent under fire—their brilliant achievements all over the world speak louder than anything I might say. And now we have the tragic spectacle of that great army disintegrating with internal strife, mutiny, rebellion and insubordination. This deplorable breakdown of discipline and respect is your fault and my fault—not the boys' fault. It is your fault and mine, because, as representatives of the people, it is our job to formulate constructive policies to win the peace; the boys did their job by winning the war. We handed them a dirty, stinking mess to clean up and they did a beautiful job. They very effectively put out the holocaust that engulfed the whole world and wrecked half of it. Now they are forced to stay on as policemen and janitors. There's no point in using valuable fire-fighting equipment as a Paddy wagon and dump truck. There's as much sense in placing and keeping these boys over that rotten mob of criminals as there is in running Leavenworth and Alcatraz with gullible school boys. It's like feeding ice cream to pigs. No city in the world would think of making cops of teen-age boys, and no warden in the world would attempt to run a reformatory with anything but mature men. Here we have the ridiculous spectacle of relying on 'teen age boys to match wits with the same vicious mob of thugs that outwitted Chamberlain and then later President Roosevelt, and even pulled the wool over the eyes of the House of Lords and the Congress of the United States. These boys were carefully selected and trained to fight, not wrestle. It can't be done. The requisite training and reflexes are diametrically opposed. But far worse than the fact that we are using square pegs in round holes is the sad commentary that we are supinely sabotaging the health, minds and future of these boys. Busy hands and occupied minds don't usually get into trouble. But you certainly invite trouble when you gear young minds and bodies to the keenness and dynamic energy of these finely trained young men and then leave them to loll away idle moments in an environment that reeks with desperately hungry women. The first law of nature is self-preservation. When a man is hungry he'll steal, plunder and kill. When a woman is weak from hunger she has no alternative but to sell herself. It's all right for those of us with well fed bellies to be naive and sanctimonious, but it has been my observation that morals and virtues are subservient to hunger and self-preservation. This isn't a pretty picture, but it's a true picture and a universal picture in war-torn countries. Medicine is even scarcer than food over there, and, even if medicine were obtainable, the pangs of hunger would come first. On the 25th of December, 1943, I was ordered to round up every known prostitute in the little Sicilian village that we were billeted in. We brought in 29, and 27 were found to have one or more types of venereal disease. The other two were hospitalized as probable, along with all the rest. These women were supposed to be examined periodically, and the fact that they were working at their business presupposes that they are free from disease. And I am sorry to say that an American Army doctor had been examining some of these women since September that year. Worse than that, as fast as the M. P.'s locked them up in the women's hospital, this same American Army doctor effected their release, to continue to ply their trade among American troops. I don't have to tell you that prostitution is legalized all over Europe, Africa and Sicily, and I don't have to tell you that the troops are the only men with money and cigarettes over there. They are a revelation to Europe,—big, strong, good looking and generous. But they are also human and, I now am sorry to say, they are lonesome and disconsolate. The conditions aforesaid existed in every town I visited, from Casablanca to Cairo, from Catania to Palermo, and from Naples to Marseilles. And I've a hunch that they are just as bad in Berlin, Tokyo and Manila. I'm sure you don't want your boys to stay in that environment, and I don't want mine. Is it any wonder that they are crying in the wilderness? Now, it comes with poor grace for any man to criticize unless he can offer a remedy. The remedy obviously isn't peacetime conscription of fighting material. There is no immediate need for fighting men, but there is need for hard-boiled policemen. It's my opinion that enemy country should be occupied and policed, and I'm sure that the ideal man to police those contemptible rats would be some of their former slaves. These poor, unfortunate people have felt the full fury of Nazi intrigue and brutality, and I'm sure that they know what is best for the Nazi. Those officers who wish to stay in the Army, could train and supervise these men. I believe that military training should be compulsory, and I firmly believe that the proper place for military training is in our local high schools and colleges, where boys can retain the all too brief and sacred heritage of a parental love and guidance. In the summertime, I would supplement this with a course of Marine Corp field training, discipline and respect. Then you would have a real man. When a boy reaches the unfortunate stage of life that he thinks he knows more than his parents, the United States Marines would give him a lesson in appreciation and respect that he'd never forget. If a boy wants to make a career of the Army, that's different. Army life has many fine advantages. And while I'm talking of the Army, its great accomplishments and men, I'd like to impose on your time for a minute or two, to pay tribute to the greatest of them all, the immortal General George Patton. You've heard, and probably will continue to hear, little men with big tongues and lame brains assail him and the brilliant General Douglas MacArthur. No matter what any character assassin may say about General MacArthur, his superb comeback from the ignominy of Bataan to the portals of Tokyo will ever remain the greatest military achievement of all time. He took the tattered remnants of what was your Army of the Pacific and in three years completely crushed the most diabolical foe that this nation has ever faced. No man is perfect. We all have our short comings, and George Patton had his. He was a superlative soldier and a military genius. He never pretended to be a diplomat, nor did he have any of the suave duplicity that enables so-called diplomats to play both ends against the middle. George Patton hated bullies, phonies and tyrants, and he revelled in smashing their intrigue. He really knew his business. He was blessed with an extraordinary military mind, energy, cunning and courage. No man in any army did as much as he to bring this terrible war to an abrupt conclusion, and no man was as instrumental as he in getting your boys home as quickly. But for his dynamic energy, brilliance and courage the boys might still be sparing with the Nazis. We got our ears pinned back at Bataan and again in the summer of 1942 at Dieppe. We got a rough reception at Casablanca on the morning of November 6, 1942, but before the campaign was ten days old Patton was racing pell-mell for Tunis. By May he'd pushed the Axis bums off Cape Bon, and August he'd conquered all Sicily and chased the blustering Mussolini up over the Alps and into Germany. With the fall of Italy he was called up to England, and on the 6th of June, 1944, the whole world was electrified to hear that Patton was racing unchecked for Paris with the vaunted Nazi fleeing in wild confusion. Gentlemen, there was a phenomenal man who fought his heart out to restore peace on earth to men of good will. Yes, the whole world owes General Patton a tremendous debt of gratitude. His name is symbolic with peace, and the least posterity can do is to reverse his memory. George Patton is dead, the war is over, and so is the need for fighting men. A valiant Army has won the war, and now it is incumbent upon our State Department to build peace and security. The problem of policing enemy nations is an international political function, that should not be relegated to the Army, nor should the Army's hallowed traditions be desecrated by existing conditions. It is sheer folly to force war-weary boys to be policemen. It's a job for slow-moving, cautious men of mature judgment. It's a job that age, minor physical defects and flat feet, are no detriment to and they may be an asset. It's a job that sagacious men with craft and cunning to obtain deferments might admirably cope with. It's a job that unemployed defense workers could handle better than boys who are fretting about getting back to their classes. It's a job that exacting and hard to please labor leaders would brook no will or law but their own on, and an easier job than picketing. I don't say these things with rancor, but I say them so that soldiers may have the knowledge that you have a better appreciation of what it means to be an American citizen after you've done a tour of duty abroad. Why shouldn't those who have benefited by the sacrifices of the armed forces do something to relieve these boys? You will never appreciate America until you leave it.

Coun. CAREY—I am sorry, Mr. President, that you in your haste, referred the resolution to the Committee on Rules, whereas you and I know it rests there with no attention being given to it. We just listened to the words of a man who, by the bars on his uniform, tells you and me that he has spent thirty long months learning of and going through the hell holes and the messes that he has so capably described to us. I don't believe for one minute that these resolutions and the remarks of the councilor from Ward 22 (Councilor Madden) should go so completely unnoticed. There is a great deal that can be said, but very little that can be said to any more advantage in letting the people of the nation know just how men in uniform feel about what has been going on, and what is going on. And, under the circumstances, what do we expect but a clamor by these men to come home and to get home and to keep home the youngsters of eighteen and nineteen years of age, whom we would never think, Mr. President, here in Boston of appointing to our police force. And, as I was informed last week, the District of Columbia some few years ago refused to O.K. legislation that would permit the hiring of men twenty-five years of age on the police force in the District of Columbia. And yet the system today is to take young boys, immature young men, who should be home and who should be in school, and send them to do the police work that the District of Columbia itself admitted some years ago, mind you, men of twenty years of age were not capable of doing. With the permission of Councilor Madden from Ward 22, I would like to amend his resolution by asking that a copy of it be sent immediately to every member of the Congress from Massachusetts, not only of his resolution, but of his remarks as well. This is a matter we are all sleeping on at the present time. We have found fault up to a very few years ago with the system that was in vogue in Russia, Japan and Germany, and yet it seems to me that the systems that were theirs for years have not only been adopted by us, but are being bettered by us, if I can so express myself, through lack of proper study of the problem. If it was wrong in Europe and Asia years ago, I am sure it is just as wrong in this country of ours today to conscript in peace time, to force one to do what is against his very conscience and the best interests of this nation. I think the Councilor from Ward 22 (Councilor Madden) is to be congratulated. And I might well repeat once more that we don't listen to this story from a civilian or from a man who has not been over there, but from one who for thirty long months went through these hell holes. And I certainly trust that this matter will not go to the Committee on Rules, but that a copy of his resolution and his remarks will be sent immediately to every member of Congress from the State of Massachusetts.

Coun. COOK—Mr. President.

President KELLY—The resolution has been referred to the Committee on Rules, and there is no discussion.

Coun. COOK—There is an amendment offered by Councilor Carey.

President KELLY—The motion to amend is out of order, Councilor. Does Councilor Cook wish to ask unanimous consent to make a statement?

Coun. COOK—I would like to.

President KELLY—If there is no objection, Councilor Cook.

Coun. COOK—Mr. President and members of the Council, I would like to add a few words to what the Councilor (Councilor Carey) has said. I was in the other area, not quite as long a time, but four months does not make much difference. I also happened to be in that class, so-called, of "brass hats," division staff. I think you will find, Mr. President and Councilors, that the only policing that the men who want to get home are doing is policing the area. I know every time we got to an area, especially in foreign countries, we had to police the area and clean up the mess that the people over there left. So far as keeping them down and watching out that they do not rise up again, that is a matter, as the Councilor from Ward 22 (Councilor Madden) has said, for the State Department and experienced men, who know what to look for and when to be warned. Certainly, based on the experience of our staff, as witnessed by our Pearl Harbor boys, as witnessed by the boys at Kiska, and also at the Belgian Bulge, we need better men and regular army men. I am still in active status in the army, and if it is treason, let them make the most of it. They pulled the boners. This war was won not by the regular army, but by the citizens of our nation, through energy, through courage, and there is as much need for keeping 200,000 or 300,000 troops in Germany or Japan as there would be in sending one man out to stop a riot. If the Japanese elements decided to rise and revolt today, they could wipe out all of our troops overnight. We are not prepared, just as we were not prepared at Pearl Harbor, and many other places that could be told about in the annals of our military tactics. We need an FBI or espionage men in these countries, to watch out and see that the enemy countries which have been subjugated at present are not planning and not attempting another uprising to put this world into chaos. The only function they have today is to have a T O, so we can have more officers. And the sooner we, and especially those in official position, whether it be town or city council, legislature or any place else, add our voices and our opinions and send them to Congress, to show the "brass hats" that the citizens who won the war know what is going on and know what is best for the boys, the sooner we are to be listened to, the better it will be for all concerned. I am in favor, as Councilor Carey suggested, to try to amend this and send as our official request to our Congressmen, that every man now on so-called sacrificial duty be sent home and that other means be taken for the policing and occupation of conquered countries. (Applause from the gallery.)

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the councilor rise?

Coun. KINSELLA—I would like unanimous consent to make a brief statement.

President KELLY—If there is no objection, Councilor Kinsella.

Coun. KINSELLA—I agree wholeheartedly with many of the things mentioned by Councilor Madden, but I think that in the fall of 1944 Councilor Madden was on the other side of the world, and is probably unaware of the fact that by Presidential order the acquisition of a venereal disease is no longer made punishable by court martial. It was taken out of the category of punishable offenses, and construed after the date of the corrective to be something acquired in the line of duty. And I ask Councilor Madden to get a copy of the American Medical Journal of October 28, 1944, Volume 126, No. 9, page 574, and find what President Roosevelt thought of the morals of the American soldier and sailor. I repeat, the American Medical Journal, October 28, 1944, Volume 126, No. 9, page 574, in which it is recorded that by presidential order those who suffered a venereal disease are on and after that date to be considered as having acquired it in the line of duty, no longer punishable by court martial. That is what President Roosevelt thought of the animal instincts of the boys in the service, throwing them, I suppose, some sop to their carnal instincts. Now, Mr. President, this morning's paper tells us of a marine soldier that has been found guilty of murdering two Japanese, for which the penalty is death, and the American public, I bet you a dollar bill, won't raise a voice in protest at that. And unless I miss my guess that soldier will be hung or shot, for no other reason, now that the shooting part of the war is over, than that we must show the animal Japanese, that if they cannot obey, our boys can be made to obey. And the story, according to the Associated Press, is that the soldier was drinking saki and whiskey. I know something about the one, but nothing about the other, but it must be a handsome combination for a man to pour into himself and then be expected to give in to the tactics of discipline and obedience when he sees an animal Jap in front of him. Who in this chamber, for instance, that read that front page story this morning, who of the couple of hundred people in this chamber at this moment felt like protesting? No one. The war is over. He is in Tokyo, 7,500 miles away. He is unknown to us by name, so remote from us that our attitude is, "Well, he is out of luck." I bet he is out of luck. But they are not so quick to institute a death penalty against all of those that used American soldiers and sailors for bayonet practice. They are not so disposed to get the murderers of the three officers in Germany within the last couple of weeks, plus the six privates who were recently found dead under murderous circumstances. They were very quick to release the Frauleins involved in each case, because they could prove nothing against them, when to a man 3,500 miles away it is as plain as day they were lured to their death. That is the old American custom of fair play. Take it out on your own to placate a former enemy. "Former" be damned. They will be enemies of ours until the end of time, and the sooner the American public wakes up to the fact that we are not capable, not capable except by force of arms, to rule these conquered peoples, then we are not going to have more killings and more murderings, and we are going to have more American boys legally and officially executed because they lose their tempers when they come across a recent enemy who still today is not without his fangs. We were damned fools all during the war, and now we are capping the climax by hanging and shooting boys who give in to a very natural desire when under the influence of those intoxicants, which they tell me are quite potent, give in to a natural desire to keep the war going, instead of protecting him, and be damned with discipline. Those boys are American boys. They are ours, as though they lived at home with each and every one of us, and we will sit here and very likely in a short while will read that that boy was hung or shot. They might just as well turn him over to the Japanese Black Dragon Society and let them execute their own revenge. And we are going to countenance it, 138,000,000 people, many of whom have lost their boys, and many of whom do not know yet that their boys are lost. And we are going to countenance that. They can maintain discipline and still let him go scot-free or give him the mild form of punishment. They told the story of a young marine some time in 1942 who was in the hold of a ship guarding twenty-one Jap prisoners. They rose up against him, and he killed every one of them. He was given a perfunctory court martial, and fined one cent for each of the dead Japs. I suggest that they begin to reward them more substantially. They are still our enemies, and the shooting portion of the war can be over for fifty years and they are still marking time and biding the day when the next time may be the last for us. In the words of someone, they can afford these constant losses because they have to win just once. Once is enough for us and for all time. Just think it over. A former President removed all penalties for the acquisition of a venereal disease and says that in the line of duty it was acquired and is not punished by court martial, and now we find out at the other end of it a man is to be shot or hung for killing two Japs while under the influence of a native drink that robbed him of his senses, and over here we are the first to defend any man who goes on trial for having committed a crime while under the influence of liquor. But they will show him no such consideration, and if they do they may pare it off to a nice term in Leavenworth. Some one has to stop it, and there isn't anyone in this chamber disposed to show an interest. It is all over now. We have used them to the limit of our ability. We have replaced them with a lot of greenhorns that will wind up in canals or ditches with knives in their backs, be garrotted, all in the interest of trying to butt some civilization into either the Japs or Nazis. If the papers would tell us more, as no doubt they can, we will find there are more than eight killed recently out of 300,000 in Germany. Talking the other night with a young fellow on leave and going back under military government about the situation, it seems in one of those smaller cities in Germany, he said, long ago, they deprived them of their side arms, so when they go out at night they go out in pairs or greater numbers, and he said, "We dare not approach any group and ask for directions, any group we know not to be American soldiers." They have taken away the last bit of protection from them, and they expect those men to give in readily to a new order that deprives them of protection. They need it now more against the hidden assassin than they needed it on the field of battle. Somewhere on the battlefield they have a method to defend them, but they haven't any now. I think this foolishness that originates in Washington for the purpose of softening up the former enemy, the present enemy, if it will do any good, ought to be brought to a stop. Now that we have a Congressional Election coming up this year, let us see how many people are going to change their Congressmen for somebody that is an American first. Let him be the people's man for a change, not a party man necessarily, but a people's man.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

President KELLY—If there is no objection, Councilor Bayley.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the speeches before me, and agree with a lot of what has been said, but we are getting very far afield. I agree with you, and I wish to compliment you on referring this resolution to the Committee on Rules. After all, this is the Boston City Council. This is not the Congress of the United States, and we are not solving any problems of the world here by talking because there are a great many people in the gallery. We have problems here in Boston, and I hope that the members of the Boston City Council will remember it. We have big problems in Boston which require all of our energy, which we should solve. We have problems to solve in the Executive Committee regarding the welfare of the children of Boston on this recreation program, problems we are to solve, but I think we are getting very far afield when we waste the time of our stenographers and the money of the City of Boston in this manner. I compliment you again, Mr. President, for referring the matter to the Committee on Rules. It has taken entirely too much time in debate, and I suggest we get on with the business of the City of Boston. (Loud applause from the gallery.)

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the councilor rise?

Coun. MORIARTY—I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

President KELLY—If there is no objection, Councilor Moriarty.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, as my initial utterance, I find myself in the modest role of not being too original. However, I want to be repetitious for a very praiseworthy resolution. Councilor Madden's resolution carries too much import to be dealt with in the offhanded manner it apparently received earlier. The previous speaker, Mr. Chairman, says we have business here at home of greater importance than that contained in Councilor Madden's statement. Boston is certainly part of America, and if we don't voice our opinions here in Boston, certainly America is not going to be received in those united nations with the degree of respect that it should be. Councilor Madden's resolution, Mr. President, I believe, carries such weight that it should be withdrawn from the Rules Committee immediately.

President KELLY—Councilor, do you make that in the form of a motion?

Coun. MORIARTY—I do. I move it be made in the form of a motion.

The motion to withdraw from the Committee on Rules was carried, and the question came on the adoption of the resolution.

Coun. CAREY—I now move that we amend the resolution of Councilor Madden to the effect that copies of the resolution, together with the remarks of Councilor Madden, be sent immediately to every member of the Massachusetts delegation in Congress.

The question came on the adoption of the amendment, and the amendment was adopted.

The resolution as amended was passed.

STATE-COLLECTED TAXES SHARED BY CITIES AND TOWNS.

Approximately $5,000,000 are distributed each year among all cities and towns as reimbursement of a portion of the amounts expended locally for salaries of teachers in the public schools. This one distribution constitutes about 80 per cent of all fiscal aid paid by the Commonwealth to cities and towns to assist in financing public schools. As the amount paid to each city and town depends upon the number and educational preparation of teachers employed, it favors well-to-do towns which can afford to hire more and better qualified teachers, and penalizes towns which by reason of less favorable circumstances operate their schools with fewer teachers. The original objective of this distribution was to raise standards of teacher preparation and to encourage local governments to pay certain established minimum salaries. As a means toward these objectives this distribution has outlived its usefulness.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

FORECAST OF EXPENDITURES IN 1945.

A total of $308,840,000 is forecast as the expenditures of the transit industry in 1945 for new equipment and maintenance of existing property and equipment. This sum is $25,000,000 more than the forecast for 1944 made at this time last year, and is $40,000,000 more than the expenditure ultimately made in 1944.

Total expenditures in 1945 for new equipment are expected to reach $101,100,000 which compares with $65,592,000 in 1944. New rolling stock will absorb most of the additional money with $61,000,000 being allocated to new buses, $12,000,000 to new cars and $5,000,000 to new trolley coaches. However, it is estimated that $20,000,000 will be spent on ways and structures, which is nearly $5,000,000 more than was spent in 1944. In the power and line departments capital expenditures are forecast at $3,100,000, which is slightly less than was spent in 1944, but is more than double the amount that was forecast for 1944 at this time last year.

Only moderate increases in maintenance expenditures are forecast for 1945. For maintenance materials the total for 1945 is put at $78,340,000, which compares with $76,561,000 spent in 1944. Maintenance labor costs are placed at $129,400,000 for 1945 compared with $126,343,000 in 1944.

MAYOR CURLEY'S AID SOUGHT BY FRENCH CITIZEN IN EFFORT TO LOCATE BOSTON SERGEANT, PILOT OF AMERICAN FLYING FORTRESS, WHO WAS SHOT DOWN IN NORTHERN FRANCE AND RESCUED NEAR FIELD LEPELERS — RECEIVES LETTER REQUESTING HELP IN SEARCH FROM M. SCHOONOOGHE JOSEPH, WHO GAVE THE BOSTON LAD FIRST AID AND LATER WAS MADE PRISONER BY GERMANS — MAYOR HAS ASKED SECRETARY OF WAR, RED CROSS, POLICE AND NEWSPAPERS TO HELP IN EFFORT TO LOCATE LAD.

Mayor Curley on January 24 took steps to locate the whereabouts of a young Boston sergeant, pilot of an American Flying Fortress, who was shot down at 2.30 o'clock on the afternoon of January 13, 1942, in the Field Lepers, Avenue Foch, in Mouvaux (Nord), France.

The young man, though wounded, landed by parachute. M. Schoonooghe Joseph, in doing his "duty as a good Frenchman," went to the sergeant's rescue and, while giving him first aid, was captured, along with the boy, by German troops. The Frenchman "was sent to prison to become acquainted with the Nazi Gestapo."

He is now seeking to find the Boston sergeant, and has requested the Mayor's assistance. The Mayor has written to him that he is asking the Secretary of War, Red Cross, Boston Police Commissioner and the newspapers to help in the search.

Following is a translated copy of the Frenchman's letter, together with a copy of Mayor Curley's reply:

YOUR HONOR,—I respectfully request your aid, through the Boston newspaper, to help me find a sergeant, pilot of an American Flying Fortress downed by the German D. C. A. in Northern France, January 13, 1942, at 2.30 in the afternoon, and the American boy landed, wounded, his parachute torn, in the Field Lepers, Avenue Foch, in Mouvaux (Nord), France. In doing my duty as a good Frenchman, giving first aid to the boy, I was immediately made prisoner with the American by the Germans, who, after taking the shoes off the parachutist, made us proceed to the office of Lieutenant-Colonel Lentz, Headquarters Commanding Officer of L. A. O. K., 15 Unit, 43,800. There we were questioned by Captain Wilke of the 16th Hak Division. It is there that I learned that the American was from Boston. He had been wounded on the left cheek, and wore around his neck a silver chain with a little cross. Afterwards he was made to walk on his stocking feet to the German Red Cross, while I was sent to prison to become acquainted with the Nazi Gestapo.

Your Honor, forgive me this frank discussion, but I would like to find the American parachutist. I want him to help me in following up something that interests me, particularly since my imprisonment was caused by an act of devotion toward the Allies. I am at the disposition of the Allied authorities for more ample information.

In hope of receiving good news, I beg your Honor to accept my deep respect.

A good Frenchman,

MONSIEUR SCHOONOOGHE JOSEPH,
No. 36 Rue Mirabeau, Mouvaux (Nord), France.

Mayor Curley's Reply.

M. SCHOONOOGHE JOSEPH,
No. 36 Rue Mirabeau, Mouvaux (Nord), France.

DEAR SIR,—I wish to acknowledge receipt of your letter of recent date, asking my help in trying to locate a young Boston sergeant, pilot of an American Flying Fortress, who was shot down at 2.30 o'clock on the afternoon of January 13, 1942, in the Field Lepers, Avenue Foch, in Mouvaux (Nord), France, and whom you befriended when, though wounded, he landed by parachute.

I was very sorry to learn that you both were made prisoners, and that you, as a loyal Frenchman, suffered in prison at the hands of the Nazi Gestapo because of your act of devotion to the Allies.

As requested by you, I shall make every effort to find this young man, if his whereabouts are known, and shall seek the assistance of the Secretary of War, the Red Cross, the Boston Police Commissioner and the newspapers in my quest. I shall keep you informed as to developments.

May I, as Mayor of this City, commend you heartily for your brave and humane action in helping a Boston boy, even at the risk of your life. You have my sincere admiration.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor of Boston.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

FINANCE COMMISSION ASKS MAYOR CURLEY TO SPEED EFFORTS TO LOCATE SITE AND CONSTRUCT A HOSPITAL FOR THE CHRONIC ILL ON MAINLAND WHICH WILL BE READILY ACCESSIBLE TO RELATIVES AND FRIENDS — LONG ISLAND NOT SUITABLE SPOT, COMMISSION ASSERTS — SUGGESTS PRESENT SITE OF SOUTH DEPARTMENT OF CITY HOSPITAL AS BEST LOCATION FOR ALL CONCERNED AND ALSO LIKELY TO BE LEAST EXPENSIVE TO OPERATE — USE AS HOSPITAL FOR CONTAGIOUS DISEASES NO LONGER IMPERATIVE, MAYOR IS INFORMED.

The Finance Commission has addressed the following communication to Mayor James M. Curley:

Boston, January 29, 1946.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council.

The Finance Commission has tried several times within the past few years to impress upon the Mayor and City Council the many advantages to be gained by the construction of a chronic hospital on the mainland of Boston. The commission has noted that in your inaugural message you have favored the idea, and the reasons given by you are identical with the arguments made by the commission.

The next important consideration, therefore, is the determination of a site. At this time the commission desires to point out to you the advantages of a particular site; also to make suggestions on the method of financing the proposed change.

The idea that the institution should be moved to the mainland did not originate with the commission. The commission arrived at the conclusion that Long Island is not a suitable place for a chronic hospital after observation and study of the opinions expressed for decades by practically all the medical men who have been attached to the hospital at Long Island. These opinions have been buttressed by opinion of practically all who have been responsible for the administration of the Institutions Department in the same length of time.

In order that the new site may not have any of the disadvantages of the old, it is well to consider why the Long Island site is a poor one. The consensus of medical and lay opinion is, first of all, that adequate bedside care can not be furnished to the unfortunate chronic sick at Long Island. The patients need regular daily medical care, and often surgical service. They also need even more nursing care than the average patient in the City Hospital or in the other mainland hospitals for the acute sicknesses. The distance to Long Island and, consequently, the amount of time it takes to get back and forth, are the chief obstacles to adequate medical, surgical, and nursing service.

Hardship to Physicians.

To a great extent, as in all hospitals, services rendered by physicians are unpaid. Physicians who serve at Long Island, therefore, to a great extent must rely for their livelihood on private practice.

Private practice is incompatible with service at Long Island. Each time a doctor visits Long Island he loses practically a whole day from his private practice. To make up the deficiency which results, resident physicians are employed when obtainable; but usually good physicians do not stay long. Hence, they are coming and going all the time, and there are never enough of them. The present superintendent, a medical doctor, rather than see patients unattended or endangered, often also serves as nurse, porter, fireman, or at tasks suited for an ordinary laborer. Yet if a surgical operation is necessary in an emergency, he serves as the surgeon.

Adequate nursing service is almost equally difficult to obtain. Training and experience in chronic cases alone are not attractive enough either to student or graduate nurses to produce enough applicants with the right background for the job. The isolation feature of assignment at Long Island makes many hesitant about taking appointment there. All who must go to the island, including nurses, are dependent for transportation on a boat service which in the best of weather is frequently hazardous and uncertain. There have been many occasions when nurses and other employees have waited hours and even days at the city's wharf in Boston for a boat which did not operate. They have been marooned as frequently at the island down the harbor. They have often consented to make the trip on a makeshift substitute boat only with the greatest trepidation.

Then there is the economy side of the picture. Supplies of all kinds costs $33\frac{1}{2}$ per cent more delivered at Long Island than they would at any place on the mainland, and there is always the possibility of serious delay in their arrival. Plans for meals for a particular time — advance planning is necessary in all such institutions — have often had to be changed at the eleventh hour when the expected supplies have not arrived. Boats have been tied up because of absences of crew members almost as frequently as for want of repairs. Government regulations require a specific number of crew men. When a regular member of the crew fails to put in an appearance, a substitute must be found, but it usually is impossible to obtain one on short notice. Cost of boat operation has been constantly increasing, yet loss of service of boats has become greater as the years go by.

Bridge Has Disadvantages.

A bridge from Squantum to Long Island has been proposed. The Finance Commission opposed it on the ground that it could not be relied upon with confidence and because of the expense.

A change in the location of the hospital from Long Island now is timely. A large sum of money must be spent in the near future if the present structures are to be made safe. A building commissioner a year ago condemned many of the most used buildings, particularly those in which a large percentage of the island population is housed. It would be better to build a new institution on the mainland.

FINANCE COMMISSION ASKS MAYOR TO SPEED EFFORTS TO LOCATE AND CONSTRUCT HOSPITAL FOR CHRONIC ILL ON MAINLAND.

In selecting a new site, the paramount considerations should be, first, the possibility of providing adequate care of the chronic sick; secondly, the cost of the new plant.

In regard to the first of these considerations, the medical staff of the institution has pointed out that the medical objective in such institutions is no longer merely to provide a comfortable bed in which the chronic sick may spend their remaining days. Today it is more to give relief first and then medical aid which might conquer the patients' ailments. They say that such aid is only possible in a medical center, where adequate physicians, surgeons, and nurses are available.

In regard to the second consideration, the expense of operation of a particular new plant is important. Seldom does a new modern plant cost less to maintain than an old, antiquated one. The new facilities and new routines of a new, modern plant supply something which the old plant lacked, but they often mean new expenses.

SOUTH DEPARTMENT, CITY HOSPITAL.

With the latter thought in mind for a site for a mainland chronic hospital, the commission believes that the present site of the South Department of the City Hospital on Massachusetts avenue would best serve. This property, for years used for contagious disease patients, is not in great use now. Because of the advancement made in preventive medicine, particularly in the almost complete eradication of such contagious diseases as diphtheria, in these contagious disease wards the average daily population has dropped from approximately 300 to 90. Moreover, parts of this old plant are now in need of renovation if there is to be continued use for contagious disease purposes.

The suggestion of the Finance Commission is that an adequate new hospital for contagious cases be erected on that part of the vacant portion of the South Department area which faces Harrison avenue. Adequate chronic hospital facilities could then be erected on the remainder, making use of some of the buildings which are now there.

There are two principal advantages in this location. First of all, it would permit a free exchange of services with the City Hospital, across the street. Without great expense, a connecting tunnel could be arranged. The central hospital physicians and surgeons would then be readily available to the chronic patients. The nursing school at the main hospital could be expanded to furnish the bedside care in the chronic hospital. Time and study in the chronic hospital could very well be a part of the training course.

The second great advantage is that location of a new hospital on this site would not necessitate a complete new plant such as would be necessary if another less favorable locus were selected. Many of the facilities such as, for instance, the kitchen at the main hospital and the laundry, and the heating plant, and the mechanical forces, could furnish service to another hospital on that site. It would seem to be a necessity that advantage of these opportunities be taken, since municipal maintenance costs are soaring to unprecedented heights in other directions.

SIZE OF STRUCTURE.

Another very important matter is the determination of the size of hospital needed. If the one erected is too small, in a short time the problem will be as serious as it has been for so long. Apparently, it is not generally appreciated that there are now a potential 800 cases for a chronic hospital. A careful survey reveals that there are approximately 350 chronic patients now at Long Island; there are 250 more (City Hospital official figure) now in the City Hospital; the Institutions Commissioner a short time ago stated that there are approximately 200 more on a waiting list.

Since the probability is that the number will grow rather than decrease, a hospital of 1,000-bed capacity is what is needed.

The relief to the City Hospital would be of great value. It would make 250 beds available there for patients with acute diseases. The main hospital is now overcrowded, and many are refused admission.

The cost of such a new plant is no small consideration. Hospital authorities estimate that for a complete hospital, an entity in itself, it is safe to figure approximately $5,000 per bed. This would mean $5,000,000 for a 1,000-bed hospital, but, if the South Department locus is used, this amount can be substantially reduced.

Moreover, it is possible that the city can obtain Federal aid for the project. There is now a bill in Congress, well on the road to final action, and advocated by the Federal Public Works authorities, under which the Federal Government would make a grant of 50 per cent of the cost of new municipal hospitals. If advantage is taken of this opportunity, the total bill will not be so burdensome to the city corporation.

The commission would further suggest that it would be well to have expert professional opinion on the detailed working out of plans. A committee of three, to include a physician who has had experience in hospital management and operation, a physician who has specialized in the treatment of chronic diseases, and a capable business man, preferably with an engineering background, would make an ideal advisory board for such an important project.

RESIGNS AS ASSISTANT CORPORATION COUNSEL.

Corporation Counsel Joseph A. Scolponeti on January 28 accepted the resignation as assistant corporation counsel of Commander Charles S. Sullivan, Jr., now assigned to the office of the Judge Advocate General's office in the Navy Department in Washington.

Commander Sullivan advised Mr. Scolponeti that he intends to remain on active duty in the Navy Department and expressed regret at leaving the Law Department with which he was connected for many years before his enlistment in the Navy.

In accepting the resignation Corporation Counsel Scolponeti expressed his appreciation of the service of Commander Sullivan in this letter: "Regretfully I accept your resignation as assistant corporation counsel of the City of Boston. Your many years of faithful and distinguished service in the department merit the gratitude of the citizens of Boston. In deciding to continue with the United States Government, you accentuate the patriotism that impelled your voluntary entrance into the United States Navy, which you have honored with such brilliancy and capacity. The city's loss is the Navy's gain."

MAYOR CURLEY DEMANDS CITY EMPLOYEES PAY EXCISE AND POLL TAXES.

His Honor the Mayor on January 25 forwarded the following communication to City Collector Daniel F. Donovan:

DEAR SIR,—An examination of the returns on excise taxes and poll taxes discloses the fact that a large number of city employees are delinquent in the matter of payment of these taxes.

You are accordingly directed to notify all department heads to post an announcement in the various departments that thirty days after date, unless payment of excise taxes and poll taxes due the city that are in arrears is made, you will proceed in conformity with law to withhold the same from their salary or wages.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR NAMES NEW MEMBER OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS COMMISSION.

Mayor Curley on January 26 appointed Arthur Michael Tobin, 15 Ashfield street, Roslindale, to the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, succeeding Andrew J. Dazzi, resigned.

Mr. Tobin was born on West Dedham street, Boston, in 1901. He attended the public schools, grammar and high, and the Franklin Union, now the Franklin Technical School, to learn tectonics.

He was employed by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company for a period of years, on the installation of machine switching exchanges. Later he was employed on the construction of several buildings in Detroit, Michigan, including the General Motors office building and the Fisher body group, both as a mechanic and then supervisor.

On returning to Boston in 1927 he started in the general contracting business for himself, in which he has since been engaged. He has had experience in all branches of construction during this period, such as brick and masonry, waterproofing, carpentry, roofing, painting, plumbing and heating and electrical work, on alterations and remodeling of schools, municipal buildings, armories, office buildings, stores and houses.

CORPORATION COUNSEL JOSEPH A. SCOLPONETI RETURNS TO CITY TREASURY SALARY ACCRUING WHILE ABSENT FROM CITY.

The following letter was received on January 25 by City Treasurer Henry F. Brennan from Corporation Counsel Joseph A. Scolponeti:

DEAR SIR,— On my arrival from Washington I found salary payments for a period covering my absence from the City Law Department.

Preferring the avoidance of any misunderstanding as to whether my presence in the District of Columbia was connected with matters directly connected with the city's business I am returning the amounts paid.

According to the City Auditor, Mr. Fox, this money may be held by you and applied as a credit as against subsequent pay rolls submitted by this department.

Very sincerely yours,

JOSEPH A. SCOLPONETI, Corporation Counsel.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 2.

CITY OF BOSTON,
MAYOR'S OFFICE, January 25, 1946.

To the Heads of Departments.

GENTLEMEN,— Acting under the authority of the ordinance passed by the City Council September 21, 1942, and approved September 24, 1942, concerning office hours of departments, I hereby order and direct that beginning February 1, 1946, the offices of the several departments shall be open for the transaction of public business at nine o'clock in the morning on every day, except Sundays and legal holidays, and kept open until five o'clock in the afternoon on each week day, except Saturday, and on Saturdays until twelve o'clock noon. Until otherwise directed, departments will be manned by a full personnel complement on Saturdays.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR CURLEY TELLS ASSESSORS FROM 50 TO 100 MILLION DOLLARS IN INCREASED TAXABLE VALUATIONS CAN BE FOUND THIS YEAR IF THEY WORK ON PROBLEMS WITH EARNEST APPLICATION OF PRINCIPLES OF BUSINESS — MAKES MANY SUGGESTIONS BY WHICH THEY MAY BE GUIDED IN PERFORMING WORK OF FIXING VALUATIONS — SUGGESTS SPECIAL STUDIES WHERE HOTELS, APARTMENT HOUSES, OFFICE BUILDINGS, GARAGES AND STORES ARE CONCERNED — ASKS FAIR, FEARLESS, HONEST AND COURTEOUS APPLICATION TO JOB.

The following were the remarks to street assessors by Mayor Curley at meeting on January 29:

I believe that, if the following suggestions are followed, at least fifty to one hundred million dollars in increased taxable valuations will be found.

I suggest that the street assessors at least hold the present assessed valuations and that they make no further street cuts for the year 1946, except where clearly justified.

That they check back in their street books to 1940 to see whether any of the previous assessments were higher than the 1945 assessed valuations.

Where the valuation has been made by decision of the Board of Tax Appeals, discretion should be used in increasing the valuation unless circumstances and conditions merit the increase.

Reappraise with an idea of increasing the valuations on all hotels, apartment houses, office buildings, garages, and stores.

Many blocks of stores were vacant between 1940 and 1945.

The same also applies to garages.

Office buildings from 1940 to 1945 had considerable vacancies and low rental charges. That situation has changed considerably, and today we find most of the office buildings 95 per cent fully rented and with rental charges rising from $1.50 a foot to $2.75 a foot.

The income on apartment houses has been greater in the past five years than it was prior to 1940. Therefore, assessed valuations should be higher than 1940.

Many of the large department stores in the city have enjoyed reductions in the past few years. Rental values of these properties, whether based on newly written leases or on a percentage of the gross sales, have increased within the past two years, and substantial restoration of any reductions which have been granted seems warranted for 1946. I recommend a careful study of this type of property in order that their fair cash valuation may be accurately determined.

In the performance of your duties as first assistant assessors and deputies, you should conscientiously attempt to find every parcel of taxable property, both real and personal, and to value it fairly and reasonably, in accordance with the law.

During the past ten years, abatements as high as one hundred million dollars a year in valuation have been made by either the Board of Assessors or the Appellate Tax Board. Some of the valuations thus decreased should be restored in 1946.

In closing, let me say that it is my earnest desire that no taxpayer in the City of Boston shall be assessed for more than his just proportion. I ask that you do your job fairly, fearlessly, honestly and courteously.

MAYOR NAMES JOHN F. NEVINS DEPUTY PENAL INSTITUTIONS COMMISSIONER.

His Honor the Mayor on January 25 appointed John F. Nevins, 21 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, to the position of Deputy Penal Institutions Commissioner.

Mr. Nevins was born in Dorchester, attended the Mather School, Dorchester High School and Boston College Graduate School, where he studied sociology and social work. He is a veteran of World War I, and has been in the Bridge Service of the City of Boston for the past ten years.

JOHN R. McVEY, JR., NAMED ASSISTANT CORPORATION COUNSEL.

Corporation Counsel Joseph A. Scolponeti on January 25 appointed John R. McVey, Jr., of 28 Melville avenue, Dorchester, an assistant corporation counsel. It was the first appointment to the staff of the Law Department made by the Corporation Counsel.

Attorney McVey, a son of John R. McVey, prominent Boston lawyer, and a friend and political associate of Mayor Curley for many years preceding his death several months ago, is a graduate of Boston Latin School and Suffolk Law School, and was admitted to the bar in 1941.

Subsequently he was commissioned an ensign in the United States Navy and after thirty-three months of active service, during which he spent twenty-one months overseas, he was discharged with the rank of lieutenant. In his naval service he was the commander of two anti-submarine warfare ships, and his career included plenty of action.

He was married in 1942 to Miss Madeline Wallace of Dorchester. The new assistant corporation counsel is widely known in legal and municipal political circles.

MAYOR CURLEY OPPOSES PLAN OF SECRETARY ICKES FOR FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO SEIZE ALL SUBMERGED AND RECLAIMED LANDS OF STATE,
CITIES AND TOWNS.

Upon January 30 Mayor Curley issued the following statement:

The proposition of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes that the Federal Government seize all submerged and reclaimed land in coastal waters of the country, including bays, ports and harbors, and inland navigable rivers and lakes, is deserving of the opposition of every right-thinking American.

These properties have been developed largely by the various states, municipalities, towns and counties and by private capital, and such a proposal is unthinkable.

Under the treaty with England in 1783 the policy was adopted under which coastal waters for three miles were considered under control of the state and riparian rights of property owners adjacent to any body of water were considered as extending to the channel line.

Many millions of dollars have been invested by the states, cities, towns and counties and private interests in the development of properties that would be subject to seizure in the event that Mr. Ickes' preposterous proposition were adopted.

I shall be pleased to have the Corporation Counsel assign a representative of his department to appear at the hearing to be held on Tuesday next, at Washington, to oppose the legislation, since it invades the rights of all parties in interest, and is a distinct departure from recognized procedure in any cases of this character.

MAYOR GETS FAVORABLE REPLY FROM FRENCH LINES PRESI-DENT TO RENEW SAILINGS FROM BOSTON.

His Honor the Mayor has received the following letter from Jean Marie, President of the French Line, 17 State street, New York:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I was deeply moved by your letter of January 21st in which you informed me how eager you were to resume the excellent relations which have always existed in the past between the Port of Boston and my Company.

I know your wonderful city because I received a splendid reception in the course of a visit there in 1939, and I know all the facilities which the Port of Boston offers for international navigation.

Although my Company was severely hit during the war, I hope that it will rapidly resume traffic with the United States, and I know only too well the importance of the Boston area not to wish to carry on, as in the past, our excellent relations.

I regret that the short duration of my trip does not permit me to visit you, but rest assured I shall embrace the earliest opportunity of making a trip to the United States in order to do so.

Please accept the assurance of my good will.

JEAN MARIE, President.

As a result of the efforts of these officers, several hardened law violators were convicted and sentenced to long terms in State Prison. The efficient investigating and planning of the officers prior to making these important arrests indicate a high degree of skill and teamwork.

The Commissioner is pleased to recognize and record the untiring efforts, perseverance and devotion to duty of these officers, who gave generously of their own time to accomplish the arrest and successful prosecution of this organized group of well-known criminals.

This excellent police work is highly praiseworthy, reflects credit on the entire department and assures our citizens that the force is capable of dealing with desperate criminals and, in close cooperation with the District Attorney and the courts, will be equally successful in the future in ridding the community of undesirables.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

A NEW POSITIVE WATER-METER TESTER.

The large majority of waterworks, particularly the smaller ones, seldom have accurate or positive means of testing their meters. Often when a meter is repaired, the man making the repairs simply blows through the meter to see if it runs, when it is again put into service with the assumption that it is accurate. Sometimes meters are hooked up in series with a new meter and water is run through to see if the readings check. This is better than the lung-power method, but still is far from accurate or dependable, in that the test meter may be in error by 2 per cent or even more. Several states have regulations governing water utilities, both municipal and private, and require a positive method of testing water meters in every meter shop.—American City Magazine.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m., President KELLY in the chair. Absent, Coun. Fish. The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

APPROPRIATION FOR ASSESSING DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 21, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Chapter 604 of the Acts of 1941 provides that in the period after the expiration of any fiscal year, and before the regular appropriations have been made by the City Council, city departments may incur liabilities for carrying on the work of the departments, and payments therefor shall be made from the treasury from any available funds therein, and charged against the next annual appropriation, provided that the liabilities incurred during such interval for regular employees do not exceed in any one month the average monthly expenditure of the last three months of the preceding fiscal year.

The formula established by this provision makes it impossible to pay the salaries of the employees of the Assessing Department without a special appropriation of a portion of the A, Personal Service, item in the budget of this Department, because the first assistant assessors receive during the first three months of the year approximately one half their annual salary.

In order that the employees of this department may be paid their salaries, I am forwarding herewith an appropriation order for $85,000 and respectfully recommend immediate consideration and adoption by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $85,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended as hereinafter specified, said sum to be raised by taxes on the polls and estates in the City of Boston, and that all orders hereafter passed by the City Council relating to appropriations, taxes, and the interest thereon, apply to the appropriations and taxes herein provided for.

ESTABLISHMENT OF VETERANS REHABILITATION DIVISION IN SOLDIERS' RELIEF DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 21, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am of the opinion that information, aid, and assistance to veterans of all wars can be better provided if such services are rendered through a duly constituted department or division of the city government. This is especially true if such services are to continue for any extended period of time.

For these reasons, I have discontinued the activities of the Veterans Reception Center and have issued instructions that the Soldiers' Relief Department provide the services heretofore rendered by this temporary agency of the city government.

It is my belief that the needs of our veterans for rehabilitation advice and assistance will continue for an indefinite period of time. It is, consequently, most important that the city government establish a permanent structure to meet these needs.

Attached hereto is a communication from the Soldiers' Relief Commissioner in which he presents the suggestion for the establishment of a Veterans Rehabilitation Division in his department. It is my opinion that the establishment of such a division is a necessary venture on the part of the city government, and the best method of providing the worth-while services to which our veterans are entitled.

I transmit for your consideration this ordinance and I recommend its immediate passage by your Honorable Body in order that there may be no interruption in the carrying on of those services of vital necessity to our veterans.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Soldiers' Relief Department, January 18, 1946.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—In accordance with your instructions, the Veterans Reception Center, located at 209 Washington street, ceased its general activities on January 15, 1946.

It is my understanding that you desire the Soldiers' Relief Department to take over the duties heretofore performed by the Veterans Reception Center.

In order that this Department may perform these duties with due regard to the rights of veterans, and with due regard to proper administration, I suggest that there be established in the Soldiers' Relief Department a division to be known as the Veterans Rehabilitation Division.

The establishment of such a division in this Department, in my opinion, will effectively and satisfactorily meet the demands and requirements of veterans, both now and in the future.

Attached hereto is a proposed amendment to the city ordinances which, if passed by the City Council and approved by you, will establish the aforesaid division. I suggest that, if agreeable to you, this ordinance be submitted at an early date so that this Department might proceed without further delay in the handling of this important phase of veterans' rehabilitation.

Respectfully,
DAVID J. BRICKLEY, Commissioner.

CITY OF BOSTON.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Forty-Six.
AN ORDINANCE.

Concerning the Establishment of a Veterans Rehabilitation Division in the Soldiers' Relief Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Chapter 31 of the Revised Ordinances of 1925, is hereby amended by adding the following new section:

Mr. J. B. Hynes, City Clerk,
City Hall, Boston.

Dear Sir,—I hereby remove Edward C. Carroll, principal assessor in the Assessing Department, from said position, effective this day, for the following reasons:

In my opinion, he is neither an expert or specially fitted by education, training or experience, to perform the duties of the office, nor am I satisfied with the manner in which the work of said department has been conducted during the period he has been a member of the Board of Assessors.

For these reasons, and to obtain a more efficient conduct of the city's business, this removal is made.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

CLEANING OF CITY HALL AND ANNEX.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Superintendent of Public Buildings to proceed at once to the thorough cleaning and overhaul of the City Hall and City Hall Annex.

Coun. KINSELLA—Just briefly, Mr. President, in view of the fact that the Mayor of the City of Boston just recently stated there would be no new City Hall during his incumbency as Mayor, I thought it might be in keeping with the dignity of City Hall to have it thoroughly cleaned and overhauled. Very soon we are going to entertain thousands of out-of-Boston people, who will be here on conventions and at summer places throughout the summer. We would like to present a City Hall that is at least clean and sanitary in its appearance, and I hope that the order is passed.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

AMENDMENT OF COMPENSATION AND CLASSIFICATION PLANS.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Compensation and Classification Plans for the officers and employees of Suffolk County, as adopted by the City Council April 13, 1931, and approved by the Mayor on April 15, 1931, be, and the same hereby are, amended, by establishing the following classification:

Title of class, Nurse, female.

Duties, Under general direction, to perform all the duties of a qualified registered nurse, and to otherwise care and assist in the needs of the women inmates of the Suffolk County Jail.

Range of Salary, Annual $2,000, $2,100, $2,200.

Referred to the Budget Commissioner.

ROPING CONTRACT FOR 1946.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. COFFEY—A point of information, Mr. President.

President KELLY—State your point of information.

Coun. COFFEY—Can you tell me, has the roping contract for 1946 been granted?

President KELLY—Not that I know of, counselor.

Coun. COFFEY—It has not been granted?

President KELLY—No.

Coun. COFFEY—Has the same gentleman that had that contract in 1945 got that contract this year?

President KELLY—No arrangement has been made as yet, counselor.

Coun. COFFEY—Some arrangements have been made.

President KELLY—Arrangements have not been made as yet.

Coun. COFFEY—I don't understand that arrangements have not been made. Somebody must have the roping contract for 1946. Has the same man got it that had it for 1945? If not, and if there is a new one, I would like to know.

President KELLY—Nothing has been done along those lines as yet, counselor.

APPOINTMENT OF JOHN J. COLEMAN.

On motion of Coun. RUSSO, the Council voted to take No. 1 from the calendar, under unfinished business, viz.:

1. Ordered, That the appointment by his Honor the Mayor, submitted January 14, 1946, of John J. Coleman, to be a member of the Boston Housing Authority for the term ending January 8, 1951, be, and hereby is, confirmed and approved.

The question came on confirmation of the appointment.

Coun. LINEHAN—Is this matter debatable?

President KELLY—Yes, counselor.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, as some members of the Boston City Council know, I have been a member of the Boston Housing Authority for the past year. It ran out as of January 8, 1946, but I am still a member up to the time a successor is confirmed by this Honorable Body, so that the Boston Housing Authority will still function with five members until this gentleman's name is approved. Now, the gentleman that is taking my place I would like to know something about. After serving with the Boston Housing Authority for one year, I want to make sure that the gentleman who takes my place has the qualifications and the honesty necessary to serve on that board. And, as a member of the City Council, I for one don't know the gentleman that is going to be appointed to this position. Now, ordinarily the Mayor appoints men to different positions which do not require our confirmation, and we therefore are not responsible for their acts as members of the different boards, but in this particular case we are as responsible for the gentleman who will serve on the Boston Housing Authority as is the Mayor, because if he is not confirmed he cannot be a member. Therefore, I suggest that we do not vote on this gentleman's confirmation until the members of the Boston City Council know more about him. And, as I said before, I for one don't know anything about him. I haven't received any information as to his qualifications, where he lives, or any qualifications whatsoever. I therefore move, if it is in order, that this be referred to the Committee on Housing for further study before we act on it.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, speaking on the motion. May I have his full name and address, please?

President KELLY—The Clerk will read the name and address.

The name of John J. Coleman, 25 Huntington avenue, Boston, Mass., is read by the Clerk.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I don't know Mr. Coleman, and I hold no brief against him. I wouldn't know him if he walked into this room. I don't object to his being appointed, as I say, because I don't know the gentleman, don't know his qualifications, or anything else about him. I received a few letters in the mail during the past week telling me this gentleman is not a resident of Boston. 25 Huntington avenue, if my memory serves me right, is an office building. I don't think that anybody lives there. I don't think there are any apartments in that building. I may be wrong, but I don't think there are, because I recall a number of years ago that Bill Dever had a suite of offices there, and I was up there on several occasions, and from my observation this place is nothing but an office building. Now, if this gentleman lives in Newton, I for one am not going to approve his appointment. We had four Cambridge appointees in the past ten years, and I don't think we should stand for any more outsiders coming into Boston and taking jobs and going back to their own town to pay taxes there and spend their money there. I think this matter should be investigated, as Councilor Linehan says, and I want more than anything else to find out where this gentleman lives. I hope that this is referred to the committee Councilor Linehan says it should be referred to, and that this gentleman will appear before us or, if not, tell us about his qualifications, if he has any. He can at least tell us he is a Boston resident, and has lived here for a number of years.

Coun. RUSSO—Speaking on the motion, I have no objection as far as referring this to the Committee on Housing, and if Councilor Linehan feels that they ought to have more information I seem to agree with him. I did not in any way by my act of trying to call this off the calendar intend not to give the Council any measure that they so desire. I would be very glad to go along with them.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, the duly established Committee on Public Housing undoubtedly will be expected to hold a meeting on this matter and require the attendance of Mr. Coleman. Since I have been appointed chairman of that committee, I would naturally be expected to be in attendance. I don't know for certain, however, if Councilor Linehan will be present, and, while his objection is perfectly valid, I would like to know what Councilor Linehan might reasonably expect me to ask if he does not show up to ask for himself. But, for the information of the Council, the first meeting of this newly created committee will be held, I think it is the most convenient time for everyone, at eleven o'clock on Thursday morning. We will invite every member of the council, and invite Mr. Coleman, and the members will have an opportunity to examine him as to his qualifications.

Coun. LINEHAN—It doesn't seem possible that the gentleman from Charlestown (Councilor Kinsella) would not be aware of what questions would be asked. He knows something about the duties of the Boston Housing Authority, and therefore I think he should know something about the qualifications the gentleman should have. Now, I would be glad to talk with him after the meeting, and I will tell him just what questions I would like to ask, and will ask, in the meeting on next Thursday. But I think it is perfectly obvious what we ask and what we should look into. We don't want to forget that millions of dollars have been appropriated and will be spent on housing. There has been $40,000,000 or so appropriated in the past which comes under the supervision of the Boston Housing Commission, and I, for one, want a resident of Boston on the Board, and I want someone on the Board that can give out contracts and perform other duties in an unbiased manner—perform his duties as I will do as a member of the Boston City Council, and as I did as a member of the Boston Housing Authority.

Coun. KINSELLA—Well, I wouldn't be back on my feet again, Mr. President, if I wasn't surprised at the aggressiveness with which Councilor Linehan has answered. Of course, I know what I will ask him. If you will recall, I predicated my statement on the uncertainty of Councilor Linehan's attendance. Now, one of the few things that anyone wants after he walks out of this chamber is friendship, but God knows how many times in the course of a year we endanger that, and this is one of the times. I didn't expect such a snappish attitude. I hate like the devil to be put in a position of defending myself by saying that we didn't hold up Councilor Linehan's appointment when he was appointed. We didn't hold up Eva Whiting White, of whom we knew nothing, when she was appointed. We did, however, make it extremely difficult for John Breen, about whom we knew everything. Councilor Linehan knows the sad and sorry record that we have established here in the past on committee attendances. It is something against which all of us at one time or another have claimed, "I couldn't get a quorum. I couldn't get a quorum." There is no absolute certainty that if Coleman satisfies me I can be a proxy for Councilor Linehan to carry my satisfaction over to include him. Of course, I know what to ask him. I would like to know about it, and be present, as I will be when Councilor Linehan asks the gentleman to satisfy him, as the prime objector. I am very much concerned about Bobby's attitude in answering. He might have guessed that I would make some such rejoinder as this, and I didn't like to. I will go along with the will of the Body, and if it is established that Coleman is to be brought in here, we will bring him in Thursday morning at eleven o'clock. But we haven't yet passed on that. I don't think.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, on a point of information I would like to ask the Chair if my contention is right, that every member of the Body has a perfect right to be present at any committee meeting?

President KELLY—That is right, counselor.

Coun. RUSSO—Well, it makes no difference to me, Mr. President, whether you have appointed me as chairman over any committee, or whether I am a member of any one of the committees, or whether I am not a member of any committee. It makes no difference to me as far as I am concerned, because I will always have my voice in this chamber, and I can have my voice in the meetings of these committees that will be held. I may not have a vote in a committee, but I still can express my opinion publicly and otherwise. So I feel, in order not to take up any more time of the Council, and as the chairman has already announced there will be a meeting, that all those interested in this matter could be present, and the question could be taken up.

Coun. COFFEY—Talking on the motion, Mr. President. I want to make a correction for the councilor from Ward 2 (Councilor Kinsella). He said we didn't hold up Bobby Linehan's appointment. Of course, we didn't. We all knew Bobby Linehan, and knew he was well qualified, not only because he has had experience in the Legislature and experience here, but he has practiced as an attorney also. That is why we didn't hold it up. And on top of that, he was well liked by every member of the body, and that is why we did appoint him. The appointment of Eva Whiting White we did hold up. That is where I want to make the correction. We had the lady brought in before the Executive Committee and questioned her as to her qualifications before she was passed on. As I remember, I voted for the appointment, although I may not have, I may have let it go along without voting at all. As far as Mr. Coleman is concerned, I don't know. The only thing I could say is that the three anonymous letters, which I didn't pay any attention to, told me that he is a friend of Curley's. If he is, he should get the appointment, because I believe in the spoils system. It has been neglected, sort of neglected here. We sort of neglected it today with "Edso" Carroll, who jumped from the Kerrigan bandwagon to the Curley bandwagon, for what reason I don't care. But I happen to have been a Curleyite all my life. All I did was walk, talk and sleep Curley. And I found myself walking in here two weeks ago to find him supporting a man for the presidency who was not with him. It kind of turned my stomach to find today that he was appointing "Edso" Carroll, who was against him. I want to refer while I am on my feet to an article in the Boston Herald. In this particular case I was misquoted. It said I made a statement that I didn't make any money under Tobin for five years. I said that. It said I didn't make any money under Kerrigan. I said that. Now, I wish to hell that I did. On top of it all, it said that I said, "Now, I suppose I won't make any bucks under Curley for four years." I didn't say that. The minutes of the meeting will bear me out. The proof is right in there. I could go on and say a lot of things if I want to, and I will, as time goes along. I have two long years. The statement Curley made in the Parker House I didn't like. He said he was going to run the city without the Council. He can't do it. He needs fifteen votes to pass the budget, and his salary will be in that budget, and if eight members here don't see fit to pass an appropriation for his own salary he can't draw it. That is how powerful he is. He is powerless without fifteen members of this Body, and the quicker eight or ten members get wise to themselves and let Curley and everybody else within the city know we are part of this city government the better. We have to run and be elected to office the same as he, and we are up here trying to do a good job, and, with the abuse and vilification we have been taking, I might say in another year we will be as bad as the Legislature if this keeps up. We are not as yet—not by a darned sight—but we will be if it keeps up. Getting back to housing, Councilor Linehan is evidently right. There is always something behind, some reasons, for somebody getting up on the floor and saying their little piece. I have hollered about housing and opposed housing. I never voted for it yet. I would say that the President of the Council this year has voted against housing. Another thing I didn't like about housing, Mr. President. They took one of their lots over in Charlestown and let it out as a parking lot, which, in my opinion, they had no right to do, because as far as I know—and I stand to be corrected if I am wrong—they never received any remuneration for letting that piece of land out as a parking lot. So that there are a lot of things going on in housing that we don't know about, and we do want men up there, as Councilor Linehan says, that are going to be honest. I am not questioning Coleman, because I don't know the man. The only thing I question about Coleman is his address, whether or not he is a Boston man. I am referring to the three pieces of mail that I got saying he is a resident of Newton. I want to make sure he is a resident of Boston and is up there going to do a good job for the citizens of Boston. And, as Councilor Linehan said, there are to be millions of dollars spent in the future, and I don't want anybody up there that might be a contractor and have some hidden partner getting the contracts that are coming out. I don't think that would be fair for the City of Boston.

The matter was referred to the Committee on Public Housing.

PER CAPITA GRANT TO CITIES AND TOWNS BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

Coun. LANE and MADDEN for Coun. FISH offered the following:

Whereas, The cost of supplies, materials and equipment has increased tremendously during recent years, and

Whereas, These increased costs are a major consideration in the conduct of any municipal government, and

Whereas, Any further increase in tax rates by municipalities will be beyond the ability of taxpayers to pay, therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston in meeting assembled, records its approval at the proposal of Mayor James M. Curley that the Federal Government grant a ten dollar per capita allowance to all cities and towns thereby protecting and preserving local government and preventing a confiscatory tax rate being in effect in all cities and towns.

Coun. MADDEN—Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I guess all the members here heard the Mayor discuss this matter on the day of his inauguration at the Parker House. I am heartily in accord with the Mayor's suggestion. We are going to have a pretty tough time here the next few years to cut down the taxes. There are a lot of things we must do, but there is one thing we cannot do. We cannot very well cut the salaries of city employees. God knows that few of them today are earning a living wage. It seems to me that this is quite appropriate, in view of the fact that the Treasurer of this United States, and the Secretary of State, tentatively agreed to give the British Empire some four and one half billions of dollars. I have no axe to grind with the English, the British, or any other foreign country. But I suggest to you gentlemen that he who in Washington would intimate that this is a loan is only trying to kid himself and kid the public. Those of us who read the papers, and I guess we all do, know full well that the British Parliament has already repudiated this loan. Now, if we had so much money in the treasury of the United States that we could give the British Government four billions of dollars, it seems to me that probably the time has come when we could cut down some of our Federal taxes. Perhaps Congress should get on the ball. After all, gentlemen, charity begins at home. World War I, we financed that for those European countries who were mixed up in that. Now, apparently, they want us to finance this one. We no sooner loan the British Government four billions of dollars when in will come the Russians, then the Chinese and the Frenchmen, and all of them. And in the meanwhile every city and town in America is plagued with taxes. It has been my privilege for the past year to visit and be a patient in a great many of our Army hospitals. If we have any treasury, gentlemen, I want to suggest to you that the boys who are languishing in these hospitals, men who probably never can or will leave the hospitals, are responsible for protecting and preserving that treasury. If this government has so much money to throw away, why not give some of it to these ten thousands of young men who are in local hospitals, in Cushing, Lovell, north, east and south, the three up at Devens, up at Waltham. I suggest to the members of Congress, to Mr. Vinson and Mr. Byrnes, it probably would be worth their while to go down to Valley Forge and walk through that hospital. Gentlemen, if that would not tear your hearts to pieces, I don't know what would. In the corridors of that hospital you will find perhaps four or five thousand boys, young men, kids, who were ripped out of their class rooms and out of their homes to go over there and fight that damnable war,—boys who never again will see. I don't know what we or anybody else can do to compensate the young man who has lost his sight. I don't know of anything more pitiful. I have seen boys at Deshon, Pittsburgh, Waltham, Cushing and Lovell, trying to get adjusted to new arms and new legs. I have seen boys out of Deshon trying to adjust themselves to these hearing aids,—great things. As soon as those boys are able to they will adjust themselves to the artificial legs and artificial hearing aids with which they will start out in the world. Now, gentlemen, I suggest, if we are going to give this money away, why not give it to those boys? Why not help them get their feet on the ground? They are American boys, young kids and your neighbors and my neighbors. They are the boys that saved that treasury while Mr. Byrnes and Mr. Vinson were dissipating it and giving it away. It is all right for us to be "good time Charlies." I lived with those people over there. I have soldiered overseas, and as long as we can give them anything we are swell fellows. But the moment your charity stops, then you are a bum. We saw that in 1919. The moment the war was over the British Government and every other government repudiated the money we had given them. I wonder if you men realize—and I have it on the authority of none other than "Believe It or Not" Ripley—that during this past war our government gave the Russian government 65,000 more vehicles than they gave the United States Army. I wonder if you realize that our government gave the British government 2,000 more tanks than we had. I wonder if you gentlemen realize that you can travel throughout the English countryside and see mountains of supplies, supplies of every nature. You will see truck depots, food depots, clothing depots. They are not little stores. They are huge, they are huge. And so I suggest to you that I think it is incumbent upon those of us who have some say in our various cities and towns to jack up Congress and let them know that we cannot see eye to eye with this "good time Charlie-ship," and I think the most constructive thing that has been advanced along that line has been the suggestion of our Mayor, that if we have so much money to give away perhaps it would not be a bad idea to have the President declare a $10 per capita grant and give the various cities and towns the money. We could use it, and we would appreciate it. If they are going to give away loans, perhaps they might loan us a few hundred dollars here. And if they did, we could wipe out the North and South Stations and have them joined under the Common. Perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea to get a couple of million dollars and run a tunnel from South Boston, from City Point, over to the airport, to help the traffic situation. We could have the circular traffic that the Mayor has already suggested from Dartmouth street over across to Charles River. God knows, we could sit down and think of a great many things, a great many ways, that we could use the money here. And I suggest to you gentlemen that I think the Mayor's suggestion is very commendable, and I am happy to introduce this resolution.

Coun. LANE—Speaking on the order, Mr. President. Mr. President and members of the Body, I heartily concur and agree with the remarks, well-timed as they are, of my fellow councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Madden). I had the pleasure of being present at the Copley Plaza Hotel a week ago Saturday night at the testimonial dinner in honor of Postmaster General Hannigan, at which time his Honor James M. Curley once again stole the show, in the opinion of those fifteen hundred persons present, when, as concluding speaker of the evening, he brought out in very forceful fashion the fact that he was going to introduce a resolution in the national House of Congress, and appeal to President Truman to issue a Federal grant to every city and town in the United States of $10 per person. In the latest census figures of the United States, released to the press less than two weeks ago, it indicates that we now have in this country 140,000,000 people. We can all readily multiply in our minds the fact that a $10 Federal grant, with no strings attached to it, just an outright gift, over the next two years of $10 per person each year would entail an expenditure on the part of our Federal government of in the vicinity of three billion dollars. Councilor Madden has brought out in a very pointed fashion the fact of his observations while overseas in this World War II. As a member overseas of the United States Naval Destroyer forces, in World War I, I observed the same conditions, and can recall to my mind actively the feeling of good fellowship which existed in each of the foreign nations as long as Santa Claus lived in Washington. We know only one foreign country that lived up to its obligations, little Finland, and all the others gave us the laugh. And I hope now, with the condition as perilous as it is in many of our cities and towns in the United States, that our kind-hearted Uncle Sam in Washington will realize that charity should begin at home, and save the ship for the cities and towns of the United States, who so urgently need financial assistance and recognition. I hope, gentlemen, that every member of this august Body will agree to suspension of the rule to allow immediate passage of this resolution, so that we may send it to our members in the national House of Representatives, urging immediate action.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

INSTALLATION OF TRAFFIC LIGHTS, WARD 22.

Coun. MADDEN offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be directed by his Honor the Mayor to immediately arrange for the installation of pedestrian-actuated traffic lights at Cambridge and Windom streets, and at the junction of Lincoln and Franklin streets, Ward 22.

Coun. MADDEN—We have in our section, I guess, the same traffic hazards that each of you gentlemen has in his particular ward. These two streets that I have particular reference to in orders already introduced are perhaps the worst localities in Ward 22. Both Cambridge street and Lincoln street are race tracks. In this past year alone there have been three men killed on Lincoln street and one man killed on Cambridge street. That fact in itself, gentlemen, suggests that we have a terrible condition out there, and for that reason I recommend to you the passage of this order.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

NORTH BENNET STREET BATH HOUSE.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:
Ordered, That the Building Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inspect the North Bennet Street Bath House with a view to determine the physical structure and condition of same.

Coun. RUSSO—The reason for my presenting this order, Mr. President, is that there is a feeling around the district that this is a very old building, with which I heartily agree. So in order to determine whether or not other action be taken to improve the condition that exists down there at the present time, I feel that I should have a report from the Building Department saying that the physical structure of this bath house is in very good condition or otherwise. We have down in the North End, as most of you gentlemen know, a housing shortage, and the condition of the existing housing is not up to good standards. As I have stated in the Council time and time again, unless something is done we cannot blame the residents—not only of the North End or in my district, but in other districts of the City of Boston—if they seek other housing elsewhere outside the city limits. They have not bathing facilities, and some homes have not even got lavatory conditions that they should have. Naturally they depend upon this bath house to go into in order to take a shower because after you have worked a good day's work, naturally you feel you want to go in and take a shower. Still, conditions exist there whereby they have separated that, and on certain days it is only for men, and on certain days it is only for women. I wonder if it wouldn't be possible to erect a bath house that would be open to the public for men, women and children six days of the week. And that is why I am asking for a report on the physical structure, to find out whether or not any improvements could take place in this bath house, and if the report is no, then I ask his Honor the Mayor to include in his budget sufficient money whereby a new bath house could be erected in my district.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SUGGESTED APPOINTMENT OF SECRETARY TO STATISTICS BUREAU.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the qualifications of former City Councilor Thomas G. J. Shannon in the appointment of a successor to Edward O'Dowd, late secretary of the Statistics Bureau of the City of Boston.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SURVEY OF LIGHTING FACILITIES IN MATTAPAN, HYDE PARK AND READVILLE.

Coun. CANTWELL offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the Commissioner of Public Works to immediately make a survey of the lighting facilities in the Mattapan, Hyde Park and Readville sections of Boston, and to arrange for the installation of electric lights to replace any and all gas lights.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ACCEPTANCE OF NEWBURN STREET, WARD 18.

Coun. CANTWELL offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out as a public highway, Newburn street, Ward 18, from Ramsdell street to Collins street.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ACCEPTANCE OF LITLEDAL STREET, WARD 18.

Coun. CANTWELL offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out as a public highway, Littledale street, Ward 18.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS, JAMAICA PLAIN.

Coun. McCORMACK offered the following:

Ordered, That the Boston Traffic Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to erect traffic lights at the junction of Brown avenue and Cummins Highway, Roslindale, and Centre street and Louder's lane, Jamaica Plain.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REMOVAL OF TRAFFIC CIRCLE, JAMAICA PLAIN.

Coun. McCORMACK offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to remove the traffic circle at the corner of May and Centre streets, Jamaica Plain, due to the fact that it is a traffic hazard.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

NAMING OF TRAFFIC CIRCLE, ARBORWAY AND CENTRE STREET.

Coun. McCORMACK and MORIARTY offered the following:

Ordered, That the rotary traffic circle at the Arborway and Centre street, Jamaica Plain, be named Veterans Memorial Circle, and that suitable signs be erected designating same; also that a flagpole be erected on this plot.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN, EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

President KELLY announced the appointment of Councilor McCORMACK as temporary chairman of the Executive Committee.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. RUSSO, the Council voted at 3.15 p. m. to take a recess, subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled and were called to order by President KELLY at 5 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. McCORMACK, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) appropriating $85,000 for Assessing Department—that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order, and the order was passed, yeas 17, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Bryan, Carey, Chase, Cook, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, Linehan, Madden, McCormack, Moriarty, Russo, Seannell, Sullivan—17.

Nays—0.

2. Report on message of Mayor and ordinance concerning establishment of Veterans Rehabilitation Division in Soldiers' Relief Department—that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the ordinance.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President, for the last five years there has been no more popular topic of discussion than that of helping the veterans. There has been active legislation, both national, state and city, that doubtless has had the desired good effect, but we often wonder with what seriousness that legislation was enacted as we find today parading our streets silently, as civilians, thousands of young men, many of whom have not got the arm or the leg or the eye today that they had when they put the uniform on. Thousands of men seeking the most important thing in this life, from the standpoint of each and every one of us—employment—in order that they might keep body and soul together. We have before us today this matter of accepting this ordinance in order that we might do our little part towards doing something for that veteran, and I dare say at this very moment there are walking up and down School street, some of them, who still are looking for the job that they were told they were going to get as a reward for their meritorious service. There isn't a man in this Council but what wants to do everything he can to help the veteran in being properly rehabilitated, not only physically, but economically, through obtaining work for that veteran, in every way and at the earliest possible moment. We all are for this ordinance, and I think it is a shame that on a matter so important as this is that this Council does not take at least a little time in order that we might assure ourselves that everything that might be done will be done, and expeditiously, in order that the veteran may be taken care of, physically as well as economically. I am for this ordinance, but in voting for it I am sorry that I might be denied the opportunity of hearing more evidence, or at least of having more evidence presented before the Committee on Ordinances, for the sole purpose of which, of course, a matter of this kind demanded that an ordinance committee be organized within the City Council. But what do we find? And I hold no animosity towards the councilors who have already shown their willingness to vote it through immediately. But, in fairness to those who came into this Council two weeks ago, I feel that haste in a matter of this kind should be avoided, and that those new councilors might be helped in finding out for themselves, and assuring themselves, that by their vote today they are doing something constructive for the veteran. How many times, Mr. President,—and you have been in this Body just as long as I have been—have we found out that matters hastily acted upon could have been improved upon if more time were taken in considering them? I want to see everything possible done for those veterans, but we can easily forget them by too hasty action. And we don't wonder that today there are hundreds of thousands of them, some 6,000 to 9,000—or some 4,000 to 9,000—miles away from home, begging to be brought back to that place that they call home, and where they want to be, and who would be home tonight undoubtedly if proper consideration were given at the proper time to legislation which would be helping them and would have helped them, rather, before now. I suppose one might say that you are trying to decorate or flower up your subject too much in commending the veteran, that you can sum it up in a few words by saying that the best that can be done is none too good for that veteran. I have had them coming to me, some of those who have come back and who have returned to civilian life, who want work, who want rehabilitation of one kind or another. And when those young men came to me, naturally, as every member of this Council feels, I wanted to do everything possible to help them. But you can't tell me,

Mr. President, that by postponing this matter for one week there isn't a possibility that some good suggestion might come about from some source, either from the veterans organizations themselves or possibly from some member of this Body, that might improve the value and the effect of this ordinance. There isn't a man in this Body that would vote against this ordinance. In effect, it is supposed to help the veteran. But I certainly feel that the ordinance could be improved upon, in that we might be given an opportunity to find out and assure ourselves if in some way more effective work can be done to give that veteran proper hospitalization or to expedite the matter of placing him in a job. Of course, I am going to vote for this ordinance. Frankly, and I dare say it is true of every member of this Body, I don't know all about it that I would like to know. But to vote against it, your action would be construed as being antagonistic to the welfare of the veteran, and I for one want to do everything I can to help him.

Coun. SULLIVAN—I move reference to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. Chairman, Mr. President, as recently as last spring we had weeks and weeks of conversations here pertaining to something about the veteran, about the establishment of an ordinance to remove automobiles from the streets in snowstorms, and we had some more conversation on a clam digging ordinance. To every experienced member in this Body—I mean sixteen of them, the other six having come in for the first time two weeks ago—to every experienced member of this Body, it was known that those ordinances stemmed from a condition that an individual councilor had been asked to create—as in the case of the clam digging ordinance, or as in the case of the Public Works Commissioner who wanted the ordinance brought up to permit him to remove vehicles from the street. Those were ordinances that originated in the Boston City Council. This ordinance we are debating today is made up, if we vote on it and approve it, of two parts. It is made up, on the one part, of a department that already exists, and on the other part, of a department that actually is not a department and does not exist, but is designed to become a division of a department already in existence. The debate which we had last spring was for the purpose of purifying and perfecting, as far as humanly possible, something that originated with us. There is no purification of this because, until we accept it, it is not an ordinance. We cannot amend it. We cannot revise it. We cannot offer one change in it, because it is a legislative act passed by the parent body of this organization. What the ordinance will do is simply and solely to turn over to the complete jurisdiction of the Soldiers' Relief what will then be a division that originally was probably intended to be a department. The duties and privileges, if I may use that word, are carefully and sharply defined in the legislative act. There is nothing here debatable except acceptance or rejection of that department that is not a department becoming a division of the Soldiers' Relief. Now, we have been told by Councilor Carey out here as well as inside that the agents of the established veterans organizations ought to come down here for the purpose of helping us to arrive at a decision. As Councilor Carey knows, as all of you know, that legislative act would not have cleared the House and Senate if it did not contain features completely satisfactory to the veteran groups. What can they offer now by way of improvement, since those of us who have been in the Legislature know that when these organizations, what are commonly called pressure groups, get behind legislation, there isn't a vote in the committee, there isn't a minute's consideration given by a member of a committee to which it has been referred. We are now taking those sponsors into the confidence of the committee for the purpose of straining and sifting out any impurities and all illegalities. We haven't a choice, councilor, except acceptance or rejection. Councilor Carey at the outset of his remarks said that for five or six years the motive has been veterans and their problems. That is right. And we are not the only ones interested in veterans. Everyone that I have yet come in contact with is still interested, regardless of how they may feel in the years to come. If there is the change that was noticeably apparent after the last war, it won't come for a few years yet. But this ordinance does give them something, in that it affiliates as a division a set-up probably originally designed as a department. It gives them something. It does not abolish. We are not dealing with the merits of an already established organization with the vote on abolition before us. That does not enter into it, because it was never accepted; we have nothing to abolish. It is true we have turned over money to them to function, exactly as we turned over $25,000 to Mayor Tobin's Veteran Center at the Houghton and Dutton building two years or so ago. But it was not a department. It was a service, paid for out of the City of Boston's treasury, to help those then returning in various shades of physical disability, to get the start again to which they were richly entitled. Now, all we have here to decide is not that we are going to abolish something or keep something alive. The question is not on abolishing, because it does not. It simply and solely puts what was intended as a department perhaps within the complete jurisdiction of the greater body of the Soldiers' Relief Department. No one need apologize for opposing it out here. I think that the veterans themselves would like to feel that somewhere in public life there are men who can oppose those things if they honestly believe they ought to oppose them. But to repeat the phrase used by Councilor Carey,—he says no one is going to vote against it. I don't think that they ought to. But if they think they ought to, there is no sense in their going along against their will and their wish and their conscience. I see in my mind two things to consider. The creation of this thing by virtue of the parent organization, where there is already trained personnel and to which undoubtedly more will be added; and then the positive effect it will have on creating a place to which they can go, and that meets your requirement, councilor. And I hope that this is not referred to Ordinances, and that it wins final approval here today.

Coun. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I was wondering if the gentleman from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella) would explain to us what chapters of the Acts of 1945 this ordinance is in connection with. As I understand the Acts, or the bill that the veterans organization sponsored in the Legislature, it was that any veterans service center wouldn't have anything to do or any connection with the relief organization. I wonder can he answer it?

Coun. KINSELLA—Well, Mr. President, in answering Councilor Sullivan I would say that from my knowledge of the Acts there is only one thing that the act of 1945 prohibits doing for the veterans that the Soldiers' Relief already can do, and that is to give cash grants. The Soldiers' Relief can give cash grants. This organization, or this unit, will be set up primarily for services that follow along the line of medical examination and medical reference, depending upon the condition of the applicant. It will be a job-seeking unit to which he can have recourse. It will offer him, free of charge, legal advice, and I presume—I don't say this finally—I presume that in some sort of cases will probably offer him counsel in court, if necessary. That is a presumption. I don't make that as a statement. The only feature that probably it doesn't contain, but which may connote relief, is the feature already given by law to the Soldiers' Relief, that of giving cash grants, pecuniary grants. That is the only fundamental difference. But it does perform some functions that the Soldiers' Relief now does not perform.

Coun. SULLIVAN—I asked for the number of the act.

Coun. KINSELLA—The act number is in our report, as Councilor Sullivan knows. His whole purpose in asking that question is to ask a compromising question. He knows on other matters he could not supply the answer himself. If the precedent is going to be established here of badgering a man as to the number of an act, then we had all better refresh ourselves on the General Laws as they pertain to municipalities. It doesn't matter what the number is. We are concerned with the provisions of the act, and not with No. 1 or No. 1,000 or No. 1,000,000.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President.

President KELLY—Councilor Linehan, not having spoken.

Coun. SULLIVAN—Mr. President.

Coun. LINEHAN—I yield.

Coun. SULLIVAN—I am not badgering anybody on acts and numbers. He spoke fluently, as though he knew them right from the beginning and the whole ins and outs of this ordinance. I agree that I don't know, and I don't know the acts, either. But because you know them, is that any reason why this should be rushed through here today? There are twenty-one others, and I am one, that don't know, and I think I am entitled to know. And I am not getting up on the floor pushing anything through, whether it is important or not. I am one of the other twenty-one members trying to find if one member has some knowledge of an ordinance. I think he is out of order. And I don't know why there was a change of heart, with a very slender vote of "Yes, this will be referred to the Committee on Ordinances." This thing here is nothing more than trying to place members on the spot, and this is one man here that can place a member on the spot. I want to find out and see that the ordinance is justified, and see that it is going to be a proper ordinance. And, with all due respect to the Soldiers' Relief Commissioner, we should turn this down now, because he was bargaining with a doctor, a doctor that is going to treat the veterans, and you are hollering for a veterans doctor for $3,500, and he was trying to bargain with him for $2,500. God knows what kind of a doctor he is. For God's sake, gentlemen, that is reason enough that this ordinance should go to the Committee on Ordinances. We certainly haven't got the power to take it away. Here is an ordinance, and we have a qualified chairman of the Ordinance Committee who took a three months' course before he was discharged from the service. He knew how to handle these discharged veterans. You couldn't vote anybody into this organization here and ask them to handle the veterans. You need men of experience. And our chairman of the Ordinance Committee is well qualified to question the chairman of the Soldiers' Relief Commission on the kind and type of persons who are going to handle these veterans. There were twenty on the previous board, handling at the rate of 300 a day, which is approximately handling about 40 or 50 each, for each one of those individuals. You know as well as I do you can't give only one or two minutes to an individual. Some may take an hour or two hours. And what can we do on this new board, where they formerly had twenty, and a doctor for $2,500 a year? I think there was enough brought out in the executive chamber to give the members of the Committee on Ordinances enough to go through. You say we can't help them. We can help them by fighting this ordinance, holding this ordinance up. And we can hold it over the Mayor's head, and let the veterans organizations go with the Mayor. We can help the movement. That is what you can do, if you have guts enough to hold up the ordinance and make the Mayor move first. You have the power here and why not give this thing a decent and honest hearing, so that each and every one of us will know what we are voting on? And I move that this ordinance here go to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, I was one of those members in the executive session that voted that this be referred to the Committee on Ordinances, and it seems to me this is a time when we should get up and voice why, before some of us might be publicized we were against the so-called veterans service rehabilitation division. I think it is important that we list why we think it should be turned over to the Committee on Ordinances to have a good hearing, where different veterans organizations can come in with duly organized agents and present reasons why or why not this particular ordinance is the one to pass. Now, it seems to me that there are many veterans in the city who might be interested in this ordinance. Up to now, I, as a veteran and member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, have not had one soul come to me to intercede for this ordinance. Now, I am going to vote for this ordinance, but before I vote for it I would like to get more information than we secured in the Executive session. As we all know, we had the Commissioner of Soldiers' Relief before us. I asked him the following questions, if I recollect them correctly: I asked him when the so-called veterans bureau board, or committee, or service center, was abolished. It was abolished by his Honor the Mayor—or whatever words you want,—whether it was abolished or whether it was shut off—shut off because of lack of funds—it merely means abolished, regardless of what words are used,—wiped out because of no funds. And it certainly must have been a legal act because it had been functioning for some months. I haven't heard of any appropriations made for that particular organization. Therefore, I am assuming, because it has been in existence for some time, that it must be legal, or otherwise up to now some taxpayer would have objected. I asked the Commissioner on Soldiers' Relief in there what functions they would perform. Mr. President, I frankly did not get a satisfactory answer. I asked him how many employees he would require in the so-called new sub-division of his department, and he didn't know. Well, it seems to me if the Soldiers' Relief Commissioner himself doesn't know, then it is about time that somebody, such as veterans organizations, through their duly organized representatives, come before him, and come before the Committee on Ordinances, and suggest what type of an organization is best for the veterans, not for his Honor the Mayor, who has submitted to us the ordinance. What is best for the veterans, that is what I want to hear. And his Honor the Mayor, in his wisdom, abolished it a week or so ago. I don't just know when. If he saw fit to abolish it, then he must have done it for a reason, and I am assuming it is because of economy or because he thinks it wasn't functioning properly for the veterans. I haven't heard anything to that effect yet. All I know is that he abolished it. Now, if I remember correctly, I haven't had one veteran come up to me to say that the organization, or whatever you might call it, was performing the service that this act is now trying to correct—I never had one adverse criticism against the conduct or the way that particular service center was being conducted. Now, if it is abolished because of political appointments down there, that is one thing. Good luck to them. Abolished because they were political appointments, but what is the staff to have? More and more political appointments on this particular body? Is there anything in the act that the employees won't be selected from duly authorized civil service lists? I want them prepared so that the veterans will come at the top of the lists, to get the jobs on any newly-created department in the city. I don't want the Mayor or anybody else to take any Tom, Dick or Harry, or anybody he sees fit and put them in this newly-created department. I want them to come in on lists that come from the State House, and if there is any job to be appointed I want all the veterans, disabled veterans, to get a shot at the job so that the department will be manned by well-qualified men and women. Has any man in here got any assurance from the Mayor he will select any member from the civil service list? I pause for an answer. There is no answer. And I say until some provision is put into this ordinance we should not vote for it. Now, why do I say I will vote to put this into the Committee on Ordinances? So we can get the answer to those questions that are bothering us at a duly authorized meeting, which can be held on Friday of this week. We can have veterans organizations represented. We can have the Mayor send up his Soldiers' Relief Commissioner and tell us in more detail, giving business answers to business questions. Let us start running this city as he said he would run it, in a businesslike manner. And I sincerely hope this is put into the Committee on Ordinances, so we will have a good ordinance, so the veterans will be first on the list to take positions.

Coun. KINSELLA—Well, there has been much said by both Councilors Sullivan and Linehan that is entirely deserving of merit, in spite of the heat in which the things were said. I suppose we would be robots if we didn't show some heat on some matters. But only a week ago we heard four representatives of the Committee on Recreation say that of eighty-seven of the workers seventy were veterans, and all you older councilors, with one exception, were present in that Executive room. I know that you were present when Paul Feeney asked that the jobs on the Recreation Board be reserved for veterans. And it was on the acceptance of his motion and the support that we gave him, implied or open, that he voted to accept it, I believe. In any case, he voted positively on whatever question was then before the Body simply because the rider had been put in that veterans and veterans only be given preference. Then we find out when it is abolished—mind you, not while it is still functioning—we find out when it is abolished that seventeen of the eighty-seven are nonveterans, and they were getting as little as $30 a week. That is $5,100 every week that the veterans were not getting. I don't believe in that condition. It is intolerable. And I don't believe where this division would become a permanent part of this Soldiers' Relief that by the law of veterans' preference you would find a nonveteran in there. There is no service they can perform for him since it is a veterans' center, and any work done there must be given exclusively to veterans of this war, if that is the requirement, or veterans generally speaking, if that is the requirement. There are none of you who are opposing my stand in the matter who are any more vehement on the question of salting them away at a substantial week's salary, the more substantial the better, 100 per cent, than I am. And this Council has always been in favor of that since I came in, in 1942, and the war conditions had just descended upon us. And I say that to the eternal credit of the personnel that composed this Council from 1942 to 1945. And now starting out with fresh component parts, the same spirit prevails. But those seventeen jobs went astray, and I didn't have anyone on the Recreation Board. I had none. There were no Charlestown people on it. I hadn't any of them. And how did the seventeen creep in? The best excuse we have heard in there came from the lips of a nonveteran. This is all pertinent to the discussion. His answer was, "Well, when you get a newly functioning outfit like that, a few here and there will get in." We were told to accept them, those of us who were bosses. We didn't question the status, but all eighty-seven could have been veterans. Here we had a substantially less figure to contend with. Eight, we are told. It won't be eight, everyone here knows, because four of them alone were specified as clerks and stenographers. They are not going to be consultants. As for the old timer at the age of seventy who is willing to ply his trade at about $7 a day, I am willing to say—that is, not knowing him, I don't know who he is and I don't care—not all of the three hundred will go down there any given day on the requirement of extension of examination. How many of them will require it, I don't know, but I think that they have a little more regard for the physical condition in which they are today than to go down to a department like that expecting to get a complete physical check-up when they can go to a veterans hospital and get it, or a family physician for $2 and get it. But if they are doctors, I am in full accord that we have an adequate number, possibly of younger doctors, and undoubtedly more return to them in salary than $2,500 a year. They have a highly specialized knowledge and skill, and ought to be paid in proportion. But that doesn't get around the fact that we are doing anything negative to the veteran; we are doing something positive. We are keeping alive something that has been functioning, in the words of Councilor Hannon. It has been functioning, and undoubtedly to the satisfaction of all concerned. But if the Mayor chooses to exercise his charter rights in this matter and absorb it, not in the structure of city departments, but as a division of city departments, he is asking you to go along with him. Some of you don't agree with him. Next week I may not agree with you when supporting something he wants. Councilor Linehan showed great concern about the shift in votes. There was no shift in votes. It was simply six or seven boys don't choose to answer, and their silence denotes approval. And when consideration was approved and I said a few words on the question, they then became vocal in expressing their votes. I was in there as long as anybody, except for a few minutes that I took to get a drink of water. No one came out with me. I was alone at all times in the three minutes that I came out, and then returned. There isn't anything significant in expressing a vote you are sent here to express. Of course, if they want to rise up now and suffer another change of heart, that is entirely up to themselves. They are very free to do it, and they will work no hardship on anyone. And if I wanted to change my vote, undoubtedly I could justify it. I could claim I was deferring to superior opinion, and it would certainly satisfy the opposition. I would like to see this go along. It is ten minutes of six, and in four years you have never heard me press a point so much. It is because we have got something. Let us give it to the fellows we are always talking about, and let the authorities presently located at 18 Oliver street carry out the function to the best of their ability. If they don't they can suffer the penalty.

Coun. HANNON—As long as the gentleman from Charlestown (Coun. Kinsella) has called attention to the fact that it is ten minutes of six, I will take judicial notice of it and restrict my remarks and finish before six o'clock.

President KELLY—Take as much time as you want, counselor.

Coun. HANNON—Thank you for the privilege, Mr. President. I intend, Mr. President, both to vote and to vote to send this matter to the Committee on Ordinances. I don't believe that we are very far apart on this. It is one matter on which there is unanimity, if not of judgment, at least of conclusion. We did agree that we are going to vote for something for the veterans. The only thing is, some of us seem more concerned about taking a little more time and being sure that we give the veterans something worth-while, rather than to rush through something which has been presented to us today and which, in the message of the Mayor, contained no words calling for speedy or immediate action. Thereby it is agreed that we will do what we can for the veteran. We have been hollering that for years, and I think each and every one of us has agreed, too, that as far as most of us are concerned, it has resulted in empty words. We have a chance here, they tell us, to do something for the veteran. And I agree with it. But in doing something for the veteran, I think we should be guided by those men who are the acknowledged leaders of the veterans. Those men who represent the veterans in the halls of Congress, or in the legislative chambers of the State House. And yet we down here are not even going to give those men the chance to come down here and express their views, or come down here and suggest to us what they would like us to do on behalf of the veterans. We had some such set-up—that is, it might have been a department, it might have been operating under the jurisdiction of the Mayor's office. How it operated does not bother. What it did was what counts. And as far as I know, when it was in operation it did a 100 per cent job on any veteran from my district who went down there. Now, if we are trying to aid the veteran, the man who should be considered is the veteran himself, and yet we are rushing through here today something that we are not even consulting a veteran on. What harm is there if we wait until Thursday, or if we wait until Friday, and bring in some of these G I's? Let them tell us what they would like in this bureau. Let them tell us what they look for when they go to these rehabilitation centers. Then I think we could act intelligently. But, for some reason or other, I don't like to say it is to curry favor with those in authority—but for some reason or other everybody seems anxious to jump onto the bandwagon and to push through, hell bent for election, this little matter that has been sent to us from downstairs. Well, I think his Honor the Mayor deserves credit for trying to establish or re-establish this bureau. I believe we need it. But I believe, too, that the legislative agents of such organizations as the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the veterans of this war, in their various organizations, those representatives are better versed than we or anybody in the Hall as to what kind of an ordinance they need, as to what kind of a department they wish to have set up. The act that they presented last year to the Legislature distinctly stated that any set-up regarding the veterans rehabilitation was to consist of a distinct and separate department. For some reason or other they didn't want it in another department, and specifically they stated that they wanted it distinct and separate from any veterans' organization which was dealing in welfare. And yet we here today are going right ahead, and are going to put this sub-division into the Soldiers' Relief Department, the very department that those men who get paid for representing the veterans declared they didn't want this division to be put into. And how can we justify such action? Merely on the ground that we are speeding it through. Well, I believe in the old axiom, "Haste makes waste," and I still think it is better to move slowly and cautiously and accomplish something than to go ahead, headlong, and accomplish nothing. By referring it to Ordinances, we can have a hearing, we have been told by the Chairman, on next Friday. We will have there representatives of the various veterans organizations. We will have there G I's, men who have received favors and courtesies and treatment at the previous bureau that was set up in the City. We can probably from them learn corrective measures. We can probably find out what was lacking in the previous bureau. We can probably correct any mistakes that have been made in the past. We will be functioning as we are supposed to function. We will be functioning as the Boston City Council. An ordinance, or change in an ordinance, should go through the Committee on Ordinances. And when no haste is necessary, when nobody is going to suffer because of the lack of haste, why run headlong along, unless, as I say, we are trying to curry favor?

President KELLY—The Chair would like to clear up some remarks. The letter reads:

"I transmit for your consideration this ordinance, and I recommend its immediate passage by your Honorable Body, in order that there may be no interruption in the carrying on of those services of vital necessity to our veterans." That is why I referred it to Executive.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President.

President KELLY—Are you speaking on the matter of referring to the Committee on Ordinances?

Coun. LINEHAN—A point of parliamentary inquiry.

President KELLY—State your point of parliamentary inquiry.

Coun. LINEHAN—Is it appropriate at this time to offer an amendment to the ordinance?

President KELLY—It is not, counselor.

Coun. LINEHAN—It seems to me—couldn't the amendment be offered and couldn't it go into the Committee on Ordinances with the original ordinance?

President KELLY—An ordinance submitted by the Mayor cannot be amended, counselor. It has either to be accepted or rejected. The question now comes on referring to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, frankly I am all at sea in regard to that ruling. I, personally, have an amendment here to that ordinance which I think his Honor the Mayor would gladly receive, and therefore amend the ordinance which he has presented. And it is as follows: "All the employees of the Veterans Rehabilitation Division shall be veterans selected under civil service rules from a duly authorized civil service list applicable to Boston." And I certainly would like to ask the Clerk, through you, Mr. President, if there is any legal way we can get this in so as to get it to the Mayor before this ordinance is passed?

President KELLY—I am informed, counselor, that the Council can submit a separate ordinance containing those amendments, but it cannot amend the present ordinance submitted by the Mayor.

Coun. LINEHAN—I can't offer this ordinance at the present time?

President KELLY—As a separate ordinance.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President, just as a thought, but I want to express this that I had in my mind. I think it is all the more reason why this matter should go to the Committee on Ordinances, that the Committee on Ordinances should contact his Honor the Mayor to see if his Honor the Mayor would not be only too glad to resubmit the ordinance with the amendment suggested by Counselor Linehan. Another reason why there shouldn't be too much haste used here today. Unfortunately, Mr. President, it might be construed in some quarters that to vote to send this matter to the Committee on Ordinances might be interpreted as being against his Honor the Mayor. In this particular matter, I don't think there is any member of this Council, in voting to send it to Ordinances, that would care to have his vote construed in that respect. Now, I think a great deal of the councilor from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella), and I recall distinctly when the matter was put to a voice vote at the Executive Committee meeting that the vote was preponderantly against accepting this measure today. Unfortunately—and I say that and mean it, in so far as the Executive Committee meetings are concerned—when the Council was on the spot, the vote, I believe, was 8 to 7 in favor of accepting this ordinance immediately. I don't think it was fair to ask for a roll call vote in the Executive Committee, for I am sure, particularly in so far as the new members of this Council are concerned, that you are feeling your way, just as I had to do nine years ago. I don't think it was fair to demand that they be put on the spot immediately and be denied the opportunity to see, if possible, if a week's delay might better the acceptance of this ordinance. We were told in Executive Committee by one of our members that an employee of the Soldiers' Relief Department, after listening to 100 cases in one day, collapsed from heart failure. We were also told in Executive Committee meeting that the number of employees in the Soldiers' Relief Department would be reduced. Now, if the work up there was of such a nature, such a voluminous nature, that one employee had to interview 100 cases a day, which was too much, what might we expect with a reduction in the number of personnel up there? Comment has been made here regarding the doctor who it is contemplated to employ up there. If I recall distinctly, we were told in executive meeting that this doctor is now working for $3,500 a year, yet he is willing to take this position at $2,500 a year. I have my grave doubts that the best interests of the veterans are being cared for, when a man is willing to reduce his price $1,000 in a matter that means so much to the care and protection of those veterans. Surely, and particularly at the present time, when there must be hundreds and hundreds of cases that come to that bureau daily, medical cases, a man should at least think as much of his services as far as the veterans are concerned, as he thought of them when he was catering to civilians. It is most unfortunate, particularly so far as new members of this Council are concerned, that pressure has been used here today to expedite the acceptance of this ordinance. If—I reluctantly say this—immediate action is necessary on it, then why were the services of the former reception center discontinued? If it is so vitally necessary that we use all haste in getting this new set-up functioning, in order that work might be found and rehabilitation might be made possible for these veterans, then why wasn't the old set-up allowed to function until the Council had an opportunity to either accept or reject this ordinance? It is a pity that in the course of our attempts to have sane and sensible consideration given to a matter, to any matter as a matter of fact, that we are forced to suspiciously criticize a request that comes before us. I certainly do hope that this matter will go to Ordinances, particularly so that the new members of the City Council may have an opportunity to hear information that certainly is vitally necessary for them in connection with the acceptance of it.

Coun. MADDEN—Mr. President, I am heartily in favor of anything that will expedite the care, assistance and welfare of the veteran. I am heartily in accord with the principle that all matters should be referred to committees. However, gentlemen, I have just gone through a rotten war. I have gone through with your sons and with a great many members here. And I have heard those boys talk from one end of Europe to the other. "This is the way they do back in the States. They give us lip service." I cast no reflections on any member of this Body. They are all my friends, and I think they are all great fellows, but I just want to suggest to the men the attitude of the boys in the hospitals. And I, for one, am heartily in favor of expediting anything that can save a veteran one hour's anguish. There is no need of kidding ourselves here. We know why the Mayor abolished it. We also know that the Mayor is sincere in his efforts to try to help the veterans. I don't know if we had fifty committee meetings that we would have one scintilla of evidence that would enlighten us on anything that we don't already know. The only question I can see—maybe I am wrong, Mr. President—but the only purpose I can see in delaying this would be to embarrass the Commissioner, and probably deny some veteran help that he sorely needed. I think that perhaps the last place a veteran would go would be to the Soldiers' Relief. They don't go there unless they need help. We have the word of the Commissioner that they are taking care of 300 and 400 cases a day there. I say to you that if one service man suffers, if one service man is delayed, that fault rests with us, and I, for one, am heartily in accord with passing this with all speed.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President, not having spoken on this ordinance on the floor, in regard to referring this to Executive, each and every one of us listened to the Commissioner today, and I am satisfied that this ordinance carries sufficient explanation to send it through. As Councilor Madden has well said, we cannot wait even an hour in giving a lot of lip service—

Coun. LINEHAN—Will the gentleman yield for a question?

President KELLY—Does the councilor yield for a question?

Coun. SCANNELL—I yield.

Coun. LINEHAN—I would like to ask the gentleman from South Boston (Coun. Scannell) if he would like an amendment to the ordinance that is being talked about, to the following effect: "All the employees of the Veterans' Rehabilitation Division shall be veterans selected under civil service rules from a duly authorized civil service list, applicable to Boston?"

Coun. SCANNELL—I certainly, at the right time, shall vote for it when the amendment comes in.

President KELLY—Does that answer your question?

Coun. LINEHAN—I would like to ask a further question. When does he think the proper time is? Does he think it is today?

Coun. SCANNELL—I believe it comes from the right authority if it comes from the members today, and he can present it and I will vote for it.

Coun. LINEHAN—I would like to ask a further question. I would like to ask the gentleman from Ward 6 (Coun. Scannell) if he would like to vote on this today or next week, along with the rest of the ordinance?

Coun. SCANNELL—I think I have answered that, counselor. If it is presented today I would be glad to vote.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, a point of parliamentary inquiry. Can I move to lay this amendment on the table and then submit the ordinance with this amendment?

President KELLY—Well, Councilor Scannell has yielded the floor for a question to you.

Coun. LINEHAN—I just rose on a point of parliamentary inquiry.

President KELLY—I would be glad to recognize you for that motion if Councilor Scannell is through.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. KINSELLA—A point of order, Mr. President.

President KELLY—State your point of order.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, may I ask the Clerk, through you, if the offer of the amendment would not have the effect of amending a legislative act, which the Mayor cannot do, since it is an extension of a legislative act under which the department was created?

President KELLY—Wait just a minute now, counselor, please. Will you state your question once again?

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I would ask the Clerk, through you, if the presentation of an amendment would not have the effect of offering an amendment to a legislative act which originally set up the service men's center, and which the Mayor and Council lack the authority to do, if they cannot amend a legislative act.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President.

President KELLY—One at a time, counselor. I want to be fair. Well, the City Clerk informs me he would like to reserve an opinion on the question. It is a little bit complicated.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. RUSSO—A point of order, Mr. President.

President KELLY—State your point of order.

Coun. RUSSO—My point of order is that while the gentleman from Ward 6 (Coun. Scannell) has the floor I don't think that that question being asked on a point of order to the City Clerk was fair, and I don't think that the gentleman who has the floor should be interrupted unless for a point of order on his talk, or for a point of information.

President KELLY—I am trying to be fair and impartial. Councilor Scannell, will you continue?

Coun. SCANNELL—As the gentleman from Ward 22 (Coun. Madden) well said, there should not be any interruption in regard to helping the veterans and, being a member of this Body for the past six years, I don't like any man in this Body to come and say, as the gentleman from Ward 10 (Coun. Carey) has said, that there is pressure being used upon the new members of this Council. I know there is no pressure used on me, and there is no pressure used on these new men of this Council. Far be it from me to use any pressure. I vote the way my conscience dictates. And it is the same for those men. There is no pressure being used here. These men here have a mind, and they know how to use it, just the same as those that have been here for six years. I want to say this, if this is good for the veteran, then let us have it. If there is something else that Councilor Linehan has that is good for the veteran, let us vote for it. Let us waste no time. Let us not do any dillydallying around here. Let us go to work to do something for the veteran and pass this today, and at a future time, if we can do something for the veteran, let us pass that. If Councilor Linehan has a constructive amendment to this ordinance, then let us proceed to do it right now. Let us not send this to the Ordinances Committee. Let us have it voted on and passed here today. As the Commissioner well said, "If you hold this up, this will delay my program." He said, as to these men that are charitable at the veterans' bureau, working for nothing, "If we vote for this today they will probably get a week's pay, starting in today."

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President.

President KELLY—Councilor Russo, not having spoken.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, Councilor Russo has already spoken.

Coun. RUSSO—I have yielded to my colleague from Ward 7 (Coun. Linehan). However, since he brought up the question of my having spoken, I wish to say that I had only asked for a point of order.

President KELLY—Councilor Russo.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, speaking on the motion to refer this to the Committee on Ordinances. I believe that I am fair—I guess most of the old members have tried me out—and I hope that I can continue to be fair and square, not only with myself and with the veterans, as this question is, but with all my doings. I was one of the members who in the Executive Committee voted to pass this ordinance today, but I can't help but express myself as I do. After hearing the pros and cons on this question, I feel that it might be a good thing to refer it to the Committee on Ordinances, after being informed by the City Clerk that if we pass this ordinance today we cannot pass an amendment to it afterwards. I feel that the members of the committee ought to have their meeting, and it has been promised, and on that promise of having the meeting on Friday of this week, so that it will not be delayed and kicked around, I feel that they ought to have it in the Committee on Ordinances. I feel that if there are other members who have not been satisfied with the explanation that has been given to us today, they ought to have, and are entitled to, further information if they so desire it. I am in accord that all these various organizations should be invited into the committee, that they may be asked whether or not this ordinance will be acceptable to them, and if it is a thing that is good for the veterans. I am going to vote to send it to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, I am going to offer an amendment to the present ordinance after I have made a motion to lay the present ordinance on the table, which means this: If the President rules I can do it, I will then offer an amendment.

President KELLY—Wait a minute, councilor. I have not ruled you can present an amendment. I have ruled you can present another ordinance. Your motion to lay on the table is in order at this time.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President.

President KELLY—Councilor Russo.

Coun. RUSSO—I rise to a point of information. My point is, if this ordinance is laid on the table, can any amendment to that ordinance be included with that first ordinance?

President KELLY—No, it cannot. It has to be a new ordinance.

Coun. CHASE—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. CHASE—A point of parliamentary procedure, Mr. President.

President KELLY—State your point of parliamentary procedure.

Coun. CHASE—I would like to ask the Clerk, through you, sir, if it would be possible for the councilor from South Boston (Coun. Linehan) to submit a new ordinance which incorporates the ordinance which would be laid on the table together with his amendment?

President KELLY—I am informed that is exactly what should be done in the case, but an amendment is out of order.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. KINSELLA—A point of order, Mr. President. I seek a new ruling on my point of order.

President KELLY—What is your point of order?

Coun. KINSELLA—My point of order was originally that, since this is a legislative act, 723 of the Acts of 1945, the councilor has the right to amend it in any way. The President has the Connors Act to go on, in which we paid $4,800.

President KELLY—I am informed, councilor, in answer to your question, in passing this ordinance we are not accepting any legislative act. We are performing the duties of the act, but not accepting the act. Does that answer your question?

Coun. KINSELLA—No, not as clearly as I thought the other was defined months ago. We have accepted an order under which Connors was paid $4,800, but prior to that we were offering to amend it on Councilor Sullivan's motion that since Mr. Connors was willing to pay a penalty of $1,200, then Councilor Sullivan would vote in favor. Yet we had not accepted it until the final vote in here.

President KELLY—That is an entirely different question.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President.

President KELLY—Do you desire to make a motion?

Coun. LINEHAN—I think I have already signified my motion. I am going to move to lay the matter on the table, and if I am successful I will move to submit a new order which will consist of the basis of his Honor the Mayor's order, with a fundamental change, which I believe is very vital to the successful carrying on of that department. I will read the ordinance I will submit if my motion to lay on the table is successful.

(Coun. LINEHAN read the ordinance submitted by the Mayor, together with his proposed amendment, heretofore recorded.)

Coun. LINEHAN—I now move that the order under discussion be laid on the table.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President.

President KELLY—There is no debate.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

President KELLY—State your point of information.

Coun. KINSELLA—I would like Councilor Linehan to pay attention to this. My point of information is this—my point of order, rather—that if laying on the table is supported, then no amendment can be offered while it is on the table, unless it is removed from the table for consideration of the amendment.

President KELLY—The Chair will rule that he can submit a new ordinance which incorporates additional sections of the old ordinance.

The question came on laying on the table, and the roll was called. The motion to lay on the table was lost, yeas 3, nays 14:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Chase, Linehan—3.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Bryan, Cook, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, Madden, McCormack, Moriarty, Russo, Scannell, Sullivan—14.

The question came on the motion to refer to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, a point of information.

President KELLY—State your point of information.

Coun. SULLIVAN—I would like to know, before the roll is called, during the discussion you read the last paragraph of this communication, relative to the immediate adoption of this ordinance, and that was your reason for sending this ordinance to the Executive Committee. You know as well as I do, in your years here, that everything that comes from the Mayor's office has that stock paragraph, "immediate passage" or "immediate adoption." Now, is it going to be the Chair's procedure this year to refer everything to Executive that comes up with that paragraph in it?

President KELLY—Councilor, I don't like to disagree with you, but this is not in every message. That is in very few messages that come up from the Mayor's office. I have presided here, and every member that has presided here in the last eight years previous to my presiding has accorded the Mayor that wish when he has put that in that paragraph. I have done what has been done here for the past eight years.

Coun. SULLIVAN—I disagree with you, Mr. President, because since I have been in here every order has been with that "immediate adoption" or "immediate passage." It is a stock paragraph. It is in every letter, and you can check the records back. And if it is to be your procedure in carrying everything out as that paragraph states, we might as well move, after this is out of the way, to dump all committees.

President KELLY—I don't want to disagree with you, councilor. The matter before the Council is to refer to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, I seem to agree with the opinion of my colleague, Dan Sullivan. I feel that in every order that comes up here—and I say that in explanation to the new members—I don't know what exception his Honor may have taken—but I know from my experience in six years that every order that comes in to us has come in for immediate adoption. So, therefore, I don't put too much weight on that, as far as that is concerned.

The question came on referring the matter to the Committee on Ordinances, and the roll was called, and the matter was so referred, yeas 9, nays 8:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Hannon, Keenan, Sullivan, Moriarty, Russo, Sullivan—9.

Nays—Coun. Bryan, Cook, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, Madden, McCormack, Scannell—8.

Coun. HANNON—I move we adjourn.

Coun. COOK—Mr. President.

President KELLY—There is no debate on the motion, councilor.

Coun. COOK—I didn't mean to debate the motion. I would like to announce to the members that there will be a meeting of the Committee on Ordinances on Friday afternoon, at two o'clock in the committee room.

CONVENIENCE STATION, WARD 7.

Coun. LINEHAN and HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Park Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to reopen the recently renovated convenience station located in the Uphams Corner section of Ward 7, and to place a disabled war veteran from a civil service list in charge thereof.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

TRAFFIC HAZARD, EDWARD EVERETT SQUARE.

Coun. LINEHAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Traffic Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to study the traffic hazard now existing in the vicinity of Edward Everett square, Ward 7, for the purpose of installing traffic lights or constructing an underpass or overpass, whichever may be feasible.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

LOCATION OF MUNICIPAL EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Coun. LINEHAN offered the following:

Ordered, In the event that the Veterans Rehabilitation Division in the Soldiers' Relief Department is created, be it further ordered that his Honor the Mayor consider the advisability of moving the Municipal Employment Bureau to quarters adjacent to said Veterans Rehabilitation Division in the Soldiers' Relief Department, in order that the Veterans Rehabilitation Division may have access to the Municipal Employment Bureau to place veterans in positions in private industry.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. HANNON, at 6.45 p. m., to meet on Monday, January 28, 1946, at 2 p. m.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

STATE-COLLECTED TAXES SHARED BY CITIES AND TOWNS.

Approximately $5,000,000 are distributed each year among all cities and towns as reimbursement of a portion of the amounts expended locally for salaries of teachers in the public schools. This one distribution constitutes about 80 per cent of all fiscal aid paid by the Commonwealth to cities and towns to assist in financing public schools. As the amount paid to each city and town depends upon the number and educational preparation of teachers employed, it favors well-to-do towns which can afford to hire more and better qualified teachers, and penalizes towns which by reason of less favorable circumstances operate their schools with fewer teachers. The original objective of this distribution was to raise standards of teacher preparation and to encourage local governments to pay certain established minimum salaries. As a means toward these objectives this distribution has outlived its usefulness.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

AIRCRAFT MATERIAL PRODUCTION 41 PER CENT OF TOTAL AUTOMOTIVE WAR JOB.

Behind current attempts to knock Germany out of the war by means of airpower, stands the teamwork of the automotive industry, which has done much to get bombers in the air over Hitler's domain.

The motor industry, starting as a scrub team in the aircraft field a year before Pearl Harbor has since attained major league stature.

In the two years since December 7, 1941, the industry's output of bombers and fighters has constantly soared. Measured in dollar volume, it rose from $400,000,000 annual rate of production on the day of the Jap's assault to $4,300,000,000 on the second anniversary of that "day of infamy."

The same upward spiral took place in deliveries of all forms of war materials by automotive plants. When Pearl Harbor news struck, they had reached an annual production rate of $1,777,000,000 for all forms of military requirements: aircraft, military vehicles, tanks, guns, ammunition, marine engines and other equipment. Today the annual production rate tops the $10,000,000,000 mark.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

FORECAST OF EXPENDITURES IN 1945.

A total of $308,840,000 is forecast as the expenditures of the transit industry in 1945 for new equipment and maintenance of existing property and equipment. This sum is $25,000,000 more than the forecast for 1944 made at this time last year, and is $40,000,000 more than the expenditure ultimately made in 1944.

Total expenditures in 1945 for new equipment are expected to reach $101,100,000 which compares with $65,592,000 in 1944. New rolling stock will absorb most of the additional money with $61,000,000 being allocated to new buses, $12,000,000 to new cars and $34,000,000 to new trolley coaches. However, it is estimated that $20,000,000 will be spent on ways and structures, which is nearly $5,000,000 more than was spent in 1944. In the power and line departments capital expenditures are forecast at $3,100,000, which is slightly less than was spent in 1944, but is more than double the amount that was forecast for 1944 at this time last year.

Only moderate increases in maintenance expenditures are forecast for 1945. For maintenance materials the total for 1945 is put at $78,340,000, which compares with $76,561,000 spent in 1944. Maintenance labor costs are placed at $129,400,000 for 1945 compared with $126,343,000 in 1944.

NEW SOURCES OF MUNICIPAL REVENUE.

Philadelphia recently adopted three new city taxes: auctioneers are required to register and pay a tax of $500 a year, bowling alleys $20 for each alley, and coin-operated slot machines and other amusement devices $20 a year each. Portsmouth, Ohio, has levied a license fee of $25 a year on juke boxes, pin ball machines, and other coin-operated amusement devices. Santa Barbara, California, on February 23 adopted a local retail sales tax of one per cent on the recommendation of a citizens' tax committee. Sacramento, California, has adopted a new business license ordinance which will provide approximately $110,000 a year revenue. In New York City Mayor La Guardia has proposed an additional one per cent sales tax to finance a three-year program of subway rehabilitation; the present one per cent sales tax raises about $32,000,000 a year.

—Public Management.

SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

TRANSPORTATION STATISTICS.

A recent analysis of surface transportation by John A. Beeler, transit engineer and consultant, reveals noteworthy performance by trolley coaches in comparison to other public transportation vehicles. Comparison of results of operation of trolley coaches with those of street cars on four different lines in as many different cities, shows, according to Beeler, that trolley coaches are eight times as good.

The analysis shows that in 1942, 25,449 street cars carried 5,171,000,000 revenue passengers; 3,363 trolley coaches carried 765,000,000; and 42,458 motor coaches carried 5,427,000,000 revenue passengers; the average fare being 6.66 cents, 6.89 cents and 6.72 cents, respectively; and the revenues being $344,600,000, $52,700,000 and $365,000,000, respectively. Average revenue passengers per street car was 203,191; per trolley coach 227,475; and per motor coach 127,820.

SEA-GOING DRY DOCKS.

Bigger than a battleship! That's the rough proportion of some of the new Navy floating dry docks which can be towed or self-propelled at speeds sufficient to follow our fleet into action. Indeed, the dry docks are large enough to handle even a mighty battleship when it needs repairs or overhauling.

Never before have floating dry docks been built so large, taken so far. Never before have docks of this character been so mobile. The Navy has spent upward of $300,000,000 on their floating dry dock program and it has been a shrewd investment. Now, instead of damaged warships traveling the thousands of miles from the theaters of action to an American coastal dry dock for repairs, it can be placed in a floating dry dock on the spot in a matter of hours, thus saving precious time.

PORT STORAGE IMPORT ORDER.

The Office of Defense Transportation, in an amendment to its general order No. 16, has instituted a permit system for acceptance by railroads or truckers of shipments of domestic or import freight to specified port areas for storage for the account of a government agency in a public warehouse in such area. Growing volume of imports, due to decline in ship losses, the O. D. T. said, was putting added strain on port storage facilities thus making the institution of a permit system necessary.

The application for the port storage forwarding permit the order says, must be made by the government agency for whose account the freight is to be stored, in accordance with procedures prescribed by the director of the division of storage of the O. D. T., in an administrative order.

The following port areas were named in the order: Baltimore, Bellingham, Wash., Boston, Camden, Everett, Wash., Galveston, Houston, Jacksonville, Los Angeles, Mobile, New Orleans, Newport News, New York, Norfolk, Oakland, Cal., Olympia, Wash., Pensacola, Philadelphia, Portland Ore., Portsmouth, Va., Richmond, Cal., San Francisco, Savannah, Seattle, Tacoma, Tampa, Vancouver.

MERCHANT SHIP PRODUCTION.

Merchant vessels built in the United States in 1943 numbered 1,896 with a total deadweight tonnage of 19,239,626, according to a report by Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission and administrator of the War Shipping Administration. Of these 208, aggregating 2,044,238 deadweight tons, were completed in December. Of the 1943 production, 1,238 vessels were Liberty ships; 70 C-1 cargo ships, 53 C-2 cargo ships; 39 C-3 cargo ships; 5 C-4 cargo ships; 167 tankers; 28 coastal tankers; 57 Liberty tankers; 3 passenger-cargo vessels; 33 coastal cargo ships, including two concrete ships; 16 ore carriers; 27 concrete barges; 46 seagoing tugs; 114 military types, not transports; 53 special types and a considerable number of smaller types, including tugs, barges, etc. Late in 1943, Admiral Land said 2,900 ships were under control of the War Shipping Administration, operated by some 76 general agents of the W. S. A.

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY.

The first chartered colony in New England, charter granted by Charles I on March 4, 1629. About a year before, a patent had been granted to six prominent men of Dorchester, west of England, among whom was Capt. John Endicott. He sailed in June, 1628, with a party of fifty or sixty persons, arriving in September and settling at Naumkeag, afterward named Salem. In the spring of 1629, the Bay Company fitted out three ships conveying about four hundred persons and arriving at Salem in June. Endicott sent a small party to effect a settlement on the Bay in Mishawum, afterward named by the settlers Charlestown, the first town in New England to assume the town policy, Plymouth and Salem being governed by a governor and council. Endicott was appointed in London as the first resident governor on April 30, 1629. The Massachusetts Bay Company was reorganized in London on October 20, 1629, when John Winthrop was chosen as governor. He arrived at Salem on June 12, 1630, soon proceeded to Charlestown with a large following and finding that place unsuitable, finally settled in Boston. Winthrop served thirteen years as governor in four different periods ending in 1649 and Endicott fifteen years at various times ending in 1665. Other governors were Thomas Dudley, Richard Bellingham, John Haynes, Henry Vane, John Leverett and Simon Bradstreet, the latter serving twelve years until 1692 when the Bay Colony and the Plymouth Colony were merged, becoming the Royal Province of Massachusetts Bay, which existed eighty-two years to 1774, the governors being appointed by the King.

The name, Massachusetts, is Indian and signifies "near the big hills."

1943 GREAT LAKES COAL AND GRAIN
TRAFFIC.

For the 1943 season of navigation, through December 4, coal forwarded to Great Lakes docks from American ports on Lake Erie totaled 45,518,603 tons, according to a report by Solid Fuel Administrator Ickes. This was 1,858,604 tons less than in 1942, the report said. Lake navigation began a month later than it did in 1942 and strikes in the coal producing areas in May and June and in October and November temporarily reduced the flow of coal toward the Lake Erie ports. Coal received at American docks on Lake Superior, according to the report, totaled 11,111,625 tons in the 1943 season of navigation, 15 per cent above the 9,828,000 tons received there in 1942. The 1943 total, it said, exceeded the season's quota by more than 300,000 tons.

War Food Administration officials expressed the opinion that final figures would show a total of 190,000,000 bushels of grain moved via the Great Lakes to northeast ports for domestic consumption in 1943. This was greatly in excess of the 135,000,000 bushels set as the year's quota. The War Shipping Administration said that the larger quota had been set in view of added facilities to be available in 1944. These included thirteen vessels returned to the Great Lakes from ocean service by the W. S. A. and the completion by November 30, 1943, of sixteen new ore carriers for the Maritime Commission, all of which would be available for Great Lakes transportation in 1944.

TANKERS DO DOUBLE DUTY.

American shipyards are now making it possible for our tankers to carry extra loads. A scaffold-type extra deck enables a modern tanker to carry a load of extra freight the equivalent of 10 per cent of its normal load capacity. Some tankers now carry, in addition to its load of gasoline, deck loads of ambulances, planes, jeeps and trucks.

PARTIAL PAYMENT OF TAXES.

Mayor Curley on February 1 issued the following statement, setting forth that taxpayers may make partial payments to the city:

"Many people of small means receiving demands for payment of real estate taxes are going to loan agencies to borrow money in order to prevent the loss of their homes. This situation may be eliminated if the small homeowner realized that in such circumstances the city will aid them by accepting partial payments. Even if their taxes are in arrears, the 4 per cent interest charged by the city is far less than the 3 per cent a month, plus costs, charged by the loan agencies."

MAYOR NAMES ATTORNEY LEARY ASSISTANT CORPORATION COUNSEL.

Mayor Curley on February 1 approved the appointment of former Representative George J. Leary of the West End to be Special Assistant Corporation Counsel for the purpose of handling legislative matters before the Massachusetts General Court, and to represent the city on proposed legislation now pending before the Committee on Judiciary of the United States Senate.

Mr. Leary, who is widely known in legal and legislative circles, was appointed by Corporation Counsel Joseph Scolponeti, the appointment being subject to the Mayor's approval.

MAYOR CURLEY GREETES BOSTON CHINESE ON NEW YEAR OBSERVANCE.

On February 2 the Mayor addressed the following letter to the Chinese Merchants' Association:

MR. FRANK T. Y. GOON, Secretary, Chinese Merchants' Association, Boston.

MY DEAR FRIEND GOON,—It gives me unmeasured pleasure to extend to you at this time, and through you to all of the Chinese residents of Boston, "Kung Hee Fat Toy," which, if I am correctly informed, means "Happy New Year" in Chinese. In any event I send to all of you my heartiest best wishes, for I am proud to call the Chinese of Boston my friends.

The coming year gives promise of being one of the most peaceful and remarkable in the history of China. I have been glad to note that within the past forty-eight hours order has been brought out of strife in China, all political parties have been granted full and immediate freedom, and a national assembly is to be held on May 5 for the purpose of adopting a new constitution and planning for general elections within six months thereafter.

Therefore, the Chinese people have a very special reason for rejoicing on this occasion—the beginning of the 4643d year of the Chinese lunar calendar. I rejoice with you.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

MAYOR RECEIVES AIRLINES SOUVENIR LETTER.

His Honor the Mayor on February 2 received the following letter from the American Airlines System, La Guardia Field, New York Airport Station, Office of the President of American Airlines, Inc.:

February 1, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR,—This letter and the envelope which carried it marks another important step in the general expansion of the American Airlines System and air transportation as a whole. It is a "first-flight" letter mailed from Springfield, Missouri, on the flight marking inauguration of American Airlines service to that city, and as such can be considered a collector's piece.

You are one of a limited number to receive this "cover" because of the interest you have shown in promoting aviation. If you are not a philatelist, you might wish to pass it on to a friend. If you do not share the ardent enthusiasm of the stamp collector in such an item, we know you will be interested in it as a milestone in the ever-growing service of air transportation.

The American Airlines System appreciates your past cooperation and plans to give increasingly better, faster service to you and your city.

Sincerely,

R. S. DAMON,
President, American Airlines, Inc.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 4.

CITY OF BOSTON,
MAYOR'S OFFICE, February 1, 1946.

I have today designated Colonel David J. Brickley as Chairman of the Red Cross Drive of the City Employees for 1946, and I am requesting each department head to act as vice chairman for his respective department.

The vice chairmen will select their own solicitors, and send their names to this office as soon as may be convenient.

The drive, which will last for three weeks, will begin on February 26, but Colonel Brickley is anxious to have his organization completed well in advance.

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

MAYOR ASKS PROBE AND REPORT ON BUILDINGS DEEMED FIRE HAZARDS OR MENACES.

His Honor the Mayor on Monday, February 4, directed the following communication to Mr. John J. Mahoney, Building Commissioner:

"I believe that in the interest of public safety an investigation should be made at once of a list submitted to me on buildings that are a menace and a fire hazard.

"I especially call your attention to the building at 1444 Tremont street, which is a wooden building formerly used as a church and which would cause a severe conflagration in the neighborhood of considerable proportion in the event that it caught fire.

"I am personally interested in the housing proposition and believe that buildings with windows or doors boarded at the present time should be converted without great cost to the city.

"I trust you may get speedy action on this matter within seven days."

Your Honorable Body is aware of the many distressing problems which face the city government. It is obvious to all of us who have a share in the responsibility for directing the course of our municipality that only by approaching the problems of the city government with courage, and with the mutual cooperation of all governmental agencies, may we encourage a new spirit in our civic life, and accomplish those things of enduring benefit to our city and its people.

Under the rules of the Legislature, certain matters coming before it must have the prior approval of the City Council before such matters are given consideration by the proper committees. For this reason, the accompanying resolutions are presented to your Honorable Body, and I respectfully request their prompt adoption.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

RECORDING AND COPYING VETERANS' DISCHARGE CERTIFICATES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 26, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the City Clerk, in which he requests the prompt passage of an order for a special appropriation of $15,000 to cover the cost of recording and copying veterans' discharge certificates.

Because of the fact that the budget for the current year may not be passed for several weeks, I am of the opinion that this request of the City Clerk should be acted upon. As pointed out in the accompanying communication, the City Clerk Department will be unable to meet its obligations unless this appropriation is granted prior to the passage of the budget.

I recommend immediate passage of the attached order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
City Clerk's Office, January 26, 1946.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—In the budget estimates of the City Clerk Department a special appropriation of $15,000 has been requested. This appropriation is to meet the expenses incidental to the recording and copying of veterans' discharge certificates, as required by law.

In view of the fact that this appropriation did not appear in the 1945 budget, all expenditures from now until the passage of the budget must be charged to the regular appropriation of the City Clerk Department. This latter appropriation, prior to the passage of the budget, cannot withstand these additional charges which, under existing law, are limited to the average monthly expenditure of the last three months of the preceding fiscal year.

Therefore, to avoid a condition which may result in the inability of the City Clerk Department to meet its ordinary obligations, I suggest that an order be prepared and transmitted to the City Council for the immediate passage of the special appropriation of $15,000 for the City Clerk Department. Incidentally, this appropriation is expected to adequately meet the cost of recording and copying a major portion of the 92,000 discharge certificates of Boston veterans.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, City Clerk.

Ordered, That the sum of fifteen thousand dollars be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended by the City Clerk as hereinafter specified, said sum to be raised by taxes on the polls and estates in the City of Boston and that all orders hereafter passed by the City Council relating to appropriations, taxes and the interest thereon apply to the appropriations and taxes herein provided for.

Recording and Binding of Veterans' Discharges, etc.....$15,000

ESTABLISHMENT OF ASSESSMENT DISTRICT NO. 49.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Assessing Department, January 28, 1946.
Mr. John B. Hynes,
City Clerk.

Dear Sir,—General Laws, chapter 59, section 38, provides that:

"The assessors of each city and town shall at the time appointed therefor make a fair cash valuation of all the estate, real and personal, subject to taxation therein, and, in cities, the assessors may, in any year, divide the city into convenient assessment districts."

Under the provisions of this law the Board of Assessors, at a meeting held on January 25, 1946, voted to establish in the City of Boston as of January 1, 1946, another assessment district, to be known as District No. 49, being part of Ward 22 as more fully described below:

"District No. 49: That part of Ward 22 (Brighton North) extending from the junction of South and Commonwealth avenue through the latter to the boundary line of Boston and Newton and along the same line to its junction with the boundary line of Boston and Watertown in the Charles river; thence along the latter to its junction with Western avenue; thence through the latter, Leo M. Birmingham Parkway, Market, Surrey, Leicester, Washington streets; Nantasket avenue, Union street, Chestnut Hill, Academy Hill, William Jackson, Chestnut Hill avenue and South street to the beginning."

In the current record of the numbers of assessment districts within the City of Boston, the district now numbered 48—all of Ward 22—will become District No. 48, part of Ward 22, described as follows:

"District No. 48: That part of Ward 22 (Brighton South) extending from the junction of Washington and Leicester streets through the latter, Surrey, Market streets, Leo M. Birmingham Parkway and Western avenue to its junction with the boundary between Boston and Watertown in the Charles river and along the latter and the boundary line between Boston and Cambridge to its junction with the middle line of Smelt brook extended; thence along the latter and the middle line of Smelt brook to its junction with the location of Boston & Albany Railroad; thence through same location to its junction with Cambridge street; thence through the latter, North Beacon, Dustin, Cambridge and Washington street, to the beginning."

The new district, No. 49, will take part of Ward 22 as previously described.

Very truly yours,

BOARD OF ASSESSORS,

by JOHN P. DORERTY, Secretary.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ORDINANCES.

Coun. COOK, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following:

Report on message of Mayor and ordinance (referred January 21) concerning establishment of a Veterans' Rehabilitation Division in the Soldiers' Relief Department—recommending that the ordinance ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the ordinance.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, I am just serving notice before I vote on this situation that I will file an amendment to the ordinance before the day is out whereby the employees in this new division of this department will come from the civil service lists, in the hope that all veterans will get the jobs.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE ON RULES.

BIDS FOR ERECTION OF SAVIN HILL BATH HOUSE.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor direct the Park Commissioner to call for bids for the erection of the bath house at Savin Hill Beach, so that this structure may be available for use this summer.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, for many years we have been trying to obtain the erection of a bath house at Savin Hill Beach. Last year money was obtained for this purpose. The money is lying there idle. Plans have been drawn. For some reason or other no further progress has been made towards the construction of this bath house. Now, I think it is about time something was done. Plans have been drawn, money is available, so I would like to make this as strong as possible, and ask the Mayor to direct the Park Commissioner to go ahead and construct this bath house. We want it this summer, because we need it.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

COVERING OF ELEVATED THIRD RAIL.

Coun. HANNON and KELLY offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor confer with the trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company to consider the practicability of covering the so-called "third rail" throughout the entire Elevated System.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, every so often we are amazed and dumbfounded to read in the paper that some youngster has met death because of the fact he has tried to take a short cut over exposed rails of the Boston Elevated Railway. I know that they put fences up along the lines of this reservation, and that fence is supposed to exclude youngsters. Kids today are no different than we were, and if it is a question of walking a quarter of a mile farther or climbing a fence, a kid, if he is a natural boy, will climb the fence. Two or three times in the last four or five years youngsters have been electrocuted because of the fact that this third rail is exposed. And I, for the life of me, can't see any reason why this third rail cannot be covered. It is really inviting disaster and trouble to have it exposed there. While we know you are not supposed to trespass along the rails, you will trespass no matter what is done, and I think ten or fifteen years ago, as I recall, that third rail used to be covered. All the third rail is used for is to make contact with a copper plate on the bottom of the train. Now, that copper plate can be very well arranged so as to avoid trouble. I think, if I am not mistaken, that years ago there used to be a wooden covering over the top of this third rail, and you couldn't put your foot in there, you couldn't step on it. And I don't know why this could not be done now. It is done in other cities, and I think we here in Boston should protect the lives of our youngsters. I ask the Boston Elevated Railway to cover this third rail.

Coun. CAREY—I don't know whether Councilor Hannon asks suspension of the rule, but I think that this should go to the Committee on Public Safety for action to be taken. Quite often the eyes of other public bodies are opened to see if something might be accomplished or done to prevent similar occurrences in a matter such as this here. I think if the Council accepts suspension of the rules, it could die right there. And, with the councilor's permission, I would like to move that it go to the Committee on Public Safety, and bring in the Boston Elevated officials, or anyone else, to see if future deaths might be eliminated. These kids go along these Elevated tracks all the time. The wonder is sometimes there is not a lot more electrocutions. But if the Boston City Council can do anything to put a stop to it, it would be a very good thing to do. I therefore recommend that this go to the Committee on Public Safety.

President KELLY—This order has already been referred to the Committee on Public Safety, together with another which I have offered.

Coun. KINSELLA—As chairman of the Committee on Public Safety, I would like to announce that we will hold a hearing on this matter on Thursday morning at 10.30 a. m.

The order stood referred to the Committee on Public Safety.

COURT ACTION AGAINST PARENTS OF TRUANT CHILDREN.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to urge the Boston School Committee to discontinue the present practice of their truant officers taking court action against the parents of truant children, until affidavit is filed that personal contact and service has been made on the parent, or parents, of the truant child.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, very often, because of the fact that you hold a public position, you are faced with situations that really can cry to you for revenge. And last Saturday I had such a combination of circumstances thrust into my face. Now, I am a lawyer. I go into the courts quite often. I receive many courtesies from the presiding justices, and am always treated with special consideration by the police. But I think Saturday something occurred in Roxbury that should make us all feel ashamed, and something which each and everyone of us should take care to see does not happen again. A lady in that district, a widow lady, a lady who had brought up eight children, a lady who is out working every day trying to support her fatherless brood, was awakened at about six o'clock in the morning by a loud knock on the door. And when her oldest boy answered it, he was informed that the police were there with a warrant for her arrest. Well, those of us who have been blessed with good mothers can understand full well how that son felt. But none of us can appreciate the feeling that must have come over that mother when she, a widow lady, who had brought up and raised her family, and was out working every day to support them, found herself the object of a search of a policeman. As the son said, only for the fact that the cops were courteous and kind, he would have tried to throw them out. But they were nice enough about it. In fact, they sympathized with him and with his mother. When inquiry was made as to what the trouble was, they were astounded to learn that some truant officer of the Boston school system had sworn out a warrant for that mother's arrest because a thirteen-year-old boy was playing truant. Come to find out, every day when that mother went to work she gave that youngster money for his lunch. He would go in the morning, and probably go to the movies in the afternoon. But the part that gripes me is this, that lady was placed under arrest. She was brought to Station 9 in Roxbury. She was then taken to the Tombs downtown. Here she was thrown in with a bunch of harlots, with a bunch of drunks, with a bunch of bums. Later on she was transported to Roxbury Court, and those of us who use that court wondered at the indignity foisted upon women who have to go in there and sit in the public enclosure with a bar around them, where everybody who enters and leaves that court can look at them. And that lady, as fine a mother as lives, was exposed to all that indignity and all that unnecessary attack. Why, I think it is rotten. Well, of course, the judge tried to straighten it out by continuing the case without any finding, yet the fact of the matter is that this truant officer said he could never get the mother because the mother was working, and because he couldn't get the mother he goes down and gets the police. Well, I think the School Committee ought to turn around and get him. And what should be done, but probably can't be done, is that they ought to heap the same indignities upon his mother as he heaped upon the mother of that boy. But I think anything like that in a big city like this calls to heaven for shame. The idea of putting a lady, a grown mother, a mother of eight children, a widow lady, supporting a family, in that position. Because the kid played truant from school they take the lady and put her in there, down in the Tombs, up in Roxbury Court, mingling in with drunks and harlots. If something can't be done to stop that practice, then each and every one of us should resign from office. They tell me that the truant officer said that he rang the bell a few times, but the bell didn't ring. When asked if he went upstairs, he said, "No; that is not my job." I think he is a little tin god—he probably never played truant himself. But, regardless of what transpired or what took place, I think the School Committee in the City of Boston owes an apology to this respectable citizen, this honest, God-fearing mother, who was locked up because of some silly action of a silly employee of the Boston School Department.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC HOUSING.

Coun. KINSELLA, for the Committee on Public Housing, submitted the following:

Report on appointment by the Mayor of John J. Coleman (referred January 21) to be member of Boston Housing Authority, for term ending January 8, 1951—that said appointment be confirmed.

The report was accepted and the Council voted to confirm the appointment of John J. Coleman, yeas 15, nays 0.

Yeas—Coun. Bryan, Cantwell, Carey, Cook, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, Madden, McCormack, Moriarty, Russo, Sullivan—15.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS AT FALLON FIELD.

Coun. BRYAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Park Commissioner be directed, through his Honor the Mayor, to arrange for the installation of electric lights at Fallon Field.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

RETIREMENT OF ELECTED OFFICERS IN SUFFOLK COUNTY.

Coun. LANE offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation entitled "An Act Relative to the Retirement of Elected Officers in Suffolk County," provided such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President and fellow councilors, the bill as introduced in the Great and General Court of our Commonwealth in this connection reads as follows: "Any person who holds an office in the service of Suffolk County to which he is elected by direct vote of the people may be retired with the approval of the Mayor of Boston, provided he has rendered service to such county for not less than twenty-five years, either as an elected officer or in another position in said county in which he performed full time service, and further providing he has attained the age of sixty-five years. When so retired he shall receive a pension of half pay.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon its acceptance by the Boston City Council with the approval of the Mayor within one year from its effective date."

The order was referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

INCREASE OF ANNUITY TO WIDOW OF CHARLES E. DEININGER.

Coun. LANE offered the following:

Resolved, That the Boston City Council hereby favors the enactment of legislation entitled "An Act to Increase the Amount of the Annuity Payable by the City of Boston to the Widow of Charles E. Deininger," provided such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Coun. LANE—The bill as introduced in the Great and General Court of our Commonwealth in this connection reads as follows: "Section 1. The amount of the annuity payable by the city of Boston under chapter 126 of the Special Acts of 1919 to Grace Leng Deininger, widow of Charles E. Deininger late a member of the Boston Police Department in said city, is hereby increased to $1,000 a year, payable monthly in equal instalments." Mr. President, and fellow councilors, from time to time we are shocked by reading glaring head lines in our daily press about the untimely death of a police officer, an officer being shot by bandit fire while in the performance of his duty. We, who are within the range of the half century mark, clearly recall a case back in February of 1919 when two of the most notorious bandits ever in the annals of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Herman Barney and Chick Dillon, ranged their gun fire on various people, until one day the police of Boston in a station in the North End studied out and stated an hour when they would appear in Chelsea. Charles E. Deininger, a respected member of the Police Department, was detailed by his commanding officer to go to Chelsea, outside the boundaries of our city, and attempt to effect the arrest of these criminals. He went there and secreted himself and when they arrived at a time he thought opportune he made his appearance, and before he could pull his gun he was shot. Mrs. Deininger was left with a daughter eleven years old, and has since been drawing an annuity by an act passed by the Legislature of our Commonwealth a few years ago. The Boston City Council then approved an increase to all widows thereafter to a sum of $1,000. Mrs. Deininger still receives the $900, and I respectfully urge suspension of the rule to allow immediate passage so that she, too, can receive the sum of $100 additional in monthly instalments so that she likewise can receive the $1,000.

President KELLY—I am going to refer this to the Committee on Legislative Matters, and ask the chairman of that committee to hold a hearing this week so that we can have a report on it.

Coun. HANNON—I will be very happy to do that, but I was wondering why Mrs. Deininger did not receive the benefit of the raise that was given to all widows.

President KELLY—I was going to have that brought out at the hearing. The Chair will say that the group getting $900 were not affected by the new legislation, the City Clerk informs me.

Coun. KINSELLA—I would like to ask the clerk a point of information, through you.

President KELLY—Councillor Kinsella.

Coun. KINSELLA—Is it true, Mr. President, especially directing this to the clerk—isn't it true that the group getting $600 is increased $400?

President KELLY—That is true.

Coun. KINSELLA—But the group getting $900 was not increased $100, to $1,000?

President KELLY—That is true, councillor.

Coun. KINSELLA—A further point of information, Mr. President.

President KELLY—Councillor Kinsella.

Coun. KINSELLA—Will the clerk inform the Chair if this is under the provision of rule 7B of the Legislature?

President KELLY—That is true, councillor.

Coun. BRYAN—Mr. President, I have a widow of the former police officer Reiser, who lives on Bertson avenue, West Roxbury. And I know of two other cases throughout the city now receiving the $900 benefit. I, too, would like to have that included so that they may receive that increase.

President KELLY—Councillor, this order can be amended by the Committee on Legislative Affairs.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I just rise for the purpose of saying that whoever has these records, whether it be the clerk or some one else, if he delves into those records, he might see if any other cases are getting $900 and submit them to the committee. And I would like to amend the order now. I would like to amend that order, with Councillor Lane's permission, that all those receiving under $1,000 should be increased to the $1,000 pension.

President KELLY—Councillor Fish and Councillor Bryan wish to amend the order so that those receiving under $1,000 be included in the order. Why don't you have a new resolution drawn up, because this resolution is a single act affecting the widow of Charles E. Deininger? And I suggest a new resolution be drawn up including the others that was referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters. Councillor Hannon, you will have a meeting some time this week at your convenience?

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, just a point of information. It is perfectly agreeable to hold a meeting, but if we are to put in the order, which I think we should do, which would raise the annuities to all receiving under $1,000, I don't think there would be any need of holding any hearing. I think we ought to pass the order and take direct action. I don't think we ought to favor one over others. Let us do it by direct action.

Coun. CAREY—I heartily agree with the councillor from Ward 13 (Coun. Hannon). I think this is a little different matter than we had the other day. On this matter we should lose no time, now that the matter has been drawn to our attention. Let us give the widow of Deininger and every other widow the benefit of this.

Coun. RUSSO—A point of information, Mr. President.

President KELLY—State your point of information.

Coun. RUSSO—I am wondering whether or not this needs an act of the Legislature.

President KELLY—I am informed by the clerk it does need legislation, and that is why I referred it to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

Coun. RUSSO—Then I think, Mr. President, it would be very wise to take your suggestion that a new resolution be drawn up asking the Corporation Counsel to present legislation to the Legislature so that all these widows may be increased, and not single out any one, in part.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, a point of information.

President KELLY—State your point of information.

Coun. KINSELLA—I was going to ask if the rights of minor children eighteen years of age and under are included in the old annuity under which they get $900. Is a provision made for children?

President KELLY—I am informed it is.

Coun. KINSELLA—And if it is increased from $900, would the annuity with children still under eighteen years of age still be in effect?

President KELLY—Apparently it would.

Coun. KINSELLA—A further point of information, Mr. President. I would like to ask Councillor Lane a question, through the Chair.

President KELLY—Councillor Lane, Councillor Kinsella.

Coun. KINSELLA—This is intended to be helpful, Mr. President. Councillor Lane, is there a bill now filed with the Clerk of the Massachusetts Legislature for this purpose?

Coun. LANE—There is, councillor.

Coun. KINSELLA—Well, any new bill, Mr. President, now filed would probably be too late for filing, and the committee up there would have a right to amend that to accept inclusive names. Is that right?

President KELLY—I am informed there has been one bill filed in the Legislature to take care of this party, councillor, that Councillor Lane introduced this resolution for.

Coun. KINSELLA—The Committee on Pensions will hear this, and will be authorized to include any cases brought to their attention?

President KELLY—I am interested when the committee hears this bill that they will open up the matter to all those receiving under $1,000 and make them inclusive in the bill.

Coun. KINSELLA—I don't like to press the point, Mr. President. I am trying to point out that the date for filing has gone by, and as the matter stands now, Mrs. Grace Deininger's time limit has gone by. But we can, when the thing is heard by the Committee on Pensions, offer as authentic cases names of other people, and they can include them in filing the draft of legislation.

President KELLY—The point is well taken, councillor.

The resolve was referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

INCREASED ANNUITIES TO CERTAIN WIDOWS OF DECEASED EMPLOYEES.

Coun. LANE, BRYAN, FISH, KINSELLA, CAREY, COOK and HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That the widows of all deceased employees of the city who are receiving an annuity under $1,000 per year shall hereafter receive an annuity of not less than $1,000 per year.

President KELLY—I am informed, councillor, this order is not drawn up in the correct form. So I am going to refer it to the Committee on Legislative Matters and have it drawn correctly.

Coun. HANNON—I am sure that the chairman of the Committee on Legislative Matters will make the proper correction.

The order was referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

COVERING OF ASH AND GARBAGE TRUCKS.

Coun. LINEHAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Health Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to take immediate steps to compel owners of trucks engaged in the removal of ashes, rubbish and garbage to cover their trucks while en route to the Mile Road dump, so that the contents will not be blown all over the streets, especially along Old Colony avenue, near Old Harbor Village, South Boston.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

CONTINUATION OF CHILD CARE CENTERS.

Coun. LINEHAN, SULLIVAN, RUSSO, KINSELLA, COFFEY, COOK and KELLY offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of submitting an appropriation order to the City Council for the purpose of continuing in operation the Child Care Centers in various sections of the city, which otherwise will be obliged to close when Federal aid is discontinued on or about March first next.

Coun. LINEHAN—Mr. President, I would like to take a few minutes of this Body's time in regard to a request I have received from the executive secretary of the Committee on Care of Child Care Centers, Greater Boston Community Council:

"Dear Mr. Linehan,—Replying to your questions in our telephone conversation of yesterday, the Child Care Centers have been supported by the Federal Government, under one of the provisions of the Lanham Act, which was in general aimed at increasing war production. Instead of being given as grants-in-aid through the states, the labor act dealt directly with communities. The child care centers were conducted for working mothers, and it was understood that they would be closed whenever an area was no longer urgent as far as war production was concerned. Shortly after V-J Day, therefore, the Federal Works Agency decided to close the child care centers early in the fall. At the request of President Truman, Congress allowed funds for them until the first of March, with the needs of service men's wives and families particularly in view. Hope was expressed that communities in which the centers were found to be needed would be able to make plans during that interval to continue them with local support. The child care centers in Boston, under the Lanham Act, replaced nursery schools that had been conducted in the same rooms in the health units. Under W. P. A., therefore, the neighborhoods had come to depend upon them during a period of twelve years. The rooms in the health units are well adapted to the purpose, arrangements having been made for outdoor play. It is our understanding that Doctor Wilinsky and the Health Department approve of continuing to use the rooms for this purpose, and that this can be done without additional expense to the units. The centers are open six days a week, from 8.30 a. m. to 5 p. m. They each have a head teacher and two assistant teachers, a cook, a helper in connection with serving food, and a helper in connection with the rest of the program. Because of the long hours the teachers divide the duties so that those who come on at 8.30 a. m. leave before the end of the afternoon, and those who are to remain until 5 p. m., or after, start about ten in the morning. You will realize that the supervision of such young children requires a good deal of personal attention, and much skill is necessary to handle them in a group without allowing them to become fatigued or overstimulated. The children take a long nap after lunch. Part of the training at this age has to do with proper habits of eating and resting. It may not have come to your attention that during the last twenty-five years a program of education has been developed for children two to four years old that has become as well standardized as the kindergarten curriculum. It is suited to younger children, and is therefore less organized on a group basis, but it has been found just as important to have the children handled by trained teachers. The expense of each child care center, which has about forty children enrolled, is about $1,000 a month, in addition to the quarters and medical supervision provided by the Health Department. The parent's fees for each child are $3 a week, and, allowing for absences, this amounts to about $400 a month, leaving $600 which is now paid by the Federal Government. As I explained in my previous letter, these funds will definitely be withdrawn on the first of March, and there is no plan for the Federal Government to continue supporting the centers. There has been filed for this session of the General Court a bill, Senate 225, which, if passed, provides that part of this expense could be met by state funds. You will realize, however, that this would only be if a city or town had first undertaken to carry on the centers and make an appropriation for them. The centers are needed for the children because a certain number of mothers of young children must go out to work. At present many of them are wives of men still in service, others are wives of disabled veterans, some have lost husbands in service, and some have found that their marriages have been broken as a result of the war. There are occasionally other reasons why all-day care is greatly needed for a child, such as if the mother is seriously ill over a period of time. During the present housing shortage some families are living in such crowded conditions that the situation can only be relieved by a day care plan for the child. As you know, our city is well provided with social agencies that are ready to advise and help families to make satisfactory plans to keep children and mothers together. Social workers find that in some instances the child care centers are greatly needed and may prevent the break up of a family. The child care centers are located in: George Robert White health units; 73 High street, Charlestown; 79 Paris street, East Boston; and 20 Whittier street and 82 Savin street, Roxbury; 133 Dorchester street, South Boston; and 25 Blossom street in the West End. They are under the direction of Assistant Superintendent Barry of the School Department, with Miss Mary Tilley taking active charge of them. I trust that this covers the information that you would like, and, of course, I shall be glad to answer any further questions. With many thanks to you for your prompt interest in the matter Very sincerely yours, Helen L. Stevens, Executive Secretary, Committee on Child Care Centers."

I present this to be incorporated in the record. I sincerely hope the members of this Body will see fit to pass this on to his Honor the Mayor so that he will keep the child care centers in operation. The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

FIRE DEFENSES OF FORTY-FOUR CITIES SURVEYED IN 1944, TEN CHANGE CLASS.

During the year 1944 five cities of more than 10,000 population were placed in a better fire insurance classification, and five other cities were put into a poorer class as the result of new surveys made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters or by state rating organizations.

At the end of 1944 a total of 28 cities over 25,000 population were in class 2, 104 cities in class 3, 128 in class 4, and the remaining cities in classes 5 and 6, with none in class 1.

The fire insurance classification of a city is determined through the use of the grading schedule of the National Board of Fire Underwriters in making an engineering appraisal of fire protection facilities.

MODEL FOR BLACKOUT ORDINANCES.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers has prepared a blackout ordinance, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense; it delegates reasonable administrative powers to the proper executive officer and contemplates both actual air raid conditions and those of practice blackouts. Several state leagues of municipalities have also prepared model ordinances.

The first city to enact a blackout ordinance was Seattle, Washington, early last year. Many others have done so more recently, the ordinances ranging in character from the type that delegates all authority to the mayor or city manager to those providing no delegation of power but outlining completely the rules for civilian conduct during blackouts. In some cases, at least, the city is declared not liable for damage to persons or property resulting from an authorized blackout.—Municipal Review.

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 38

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1946.

No. 7

BOSTON SAW A TOTAL OF $9,641,144 IN CONSTRUCTION WORK DURING 1945 DESPITE WAR AND SCARCITY OF AVAILABLE BUILDING MATERIAL—WITH RELEASE OF RESTRICTIONS 1946 EXPECTED TO SEE FAR GREATER ACTIVITY IN EFFORT TO PROVIDE HOUSING FOR RETURNING VETERANS AND THEIR FAMILIES—NEW CONSTRUCTION FOR YEAR AMOUNTED TO $3,684,969, DWELLINGS AND APARTMENTS BEING GIVEN MOST ATTENTION.

Boston's building construction during the past year totalled $9,641,144, according to statistics furnished by the Building Department to Mayor Curley for his consideration. Of this amount the total of new construction was $3,684,969, the balance being in alterations to structures already erected and in use. This figure is considered highly important as a prediction for the future activities in the city from the fact that building material was so limited and restricted during the past year. The largest amount of construction was concerned with dwellings and dwellings with stores. The tabulations for the year, and also for the month of December, are as follows:

Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

MAYOR CURLEY APPROVES RETURN OF ENGINE COMPANY 12 TO ITS OLD HOME STATION AT 407 DUDLEY STREET—APPROVAL GIVEN AT REQUEST OF FIRE COMMISSIONER CODMAN, SEEKING TO GIVE BETTER PROTECTION TO DISTRICT IN WHICH SEVERAL INSTITUTIONS ARE LOCATED WHICH NEED BETTER FIRE PROTECTION TO PREVENT POSSIBLE DISASTER THAT MIGHT RESULT IN GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

Mayor Curley on February 13 approved the request of Fire Commissioner Russell S. Codman, Jr., that he be permitted to transfer Engine Company 12, now stationed with Ladder Company 4 at 198 Dudley street, Roxbury, to its former station at 407 Dudley street. In granting his approval Mayor Curley was of the opinion that the neighborhood surrounding old Engine 12, where several institutions are located, requires better fire protection in order that Boston may avoid such a catastrophe as recently occurred in Cleveland, with appalling loss of life.

In his letter to the Mayor, the Fire Commissioner explained his reasons for his request as follows:

"At the present time Engine Company 12 and Ladder Company 4 are quartered in an old fire station built to house a single company. Under the present arrangement it is not practical for two companies to be housed in a single company station, particularly as there is only one means of exit for the apparatus of the two companies. The relocation of Engine Company 12 in its former quarters would relieve the congestion in Ladder 4 house and at the same time afford better fire protection in the neighborhood surrounding old Engine 12 house.

"It seems that during the Tobin administration the city allowed Denison House to occupy temporarily part of old Engine 12 house after that company had been shifted to Ladder 4.

"I believe there was an understanding whereby Denison House would remain there for only a short time. Now, however, I find that Denison House is using the entire fire station. Furthermore, that organization has requested the Fire Department to agree to the permanent use of this fire station by Denison House.

"Although I do not want to cause the management of Denison House any embarrassment or inconvenience, I feel that it is most essential for fire protection in that particular neighborhood, as well as for the convenience of this department, to take possession again of these premises. I believe that Denison House can find other accommodations near by in one of the school buildings, and I think there is considerable sentiment in the district for the reactivation of this fire station.

"I inspected the premises last Saturday and, judging from what I saw there, I think that Denison House could vacate the premises without any undue hardship on two weeks' notice. There is no lease or any other obligation, to my knowledge, which prevents us from taking back the building. The Maintenance Division has estimated that it will require about two weeks to paint, clean up, and put the premises in habitable condition for our men."

PARK COMMISSIONER WILLIAM P. LONG, REPRESENTING MAYOR CURLEY, PLEDGES BOSTON'S HEARTIEST CO-OPERATION WITH ALL INTERESTS AND AGENCIES DEVOTED TO FURTHERING FLYING SERVICES FROM BOSTON.

At the Algonquin Club on February 7 Park Commissioner William P. Long, representing Mayor Curley, spoke briefly:

Mr. Jackson, Your Excellency the Governor, Mr. Bryan, Distinguished Guests, Members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Friends of Aviation.

Unfortunately his Honor the Mayor of Boston cannot be with you this noon, and he has asked me to come here and bring you his personal and official greetings.

Mayor Curley wishes me to compliment T. W. A. for the launching of this new service between Boston and Paris, and to wish the company every success in its new transatlantic flying.

Unbelievable progress has been made in aviation since the Wright Brothers made their memorable flight in 1903. I am sure that little did they think that within a half century we would have regular flying service across the Atlantic—flying at a speed of five miles a minute and carrying thirty-five or forty passengers under the most comfortable conditions.

The City of Boston must keep pace with these developments. Our advantageous location for transatlantic flying will not suffice—we must have the facilities—we must have the accommodations—to make it desirable—yes, essential—to fly to and from Boston.

Mr. Bryan, the City of Boston hopes that your company will expand its Boston service and for our Mayor I wish to assure you of every cooperation practicable. Boston has a bright future in aviation, but Boston, cooperating with all interested agencies, must make that future.

REPORT OF ROY P. CHRISTIE, TYPEWRITER TECHNICIAN, OFFICE OF THE BUSINESS MANAGER, ON VISIT TO BALTIMORE DURING WEEK OF NOVEMBER 25, 1945.

The following is a report from Roy P. Christie, Typewriter Technician, on his recent trip to Baltimore, to investigate their system and method of repair and maintenance of typewriters, adding machines and business machines and to look over their plant and repair shop:

"Mr. John Lewis, Business Manager of the Baltimore Board of Education, was out of town the day I arrived and Mr. Smith, his assistant, took over. He was very courteous and informative. We visited the administrative offices, repair shop and several high schools.

"Their system of request for service and plan for servicing machines is similar to ours on typewriters. However, on adding and business machines, servicing is done only on call. Therefore, their machines are not in as good mechanical condition as ours, which are serviced on a maintenance plan. Their shop is similar to the one we have planned and now partially furnished. Most of their office equipment, namely, typewriters, are at least twenty years old with the exception of approximately twenty machines in use in the administrative offices. Approximately 80 per cent of their typewriters are obsolete and, therefore, unfit for classroom instruction. Our machines are for the most part of later construction. Their man is not trained for estimating overhaul costs, whereas the writer has been trained in this field and has been able to reduce the overhaul cost approximately 50 per cent."

CITY PLACES WREATH ON LINCOLN AND KOSCIUSZKO MONUMENTS.

The City of Boston officially observed the anniversary on February 12 of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the Great Emancipator, and of Tadeusz Kosciuszko, famed Polish hero of the Revolutionary War.

In the absence of Mayor Curley, Acting Mayor John B. Kelly presided at the exercises. At 12 o'clock noon he placed a wreath at the statue of Lincoln in Park square, and fifteen minutes later another wreath on the Kosciuszko Memorial in the Public Garden, a short distance away.

The day marked the 200th anniversary of the birth of the noted Polish officer, who crossed the Atlantic and served with highest distinction in the cause of the American colonies.

MAYOR CURLEY APPOINTS MR. CARL D. WILLIS ASSISTANT SECRETARY.

His Honor the Mayor on February 6 appointed Mr. Carl D. Willis of 30 Greenwich park, Boston, as Assistant Secretary in the Mayor's Office.

Mr. Willis was born in Arkansas, and is a graduate of the English High School. He received a scholarship at Arkansas State College, from which he received a B. S. degree.

He has been prominent in the National Association for the advancement of Negroes, and for the past four years has been a delegate annually to the National Baptist Convention.

He is a widower, and has one daughter.

MAYOR CURLEY SEEKS TO BUY TUG BOATS FOR USE BY FIRE AND INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENTS.

His Honor the Mayor on February 9 forwarded the following communication to Admiral Moran, Maritime Commission, Charge of Boat Disposal, Washington, D. C.:

DEAR FRIEND.—The City of Boston has been utilizing for a period of twenty-five years a steamer known as the "Michael J. Perkins," conveying passengers and freight from Boston to the Institutions Department located in Boston Harbor, some six miles from the city.

The boat has apparently outlived its usefulness and will have to be sent to a shipyard for extensive repairs or the city will be required to purchase a boat to take its place.

I have conferred with Captain McGuigan of the Maritime Commission, Division of Small Vessels, and have been informed by him that seagoing wooden tugs are available on the Pacific Coast, built within the past two years, measuring 126 feet in length, with 28-foot beam, 12-foot draft, single-screw and twin-screw Diesel engines.

These seagoing tugs are those that were advertised for sale recently and while they cost the Government $450,000 each to build the best bid received for them was $45,000 each.

The City of Boston is desirous of purchasing two of these seagoing tugs, as the Boston Fire Department is also greatly in need of a boat of this type, and if the necessary arrangements can be made to have these two tugs delivered to the City of Boston the city is prepared to purchase the same.

Sincerely,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Upon varying dates as indicated the Mayor approved contracts with firms, contractors, commercial houses, etc., for furnishing supplies, labor, etc. Communications from the heads of the several departments interested were as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

BOSTON, February 7, 1946.

HON. JOHN B. KELLY,
Acting Mayor of Boston.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—At approximately two o'clock this morning a fire of huge proportions practically consumed the roof structure of the Richard C. Humphreys School, Willis street, Dorchester, leaving four vent stacks and chimneys unstayed by lateral supports.

The roof structure was so badly burned as to lose its structural stability and the four masonry vent flues above-mentioned, as well as broken glass in upper story sashes, and the roof must be removed immediately as a protection to the public. To accomplish this work it will be necessary to erect scaffolding from the ground to the uppermost parts of the building.

Also to prevent anybody from entering the building, which is unsafe in parts, it is my intention to immediately board up all first-floor openings and access to fire escape from the ground.

All the above work is of an emergency character requiring immediate attention and to perform such work the labor and material cost would exceed one thousand (1,000) dollars. For this reason I ask your written approval to negotiate an agreement with Daniel Marr & Sons Company, without advertising, to proceed with the above enumerated work with the understanding that labor would be provided on a day basis with an upset cost not to exceed three thousand (3,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, February 5, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Your approval is requested for the Institutions Department to conclude arrangements with the Penal Institutions Department to take over the supervision of the SS. "Perkins," which is their boat.

Mr. Grossman and I have discussed this at length and have concluded that better maintenance of schedules could be had if authority were not divided. Mr. Grossman and I have conferred with Mr. Fox and he concurs that this can be done provided that budgetary control remain with Penal Institutions until April 1, 1946.

Transportation to Long Island has for a long time been a troublesome matter.

I am seeking a method to better control it and am strongly of the opinion that this is the first step.

Respectfully yours,

G. FRANK McDONALD,
Commissioner.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 28, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Your permission is respectfully requested for this department to dispense with advertising and to enter into a contract with the Lawyers Building Corporation whereby said corporation will lease the entire tenth floor of the Lawyers Building, number 11 Beacon street, Boston Proper, for the term of one year beginning January 1, 1946, at the annual rental of $16,500, for the purpose of providing suitable quarters for the Law Department.

The Law Department has occupied quarters in the Lawyers Building, 11 Beacon street, continuously since 1924. At the present time there are no available and suitable quarters obtainable for occupancy by the Law Department in city-owned property or within the immediate vicinity of City Hall, the Court House and other public buildings.

Very truly yours,

JAMES E. SULLIVAN,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 22, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Because of the condition of many of the trucks of the Sanitary Division, this department finds it necessary, from time to time, to issue service orders for the hire of equipment to supplement what the city has on the work of collecting and removing ashes, etc., and also on street cleaning.

At times trucks only are hired, and at other times men and trucks are hired, and, as the occasions arise, when this supplementary assistance is required, service orders are issued. For the smaller trucks (from 1½ to 3 tons), where the registration fee is not over $36, the rate paid is $2 an hour, and for the larger trucks (from 3½ to 5 tons), where the registration fee is over $36, the rate paid is $3.50 an hour. Charges of this type are made against budget item B-6. These rates include the rental of the vehicle, the wages of the chauffeur and gasoline and oil.

When extra men are needed in addition to the vehicles, the contractors are paid at the rate of $1.50 an hour for labor; this price including Government contributions, Workmen's Compensation and profit. Charges for labor and equipment are made against budget item B-19.

It is to the city's advantage, under present conditions, to continue this arrangement, and as the expenditures to be made will exceed $1,000, I respectfully request the permission of your Honor to issue service orders for procuring such supplementary equipment and labor as will be required to assist the Sanitary Division in this work.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, January 31, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—We have experienced some difficulty during the current winter in keeping up our regular system of refuse collections in the Roxbury and South End districts and in keeping the streets and alleys in a presentable condition because of snowstorms and due to the breakdown of the collection trucks. We have found it necessary, therefore, to hire contractors' trucks and men to assist the department in this work.

Under date of January 9 service orders in the total amount of $1,512 were issued to the Hancock Construction Company of 5 Hampstead road, Jamaica Plain, for the rental of trucks and men to remove debris from alleys, and on January 10 service orders in the total amount of $1,750 were issued to the same contractor for the hire of trucks to collect refuse. Inadvertently, no approval was obtained from your Honor to the issuance of these orders which exceeded the limitation of $1,000 established under the provisions of the City Charter as the maximum cost of work or services that can be done without publicly advertising for bids or without obtaining the Mayor's approval.

The services required under the provisions of the above-referenced service orders were of an emergency nature and we were precluded from publicly advertising for bids.

I respectfully request, therefore, that you approve the issuance of the above-referenced service orders to the Hancock Construction Company in the total amount of $3,250 for the rental of trucks and the employment of the contractors' men to assist the department in the collections of refuse and the cleaning of alleys in the South End and Roxbury for approximately a two-week period starting Wednesday, January 9.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, February 2, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—At the present time there are no contracts in effect for snow removal, and I feel that for the best interests of the city it is absolutely necessary to have contractors ready, when required, to assist the city in removing snow from the streets.

The last contracts which this department awarded were made for the winter of 1944-45, and the prices ranged from 50 cents a cubic yard to 63 cents a cubic yard in the twelve areas for which contracts had been made.

I had a meeting this week with the contractors who ordinarily do this work and who have had considerable experience in snow removal, all of whom possess the necessary equipment. All of the contractors felt that the prices in their last contracts are too low, as far as present conditions are concerned, since labor has gone up and the cost of hiring trucks and other equipment has also increased. The purpose of this meeting was to negotiate contracts to cover the current year, and, after much discussion, it was agreed that a 25 per cent increase in the price would be allowed, which I consider fair and reasonable.

If the city were to advertise publicly for bids for doing this work there would be no competition outside of the group of contractors who usually remove snow, since they are the only ones in this vicinity who possess the required equipment, and if the department did advertise, I doubt very much if better prices would be received than those upon which we have come to an agreement.

I feel that the best way of handling the problem of snow removal during the current year would be to award contracts to these individuals and firms, without publicly advertising for bids, and I respectfully request the approval of your Honor to dispense with advertising and to award these contracts to the following-named firms and individuals in the areas listed and at the price per cubic yard indicated, for snow removal during the period ending April 30, 1946:

Area No. 1, Edward M. Matz, Inc., 64 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 2, Walter Reed Corporation, 62 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 3, Baker & Co., 79 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 4, Hugh Nawn, Inc., 64 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 5, John Deveney Company, 64 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 6, Baker & Co., 70 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 7, John Deveney Company, 69 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 8, Coleman Brothers Corporation, 71 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 9, Ward General Contracting Company, 71 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 10, Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., 69 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 11, Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., 69 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 12, Joseph P. McCabe, Inc., 75 cents per cubic yard.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, February 2, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—In addition to the areas served by contractors for removing snow, there are certain sections of the city—particularly the business districts of the outlying sections—where it is absolutely essential to remove snow and open certain of the main arteries for traffic.

This is particularly true in the Roxbury district, the East Boston district, and in West Roxbury and Roslindale, and I feel that it would be to the advantage of the city to engage contractors to remove snow in these sections when required. In these particular areas I feel that the work can be done to the best advantage of the city by engaging these contractors on a rental basis for their equipment and force in designated streets and locations, and as, in my opinion, no advantage would be gained by advertising, I respectfully request the authority of your Honor to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and to award contracts to the following-named firms for snow removal in the sections indicated:

Baker & Co., Roxbury district. Hancock Construction Company, Brighton district. Walter Reed Corporation, East Boston district. C. & R. Construction Company, West Roxbury and Roslindale districts.

The cost of this work, in all probability, will be in excess of $1,000, and the contracts which this department will make will provide for the rental of the equipment and force of these contractors, at the established rates of this department, at such times as may be necessary during the period ending April 30, 1946.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 25, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—On December 28, 1945, an order was placed with Thomas W. Reed Company calling for delivery to the Boston City Hospital of approximately 174,000 yards of gauze which represented the amount remaining undelivered under the 1945 contract.

Although the order could not be filled before the expiration date of the contract, Reed offered to deliver at the 1945 contract price and, with the bids now on file on 1946 requirements, it is estimated that the placing of the order under these terms will represent a saving to the city of approximately $367.

Your permission is, therefore, respectfully requested to award a contract to Thomas W. Reed Company without publicly advertising for bids, for furnishing to the Boston City Hospital approximately 174,000 yards absorbent bleached gauze, in accordance with specifications, at a price of 2.85 cents per yard.

The approximate amount of the contract will be $4,950, less a cash discount of 2 per cent for payment in ten days.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM I. ROSE,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, January 26, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of January 11, 1946, bids were scheduled to be publicly opened and read at this office on proposals for furnishing ice cream mix to the Hospital Department. Because of the sugar and cream shortages no formal bids were submitted and this office was forced to solicit bids on the city's requirements through the medium of informal quotations.

The only concern prepared to furnish this mix—the Whiting Milk Company—has submitted a bid of $1.36 per gallon with the stipulation that only an informal agreement exist and that the price quoted is subject to change by the Office of Price Administration.

Orders for the Hospital and Sanatorium average one thousand dollars monthly.

Your permission is, therefore, respectfully requested to dispense with public advertisement for the period ending March 31, 1946, and accept the bid of the Whiting Milk Company for furnishing ice cream mix at $1.36 per gallon during this time.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM I. ROSE,
Superintendent of Supplies.

DISTRICT COURT OF CHELSEA.

BOSTON, February 1, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with chapter 156 of the Acts of 1939, which requires contracts in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to be entered into only after they have been submitted to bids, there is one item in my budget which comes under the scope of the above-mentioned chapter, to wit, Item D-1.

This item covers all printing, dockets and office supplies. May I ask that you give us authority to dispense with advertising for bids in this item for the reason that every dollar in D-1 is spent through the City of Boston Printing Department.

Respectfully yours,

EDWARD F. CANAVAN, Clerk.

Take up entire double flooring in the ladies' shower room, being approximately 20 feet long and 14 feet wide and in the men's toilet room being approximately 14 feet long and 12 feet wide, and furnish and lay a new double floor of two thicknesses of one-inch fir instead of patching floors in these rooms as quoted in the contract. Under both of these floors, where the floor stringers are rotten, furnish and install complete under the floor in the ladies' shower room and under the floor in the men's toilet room, six (6) new 2-inch by 10-inch fir floor timbers under each room. For these changes in renewing this wooden double floor and the floor timbers, the sum of three hundred forty-eight and 80-100 dollars ($348.80) will be added to contract price. AIDS PAID TO PUBLIC ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS FROM INCOME OF MASSACHUSETTS SCHOOL FUND.

State participation in the financing of education began with the establishment of the Massachusetts School Fund in 1834, the income from which was to be used "for the aid and encouragement of common schools," (chapter 169, Acts of 1834). The principal of this fund is now $5,000,000. The income of the fund has been distributed in many different ways. In 1835, population and the amount raised by local taxation for school support were the determining factors. Many changes followed until the present complex provisions were enacted, mostly in 1919, with some modification in later years.

ALMOST 3,000,000 IN NAVAL SERVICES.

By the end of 1943 it was estimated that the following totals of personnel were on active duty in the U. S. Navy, U. S. Marine Corps and the U. S. Coast Guard:

	U.S.Navy	U.S.M.C.	U.S.C.G.	Total
Officers	201,000	29,700	10,500	241,200
Enlisted	2,093,000	370,000	161,000	2,624,000
Total	2,294,000	399,700	171,500	2,865,200

AIDS PAID TO ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS FROM INCOME TAX REVENUES.

Only since 1919 has the state participated widely in the financing of elementary and secondary schools. Before that time state aid to municipalities was less than 2 per cent of the total cost of education, and was granted only to a limited group of towns. In 1919, however, provision was made for payments from the proceeds of the newly enacted personal income tax to every city and town which met certain teacher salary and qualification standards. Except for slight modifications the program is still the same as that established in 1919 (chapter 363, Acts of 1919). Every city and town is paid a fixed amount for every teacher employed (primary reimbursements), and some municipalities with low valuation per pupil receive additional grants (supplementary reimbursements).

STATE FISCAL AIDS TO CITIES AND TOWNS FOR PUBLIC ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

State aid to municipalities for public elementary and secondary education amounts annually in Massachusetts to six million dollars. This aid constitutes almost one tenth of the total annual expenditures for public education, and thus it is of considerable importance to municipal finance. The funds come from three sources: Over four fifths from income tax proceeds, the remainder from the General Fund and from the income of the Massachusetts School Fund. This aid for elementary and secondary education is in seven forms, which can be classified under three headings: General aid to every city and town, aid to equalize the financial burden of education among the cities and towns, and special aid to small towns. In all cases the aid is in the form of reimbursement, i. e., partly based on expenditures by the municipality.

REMOVAL OF TRAFFIC CIRCLE, JAMAICA PLAIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 4, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Park Commissioner regarding your order of January 26, 1946, relative to the removal of the traffic circle at the corner of May and Centre streets, Jamaica Plain.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 29, 1946.
J. Joseph Connors,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—I have your memorandum of January 26, with inclosure, order from the City Council requesting the removal of the traffic circle at the corner of May and Centre streets.

The traffic circle was placed there after a great deal of study and it was decided upon by the present Mayor in his former administration. The general intent of this was to force drivers of vehicles coming out of May street to go to the right on to Centre street.

I regret exceedingly to inform you I cannot see my way clear to remove this part of the Circle opposite May street, on account of the danger.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

NAMING OF TRAFFIC CIRCLE, JAMAICA PLAIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 4, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Park Commissioner regarding your order of January 21, 1946, relative to the rotary traffic circle at the Arborway and Centre street, Jamaica Plain, be named Veterans' Memorial Circle and that suitable signs be erected designating same, also that a flagpole be erected on this plot.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 29, 1946.
J. Joseph Connors,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—I have received a City Council order requesting that the rotary traffic circle at the Arborway and Centre street, Jamaica Plain, be named Veterans' Memorial Circle and that suitable signs be erected, also that a flagpole be erected on this plot.

This circle was designated and named for Lieutenant Murray, brother of the late Peter Murray, former City Councilor.

There is one of the finest American Elm trees in Jamaica Plain approximately in the center of this circle. A flagpole would not look appropriate alongside this tree.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

TENANTS IN HOUSING PROJECTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 4, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Boston Housing Authority regarding your order of January 7, 1946, relative to the purpose of trying to induce housing authority tenants who were not residents of Boston on January 1, 1941, to vacate their present quarters so that Boston residents, preferably veterans, may be housed in those developments.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Boston Housing Authority,
10 Post Office Square, Boston 6, Mass.
February 2, 1946.

Mr. J. Joseph Connors,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—Reference is made to your communication of January 10, 1946, relative to an order of the Boston City Council on January 7, 1946, that his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the Boston Housing Authority for the purpose of trying to induce Authority tenants who were not residents of Boston on January 1, 1941, to vacate their present quarters in order that they may be occupied by Boston residents, preferably veterans.

This Authority must, of course, abide by the rules of the Office of Price Administration, with particular reference to the rules issued by the Administrator for eviction of tenants from their accommodations. Under the rules now in force, the Authority is unable to evict a tenant because of ineligibility arising either from income or because a tenant was not a resident of Boston on January 1, 1941, unless it can be shown that there are available in the vicinity accommodations of the nature and quality which would be comparable to those which they presently occupy. Inasmuch as the emergency situation in housing is apparent to everyone today and is the reason for the request of the City Council, it would appear that this Authority will be unable to require immigrants to vacate their present quarters at this time.

This Authority at present is giving preference to veterans in all apartments which become vacant. In comparison to the number of apartments owned and operated by this Authority, the number of vacancies is small. However, you may rest assured that the Authority will continue its policy of giving preference to veterans for any apartments which it may have available.

Inclosed please find statistics relative to the number of immigrant families still living within the developments of the Boston Housing Authority and the number of immigrants who have vacated development apartments since V-J Day.

Very truly yours,
JEREMIAH F. SULLIVAN,
Acting Executive Director.

Total number of immigrants still living in developments who moved in as immigrants since January 1, 1941—938: war workers, 653; armed force, 140; veterans, 140; war widows, 5.

Total number of immigrants who have vacated since V-J Day—116.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 4, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Park

Commissioner regarding your order of January 21, 1946, relative to the reopening of the recently renovated convenience station located in the Uphams Corner section of Ward 7.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Please be informed all convenience stations in the city were closed under the Mansfield administration and the buildings were turned over to the Public Buildings Department. The Park Department has no jurisdiction over same.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

BUDGET FOR 1946.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 4, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Under the provisions of section 3 of the City Charter the Mayor, "not later than the first Monday in February of each year, shall submit to the city council the annual budget of the current expenses of the city and county for the current fiscal year, and may submit thereafter such supplementary appropriation orders as he may deem necessary."

Because of the pressure of business naturally attendant upon the opening of a new administration, it has been impossible for me to complete my review of budget estimates submitted by department officials for the activities of the current year. In order to comply with the charter provision I submit herewith lump sum budget recommendations for city and county departments. As I complete my review of appropriation requirements I shall submit to your Honorable Body one or more budget messages in segregated form. Therefore, no action should be taken by your Honorable Body on this budget as submitted.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That all sums of money which form no part of the income of the City, but shall be paid for services rendered or work done by any department or division for any other department or division, or for any person or corporation other than the City of Boston be paid into the general treasury, and that all contributions made to any appropriation be expended for the objects and purposes directed by the several contributors thereof.

Ordered, That all taxes raised to meet the appropriations of the City, and all taxes assessed for meeting the city's proportion of the state tax for the year 1946, or for any other taxes of assessments payable to the Commonwealth shall be payable in two equal installments, on July first and on October first, 1946; that interest shall be charged on all taxes remaining unpaid after the first day of November, 1946, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 59, section 57, of the General Laws, as amended, until paid, except the taxes assessed upon shares of national banks, which shall bear interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from the first day of October, 1946, until paid, and that all interest which shall have become due on taxes shall be added to and be part of such taxes.

AMENDMENT TO COMPENSATION AND CLASSIFICATION PLAN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Budget Department, February 5, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Your order for an amendment of the Compensation and Classification Plans for the Officers and Employees of Suffolk County to provide for a female nurse at the Suffolk County Jail has been considered and I approve of the same.

Upon investigation I found that such a position appears to be very necessary, due to the average number of female inmates confined.

The Special Sheriff, in a report to this office, stated that the daily count at the Jail runs from fifty to sixty females, and occasionally a considerably higher population. He also stated that the number of female inmates afflicted with social diseases should have constant professional treatment.

Therefore, I am of the opinion that this is a proper and necessary amendment to the Compensation Plan.

Respectfully submitted,

RUPERT S. CARVEN,
Budget Commissioner.

Referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

REPORT ON CONSTRUCTION OF CHRONIC HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
The Finance Commission, January 29, 1946.
To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council.
The Finance Commission has tried several times within the past few years to impress upon the Mayor and City Council the many advantages to be gained by the construction of a chronic hospital on the mainland of Boston. The commission has noted that in your inaugural message you have favored the idea, and the reasons given by you are identical with the arguments made by the commission.

The next important consideration, therefore, is the determination of a site. At this time the commission desires to point out to you the advantages of a particular site; also to make suggestions on the method of financing the proposed change.

The idea that the institution should be moved to the mainland did not originate with the commission. The commission arrived at the conclusion that Long Island is not a suitable place for a chronic hospital after observation and study of the opinions expressed for decades by practically all the medical men who have been attached to the hospital at Long Island. These opinions have been buttressed by opinion of practically all who have been responsible for the administration of the Institutions Department in the same length of time.

In order that the new site may not have any of the disadvantages of the old, it is well to consider why the Long Island site is a poor one. The consensus of medical and lay opinion is, first of all, that adequate bedside care cannot be furnished to the unfortunate chronic sick at Long Island. The patients need regular daily medical care, and often surgical service. They also need even more nursing care than the average patient in the City Hospital or in the other mainland hospitals for the acute sicknesses. The distance to Long Island and, consequently, the amount of time it takes to get back and forth are the chief obstacles to adequate medical, surgical, and nursing service.

To a great extent, as in all hospitals, services rendered by physicians are unpaid. Physicians who serve at Long Island, therefore, to a great extent must rely for their livelihood on private practice.

Private practice is incompatible with service at Long Island. Each time a doctor visits Long Island he loses practically a whole day from his private practice. To make up the deficiency which results resident physicians are employed when obtainable; but usually good physicians do not stay long. Hence, they are coming and going all the time, and there are never enough of them. The present superintendent, a medical doctor, rather than see patients unattended or endangered, often also serves as nurse, porter, fireman, or at tasks suited for an ordinary laborer. Yet if a surgical operation is necessary in an emergency, he serves as the surgeon.

Adequate nursing service is almost equally difficult to obtain. Training and experience in chronic cases alone are not attractive enough either to student or graduate nurses to produce enough applicants with the right background for the job. The isolation feature of assignment at Long Island makes many hesitant about taking appointment there. All who must go to the island, including nurses, are dependent for transportation on a boat service which in the best of weather is frequently hazardous and uncertain. There have been many occasions when nurses and other employees have waited hours and even days at the city's wharf in Boston for a boat which did not operate. They have been marooned as frequently at the island down the harbor. They have often consented to make the trip on a makeshift substitute boat only with the greatest trepidation.

Then, there is the economy side of the picture. Supplies of all kinds cost 33½ per cent more delivered at Long Island than they would at any place on the mainland; and there is always the possibility of serious delay in their arrival. Plans for meals for a particular time—advance planning is necessary in all such institutions—have often had to be changed at the eleventh hour when the expected supplies have not arrived. Boats have been tied up because of absences of crew members almost as frequently as for want of repairs. Government regulations require a specific number of crew men. When a regular member of the crew fails to put in an appearance, a substitute must be found, but it usually is impossible to obtain one on short notice. Cost of boat operation has been constantly increasing, yet loss of service of boats has become greater as the years go by.

A bridge from Squantum to Long Island has been proposed. The Finance Commission opposed it on the ground that it could not be relied upon with confidence and because of the expense.

A change in the location of the hospital from Long Island now is timely. A large sum of money must be spent in the near future if the present structures are to be made safe. A building commissioner a year ago condemned many of the most used buildings, particularly those in which a large percentage of the island population is housed. It would be better to build a new institution on the mainland.

In selecting a new site, the paramount considerations should be, first, the possibility of providing adequate care of the chronic sick; secondly, the cost of the new plant.

In regard to the first of these considerations, the medical staff of the institution has pointed out that the medical objective in such institutions is no longer merely to provide a comfortable bed in which the chronic sick may spend their remaining days. Today it is more to give relief first and then medical aid which might conquer the patients' ailments. They say that such aid is only possible in a medical center, where adequate physicians, surgeons and nurses are available.

In regard to the second consideration, the expense of operation of a particular new plant is important. Seldom does a new modern plant cost less to maintain than an old, antiquated one. The new facilities and new routines of a new modern plant supply something which the old plant lacked, but they often mean new expenses.

With the latter thought in mind for a site for a mainland chronic hospital, the commission believes that the present site of the South Department of the City Hospital on Massachusetts avenue would best serve. This property, for years used for contagious disease patients, is not in great use now. Because of the advancement made in preventive medicine, particularly in the almost complete eradication of such contagious diseases as diphtheria, in these contagious disease wards the average daily population has dropped from approximately 300 to 90. Moreover, parts of this old plant are now in need of renovation if there is to be continued use for contagious disease purposes.

The suggestion of the Finance Commission is that an adequate new hospital for contagious cases be erected on that part of the vacant portion of the South Department area which faces Harrison avenue. Adequate chronic hospital facilities could then be erected on the remainder, making use of some of the buildings which are now there.

There are two principal advantages in this location. First of all, it would permit a free exchange of services with the City Hospital, across the street. Without great expense, a connecting tunnel could be arranged. The central hospital physicians and surgeons would then be readily available to the chronic patients. The nursing school at the main hospital could be expanded to furnish the bedside care in the chronic hospital. Time and study in the chronic hospital could very well be a part of the training course.

The second great advantage is that location of a new hospital on this site would not necessitate a complete new plant such as would be necessary if another less favorable locus were selected. Many of the facilities such as, for instance, the kitchen at the main hospital and the laundry, and the heating plant, and the mechanical forces could furnish service to another hospital on that site. It would seem to be a necessity that advantage of these opportunities be taken, since municipal maintenance costs are soaring to unprecedented heights in other directions.

Another very important matter is the determination of the size of hospital needed. If the one erected is too small, in a short time the problem will be as serious as it has been for so long. Apparently, it is not generally appreciated that there are now a potential 800 cases for a chronic hospital. A careful survey reveals that there are approximately 350 chronic patients now at Long Island; there are 250 more (City Hospital official figure) now in the City Hospital; the Institutions Commissioner a short time ago stated that there are approximately 200 more on a waiting list.

Since the probability is that the number will grow rather than decrease, a hospital of 1,000-bed capacity is what is needed.

The relief to the City Hospital would be of great value. It would make 250 beds available there for patients with acute diseases. The main hospital is now overcrowded, and many are refused admission.

The cost of such a new plant is no small consideration. Hospital authorities estimate that for a complete hospital, an entity in itself, it is safe to figure approximately $5,000 per bed. This would mean $5,000,000 for a 1,000-bed hospital, but if the South Department locus is used this amount can be substantially reduced.

Moreover, it is possible that the city can obtain Federal aid for the project. There is now a bill in Congress, well on the road to final action, and advocated by the Federal Public Works authorities, under which the Federal Government would make a grant of 50 per cent of the cost of new municipal hospitals. If advantage is taken of this opportunity, the total bill will not be so burdensome to the city corporation.

The commission would further suggest that it would be well to have expert professional opinion on the detailed working out of plans. A committee of three, to include a physician who has had experience in hospital management and operation, a physician who has specialized in the treatment of chronic diseases, and a capable business man preferably with an engineering background would make an ideal advisory board for such an important project.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD F. MULLEN, Chairman,
ALEXANDER WHEELER,
LEO J. DUNN,
FREDERICK DEANE,
The Finance Commission.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RULES.

COUN. LANE—Mr. President and fellow members, the Committee on Rules respectfully submits and recommends for adoption the accompanying draft of rules for the years 1946-1947. The rules reported by the committee are the same rules that governed the City Council during the years 1944-1945, with the exception of the following recommended changes. At this time I might suggest, fellow councilors, the City Messenger has very obligingly put one of these handbooks on each desk, and I suggest you turn to page 8 and follow these suggestions as I read them:

Page 8, Rule 1. After the words "from time to time," insert the words "and except on holidays."

Rule 2. After the word "adjourned," strike out all words up to and including the word "council," and insert in place thereof the following words: "If on a roll call, other than on the question of lack of a quorum, less than a quorum responds, the Chair may declare a recess of not more than ten minutes."

Incidentally, gentlemen, if I may depart just a moment, I am told that the new book of rules governing the City Council will be printed in two or three weeks.

Rule 4. Add the following new paragraph: "The president may, at any time, during debate or otherwise, declare a recess for not more than ten minutes, and such action shall not be subject to appeal, nor shall any motions apply thereto."

Rule 8. Strike out words "when any member so requests," and insert in place thereof the following words, "when three members so request."

Rule 13. At end of second paragraph, add the following sentence, "No motions shall apply, nor shall unanimous consent to speak on the matter so referred be in order."

Rule 14. Strike out the last paragraph and insert in place thereof the following two paragraphs:

"If, after thirty days, a matter referred to a committee is not reported upon, it may be recalled by a majority vote of all the members."

The same Rule 14: "If, within thirty days, a matter referred to a committee is not reported upon, it may be recalled by a two-thirds vote of all the members."

Rule 18. After the word "resolution," first sentence, insert the following words, "Unless reported upon by a committee or rejected."

Rule 24. After the word "vote," strike out all words to end of paragraph, and insert in place thereof the following: "in the affirmative or negative or shall respond 'present', unless the Council for special reason shall excuse him from voting."

Rule 25. Paragraph 14, strike out words, "soldiers' relief," and insert in place thereof the words "military affairs." Renumber paragraph as paragraph 9, and change numbers of following paragraphs.

And finally we come down now to Rule 35. In Rule 35, after the words "two-thirds of," insert the word "all," and after the words, "city council," strike out the words "present and voting thereon."

The foregoing changes are recommended in order that the business of the City Council may be facilitated. The changes recommended are in accordance with well-established rules of parliamentary procedure. And now, as chairman of the Rules Committee, I would like to say that I was aided greatly by the honorable City Clerk and Councilor Thomas Hannon.

The question came on the acceptance of the committee's report, and the adoption of the rules, and the rules were adopted as recommended.

Following are the rules as adopted:

RULES OF THE CITY COUNCIL, 1946-1947.

Rule 1. Unless otherwise ordered from time to time, and except on holidays, the regular meeting of the city council shall be held on every Monday at two o'clock p. m. Special meetings may be called by the president at his discretion, and by the city clerk for the purpose only of drawing jurors. No special meeting of the city council, except to draw jurors, shall be called, except with the consent of all the members, upon less notice than twenty-four hours from the time the notices are mailed or dispatched by special messenger.

Quorum.

Rule 2. A quorum of the city council shall consist of twelve members. If, at the time any meeting is called to order, or if, during a meeting, on a vote on the adoption of a motion or order, or on a point of order raised by a member, a roll call shows less than a quorum present, the president shall declare the meeting adjourned. If on a roll call, other than on the question of lack of a quorum, less than a quorum responds, the chair may declare a recess of not more than ten minutes.

President.

Rule 3. The president of the council shall take the chair at the hour to which the council shall have adjourned and shall call the members to order, and a quorum being present, shall proceed with the regular order of business. In the absence of the president the senior member by age present shall preside as temporary president, or until a presiding officer is chosen.

Rule 4. The president shall preserve decorum and order, may speak to points of order in preference to other members and shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal. Any member may appeal from the decision of the chair, but no appeal shall be considered unless properly seconded. No other business, except a motion to adjourn or to lay on the table, shall be in order until the question on appeal has been decided.

The question shall be put as follows: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the council?" The vote shall be by a roll call, and it shall be decided in the affirmative unless a majority of the votes are to the contrary.

The president may, at any time, during debate, or otherwise, declare a recess for not more than ten minutes, and such action shall not be subject to appeal, nor shall any motions apply thereto.

Rule 5. The president shall propound all motions in the order in which they are moved, unless the subsequent motion shall be previous in its nature, except that, in naming sums and fixing times, the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

Rule 6. The president shall, at the request of any member, make a division of a question when the sense will admit of it.

Rule 7. The president shall, without debate, decide all questions relating to priority of business to be acted upon.

Rule 8. The president shall declare all votes; but if any member doubts a vote, the president shall cause a rising vote to be taken, and, when three members so request, shall cause the vote to be taken or verified by yeas and nays.

Rule 9. The president shall appoint all committees, fill all vacancies therein, and designate the rank of the members thereof.

Rule 10. When the president of the council or the president pro tempore shall desire to vacate the chair he may call any member to it; but such substitution shall not continue beyond an adjournment.

Motions.

Rule 11. Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the president shall so direct.

Rule 12. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost shall not preclude amendment, or a motion to strike out and insert.

Rule 13. No motion or proposition of a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

Any motion, order or resolution which in the opinion of the presiding officer does not have a direct bearing on the business of the council shall be referred without debate to that committee on rules and shall not be further considered by the council except upon report by that committee. There shall be no appeal from the decision of the chair hereunder, and this rule shall not be subject to suspension. No motions shall apply, nor shall unanimous consent to speak on the matter so referred be in order.

The committee on rules may report that any motion, order or resolution so referred to it is out of order because not having a direct bearing on the business of the council, and its report shall be a final disposition of the matter, subject to an appeal which shall be governed by the same provisions as those governing appeals from rulings of the presiding officer.

Rule 14. When a petition, order or resolution relates to a subject which may properly be examined and reported upon by an existing committee of the city council, such order or resolution shall, upon presentation, be referred to such committee. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees are proposed, the motions shall be put in the following order:

1. To a standing committee of the council.
2. To a special committee of the council.

Any member offering a motion, order or resolution, which is referred to a committee, shall be given a hearing on the same by the committee before a report is made thereon, provided he so requests at the time of offering the order or before final action by the committee.

If, after thirty days, a matter referred to a committee is not reported upon, it may be recalled by a majority vote of all the members.

If within thirty days, a matter referred to a committee is not reported upon, it may be recalled by a two-thirds vote of all the members.

Rule 15. After a motion has been put by the president it shall not be withdrawn except by unanimous consent.

Rule 16. When a question is under debate the following motions only shall be entertained, and shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged:

1. To adjourn.
2. To lay on the table.
3. The previous question.
4. To close debate at a specified time.
5. To postpone to a day certain.
6. To commit.
7. To amend.
8. To postpone indefinitely.

Rule 17. A motion to adjourn shall be in order at any time, except on an immediate repetition or pending a verification of a vote; and that motion, the motion to lay on the table, the motion to take from the table, and the motion for the previous question, shall be decided without debate.

Readings.

Rule 18. Every ordinance, order and resolution, unless reported upon by a committee or rejected, shall have two several readings, both of which may take place at the same session unless objection is made, provided, however, that all orders for the expenditure of moneys, unless reported upon by a committee of the council, shall lie over for one week before final action thereon. Whenever the second reading immediately follows the first reading, the document may be read by its title only; provided, that all orders releasing rights or easements in or restrictions on land, all orders for the sale of land other than school lands, all appropriations for the purchase of land other than for school purposes, and all loans voted by the city council shall require a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the city council, and shall be passed only after two separate readings and by two separate votes, the second of said readings and votes to be had not less than fourteen days after the first, except in cases in which a shorter period is authorized by law.

Reconsideration.

Rule 19. When a vote has been taken any member may move a reconsideration thereof at the same meeting. No member shall speak for more than ten minutes on a motion to reconsider.

Rule 20. When a motion to reconsider has been decided, that decision shall not be reconsidered, and no question shall be twice reconsidered unless it has been amended after the reconsideration; nor shall any reconsideration be had upon the following motions:

- To adjourn.
- The previous question.
- To lay on the table.
- To take from the table.
- To close debate at a specified time.

A motion to reconsider may be laid on the table or postponed indefinitely, and the effect of such action in either case shall be to defeat the motion to reconsider.

Conduct of Members.

Rule 21. Every member when about to speak shall rise, address the chair, and wait until he is recognized, and, in speaking, shall refrain from mentioning any other member by name, shall confine himself to the question and avoid personalities. Any member who, in debate or otherwise, indulges in personalities or makes charges reflecting upon the character of another member, shall make an apology in open session at the meeting at which the offence is committed or at the next succeeding regular meeting, and, failing to do so, shall be named by the president or held in contempt and suspended from further participation in debate until said apology is made.

Rule 22. No member shall speak more than once on a question when another member who has not spoken claims the floor, and no member speaking shall, without his consent, be interrupted by another, except upon a point of order.

Rule 23. No member shall be permitted to vote on any question, or to serve on any committee, where his private right is immediately concerned, distinct from the public interest.

Rule 24. Every member who shall be present when a question is put, unless he is excluded by interest, shall give his vote in the affirmative or negative or shall respond "present", unless the council for special reason shall excuse him from voting.

Standing Committees.

Rule 25. The following standing committees of the council, and all other committees, unless specially directed by the council, shall be appointed by the president:

1. A committee, to be known as the Executive Committee, to consist of all the members of the council.
2. A committee on Appropriations, to consist of seven members of the council, to whom shall be referred such appropriation orders as may be submitted to the council from time to time.
3. A committee on Claims, to consist of five members of the council, to whom shall be referred all claims against the city arising from the act or neglect of any of its departments. They shall report annually an account of the claims awarded or approved by them, and the amount of money awarded or paid in settlements thereof.
4. A committee on County Accounts, to consist of five members of the council.
5. A committee on Finance, to consist of seven members of the council, to whom shall be referred all applications for expenditure which involve a loan.
6. A committee on Inspection of Prisons, to consist of five members of the council.
7. A committee on Legislative Matters, to consist of five members of the council, who shall, unless otherwise ordered, appear before the committees of the General Court and represent the interest of the city; provided, said committee shall not appear unless authorized by vote of the city council and shall not, unless directed so to do by the city council, oppose any legislation petitioned for by the preceding city council.
8. A committee on Licenses, to consist of seven members of the council.
9. A committee on Military Affairs, to consist of five members of the council, who shall determine the amount of aid to be allowed to soldiers and sailors and their families and submit a schedule of the same to the city council monthly.

The committee shall fix the number of copies to be printed of any document printed as above, the minimum, however, to be four hundred; and they shall have the right to make rules and regulations for the care, custody and distribution of all documents, books, pamphlets and maps in the charge of the city messenger.

DISCONTINUANCE OF TWO-PLATOON SYSTEM IN FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. BRYAN and KELLY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to recommend an amendment to the ordinances for the discontinuance of the two-platoon system for the Boston Fire Department and install the 24-hour work period every other day until such time as the average 70-hour work week, or thereabouts, can be put into effect.

Coun. BRYAN—Mr. President and members of the City Council, I am introducing this order in behalf of the members of the Boston Fire Department, after talking with many of the members and the officers of the department and finding that they favor this change. Recently a vote was taken among the men, and 86 per cent of the men in the department favored this work schedule. I feel that the efficiency and the morale of this department will be greatly increased by this form of schedule if adopted. (Applause from the gallery.)

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry.

President KELLY—State your point of parliamentary inquiry.

Coun. HANNON—We have before the Executive Committee now, I think, an ordinance which was recommended by the Committee on Ordinances and reported to the Executive Committee relative to the adoption of the 70-hour week. Now, I think, in fairness to everybody, both of these matters should be considered at the same time. So I would like to suggest that either this matter be referred to the Executive Committee, or that the other matter be recalled and referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

President KELLY—Do you make that in the form of a motion? The Chair has no objection if you wish to make that in the form of a motion.

Coun. HANNON—I move that this be referred to the Executive Committee, so that it may be considered in conjunction with the 70-hour order.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

LOAN TO GREAT BRITAIN.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Whereas, The first duty of the American Government should be to the American nation. Not one cent of the American taxpayers' money should be given away to any foreign government until every American wage earner is secure in a job which pays him a living family wage; and

Whereas, The proposed "loan" is dishonest. The application "loan" is in itself dishonest. You know, we know, and the State Department knows, that this is a grant of the American taxpayers' money. If not, why the escape clauses; and

Whereas, The proposed loan is un-American. Our forefathers fought a war (out of which came our great Republic) on the principle "No Representation, no Taxation." To place the burden of the payment of this huge grant upon the shoulders of Americans yet unborn is certainly taxation without representation; and

Whereas, The proposed "loan" is unsound. Should we give this money to Britain, and Russia applied for a similar amount on the same terms, and we refused, Russia could rightfully accuse us of participating in an "Economic Alliance" with Britain, to deprive her of her rightful share of world trade, thus causing distrust, and in distrust is sown the seed of future war; and

Whereas, The proposed "loan" is undemocratic. At the present moment guns bought and paid for with American dollars are pouring death and destruction on the people of Java and French Indo-China, because the natives in those countries believe in the principles of the Four Freedoms. British guns, bought and paid for with American dollars, are shooting down Jews in Palestine, because Britain feels it is to her economic advantage to play ball with the Arabs. With American taxpayers' money she is maintaining a puppet Parliament in Northeast Ireland, which subjects half a million Irish Catholics to unheard of hardships. With American taxpayers' money she is keeping India in subjection. We feel it is time to stop using our money for such un-American purposes; and therefore be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, on this the fourth day of February, nineteen hundred and forty-six, records itself unanimously in disapproval of the contemplated loan to Great Britain or to other foreign governments or people until adequate provisions are made for the needs of the United States of America and its citizens.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, it is extremely difficult to get wound up on this. A year or two ago it was a simple matter, but today because of the dispirited

Coun. SULLIVAN—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. SULLIVAN—Shouldn't this resolution here be referred to the Committee on Rules?

President KELLY—Your point of order is well taken.

Coun. SULLIVAN—I press it, Mr. President.

Coun. KINSELLA—I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

President KELLY—I am going to refer the order to the Committee on Rules, and, of course, there is no debate. Councilor Kinsella now asks unanimous consent to make a statement.

Coun. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I would just ask you to ask the chairman of the Rules Committee to give the new interpretation of the rules that we have just accepted here relative to such matters.

President KELLY—Councilor Sullivan, I might answer you by saying that no unanimous consent is permissible to speak on the order the councilor just introduced. He may have another reason for asking unanimous consent to make a statement, and that is why I recognized him.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, a point of order.

President KELLY—State your point of order.

Coun. KINSELLA—I am not going to speak on this or any other order by any underhand methods. Naturally, the councilor knows what I am to speak on, if there is no objection. In regard to the rules just announced, are we to understand those rules are in effect now, or to be accepted when in printed form?

President KELLY—We have just accepted them now, so they are effective now.

Coun. KINSELLA—I still ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

Coun. SULLIVAN—I am reserving my right to object. According to our rules he cannot speak on this resolution on unanimous consent.

President KELLY—I realize that. I will rule him out of order.

Coun. KINSELLA—I here withdraw my request, in view of the fact that everyone knows what I am going to talk about, and I won't do it by subterfuge.

The resolutions were referred to the Committee on Rules.

CLEARING OF SIDEWALKS AND STREETS.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That the Police Commissioner be directed by his Honor the Mayor to enforce the city ordinance relative to cleaning sidewalks after a snowstorm, section 44, chapter 39, and its amendments, chapter 40, Ordinances of 1939.

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to immediately clear all streets of ice and snow or to sand same.

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to take immediate steps to have all sidewalks fronting public buildings cleared of ice and snow.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, as you will see, I am referring not only to the individual owners of individual homes, but also in so far as any real estate owned by the City of Boston is concerned, and to the streets of our city being in the condition that they are today. In doing so, Mr. President, I have in mind that unless the whole three sections are combined we will not have achieved the purpose that we set out to achieve. By that I mean that we have to have the cooperation of the city for the citizens. The sidewalks of our city today are in a very deplorable condition. Ever since the last snowstorm the individual owner seems to take it for granted that there is nothing he should do in order to protect the pedestrians who walk on the sidewalk—to protect them so that no injury may result to their body, or even to the extent of the loss of their life. Therefore, I feel that the Police Commissioner, through his department, ought to enforce our ordinance where it states that snow or ice should be removed or leveled off or sanded, or ashes thrown on, so at least to make it safe for the individual to walk on our sidewalks. The same condition exists on our streets. It is a shame for the streets and sidewalks of our city to be left in such a condition after a snowstorm which is over a week old, and unless something is done I say that our City Hospital is going to be filled up with more accidents than have occurred up to today, and something ought to be done, and done right away. And I hope that these three departments will take action on it and give results, so that we can clear our streets and sidewalks.

The orders were severally passed under suspension of the rule.

LICENSES FOR SUNDAY SALE OF LIQUOR.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That the Licensing Board of the City of Boston be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to revoke all licenses for the sale of alcoholic beverages on Sundays and to grant no further licenses for Sunday sales.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, we have come to a point where no consideration is given by the Licensing Board as to where these seven-day licenses should be granted. It seems to me that it makes no difference to them who opposes or who is in favor of such licenses. They have no consideration as to the location where these licenses are granted. They have no consideration for the children who live in the near vicinity. It is bad enough to have a condition existing six days out of the week, without having it granted on the seventh day, on the holiday, which is a day that should be observed. I realize, Mr. President, that however they may be protected by law, they can sell or transfer their licenses. Nevertheless, it is becoming a racket, Mr. President. You and I cannot go out and buy a license unless we have $30,000, $40,000, $50,000. I know where licenses have been sold where perhaps only $6,000 or $8,000 of liquor and various other equipment may be in the premises, and licenses sold as high as $40,000. How can you or I, and how can any one of the boys who has been discharged, or who will be discharged, from the service, be able to acquire a license, in providing for themselves and their families? It is only a matter of who has the money, and who can pay for it, and who goes up there to see that the license is granted. I submit this ought to stop, and stop right away. And the only way we can do it is to start eliminating liquor sales Sunday. You and I know most of these places, these so-called cafes—I would like you, Mr. President, or anyone else to go in and find out how much food they have and what sales they make. When is this going to stop? Is there no limit? If they don't stop, I say that the City Council of Boston ought to ask the Corporation Counsel to draw up legislation whereby the authority invested in the Licensing Board would be eliminated, and be given where it belongs,—to the Mayor and the City Council of the city. It is about time something should be done and this racket stopped once and for all.

Coun. KEENAN—Speaking on the order of Councilor Russo, I am going to ask that that be sent to the Committee on Licenses.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, a point of order.

President KELLY—State your point of order. Coun. KINSELLA—That is not a subject matter for the Committee on Licenses.

President KELLY—Your point of order is well taken, and the Chair is going to ask Councilor Keenan if he won't make a motion to refer it to the Executive Session.

Coun. KEENAN—I ask that it be referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

President KELLY—That is a proper motion.

Coun. RUSSO—Talking on the motion, if I may.

President KELLY—To be referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters?

Coun. RUSSO—In so far as the order itself is concerned I don't feel that it is a matter of legislation at this time because, according to law, the full power rests upon the Licensing Board, and they are the last say-so. They may or may not issue licenses for seven days; and they may revoke them if they so desire. So I don't see any reason at this time for this order of mine being sent to any committee. I feel that that could be taken up with the Licensing Board, to heed to the request of the City Council. And I feel, Mr. President, that all the clergy will be interested in this, because I feel that day in and day out we are forgetting the Sabbath Day. Let us go back a little while. It will not hurt any one of us.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President, without attempting at this time to go into the merits of the charges made by the councilor from the Ward 3 district (Coun. Russo), it seems to me, after consultation with my colleague on the left (Coun. Cook), that this matter should properly go to the Rules Committee, and if Councilor Keenan has no objection I would like to substitute a motion that it go to the Committee on Rules for the motion that it go to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

President KELLY—Does Councilor Keenan want to withdraw that motion?

Coun. KEENAN—Yes.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I make a motion that this matter be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Coun. RUSSO—I am wondering whether or not—not that I have any objection as to what committee you want to send it in to—it makes no difference—but I am wondering whether or not the Committee on Rules is the proper committee for it to be sent in to, and if this is not the direct business of the City Council. I feel that any orders or resolutions to be sent to the Rules Committee should be sent when there is any question of doubt that it is a city function or city business. I feel this is city business. It affects the entire city, and the sole jurisdiction on this question rests with the Licensing Board.

President KELLY—Councilor, I might say I felt the same way that you did, but the majority of the Council can send it to any committee they see fit to.

The question came on referring the matter to the Committee on Rules, and it was so referred.

Coun. RUSSO—I doubt the vote, and ask for a roll call.

President KELLY—Councilor Russo, you need two other gentlemen to go along with you for a roll call. All those in favor of a roll call please rise. The Chair rises and Councilor Russo rises, so you are one short.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. RUSSO—I ask for a standing vote.

Coun. COOK—Mr. President, a point of information.

President KELLY—State your point of information.

Coun. COOK—I don't know what rule says we can have a standing vote. All I know are the rules read by the chairman of the Rules Committee, and by those we have a voice vote and a yea and nay vote. By what rule are we allowed to have a standing vote?

President KELLY—Your point is well taken, councilor.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, I realize if I ask for any roll call it may put some of the councilors in a peculiar position, where it has been a precedent that a standing vote has been taken in the Council.

President KELLY—The Chair wants to be fair, councilor. The Chair wants to be fair with every councilor. We have taken a vote to refer the matter to the Committee on Rules, and there is no debate. I want to be fair with everybody, and give you lots of room. There is no debate once a matter has been referred to the Committee on Rules. I want to be fair with you.

The order stood referred to the Committee on Rules.

BETTER SERVICE BY ELEVATED.

Coun. CHASE offered the following:

Ordered, That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make immediate arrangements for providing better street car service on the Huntington avenue subway line, by using more cars and better timing of stops.

Coun. CHASE—Mr. President, the street car service on the Huntington avenue subway line is about the worst you can get in the whole state. It is all due primarily to the Boston Elevated Railway Company's failure to provide more street cars. I have seen on more than one occasion three or four street cars loaded right up, people packed in like sardines, while through Mechanics hall station, leaving hundreds of passengers on the subway platform. I think, Mr. President, the Boston Elevated Railway Trustees should personally endeavor to do something about the proper management of the railway company. In my opinion, the railway company has a colossal nerve to attempt to provide de luxe bus service from the airport to the Statler Hotel when they can't provide better transportation facilities for the average rank and file of 800,000 citizens in Boston. There have not only been complaints in my district on this subway line, but it extends away up into Roxbury and Jamaica Plain. Mr. President, I hope the trustees of the Elevated realize that they have a public duty to perform; I hope they realize that they are running a corporation which is in the nature of a quasi-public institution; I hope they realize it is the taxpayers who are paying the dividends and paying their salaries. And I hope, sir, they will give those taxpayers the service that they are entitled to.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President.

President KELLY—Talking on the order, councilor.

Coun. MUCHNICK—It seems to me that the very praiseworthy order just introduced by Councilor Chase could very easily be amended to include every part of the City of Boston, where the service is fully as bad as the service which he describes in his district. And if there is no objection on the part of Councilor Chase, I would like to amend this to include the entire system of the Boston Elevated Railway in Greater Boston.

Coun. RUSSO—Will you have the clerk read the order again?

(The order was again read by the clerk.)

President KELLY—Do you accept that amendment, Councilor Chase?

Coun. CHASE—What is the amendment?

President KELLY—That it will include the whole City of Boston?

Coun. CHASE—You might tack that on after my order.

President KELLY—Yes.

Coun. HURLEY—Speaking on the order, Mr. President. For the last five or six years I have endeavored to get proper bus service in the whole of my district, and especially the service connecting St. Helena's House. It is a place similar to the Franklin Square House, where working girls are lodged. The bus station at the nearest approach to this particular place is Washington and Union Park streets, at the Cathedral, and going in town there is no shelter whatsoever. Girls have left that home in the morning and walked up Harrison avenue in wet and snowy weather, and have waited there and seen bus after bus pass, and leave them, and finally, when they are picked up, they are drenched, and go to work, and finally develop colds and pneumonia. I had no success at all until about a year ago, as a result of the war effort, they decided then they would have a bus leave Northampton and Washington streets, to East Concord, and down Harrison avenue to St. Helena's, and up Union Park, and then proceed to Dover street. It was a shuttle line between the two stations. They put on a single bus there in the morning, between the hours of seven and nine, and then again between the hours of four and six. That particular district, Mr. President, has been a run-down, vacated district for the past twenty-five years. There were numerous up and coming plants at that time. Included was one of the big piano companies of the country, the Everett Piano Company. As I stated, it had been run-down and vacated, and it was empty. But since the war the buildings have been remodeled and put to use, and thousands of people are employed in the district. That one bus, starting from Northampton street, would take on probably twenty-five to thirty people. And, mind you, thousands of people were employed that had to be at work at a special hour, between seven and eight o'clock, and by the time the bus made that route down to Dover street and back, it was probably twenty minutes or half an hour, and the people would be late. They would proceed then, walking a distance of one-half or three-quarters of a mile, through rain and snow, and then they, too, were refusing to go to work when they missed the bus or couldn't get bus service, and they were going home, which was retarding the efforts in promoting the war. And I spoke to Mr. Dana at this particular time, about two months ago, and I said to Mr. Dana, "It was only a few years ago, in the past few years, you had spotters and inspectors through our district hauling taxi drivers into court, and telling the court that these people were making the deficit larger because they were stealing riders from the Boston Elevated." Now, in turn, they want to furnish de luxe service to the East Boston airport. They are going away from their own line of business, a ten-cent carfare, to a specialized line of service at a twenty-five-cent fare. But the Superintendent of Transportation of the Boston Elevated Railway informed me a few months ago, "We would like to put out more buses. We know it is imperative for the welfare of that community and the business in the district that we should have more buses, but what are we going to do? We can't get buses." But still they are going along with the idea of going into a specialized line of transportation that they, in turn, two years ago were depriving the cab drivers from butting in on their business, but it is all right for them to go and butt into the cab drivers' business. I hope that this order will pass, and I hope there will be something in back of it that will force the trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway to give the people of Boston a break—not the people coming into East Boston airport from all over New England and all over the country, giving them specialized, low-priced service, that does not contribute one cent to building up or paying the bills of the Elevated Railway. It is our duty to support the Elevated and pay their deficits, and I think the first consideration of the Boston Elevated should be the comfort and safety of the patrons of the Boston Elevated line, those living in the area that they will get their taxes from.

The order was amended by the addition of the words: "and to make similar improvement in service throughout the entire Elevated system in Boston," and, as so amended, was passed under suspension of the rule.

REPLACING OF CERTAIN GAS LAMPS, WARD 11, BY ELECTRICITY.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following: Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to replace the present gas lamps on School street and School Street place, Ward 11, with modern electric lights.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Ordered, That the trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to restore the street car stop which was formerly located approximately opposite 1399 Columbus avenue, at New Heath street, and which is in a well lighted area, to replace the present stop which is about opposite 1407 Columbus avenue, on the further side of New Heath street.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. HURLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation to permit the refunding of a license fee paid by Somerset Hotel, Inc., provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Coun. MUCHNICK—This was introduced by Councilor Hurley at my request, in view of the fact that I am counsel for the petitioner for the legislation, and I would like to have it noted in the records that I am not voting on the resolution.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Legislative Matters.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

Coun. HANNON, for the Committee on Legislative Matters, submitted the following:

Report accepted; said resolution passed.

2. Report on order (referred January 7) that the Corporation Counsel be requested to draw legislation to be presented to Legislature to amend City Charter so that the Council by a two-thirds vote can override the Mayor's veto—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said order passed.

3. Report on order (referred January 28) to increase annuity payment to widow of Charles E. Deininger—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said order passed.

4. Report on resolve (referred January 28) relative to increasing to $1,000 a year the annuities of widows of policemen and firemen receiving less than that amount—recommending passage of accompanying new draft, viz.:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to amend chapter 672 of the Acts of 1945, which increased to $1,000 the annuities payable to the widows of policemen and firemen of the City of Boston who were killed or died from injuries received in the performance of their duty so as to provide that said increase shall also apply to the widows of policemen and firemen whose annuities were granted under special acts; provided that such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Report accepted; said resolution passed.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT TO MOTHER OF HENRY F. O'BRIEN.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

RESURFACING OF TALBOT AVENUE.

Coun. KEENAN and MUCHNICK offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to resurface Talbot avenue, from Codman square to Blue Hill avenue, in Wards 14 and 17.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PROPOSED CITY HALL CLINIC.

Coun. LANE and MADDEN offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of establishing a clinic in City Hall, or City Hall Annex, to be staffed by a doctor and nurse during all regular business hours, for the emergency treatment of all employees of the city and for the accommodation and treatment of the many thousands of persons who visit these municipal departments during the year, and who might be stricken while in the buildings, or in the immediate vicinity of the City Hall buildings.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President and fellow members of the Council, the health of the people of our community has always been of vital importance, and with that in mind, in coordination with my fellow councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Madden), we have seen fit to introduce this order requesting his Honor the Mayor to take immediate steps to establish within the City Hall, or in the Annex building, an up-to-date clinic, staffed by an accepted, trained nurse, and having on call at all regular business hours of the city departments, a doctor who probably will be delegated by the Health Department. In these two buildings here, after making some inquiries, Councilor Madden and I have found that nearly fifteen hundred people are regularly engaged in city business, on the city pay roll, and yet no provision has been made for the health or security of the people, or of the people in the community that regularly come to city departments to transact business. We feel that the establishment of such a clinic will greatly improve the health of the people on the city pay roll, and certainly we believe also that steps should be immediately taken. The older members of this Council body and the attaches of the Council recall distinctly the incident, unfortunate as it was, that happened some three or four years ago in this building, when the respected and beloved Ned Leary, then City Messenger, was stricken, and his health greatly endangered, because of the fact that no first aid was available on the premises. And I feel, gentlemen, that the establishment of a well-regulated clinic, along sound, intelligent, business lines, as is now promoted and favored and sponsored by your leading industrial concerns and all insurance companies of the city, will at least meet with the favor of the people. And certainly they will know, if stricken unfortunately during business hours, that they will have a recognized place where they can receive intelligent aid.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

STREETS FOR COASTING.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to set aside streets for coasting in Ward 15, and other wards in the city, and to place suitable signs thereon.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SANDING OF ICY SIDEWALKS.

Coun. CHASE offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to arrange for the sanding of all ice-laden crosswalks in the city; and be it further Ordered, That the Police Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make arrangements to have the ice-laden sidewalks sanded by the property owners.

Coun. CHASE—Mr. President, it was called to my attention by several people in my district yesterday that a number of old people fell, not only on the sidewalks, but on the crosswalks, because of the icy condition. It would appear to me, Mr. President, that if this cold spell continues, the Police Commissioner and the Public Works Commissioner have a job cut out for them. And I believe, Mr. President, in the future when we have ice-covered sidewalks and crosswalks that the proper municipal authorities should make arrangements to see that these things are attended to so that the citizenry will not fall down and injure themselves.

President KELLY—Councilor Russo has introduced a similar order, if there is no objection.

Coun. KEENAN—If the councilor from Ward 4 (Coun. Chase) has no objection, I would like to ask that the Public Works Commissioner, when sanding the streets, include salt and chlorine, like the state does. Every street in Dorchester that has been sanded, the sand is very fine, and even if they put half a foot of sand on, when the wind comes it blows it off. The state has chlorine in the sand, and it stays on there and melts the ice, and does a very good job. And if the councilor has no objection, I would like to have that amendment included in his order.

President KELLY—Is there any objection, councilor, to including the amendment in your order?

Coun. CHASE—No objection.

The order, amended to include the words "including salt and chlorine", was passed under suspension of the rule.

INVESTIGATION OF ISSUANCE OF SUNDAY LIQUOR LICENSES.

Coun. RUSSO here submitted order for a committee of five to be appointed by the President to investigate the issuance of liquor licenses for Sunday.

Coun. KINSELLA—Talking on the order. Well, I don't like to quarrel with Joe Russo or anybody else so interested in liquor conditions, but the liquor control commission as conducted across the street, at 24 School street, has all the legal weapons they need at their hands to control the situation by way of Sunday licenses or abuses of licenses on any days of the week. All I am interested in is strict adherence to rules that we went to some pains to have here read into the record today. Now, it isn't with any spite or spirit of revenge that I offer objection, but I can't see that it is before the Body. We have no control over the situation. I will ask Councilor Russo if he can see any licensed hotel in the City of Boston that will come to us. You can't set up five men in this Body to state the power of members of the Licensing Board, appointed by the Governor, members of the A. B. C., appointed by the Governor. This is one of the things that is not properly before this Body. And yet I agree with his efforts to clean up liquor conditions which in some respect I know must be cleaned up and should be cleaned up. But when an order clearly comes in here trying to delegate to us power of authority that we do not have, I don't think we ought to sit and listen to it and vote on it perfunctorily. On the other hand, if Councilor Russo will place a resolve before the Body recommending legislation that the State Legislature give us authority to supplement the work of the Boston Licensing Board by setting up a body of five, that is one thing; but there is no legal mechanics by which we can now take authority. I would ask Councilor Russo to reconsider this order and withdraw it until something more able can be presented.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, the only thing in doing so, as I stated previously, is that I feel a license granted to an individual is only a privilege which is extended to him by the city or town, and therefore I don't feel that it should be made a racket, as I stated. There may be some legality to it, and it may be permitted by law, and there may be some corporations that sell shares of the corporation, and I am only trying to see whether or not we could have the information on how they go about it in granting a transfer of these licenses. I can't see for the life of me how or when any one of these boys who are coming back can ever engage in the liquor business if they have to buy someone else's interest because they have a license. It is a matter that should be cleared up, and I feel that if a committee of five is appointed by the City Council at least this committee will function and look into these matters; and then, if they have a suggestion, to suggest to the Committee on Legislative Matters that something ought to be brought out to change the law. Then I feel that this committee could do it.

President KELLY—Councilor, I might say that I can appoint a committee of five, but they would have no authority and no power.

Coun. KINSELLA—Just to clarify the matter, will you give us an official ruling from the City Clerk on my objection that this matter is not properly before us in its present form?

President KELLY—Councilor Kinsella, if it is the wish of the Body to give the power to the Chair of appointing a committee of five members, the Chair will appoint a committee of five members, but they will have no power as an investigating body.

Coun. SULLIVAN—Will you please have the clerk read the order again?

(The order was again read by the clerk.)

Coun. SULLIVAN—Speaking on the order. The order is a very good one, but I think we have enough standing committees here in the Council without going so far as to appoint another committee of five. And I think we have a Committee on Public Welfare that this ordinance could be referred to, that stands as a committee of five. None of our committees consist of less than five members.

President KELLY—I think I can clear up the situation. I am going to rule the order out of order.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, of course that was drawn up in just two seconds. It may not be the legal aspect of it, but I had in mind that I wondered if it is not the duty of the City Council to have a committee where all these matters could go. It is the function of the city. It is city business. It is something that is taking place within the city limits. Now, I was wondering if they could refer that order there into, shall I say, the Committee on Public Safety?

President KELLY—Well, councilor, the Chair would suggest that you reword your order and present a new order in its proper form after the executive session.

Coun. RUSSO—May I have leave to withdraw until such time as I may be able to put it down in proper language, and whatever goes with it?

President KELLY—Permission is granted, if there is no objection.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. FISH, the Council voted to take a recess at 4.15 p. m., subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled and were called to order by President KELLY at 4.30 p. m.

Report accepted; said order passed.

APPEAL TO ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE COMMISSION.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to draw up legislation relative to the present statutes affecting the change of existing liquor licenses so that a party aggrieved will have a right of appeal to the Alcoholic Beverage Commission from all decisions of the local licensing authorities.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, in presenting this order I find that I am not of the same opinion as some of the councilors might have been, but I was informed by the A. B. C. Commission that when a license was granted for the Sabbath Day in the City of Boston by the Licensing Board, that decision is final. I feel that the individual aggrieved should have an opportunity of appealing the decision of the Licensing Board—

Coun. CHASE—Mr. President, will the gentleman yield for a question?

President KELLY—Do you wish to yield for a question, councilor?

Coun. RUSSO—I will yield.

President KELLY—State your question.

Coun. CHASE—Does the order mean by "party aggrieved" one who has been denied the license or one who has been affected by the granting of the license?

Coun. RUSSO—I mean the one who opposed a license, and then the Licensing Board gives a license, that that individual has a right to appeal. In other words, the people have a right to appeal. The decision of no board should be final. We have courts of appeal. I want to relate just one particular case. In the six years I have been on the Council I have never opposed any license, any liquor license, whatsoever, because I feel that that is the duty of the Licensing Board, and therefore give them all the authority, in the hope that they will do a good job at it. You and I receive letters from the Licensing Board, and they ask you if you are opposed to please so state. On this particular instance I did not oppose the six-day license, because I feel that that is the duty of the Licensing Board, to decide if they should have the license or not. And I don't want to deprive any individual of making a livelihood. So they asked for a six-day license. Naturally, the only decision that the A. B. C. Commission could make was only on the six-day license, and therefore they approved the license for the six days. Two or three months later you hear that the licensee wants a seven-day license. You appear before the Licensing Board. You are opposed, and then it is taken under advisement. Lo and behold, they grant the license. They don't even inform you that the license has been granted, and then you have no other recourse. I feel that the people ought to be given an opportunity, if they so desire, to appeal from the decision of the Licensing Board. I feel that they should have some place to go where they could be heard. I didn't ask anyone in my particular ward to go up there to oppose. I didn't want to stir up any trouble. But here I am caught without even an appeal whereby the people of the district could be heard. That is what we have been getting, and I have found that out to my sorrow. That is one thing that I would like to see cleared up, that the person who is asking for a license, and the license has been denied, should have a right to appeal. And the people who opposed it and have been denied that right, of not having a particular license in a particular location, then I feel that they ought to be heard, whether or not they want the seven-day license in that vicinity or not. That is one thing I would like to have cleared up.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. SULLIVAN, at 4.45 p. m., to meet on Monday, February 11, 1946, at 2 p. m.

V. COMMENDATIONS.

At about 3.30 p. m. January 18, 1946, Ladderman Francis P. Chapman, Ladder Company 23, who was on a day off, was notified by a boy that another boy with whom he had been playing had fallen into the Neponset river in the Mattapan district. Ladderman Chapman rushed from his home, procured a ladder from a neighbor's yard and then hurried to the river where he saw the boy hanging on to the edge of broken ice near the center of the river. Ladderman Chapman pushed the ladder over the ice to the boy and instructed him to grasp the end of it, inasmuch as the ice appeared to be too thin to carry Ladderman Chapman's weight. The boy took hold of the ladder and Ladderman Chapman then carefully moved the ladder and the boy to safety, carried him to the nearest house where his wet clothes were removed, and from which the boy was removed to the Boston City Hospital in an ambulance.

As it appears that Ladderman Chapman used good judgment in obtaining a ladder and arriving at the scene of the accident very quickly, thus resulting in saving the life of the boy, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly and his case has been referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

SEA-GOING DRY DOCKS.

Bigger than a battleship! That's the rough proportion of some of the new Navy floating dry docks which can be towed or self-propelled at speeds sufficient to follow our fleet into action. Indeed, the dry docks are large enough to handle even a mighty battleship when it needs repairs or overhauling.

Never before have floating dry docks been built so large, taken so far. Never before have docks of this character been so mobile. The Navy has spent upward of $300,000,000 on their floating dry dock program and it has been a shrewd investment. Now, instead of damaged warships traveling the thousands of miles from the theaters of action to an American coastal dry dock for repairs, it can be placed in a floating dry dock on the spot in a matter of hours, thus saving precious time.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF EXPENDITURES SHOW DROP OF $3,940.37 FOR JANUARY, 1946, AS COMPARED WITH SAME MONTH IN 1945, ACCORDING TO REPORT OF COMMISSIONER DAVID J. BRICKLEY AS SUBMITTED TO MAYOR CURLEY — REDUCTION OF OVERALL CASE LOAD AND NUMBER OF WORLD WAR I WIDOWS MADE THIS POSSIBLE — LATTER TO NUMBER OF 62 AWARDED PENSIONS, THUS REMOVING THEM FROM RELIEF ROLLS — MONEY SAVED BY THIS TOTALS $6,099.

Relief expenditures for the month of January, 1946, show a decrease of $3,940.37 in comparison with the expenditures for the like period of 1945, according to the report submitted to Mayor Curley by Soldiers' Relief Commissioner David J. Brickley. This decrease is explained by the commissioner as due to a reduction of 42 cases in relation to the overall case load for the corresponding month of January, 1945. There was also a decrease of 62 cases of World War I recipients, amounting to $6,099. This is explained as due to the awarding of pensions to World War I widows, enabling them to be dropped from the rolls of the Soldiers' Relief Department, at least temporarily.

The complete report as submitted reads as follows:

BOSTON, February 12, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

DAVID J. BRICKLEY, Commissioner, Soldiers' Relief Department.

SIR,—I have the honor to submit the Soldiers' Relief Department report for the month of January, 1946.

Relief expenditures for January, 1946, show a decrease of $3,940.37 in comparison with expenditures for the corresponding period in January, 1945. This decrease is caused by a reduction of 42 cases in relation to the overall case load for the corresponding month of January, 1945. A comparison of World War I cases exhibits a decrease of 62 cases and $6,099 in expenditures, which almost entirely is caused by the awarding of pensions to widows of World War I, causing them to be dropped temporarily from the rolls. There were 210 widows of World War I aided in January, 1945, as compared to 123 for this month's report. There is little variance in aid rendered to the beneficiaries of other wars as compared to the corresponding month last year.

The 652 cases aided during the month of January, 1946, represent a total of 1,320 individuals benefited through the facilities of the Soldiers' Relief Department. There were 151 cases dropped from the relief rolls during the month of January, 1946, which were dropped chiefly because of private employment and other reasons.

MAYOR CURLEY VETOES COUNCIL PROPOSAL FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT WORKING HOURS.

His Honor the Mayor on February 15 forwarded the following communication to the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to return herewith, without my signature and disapproved, a proposed amendment to the ordinances adopted by your Honorable Body, under date of February 11, 1946, for the reasons as hereinafter set forth:

The change recommended, effective as of April 3, rather than as of six months after termination of the war, is impossible of acceptance at this time, due to the financial condition of the city.

It is estimated that the adoption of the proposed amendment would increase the expenditures of the Fire Department, in this particular item, to the amount of $200,000, and there is no way that I can justify this additional expenditure at this time.

In the event, however, that a subsequent amendment is submitted by your Honorable Body, which will not impair the effectiveness of the service, nor increase the cost of operation of the Fire Department, I shall be pleased to consider the same.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for the following construction work:

A 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer in E street, between Silver street and West Broadway, in the South Boston district, at an estimated cost of $1,700.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY APPROVED.

The Mayor has approved the following request of the Board of Real Estate Commissioners:

Boston, February 7, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The City of Boston is the owner of three lots of land adjacent to the fire house on Harrison avenue, at the corner of Wareham street.

I have communicated with Fire Commissioner Russell Codman in regard to the acquisition of these lots for future use by his department. He has expressed the opinion that these lots would be a valuable addition to the present Fire Department property at this location and has asked me to arrange transfer of these parcels to his department.

I respectfully request permission to do this.

Very truly yours,

EUGENE F. LALLY, Chairman.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

BOSTON, February 4, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Through the office of Mr. Arthur L. Gould, Superintendent of Public Schools, I have been requested to prepare leases for the use of premises, to provide swimming pool accommodations for pupils in our public schools for the calendar year 1946. The amounts of the respective leases would be based on information contained in the attached copy of letter to Mr. Arthur L. Gould from Mr. Joseph McKenney, Director of Physical Education, and would, in each instance, exceed the sum of $1,000 allowed to be expended without advertising on a competitive basis.

As the organizations listed in Mr. McKenney's letter are the only ones owning the swimming pool facilities desired and as there would be no advantage to the City of Boston to advertise for competitive bids, I respectfully request your approval to negotiate agreements in the following amounts without advertising:

Young Men's Christian Association, Boston, 204 days, 1 hour per day, January to December, at $10, $2,040.

Young Men's Christian Association, Hyde Park, 170 days, 1 hour per day, January to December, at $10, $1,700.

The Boys' Clubs of Boston: Charlestown Club, 102 hours girls, 68 hours boys, at $10, $1,700; Roxbury Club, 170 hours girls, 170 hours boys, at $10, $3,400; South Boston Club, 170 hours girls, 68 hours boys, at $10, $2,380.

Young Women's Christian Association, 157 hours at $10, $1,570.

Reserve (in the event additional pools are made available), $1,000.

Total estimated cost for swimming, $13,790.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

BOSTON, January 24, 1946.

MR. ARTHUR L. GOULD,

Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR MR. GOULD,—In compliance with your request for information concerning use of swimming pools by pupils in our schools, I offer the following in order that Mr. Mahar may prepare leases for the calendar year 1946:

1. Young Men's Christian Association, Boston: 204 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for boys), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $2,040.

2. Young Women's Christian Association, Boston: 140 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for girls), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $1,400.

3. Young Men's Christian Association, Hyde Park: 102 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for girls), 1 hour per day, at $10 per hour, $1,020; 68 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for boys), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $680.

4. Charlestown Boys' Club, Charlestown: 102 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for girls), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $1,020; 68 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for boys), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $680.

5. Roxbury Boys' Club, Roxbury: 170 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for girls), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $1,700; 170 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for boys), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $1,700.

6. South Boston Boys' Club, South Boston: 170 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for girls), 1 hour per day at $10 per hour, $1,700; 68 days, January to December, exclusive of vacations (for boys), $680.

7. Young Women's Christian Association (life-saving program for girls), Mondays only, March 25 to June 10 (1½ hours daily), 17 hours at $10, $170.

Reserve (in the event additional pools are made available), $1,000.

Total estimated cost for swimming, $13,790.

Yours very truly,

JOSEPH MCKENNEY,
Director of Physical Education.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, February 12, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Your approval is respectfully requested for the award of a contract to Mr. John M. Gray, 170 High street, Boston, for architect's services for the construction of a solarium for women and the necessary alterations and repairs to existing structure at L Street Bath House, South Boston.

The amount of the construction contract is estimated at $60,000. The architect will receive a fee for professional services equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the construction contract, or approximately $6,000, same to be charged to the special appropriation, "Construction of Buildings, Revenue."

Mr. Gray is a well-known architect in Boston and has been engaged for architect's services in this department at various times during the last ten years. His work has always been satisfactory. He was the architect who designed the present L Street Bath House.

I believe nothing would be gained by advertising for bids for this type of professional service, and I therefore request that the contract for architect's services be awarded to Mr. Gray without advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, February 4, 1946.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permission is requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for bids to the White Fuel Corporation for furnishing 3,700 barrels heavy fuel oil to the Suffolk County Court House for the period from January 1 through February 15, 1946.

In order to bring this particular contract period into alignment with all other fuel oil contract periods, bids will be publicly opened and read on February 13 to cover the heating requirements of the Court House through September 30, 1946, at which time awards are made on the basis of a heating year rather than a calendar year.

As the price of $1.725 per barrel quoted by the White Fuel Corporation is the present contract price on heavy fuel oil requirements of other city departments, no advantage would be gained by public advertisement at this time.

The amount of the contract will be $6,382.50.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM I. ROSE,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Office of the Mayor, February 11, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works regarding your order of January 21, 1946, relative to the installation of pedestrian-actuated traffic lights at Cambridge and Windom streets, and at the junction of Lincoln and Franklin streets, Ward 22.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

February 6, 1946.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—I return herewith order of the City Council passed at its meeting of January 21 and reading as follows:

"Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be directed by his Honor the Mayor to immediately arrange for the installation of pedestrian-actuated traffic lights at Cambridge and Windom streets and at the junction of Lincoln and Franklin streets, Ward 22."

This is a matter which I feel should be referred to the Boston Traffic Commission, as the Public Works Department has no jurisdiction over traffic lights. All traffic lights and signals are under the control of the Boston Traffic Commission.

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT P. CURLEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

ACTION AGAINST PARENTS OF TRUANT CHILDREN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 11, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the School Committee of the City of Boston regarding your order of January 28, 1946, relative to the discontinuance of the present practice of their truant officers taking court action against the parents of truant children until affidavit is filed that personal contact and service has been made on the parent or parents of the truant child.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
School Committee, February 7, 1946.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—At a conference of the School Committee held on February 5, 1946, the following order passed by the City Council on January 28, 1946, was presented:

"Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to urge the Boston School Committee to discontinue the present practice of their truant officers taking court action against the parents of truant children until affidavit is filed that personal contact and service has been made on the parent or parents of the truant child."

In this connection, I was instructed to inform you that at the conference of the School Committee held on January 30, 1946, action was taken to remedy the situation as disclosed in this order of the City Council by having all such cases referred directly to the Division of Juvenile Adjustment for study before direct contact is made with the courts.

Very truly yours,
AGNES E. REYNOLDS,
Assistant Secretary.

Placed on file.

INSTALLATION OF LIGHTS AT FALLON FIELD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 11, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Park Commissioner regarding your order of January 28, 1946, relative to the installation of electric lights at Fallon Field.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, February 5, 1946.
J. Joseph Connors,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—I have your memorandum of February 4, with inclosure, order from the City Council regarding the installation of electric lights at Fallon Field.

For a number of years this question has been brought up. We have ninety playgrounds in the city—at least fifty of them will need electric lights. Petitions have been filed here for Gibson Field and various other fields.

Fallon Field is one of the best playgrounds in the city and is well taken care of and the people who use it are of the best people in the city. No vandalism that I can recall has ever occurred, outside of the breaking of the lights under the passageway.

In order to comply with this request it would cost approximately $25,000, and, incidentally, I would have to do the same for the other playgrounds if we once started it.

With the conditions the way they are it is inadvisable to attempt to obtain an appropriation necessary to do this.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

Placed on file.

ERECTION OF SAVIN HILL BEACH BATH HOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 11, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Park Commissioner regarding your order of January 28, 1946, relative to bids for the erection of a bath house at Savin Hill Beach, so that this structure may be available for use this summer.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, February 5, 1946.
J. Joseph Connors,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—I have your memorandum of February 4, with inclosure, order from the City Council that the Park Department call for bids for the erection of a bath house at Savin Hill Beach, so that this structure may be available for use this summer.

Investigation shows it would be inadvisable to attempt to advertise for bids for a bath house and expect it to be completed this summer. No steel is procurable,—no brick—or at least it is very uncertain and the lumber is also out of the question. Steel lockers cannot be obtained.

Nothing would be gained by attempting to advertise at this time of the year.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

Placed on file.

NORTH BENNET STREET BATH HOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 11, 1946.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith for your consideration a communication from the Building Department regarding your order of January 21, 1946, relative to the inspection of the North Bennet Street Bath House.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Building Department, February 9, 1946.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mayor Curley,—The following information is submitted in conformance with City Council order of January 21, 1946, relative to the North Bennet Street Bath House:

The building in question is of first-class construction, in good condition and structurally safe.

However, certain minor alterations and repairs as listed below should be accomplished.

1. Front entrance concrete steps to be repaired.

2. All exterior doors need repair and suitable hardware.

3. Hole in brick wall separating boiler room from storerooms to be bricked up.

4. Stairs from third floor to fourth floor to be closed up at third-floor level. (These stairs lead to a door which opens into the gymnasium, approximately 12 feet above the gymnasium floor.)

5. Additional means of egress required from the basement. Provide metal-covered door, self-closing, at head of cellar stairs, on ground floor corridor.

6. Illuminated exit signs should be provided at all exit doors.

7. Door from first floor to stairs leading to boiler room corridor and to North Bennet street doors should be made to swing outward with proper hardware.

8. Doors to rear stairs should be provided with proper hardware and should not be locked while the building is in use.

9. Usual door to gymnasium should be repaired and made to open easier; all bolts, hooks and eyes should be removed.

10. Rear exit on third floor should not be obstructed.

11. Door to rear stairs on second floor to be made to swing outward.

It is further recommended that the capacity of the gymnasium be limited to 225 persons.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN J. MAHONEY,
Building Commissioner.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ORDINANCES.

Coun. COOK, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following:

Report on message of Mayor and ordinance (referred from Executive Committee February 4) placing 70-hour per week tour of duty of firemen in effect as of February 1, 1946—recommending that same ought not to pass, without prejudice.

Coun. COOK—Mr. President, the ordinance that was read was the one that was presented in the last administration, and the date in there was February 6, 1946; and the committee voted that it ought not to pass, without prejudice. We have another ordinance which the President will read at the proper time, and on which I and members of the committee may like to speak.

The question came on the acceptance of the committee's report and the rejection of the ordinance, and the report was accepted, and the ordinance rejected, without prejudice.

Coun. COOK, CHASE, HANNON, SCANNELL, CANTWELL, KELLY, BRYAN and MADDEN offered the following:

An Ordinance Concerning the Hours of Duty of Firemen.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Chapter six of the Ordinances of 1942 concerning the hours of duty of firemen is hereby amended by striking out section three of said ordinance and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect on April 3, 1946.

Coun. COOK—Mr. President and members of the Council, I would like this order passed at this meeting, instead of referring it to the Committee on Ordinances, because it was taken up fully at our last meeting on Thursday. The latest ordinance, to which this amendment is now offered, says that the firemen of the City of Boston will go on a 70-hour week six months after the state of war has been declared ended. It does not look as if Congress or the powers that be will determine that event in the near future. The firemen are entitled to go on a 70-hour week as soon as possible. The date, April 3, 1946, was picked because that is the date by which time the appropriations for the City of Boston must be passed. At our committee meeting the Fire Commissioner, the heads of the union, the Russell Club firemen, and the former Fire Commissioner in the last administration were present. Everybody, including the Fire Commissioner, agreed that the 70-hour week should go into effect. The Fire Commissioner felt that he would need 200 extra firemen in order to make this plan proper for the safety of the City of Boston. The head of the union and the Russell Club thought that only 100 firemen would be necessary. The former Fire Commissioner thought it could be done with the present set-up. The Fire Commissioner also informed me over the telephone that in his recommendations for the budget for 1946 he asked for an increase of 150 firemen. Based on those facts the committee feels and respectfully asks the members of this Body to feel likewise, that a 70-hour week can go into effect with the passage of the recommendation of the present Fire Commissioner's budget by April 3, 1946. I think this city is the only city of comparable size in the country where firemen or other public servants work more than 70 hours a week. And it is about time that the City Council took the initiative. And I think his Honor the Mayor, after reading the Fire Commissioner's budget and recommendations, and talking it over with heads of the union and the Russell Club and those firemen he wishes to talk to, will agree and sign this ordinance. It all boils down to two questions. One, whether the City Council should on its own initiative declare the war ended so far as the firemen are concerned, so that they may get this 70-hour week. And I submit to this Honorable Body that we can and should do this. The second question is if the Fire Department with an increase of 150 members can carry on its duties to the best interests of the City of Boston. On all information advanced at our committee meeting by all sides, we submit that the 70-hour week can go into effect, and that the City of Boston and its service will be better off on such a basis. And I hope that this ordinance is passed at this session without being referred to the committee again.

The report was accepted and the ordinance adopted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

Coun. HANNON, for the Committee on Legislative Matters, submitted the following:

1. Report on resolution (referred February 4) that Council favors enactment of legislation to permit the refunding of license fee paid by Somerset Hotel, Inc.—that same ought to pass.

3. Report on resolution (referred February 4) favoring enactment of legislation relative to payment of sum of money to mother of Henry F. O'Brien, killed at Long Island Hospital—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said resolution passed.

4. Report on message of Mayor and resolutions (referred January 28) favoring passage of legislation of interest and potential benefit to City of Boston—recommending reference to the Executive Committee.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

ACCEPTANCE OF AUSTIN STREET, WARD 18.

Report accepted; said order passed.

DEATH OF CHARLES G. KEENE.

Coun. BRYAN offered the following:
Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, hereby expresses its deep regret at the passing of the brilliant and able Charles G. Keene, former President of the Boston City Council and distinguished member of the Massachusetts Bar, and extends to his family its sincere sympathy and condolence in their sad bereavement.

Passed by a unanimous rising vote.

SALE OF DISCONTINUED PORTION OF CAMBRIDGE STREET.

President KELLY called up, under unfinished business, No. 1 on the calendar, viz.:

1. Order for sale of discontinued portion of Cambridge street, to John D. MacDonald for $1,000.

On January 28, 1946, the said order was read once and passed, yeas 16, nays 0.

The order was given its second reading, yeas 15, nays 0.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Bryan, Cantwell, Chase, Cook, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Lane, Madden, McCormack, Moriarty, Russo, Sullivan—15.

Nays—0.

Coun. BAYLEY—I wish to withdraw my vote. The vote stood yeas 14, nays 0, and the order was rejected.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, I move reconsideration, for the purpose of asking that this matter be laid on the table if reconsideration prevails.

Coun. BAYLEY—Speaking on reconsideration. I hope, Mr. President, that reconsideration will prevail and that this matter may be acted on next week. This land is in my district, and I would like to check on it before a vote is taken. That is the reason I withdrew my vote. I hope that reconsideration may prevail, so we may act on this next Monday.

Reconsideration prevailed, and Coun. HANNON moved that the matter be laid on the table. The motion to lay on the table was carried.

RECESS.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BAYLEY, at 2:27 p. m. to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled and were called to order by President KELLY at 4:26 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. McCORMACK, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and resolutions (referred today from Committee on Legislative Matters) favoring passage of legislation of interest and potential benefit to City of Boston—recommending that same ought to pass.

President KELLY—The Chair might state before we go into any long discussion that the Chair is going to call them up separately, and then everybody will be happy.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I think that was a most erudite remark, Mr. Chairman.

1. Report on resolution that Council favors enactment of legislation entitled "An Act further providing for the funding of overlay deficits by the City of Boston," provided that said legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council—that the resolution ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the adoption of the resolution.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President, it seems to me that it would be much the better part of wisdom to let this matter, and several other matters to which I would like to refer now, stay with the Council, and not give approval at present, until such time as we have had more opportunity to study this bill and the others to which I refer, and until such time as we get the budget in here, so that we can correlate the proposed loans and the proposed methods of funding and refinancing with the expected expenditures by the different departments, and so we can get a complete picture of what the city's needs are for the coming year. With that in mind, I move that this be sent to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. HANNON—Talking on the motion, Mr. President, I have never been one to rush things through. As a matter of fact, I have probably been responsible for these various bills being referred to the Executive Committee, in order that everybody here might get a fair picture of what these matters entail. However, in being fair for my own inteterts, I think, too, that we should likewise be fair and extend courteous consideration to the wishes of the citizenry of Boston and to the man who occupies the honorable position of Mayor of the city. Now, all we are doing here is granting permission for these matters to be presented to the Legislature. We are not giving a final approval to them. I think my good friend, my able friend, the councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick), is perfectly justified in asking that we consider these matters. But some of us have considered them. I have had them in the Committee on Legislative Matters since January 28, and I confess that until today we were unable to get a comprehensive picture of what these bills entail. However, I find myself in the strange position of feeling that the financial officers of the City of Boston this year far outweigh me in knowledge of high finance. I am perfectly willing to state that I would be willing to accept the convictions and conclusions of Mr. Fox and Mr. Carven even sooner than I would accept the convictions and conclusions of the Massachusetts Legislature. We are not granting our full approval to these matters. We are merely going along with the finance officers of the city. They feel that they need these bills. They need power to borrow; they need power of authorization. These bills are coming to them, but later on these bills are coming back to us, and in the meantime, after we get the budget and after the financial picture of the city is unfolded to us, or to those of us who come here and attend the committee hearings, we would feel that perhaps we should not permit the loans to go through. These loans take fifteen votes. It is going to be a tough job later on to get fifteen votes. However, the Legislature is not going to wait for us. We cannot dilly-dally too long. And no matter what committee these matters are referred to amongst us, that committee is going to get a better or clearer picture of what these bills entail than what we have got today. I have faith enough in Mr. Fox and Mr. Carven. I believe they are honest, and if they tell me it is necessary that we file these bills and borrow these moneys, I would be perfectly willing to go along with them.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President and fellow members, I have had the pleasure of serving on the Committee on Legislative Matters with Chairman Hannon, and I recall well our initial meeting of the year, when these orders were brought to our attention, and they were entirely foreign to the members of the committee. Councilor Hannon then wisely suggested that the meeting be postponed for one week to allow an official delegated by the Law Department to come down and explain them to us. We were somewhat enlightened after listening to the intelligent gentleman, but then Councilor Hannon again suggested that they be referred to Executive, to allow every member of the Council to express his individual views. I think today, after being present at the executive session and listening to the enlightening and illuminating remarks of the two men so thoroughly versed in municipal finance, that these matters are of necessary urgency, and that we should approve them today.

Coun. BAYLEY—I rise to agree with my distinguished brother councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick). I don't see the need for haste to come out in favor of certain legislation of which some of us have not a thorough grasp. Some of these bills are fairly long, and I question if all you gentlemen have had an opportunity to read them. I think only a few, and perhaps only one or two, have. The title of some is misleading. One has to do with a loan of $1,000,000; one with a loan of $10,000,000—$11,000,000 to be saddled on the taxpayers of Boston for the next ten years or so. And, if that is done, even further amounts which are considerable, I don't want to saddle this loan on youngsters who will have to pay them, as well as those of us who do not. I don't see any need for haste at this time, until we are sure we are doing the right thing. As the distinguished councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick) has said, we should consider every aspect of this picture. This is revolutionary, in this request for $10,000,000, and it has uncertainty as to whether it should be done now, as there is some uncertainty as to the future course of the city as it is being decided in Washington. So I think we should be very careful how we act in agreeing to send to the Legislature our approval, that we are in favor of saddling on the citizens this extra debt. And I hope the motion prevails.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I doubt very much that this is a subject that we can refer to the Committee on Finance, because the legislative act which brings about the condition has not yet been passed. It might be good parliamentary practice to refer the acts or consequences of anything we may do to the Committee on Finance after the acts come down here in the form of permissive legislation. Now, Mr. President, we are not lending our support to the ultimate passage of any one of these acts still pending before the Legislature. All we do, in the words of Tom Hannon, is to free the way for a hearing by the proper committee of the Legislature. Now, when that hearing is held we may very well see certain terms and conditions written into the legislative act that we do not now contemplate, so we won't be put in the paradoxical position of approving today and disapproving three months from today. If the substance in general is changed, we are under no obligation of accepting a legislative act which is materially different from what we today anticipate it will be. So, to repeat myself, we are not put in the paradoxical position of reporting on these on February 11, and voting against them on perhaps April 1 or May 11. That condition does not necessarily exist, nor does the danger of that condition exist. All we do is offer the Legislature, for the purpose of hearing the terms of the bills, the bills as presented by Mayor Curley. To repeat myself again, if there are terms that come down in the legislative acts that we don't like, we are under no obligation to accept those acts. That time is the time for rejection or acceptance, according to what the bill is as it comes to us. Now, as for saddling a burden on future generations, Mr. President, a good deal of our tax bill today was passed on to us by our fathers. It didn't put any extra burden on us to assume that obligation of another age and generation. I read in the paper only the other day where the Federal Government is still paying out pension benefits to survivors of soldiers of the War of 1812, and that is one hundred and thirty-odd years ago. We are all paying your ancestry today, 134 years later. We are still paying off the Civil War debt, and the Civil War was fought over seventy years ago, and for the next five hundred years, we have been told, with frequency, we will pay off the cost of World War I and the cost of World War II. If this is a matter we are going to saddle our children with as a great indebtedness over the next fifteen or twenty years, it will be inconsequential to what we have already paid for the misdeeds of our ancestors. I don't think that that argument enters into it. It is specious and without foundation. I don't think it is possible the city can run at a profit, or even break even. It is not in the scheme of things, and the reasons for that are so obvious and so numerous they cannot be gone into here. I move in this Body, Mr. President, we show some measure of cooperation with the new Mayor, who at least is trying to get off to a good start. And let us turn it over to the Legislature, which has prior authority, and if we don't like what they send us we don't have to accept it. And I move passage of the orders.

A vote was taken and the motion was lost.

The question then came on the adoption of the first resolution.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President.

President KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. MUCHNICK—To speak on the motion. I am going to vote against this, Mr. President, and I want it in the record that the only reason I am voting against it is not on the merits, because I don't know enough about the merits as yet to vote for it. I merely want a negative vote not to be misinterpreted and as disagreeing with the resolution.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, a point of information.

President KELLY—State your point of information.

Coun. KINSELLA—In all friendliness and in the very best of spirit, through you, I would like to ask Councilor Muchnick a question.

President KELLY—Do you care to answer a question, councilor?

Coun. MUCHNICK—In my limited power so to do.

President KELLY—State your question.

Coun. KINSELLA—I will keep it within his limited powers, Mr. President. The question is this. In all seriousness, Councilor Muchnick, is there any other authority beyond the authority of the present City Auditor and the present Budget Commissioner whose information you feel this Body or you ought to have, recognizing their merit as that of exceptionally well-informed public officials?

Coun. MUCHNICK—Yes, there is.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I have a further question I would like to ask the gentleman to answer.

President KELLY—Does the councilor wish to answer a further question?

Coun. MUCHNICK—Yes.

Coun. KINSELLA—Is the authority available to us?

Coun. MUCHNICK—I don't know if the Council would like to make use of the authority or source of information, but I would like to consult with myself and get my own views on it after I have had a chance to read the bills and previous statutes that have preceded these bills. I don't imagine that the Council as a body might be particularly interested in that. I would.

Coun. KINSELLA—I asked for either.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Authority in the municipal government, I thought you said.

Coun. KINSELLA—Either municipal or similarly informed authority.

Coun. MUCHNICK—If you will say "equal authority," I like to believe that my knowledge of municipal finance is pretty good.

President KELLY—Does that answer your question?
